Baron Kurt von Hammerstein-Equord, former army chief, was one of those dispersed from the planned services.

A Berlin police official said bodies of storm troopers executed here would be burned as rapidly as a crematory can take care of them. Three shifts will be used, he said.

Anna! Never Worries About Pay Cheque

Times may be hard and many workers out of their jobs, but there is one lady on the payroll of the De Laval Company in this city who doesn't have to worry about her position. Her name is Anna. She is a cat.

Anna's name has been on the company payroll for about two years. The modest salary she receives each pay day is judiciously spent for her by fellow-employees in the purchase of milk and the odd bit of liver. And don't think she doesn't earn her salary. Her duty is to keep the plant free of mice, and she does a good job of it, making the plant property her home and working on a straight twenty-four-hour shift. In her spare time, she has raised three litters of kittens.

Anna succeeded another lady named Toby to the job. Toby had been a faithful member of the De Laval staff for many years, and incidentally, had more than a hundred kittens to her credit. Then one day she lay down quietly and, with a weary sigh, gave up all her nine lives without waiting for the pension justly due her. Anna is her daughter and is carrying on the family tradition of faithful service in a noble manner.

SOME TEETH AT LAST.

One bit of legislation recently passed by Canada's Parliament has not been as prominently played up in the newspapers as its importance would seem to justify.

For years many Canadian papers, including The Examiner, have stressed the desirability of making it more difficult to secure and to keep revolvers.

The matter has been under discussion at several sessions of Parliament and several changes in the law were effected, but it is only now that the Dominion's legislators have passed a measure that seems to possess teeth that can bite.

Henceforth it will not only be necessary for the purchaser of a firearm small enough to be concealed to obtain a permit for the possession of such a weapon but the new law provides that every Canadian now in possession of a revolver must register it with the authorities, and there is a further clause that repairers of firearms must also report to the police each time a revolver is brought to them for attention.

Owners of weapons will be given a time limit within which they will be required to register these firearms, and after that time there will be a heavy fine in each case of an unregistered revolver being found.

These new regulations are more drastic than anything yet passed at Ottawa, and it is hoped that they will make it less easy for [illegible]s to come into possession of firearms.

AN INVESTIGATION IS NECESSARY.

While it is true that Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, has made a lengthy explanation in reply to complaints in regard to prison administration in this country, he has not succeeded in satisfying the members of the House and the many people outside who feel that there should be a proper inquiry into the whole affair by a royal commission.

The Examiner is not inclined to believe that the situation in Canadian penitentiaries is as bad as some critics allege, and from the grave disorders that are constantly taking place in American prisons it would seem that the more concessions and privileges that are accorded the inmates the more unrest and the less discipline there is among them.

At the same time, however, there are many people who feel strongly that there is something wrong, and it is obvious that those who hold such views will continue to press for an inquiry, thereby creating a situation that cannot fail to be harmful to prison discipline, inasmuch as the incorrigible among the prisoners are certain to feel that public opinion, to an extent at least, is behind their demonstrations.

The best way to end criticism is have the whole question of prison administration publicly and properly probed so that the people of Canada may have every fact in the case and be able to form an accurate opinion as to the manner in which the prisons of the country are being operated.

A failure on the part of the Government to recognize the desirability of laying all its cards on the table will only increase the demand for a thorough investigation.

COURT DIGNITY.

The announcement from A. W. Roebuck, K.C., who is to become Attorney-General in the Hepburn Cabinet, that a high standard of courtesy will be expected from all officers of the law, will be well received.

"Even if a man is known to be a scoundrel," says Mr. Roebuck, "public servants must be courteous to him. And there will be no more joking or wise-cracking in the courts at the expense of the man who stands in the dock."

No one will be inclined to quarrel with this policy, but The Examiner suggests to the new Attorney-General that if he wants to ensure the proper dignity and decorum in court-room proceedings, particularly in magistrates' courts, he should see that all those involved are given courteous treatment.

The "man in the dock" is not the only individual that often requires protection.

The tendency of some defence counsel to bully crown witnesses and to seek to discredit all law enforcement officers has become all too prevalent in our minor courts.

For every instance of "wise-cracking" at the expense of a prisoner there are a dozen such instances with a police officer as the butt of a defence counsel's remarks, and with an audience of court-loungers to supply the laughter.

By all means protect the man in the dock, Mr. Attorney-General-elect, but spare a thought for the police officer who in striving to do the duty for which he was sworn in finds himself a target for smart sayings and sometimes most unfair remarks from the prisoner's counsel.

It is a poor policy that will not work both ways.

THE NEW LIQUOR ADMINISTRATION.

E. G. Odette, ex-M.P., who as a one-man commission is to succeed the present Liquor Control Board, declares that the new administration desires to please all sections of Ontario, if possible, with its regulations.

That is a very praiseworthy ambition, and there will be general hope that Mr. Odette's plans will work out as he would like.

We are glad to co-operate with him to the extent of pointing out that, if he wants to please the people of this city, he will have no hesitation in rejecting any Peterborough applications for restaurant licenses that may come before him for approval.

Since The Examiner re-opened this subject after the election we have been assured by numerous citizens that our opposition to the proposed sale of beer in restaurants expressed the views of the whole community; on the other hand, we have heard from no one, except an applicant for a restaurant beer license, who believes that the privilege of the sale of intoxicants should be extended to eating-places in cities of this size.

We hope that Mr. Odette will be correctly informed as to the sentiment of this city in regard to restaurant sale; he, of course, lives in a decidedly wet belt himself, and it would be quite easy for him to mistake the clamor for beer he hears from his own immediate neighbors as the voice of the whole province.

Certainly in so far as restaurant sale is concerned the feeling of a great many communities is flatly opposed to any relaxation in the regulations.

THE LAW OF POLITICS.

Change, apparently, is the law of politics. One party rises to the heights of victory, another goes to the depths of defeat, but passage of a few years sees the position reversed, the vanquished victorious again, the former victors vanquished.

In 1917, Liberalism in the Dominion went to crushing defeat. Prophets spoke of its finish; yet four years later, in 1921, Liberalism returned to power. Conservatives, thought to be impregnable after 1917, carried but 52 seats in a House of 245.

After 1921 the Conservative position seemed hopeless. Defeated in the Dominion, they were out of office as well in every single province. Then, with a sudden turn of the tide, Howard Ferguson won back Ontario, and within a few years Conservatives controlled six of the nine Legislatures. In 1930 Mr. Bennett swept the country.

Now has come another reaction. Nova Scotia, British Columbia, Ontario and Saskatchewan have marched over to the Liberal side; only New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island remain Conservative. Governments build on the sands.

Yet government itself goes on pretty much the same. New ministries make new professions, try new things, but fundamentally little is changed. The ship swings with the tide; the anchor holds. — Ottawa Journal.

CONSIDER THE TOMATO.

Reputation's what the neighbors say about one. Character is what one is. Let the doubting consider the tomato in relation to private worth versus public estimation, and be convinced. Now welcomed in every household, it was once dubbed "Love Apple," relegated as an ornament to the flower garden, and regarded fearsomely as full of poison.

There's a story told in one family as to how the tomato overcame prejudice and came into its own in Ontario. A dear old lady sponsored the tale—great great grandmother of a present generation of sturdy little Torontonians. Once upon a time when she was a child the big red fruit was anathema. Death was deemed to dwell in its luscious pulpiness. Then her own grandfather returned from a visit to Quebec, where he'd been to confer with a sea captain—and there he'd learned more than he'd expected—that tomatoes were good eating.

He ordered that love apples be picked, prepared and served. The household was aghast, and his good lady refused to connive at suicide. So the job fell to the little granddaughter. Under his supervision she cooked him his tomatoes, watched him eat them, and lived. Now her great great grandchildren are given tomato juice to keep them healthy.

Surely if anything ever survived a campaign of libel and came through on top it's the love apple. Can the tomato do what man cannot? With a fine integrity as a foundation one can rise superior to slander. Defamation usually slips back to muddy those who started it. Lies can be lived down by the lied about. It may take time, patience, and fortitude before right conquers. But truth—like murder—will "out."

The tomato should emblason the banners of the maligned. Being good it was vindicated. Worth's bound to be recognized. What the flouted love apple did, man can do.—Ottawa Journal.

GRAND OLD LADY OF THE SEA.

The report that the Cunard liner Mauretania is not, after all, to make her last voyage next month and then be towed to the junk yard, will be received with something like a feeling of relief by all those who have been passengers in her and millions of other people besides. The Mauretania is 29 years old. Most passenger ships have gone to the scrap heap by that time, but the Mauretania has retained her popularity with the travelling public right to the last. She grew to be almost a legend. Americans booked by her for no other reason than to be able in after years to say that they had sailed in her. It is safe to predict that when she does make her last voyage over to England there will be more people seeking reservations than she has accommodation for.

Twenty-nine years is very aged for any ship. But nobody ever seemed to think Mauretania old. She was a magnificently appointed ship equal to the best on the seas to-day. She also was what seafaring men call "a perfect ship." She had grace, beauty, speed and romance. Of all ships she alone was a world favorite. She had as much character about her as any human being. The officers and crew, the passengers and the public loved her. There are bigger and a few faster ships to-day, but nobody will have the affection for the Majestic, Berengaria, Leviathan, Bremen, Europa, Rex and Conte De Savoie that they have for the old "Maurry."

Mauretania and Lusitania were launched in 1906, one on the Clyde and the other on the Tyne, for the special purpose of wresting from Germany the mythical blue ribbon of the seas which Germany had held for ten years. Both of them did it easily. In September, 1910, Mauretania crossed the Atlantic in 4 days, 10 hours and 41 minutes, at an average speed of 26.06 knots, which is pretty nearly 30 land miles an hour. And only five years ago she crossed to New York in only 7 hours more than she took on her record voyage. For part of the voyage she hit up 27.22 knots, but the weather became heavy and she failed to make a new record. It was a marvellous performance for such an "ancient" ship, and public affection for her increased. What a wonderful testimonial it was, too, to the efficiency of her British engines. It was customary for the captain to wireless to Liverpool from 1,000 miles off what time he would dock. And he was never more than three minutes off his reckoning.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The mace captured by the United States troops during the war of 1912 has been returned to Toronto, but even that fact does not bring much consolation to Premier Henry.

Our neighbors celebrated their national holiday yesterday, and the usual casualty list was in evidence, despite pleas for a safe and sane Fourth.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie says that he would welcome an inquiry into penitentiary administration. That would seem to make the thing unanimous.

With the park benches back in the park, Confederation Square promises to be more popular than ever.

THE MOON

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

THE MARIA OF THE MOON

Earth plains are either brown or green. Moon plains are grey. The Moon plains are marked by winding ridges. They remind a person who has travelled Old Mexico of the endless stone fences that run across the levels and through the valleys and climb the mountains. Mexican stone fences were built by native Mexicans driven to the task by Spanish conquerors. The winding ridges of the Moon were built by an invisible hand.

The Moon surface is dotted by craters. In an age of the long ago there occurred tremendous Moon explosions. Vast internal forces tore their way to the surface. For years flaming, smoking, smothering lava poured forth. Much of the lava was shot forth and carried miles. Some as it cooled, poured downwards, and formed the craters. Earlier selenographers thought them seas, and named them Maria. That was in a day when Latin terms were given to scientific discoveries. Science still clings to the term Maria.

A sea is a large enclosed body of water. The Moon sea that seems to be the most perfectly enclosed is the Mare Crisium. It is well named Crisium. Crisium means crises. The Moon as well as the Earth has its crises. This Mare is located in the northwest quadrant of the Moon. A medium sized telescope brings it into full view. The breadth is 360 miles from east to west and the length from north to south 280 miles. Figure out the extent in square miles. Without the aid of an instrument it is visible at times by day. For the young astronomer to locate this Mare and to note its appearance on successive occasions will afford him more mental pleasure than will the reading of the best seller book of fiction.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

FLIN FLON, MANITOBA.

This town, in the centre of the rich mining district of northern Manitoba, owes its origin and continued existence to the Flin Flon copper mine, close at hand.

The town was named by the discoverers of the mine after Prof. Flinflon, hero of a romance called "The Sunless City", which was picked up by one of the discoverers on a portage near the Churchill river. Efforts to secure a copy of the book or to ascertain the name of the author have been unsuccessful.

One-Minute Pulpit

My son, walk not thou in the way with them; refrain thy foot from their path.—Proverbs 1:15.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

SUGAR IN YOUR COFFEE.

How well you are looking! . . . What a fine fellow you are! . . .What good color you have! . . . You look ten years younger than I know you are! . . . I wish I had such a fine head of hair . . . I wish I had your strength and your pleasant personality and your way of making friends and keeping them . . . I heard a man saying just the other day that he envied you your courage and your ability—he wished he had your brains . . . And you have such excellent taste in clothes . . . And your children are such perfect gentlemen and so bright . . . And a nice old lady said she wished she'd had a son like you.

These are compliments . . . Perhaps you don't believe me. You doubt my sincerity. I must have some "ulterior motive" in saying such things to you . . . I make you blush. I embarrass you. I shouldn't be so frank in expressing my good opinion of you. I should be more restrained . . . That's what you say.

But you aren't exactly angry, are you? You don't dislike me for saying I like you and that other people admire you . . . Even though you call me a "glad-hander," you will hold no grudge against me . . . You may think pleasantly of me whenever my name is mentioned. I'm the fellow who brought you good news about yourself. Even though it wasn't exactly true, even though you knew that, you weren't offended . . I didn't pile the flattery on with a shovel, as Disraeli said he did in his relations with Queen Victoria . . I spoke frankly to you, but not meanly. I did not leave a sting. You may doubt my intelligence, but not my good feeling . . . So you can't possibly be angry at me— or at anyone else who gives you compliments.

Neither can I . . . I know that the other fellow should give me cod liver oil as well as soothing syrup. I know I should like the bitter tonic as much as I do the ice cream soda . . I should, and everybody should . . . But somehow I can't. It isn't in me, though it ought to be. I should welcome disaster as a challenge to my soul. I should be eager for agony, because it may deepen my character. I should prefer tragedy to comedy because it will make me think and feel usefully about life. And I should place criticism high above compliments . . . But, strangely enough, I do not!

And neither do you.

MADOC CHOIR ENJOYS PICNIC

Members of Trinity Organization Spend Day at Crow Lake.

GAMES AND DANCING.

MADOC, July 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—The choir of Trinity United Church, Madoc, held their annual choir picnic on Monday, July 2. Eight cars carrying members and friends proceeded to Crow Lake, where the afternoon was spent in games, swimming and dancing.

A baseball game was played, sides being captained by Les Ashley and Dick Wellman. Les Ashley and Buck Hulin showed the crowd the art of jumping fences to try to cut off home runs. Going into the last of the 15th, the score was tied, but Wellman, after a talk with his battery, engineered a double play which retired the side and won the game.

The ladies' race were keenly contested, Miss Connor and Miss Ferguson won the single ladies' event, and Buck Hulin won the men's event after insisting that Bob Wickham be handicapped.

After an hour of swimming, the members sat down to a delicious supper and then retired to the dancing pavilion, where songs and dancing were enjoyed.

About nine o'clock the gathering broke up after voting this one of the most enjoyable picnics in the history of the present choir.

Green Gardens In Labrador Stressed

MONTREAL, July 4.— Prof. F. G. Sears internationally known horticultural expert and Profssor of Pomology of Massachustts State College, will sail for Labrador aboard the S.S. New Northland of the Clarke Steamship Company from Montreal next Tuesday to carry on his work of encouraging natives to grow green vegetables and so ward off the ravages of the dread beri-beri.

This popular disease, which begins with falling finger and toe nails and all too frequently ends in agonzing death, is something akin to scurvy, the terror of the seas. It is caused by malnutrition and inadequate balance of diet.

Professor Sears has devoted many summers to the educataion of the northern people, who, beacuse they are cut off from the outside world for part of the year in the great white north, are frequently unable to procure sufficient greens to enable them to withstand attacks of beri-beri. While in some sections it is a comparatively easy matter to educate them to the advisability of maintaing gardens, in other cases this is most difficult. One of the reasons for this is that the rooky nature of the terrain requires that earth be transported considerable distance and jealously guarded from floodsand heavy rains.

Professor Sears will accompany Sir Wilfrid Grenfell, the famous missionary of the north, to the mission base at St. Anthony, Newfoundland, and will probably return with him to Montreal aboard the New Northland in the autumn.

SUCCESSFUL FIELD DAY IS HELD ON MILLBROOK GROUNDS

Recently Organized Athletic Association Sponsors Initial Event of Season.

KEEN COMPETITION

MILLBROOK, July 4 (Examiner Correspondence).—The recently organized Millbrook Athletic Association, with W. E. Ball as president and P. I. Bentley as secretary-treasurre, made its initial bow to the community on Monday, July 2, when it sponsored a successful field day, with a full program of sports at the Agricultural Park in the afternoon, finishing off with a barn dance in the Armouries at night.

Eleven ball teams were competing in the afternoon, entries having been solicited at a fee of one dollar per team. The attendance was comparatively large, considering the centennial celebration at the nearby town of Port Hope, which drew a number of the citizens, as did also the Deyell family re-union held at Wallace Point, Otonabee River, with a good sports program as one of its annual features.

Girls' softball teams entered in the competition included Bailieboro and Millbrook, the latter winning out with a score of 12-10; Bethany and Omemee, the latter the victors, the score being 11-10; Millbrook and Keene, with the last-named walking off with all the honors, taking 24 runs to the home players' 3; and winning the play-off also when it beat Keene by 8-5. The teams for the play-off included: Keene—Cox, Brown, Shortt, Nelson, Munroe, Wedlock, A. Shortt, E. Nelson, and Gainer; Omemee — Sherin, Redhill, Fisher, Pogue, Har', Reddick, McQuade, Ricketa, and McGee.

Teams entered for the boys' softball contest were Mount Pleasant, Keene, Millbrook, Ballyduff, Haboko (Peterborough), and Omemee. Mt. Pleasant beat Millbrook 11-10; Haboko beat Ballyduff 26-4; Keene defeated Haboko 9-1, and also won the playoff with Mt. Pleasant, the score being 6-3. No official umpires were secured for the day, but any that were available were used throughout the afternoon, and no complaints were heard.

Omemee also went down to defeat before the Keene players in the softball contest with a large score to the good. The players on the various entrant teams included: Keene—Wood, Fall, Whelan, Nelson, Rennie, O. McCarthy, J. McCarthy, Renwick, Davis. Omemee—Reddick, Stevenson, Reid, Bibby, Joyce, Weir, Vaughan, Redhill, and Fisher. Millbrook — Stevenson, Harkness, Ingram, Stinson, Raper, Newton, Campbell, Brown and Dalby. Mt. Pleasant—B. Bryans, A. Bryans, Boyd, Nill, Vance, Bowles, Burly, Kennery, Snider. Ballyduff—Cairns, Strong, Mitchell, Davis, J. Armstrong, Hanna, H. Armstrong, Jackett, Corbett. Haboko—McDougall, Whaley, Darwin, Hunter, Leggitt, Brady, Livingstone, Harding, Masters.

In the hard ball games the home players topped the score each time, winning from Mt. Pleasant by 8-2, and from Bethany by 3-2. Track events were under the vice-preside de of the Association, Rev. W. W. Jones, B. B. Dawson and Aubrey Fallis, and provided a full program of races for all ages for the boys and girls, who entered heartily into the several events.

To complete the day a special attraction had been advertised in the way of a musical competition, for individual entrants, at the Town Hall from 7 to 9 p.m., but unfortunately though a number of tickets were sold, this old-time contest could not be carried through, many of those who promised to take part failing to be on hand. The money was refunded and the people, at least those who wished, took tickets for the dance which was immediately put on instead, the entire program of evening events being in the hands of Mr. Haines, of Young's Point, dance promoter.

When the Town Hall overflowed it was necessary to adjourn to the Armouries, where Lionel Doughty and his Cowboy Orchestra provided music for old-time and modern dancing until 1 a.m. The dance was fairly well attended and apparently everyone had an enjoyable time. The Dominion Day celebration was considered one of the best in community history, and the Millbrook Athletic Association won popular favor with the program provided and carried capably through.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

FIRST BISHOP OF NOVA SCOTIA.

On this date, in 1818, Rev. Edmund Burke was consecrated by Bishop Plessis at Quebec as Bishop of Sion and Vicar of Nova Scotia. Apostolic born in Kildare, Ireland, in 1753, he had come to Quebec where he taught in the Seminary for some time and was then despatched to the Detroit frontier to take charge of the Roman Catholics there, especially the French element. He was most successful in this, was much appreciated by Governor Simcoe and other governors, and was appointed vicar general of Upper Canada in 1794. In 1801 he was transferred to Halifax in a similar capacity. He had a difficult task, for much delay resulted owing to the poor communication with Quebec, and in 1816 the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda, at Bishop Burke's request, separated Nova Scotia from Quebec and created it a vicariate apostolic under the direct government of the Pope. It was to this office that Dr. Burke was consecrated on July 5, 1818. He lived only two years thereafter, but within that time laid the ground which the present arch-diocese of Halifax has been built.

Edmund Burke was described to Colonel Simcoe in 1794, as "as good a subject as the king has", had the honor of being threatened by General Wayne with hanging because of his loyalty to the crown, could have had "the living of Ste. Anne comprehending the town of Detroit on condition of becoming an American subject", which he declined, and was rewarded by Lord Dorchester with a pension of 100 pounds per annum as "a reward for his services and loyalty".

Carlots or less of No. 1 butter ranged from 19c to 19½c, unchanged. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 21c for solids and 22c for prints.

The cheese market was 10¾c for Ontario No. 1 and 10c to 10¼c for Quebecs. Tuesday 10;c was the high point in the range for Ontarios and 10¼c was the high for Quebec.

The potato market was unchanged. New Brunswick Mountains sold for 80c to 85c for 80-pound bags. Quebec White, 70c to 75c for the same weight bags, and Prince Edward Island Mountains $1 to $1.05 for 90-pound bags.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 5 — Quick to follow leadership of a strong Liverpool market, wheat futures prices registered smart upturns on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, easing only fractionally from early one-cent advances. Values closed ⅝c to ⅞c higher, July at 78⅝c, October 78¼c, and December at 79¼c.

Though trade in the pit was not heavy, support was always at hand to boost values, with only a minimum of selling making an appearance. Purchases for export amounted to 300,000 bushels of wheat and evidence of seaboard house buying combined with some buying from Continental interests to give strong tone to the day's dealings.

Confirmation of serious crop losses in Europe accounted for an advane of ⅝d to 1⅛d per 100 pounds in the English market. The small improvement in North American conditions, it was said, have been outweighed by further deterioration in wheat crops abroad. Reports also were current some Argentine wheat recently received in the United Kingdom was in poor condition.

United States markets were on holiday, curtailing inter-market operations. Cash grains improved fractionally. Coarse grains futures held firm in sympathy with wheat but operations were quiet.

HANDYMEN

COVINGTON, Ky., July 5.—(CP)—Covington's fire department wanted an ambulance. The lowest bid the firemen could get was $4,000 so they took a second hand sedan and converted it into a two-patient ambulance fully equipped with inhalator, first aid materials and a police radio.

Chief Frank Northcutt said the cost was less than $700.

NEWER YELLOW METAL ISSUES SHOW ACTIVITY

Investment Buying Lifts Level All Across Toronto Mining Board.

BASE METALS IMPROVE.

TORONTO, July 5 (CP) —Investment buying lifted the level of the Mining Section of the Toronto Exchange to-day, several of the newer gold propositions showing especial buoyancy. Teck Hughes was under accumulation at higher prices and, following a lethargic morning, silver and base metal shares improved in volume and price in the afternoon.

The optimistic atmosphere was partly borrowed from Wall Street, where traders, following the U.S. holiday, were in a more cheerful frame of mind. McIntyre moved up more than $1, Dome $1, Lake Shore, Bralorne and Teck Hughes to 15 each, while Hollinger and Pioneer closed slightly lower.

In the base metals advances were registered for Noranda, Base Metals Corporation and Sherrit Gordon.

TORONTO, July 5.—(CP)—It was a case of too many holdovers on the cattle division of the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon. With 1,800 head available only 100 were sold and with all buyers off the floor the remainder will have to be carried over till next week. Market officials stated if the holdover, comprised chiefly of fair to medium butchers and cows, was to be cleared, farmers would have to keep next week's supplies light.

One lot of weighty steers brought $4.75 while the few butcher cattle sold went from $3.50 to $4. Heifers made $4.65 for tops and $2.75 as the low. Cows went around $3.25 for best. Fed calves, on two sales, ranged from $4.75 to $5.50.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 5 (C.P.). — The stock market staged a gradual uphill climb to-day. Numerous leading shares gained around one point, while some specialties rose 2 to 3. Late prices were around the day's best. Dupont, Columbia Carbon, and Armour of Illinois Preferred were conspicuous firm spots. U.S. Steel and American Telephone improved a point or so each.

Transfers approximated 440,000 shares.

NOTED SKIPPER DIES.

EAST LAHAVE, N.S.—Skipper of the first Canadian ship to be captured and sunk in the Great War, Captain Cyrus William Parks was dead here to-day. He was master of the Steamer Wilfred M. when the German cruiser Crown Prince waylaid her in January of 1915 and sent her to the bottom of South America.

Captain Parks and his crew were taken off their ship before it was sunk and spent five weeks as prisoners aboard the cruiser. Then the Germans landed them at Buenos Aires.

The fantastic career of Edward W. (Daddy) Browning, 60-year-old real estate millionaire, whose adventures as foster-father of a handful of New York city girls whom he planned to adopt, made front page news stories for almost a decade, is feared to be nearing a close in a New York city hospital, after being stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage. Here are some scenes from his romantic past. NARROW GAINS METAL ISSUES

Oil, Food, Distillery and Brewery Shares Show Mild Pick-up in Volume.

GENERAL LIST HIGHER.

TORONTO, July 5 (C.P.).—Following several sessions of backward drifting, the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange closed higher to-day, metal, distillery, oil, food and brewery shares trailing the New York market in recording narrow gains. Volume also showed a mild pick-up.

Early buying orders put Walker's Common up a point to 36¼, and Industrial Alcohol up ⅝ to 8⅞, and Distillers Seagrams added a small fraction. Brewery shares were sluggish all day, but they managed to break even on losses and gains. Canada Malting and Brewing Pfd. closing higher. The demand was vastly improved for Ford A and C.P.R., and these, together with Nickel, Smelters and Brazilian, closed ¼ to ½ higher.

TO BE DEPOSED AS NAZI PARTY'S SECOND IN LINE

domination will come from country districts if economic adversity continues.

It is the farmer, not the industrial worker, it was pointed out, who will be the most difficult to placate if the condition of their pocketbooks grows worse.

In the absence of press reports from the provinces, little has been heard from the German farmer during the present political uncertainty. His possible share in rumors of party derangement in Bavaria and Silesia remains conjectural.

An early summer drought which may seriously curtail the crops has sharpened the economic crisis. There is a growing conviction in informed circles that the agriculturist will before long make a determined protest.

His demands might make a serious drain on the flattening reserves of the Treasury.

Small farms, receptive from the start to promises of the National Socialists, have been the backbone of the Hitler movement.

Landowers Angered

At present both the large landowners, such as are found in East Pomerania and Mecklenburg, and the small farmer, are known to have grievances against the Nazi program.

The large landowner resents a tendency to cut up the big estates. He also has been asked to take on more help than he considers necessary. His credit facilities have been impaired. He has been obligated to quarter Voluntary Labor Corps units.

Although the hereditary farm program safeguards ownership for the small man, it makes credit difficult, since the property cannot be mortgaged. The program, furthermore, imposes unusual economic burdens in that farms cannot be divided among several heirs.

OFFICIALS NEED REST.

BERLIN, July 5 (A.P.). — The bloody Nazi executions are definitely ended, a government spokesman asserted to-day.

A general desire in government quarters to forget events of the last week-end was clearly discernible.

"Everybody is tired," said one Wilhelmstrasse official. "We want to forget about the past and continue our constructive work for the future."

All indications pointed to the fact that the promised official list of "less than 50," who admittedly are dead as a result of events of June 30 and July 1 and 2, will never be published.

Official vacations, including one for the entire body of storm troops, are scheduled for the remainder of the month.

"All who have figured in the week-end drama, from the Chancellor down, are anxious that the vacation month shall really be one of family life and recuperation," said the official previously quoted.

Tragic and Comic

BERLIN, July 5 (AP)—How little even high Nazi leaders knew about what was being planned in the innermost councils of the party was shown to-day in an article written by Wilhelm Kuke, Nazi Governor for Kurmark, floor-leader in the Prussian Diet.

It was published June 30—the very day Chancellor Hitler and Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia, executed their coup against Captain Ernst Roehm, Storm Troop Chief of Staff, and rebellious subleaders.

The following paragraph with its reference to Roehm, who met death at the hands of a firing squad, has a tinge of the tragic and the comic:

"It is a happy circumstance that revolutionary men sit in the innermost council of Rer Fuehrer (Hitler," Kube wrote. Rudolph Hess, Ernst Roehm, Wilhelm Goering, Joseph Goebbels and Walter Darre, along with group leaders are men of iron in their fidelity and are keeping formations of the party intact for the disposal of the beloved Fuehrer.

"They constitute the foundation of the Third Reich and its coming perfection. It would be sheer madness to place any doubts in the fidelity of these iron riders of Hitler."

Hindenburg Greets King of Siam

NEUDECK, Germany, July 5 (AP)—President Von Hindenburg, slightly pale and showing the effects of recent events in the Fatherland, received the King and Queen of Siam at noon to-day at his East Prussian estate.

Imperial ceremonies were held in honor of the Siamese, whose small, trim appearance, contrasted sharply with the tall German soldiers before which Their Majesties passed en route to the estate.

The President, accompanied his royal guests outside the house following a state luncheon. A goose-stepping regiment of soldiers proudly passed before them.

Hindenburg was given a big ovation by a crowd gathered at the gate. He used a cane and was accompanied by a physician, who was constantly at his side.

Rejuvenated

VIENNA, July 5 (AP)—The official Weiner Zeitung to-day quoted diplomatic circles as saying they had "assurance" that President Paul Von Hnidenburg of Germany had take a rejuvenation treatment.

France Protests

By A. D. STEFFERUD

Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press

BERLIN, July 5 (A.P.) — The French embassy issued to-night a formal protest to Germany in the form of a vigorous denial that France was the villain in the "foreign conspiracy" phase of the recent Nazi revolt.

Meanwhile, Nazi officials confirmed to-night the belief which had become general that Chancellor Hitler's private army of some 2,000,000 storm troopers is doomed.

Just how many will be retained apparently has not been settled, but some quarters indicated less than 20 per cent will be kept. Others over a certain age probably will be confined to a reserve corps.

CAPUCHIN FATHER DROWNED

OTTAWA—Rev. Brother Marie-Ange was drowned last night in Meach Lake, in the Gatineau district, when he jumped from a leaking rowboat in which he and seven other members of the Capuchin fathers were passengers. All other members of the party were rescued or swam to shore.

Brother Male-Ange's family name was Albert Desautels of Montreal. There will be no inquest.

A CASE OF KEYS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 5.—(CP)—Of all persons, it was Mrs. Margaret Keys who forgot her keys.

She thought the key to the situation was to break the door glass with her elbow, but this made things worse. Her elbow was cut and she was treated at police emergency hospital. Now Mrs. Keyes says the key to such a situation is never to be without keys.

LAWYERS AGREE JUSTICE IVES

Handed Down Only Proper Verdict in Edmonton Case Members of Bar Agree.

APPEAL WASTING MONEY.

With many amateur lawyers arguing on the street today over the decision of Chief Justice W. C. Ives dismissing with costs the $10,000 action brought against Premier J. E. Brownlee, of Alberta, by Vivian MacMillan, former Government stenographer, for seduction, The Examiner sought legal opinion on the judgment.

Members of the Bar here were unanimous in the opinion that in dismissing the case Mr. Justice Ives on the evidence had handed down the only proper verdict.

"That group of citizens in Edmonton who are planning to protest the judgment and raise funds to carry an appeal to the Privy Council will only be wasting their money in my opinion," one lawyer said.

It was pointed out to The Examiner by a well-known local lawyer that two factors enter into a seduction case. "First of all the girl requires to be in a position in which she is performing services for her father," it was explained. "Even if these services are only casual they are sufficient.

"In addition the girl under all authorities must be required to become either the mother of a child or suffer some physical impairment to health as a result of the seduction.

"Mr. Justice Ives found that she was not employed by her father or doing services for him, but was away from home working independently for herself. He also found that she had not suffered any impairment of health in the sense set forth in English and Canadian court authorities. So that a seduction action could not be successful."

SEE SIGNS IMMIGRATION PICKING UP IN CANADA

LONDON, July 5 (C.P. Cable)—The News Chronicle said to-day it understood the overseas settlement committee had received indications from Canada that migration of British settlers to the dominion is considered more favorably than for a considerable time in the past.

At the same time the newspaper said the committee was delaying publication of its report on migration policy because several members are dissatisfied with the "unimaginative character" of proposals the majority would like to include in the report.

TRUCK DRIVER FACES CHARGE

Failed to Remain at Scene of Accident is Charged.

APPEAR IN LINDSAY.

LINDSAY, July 5.—A Peterborough fruit dealer will appear in police court here on Monday on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident. On Monday evening last the fruit dealer was alleged to have side-swiped a car driven by S. Cullin, of Bobcaygeon, on the south of that village damaging the car to such an extent that it was nearly cut in two. The occupants of the car were uninjured. As the truck sped away the first two letters of the license were taken and Provincial Constable Joseph Nelson located the truck in a Peterborough garage with marks of a recent impact on the fenders and body. The owner at first denied the charge, police say, but later said that he was involved in an accident.

Police in Peterborough today said R. B. Strano, local fruit dealer, was implicated in an accident near Bobcaygeon and would stand trial at Lindsay for failing to return to the scene of an accident.

A quiet wedding took place at the Holy Redeemer Church, Detroit, when Mary Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McAuliffe, 356 Mark street, Peterborough was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Vincent F. McDonnell, son of the late Mr. Louis McDonnell and Mrs. McDonnellof Detroit, Rev. Father Carou performed the ceremony and sang the nuptial mass. Miss MaryMc Donnell,sis ter of the groom was bridesmaid and Joseph McCann supported the groom. After a week's motor trip part of which is being spent in Peterborough Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell will reside in Detroit.

Prior to her marriage the bride was presented with a cheque from the Acme White Lead and Color Works where she has been employed. A set of silver consisting of one hundred pieces, console and mayonnaise sets from her office associates. A shower taking the form of a picnic at Belle Isle by a number of her friends where she was presented with a 46 piece set of crystal. Also many other beautiful gifts from friends in Detroit and Peterborough.

HARDWICKE—WENHAM

The marriage of Kathleen Ivy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wenham, and Mr. John Thomas Hardwicke, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. H. Hardwicke was solemnized in Broadway Baptist Church, Winnipeg, Saturday, June 30 at 3 o'clock Rev. J. H. Slimon officiated.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and peonies. The service was prefaced and accompanied by soft organ music played by Mr. F. Douglas Bull. With the bridal couple at the altar, Mr. E. W. Sellars sang "O Perfect Love," and during the signing of the register, "O Sweet and Fair O' Love."

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a floor-length mode gown of horizon blue crepe georgette, fashioned on princess lines. A deep bertha of tiers of many tiny frills of dotted point d'esprit draped the bodice, extending in ripples over the sleeveless shoulders. This effect was again carried out in the flare of point d'esprit that fell from the knee, ending in a succession of tiny frills.

Her hat was a large model of matching blue crepe. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and lily of the valley.

Both bride and bridegroom were unattended.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were fragrant with the scent of many peonies. The bride's table was set forth in the dining room and overlaid with a handsome Italian cut work cloth. The wedding cake held premier place and was surrounded with peonies and tall blue tapers. Small tables were conveniently placed on the lawns at which the guests were served.

Following the good wishes offered by the many guests, the bride donned her travelling dress of cream beige pebble crepe. The sleeves and yoke showing pretty open work embroidery. Her hat was a small model of matching crepe. Her accxssories were white, and she wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and lily of the valley.

The bridal couple left for Toronto and other points in the east.

Mrs. Wenham, the bride's mother chose celadon green canton crepe, with white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Hardwicke, mother of the groom wore Peter-pan green crepe with white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Miss Amy Hardwicke chose blush pink pebble crepe with white accesories.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams of Minneapolis, Mrs. E. H. Clarke and son of Grosse Isle and Miss Eileen Grant of Dauphin.

Canuck Riflemen Prepare For Shoot

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 5 (C.P. Cable). — The Canadian Bisley team was out on the ranges early to-day, firing over long ranges in preparation for the meet next week of the National Rifle Association.

Blue skies and brilliant sunshine with a slight breeze greeted the Canadians and members of the various teams competing in the services matches which are being fired this week.

Sergt. T. Moore of the Small Arms School annexed the Army Rifle championship. He won the Roberts Cup yesterday. The Army Hundred Cup went to Sergt.-Major Churcher, also of the Small Arms School, who distinguished himself yesterday by winning the Koupell Prize, which his father won before him. Churcher is a former Army Rifle champion.

EXTRA R.C.M.P. OFFICERS ARE FLOWN TO FLIN FLON

FLIN FLON, Man., July 5 (C.P.). —Perfunctory patrols of picket lines fraternized with an increased police guard here to-day while officials of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company awaited the next move in the three-weeks' old strike that has paralyzed industry in this mining settlement.

Additional detachments of Royal Canadian Mounted Police from Regina and Winnipeg took up quarters in the public school building. A smaller detachment was winging its way here from Lac Du Bonnet by aeroplane. Increased police patrol was requested by citizens following riots of last Saturday.

No smoke arose from the all-brick stacks adjacent to the mines, where 1,300 miners walked out three weeks ago. The men quit work when demands for restoration of wage cuts and readjustment of conditions under which they work in the mines were turned down.

The throat of a mouse is only one-sixteenth of an inch wide, declares a scientist in Scotland.

SOME FINE YACHTS TRAVELLING TRENT

Half Dozen or More Have Already Tied Up at George Street.

With the arrival of July and its warm, sunny days, activity along Peterborough's waterfront has increased. A half dozen fine yachts out of both Canadian and American ports have put in at George Street Wharf and as many again have passed up or down the canal without laying over during the past week.

The list includes the Commander V. with its owner, Hugh Aird, son of Sir John Aird, on board. Mr. Aird stopped for some hours at the George street landing while his craft was re-fueled and its larder restocked. Other visiting craft were the Dorothy II from Georgian Bay, the Wetonia of Toronto owned by a Mr. Weton, formerly of this city; the Cassawappy, bound from Toronto to Penetang; the Faux Pas, the Carroll of New York City, bound from New York to Georgian Bay and the Viga II of Sodus Point, N.Y., bound homeward from Georgian Bay.

The Alvi of Toronto, owned by A. R. Roberts, a prominent Torontonian, has been at anchor at the dock since its arrival from Florida early this week. Although not the largest of this year's visitors, the craft is one of the finest which has yet stopped over. Measuring 40 feet in length with a 13-foot beam, its gleaming white hull is trimmed from stem to stern with Phillipine mahogany.

The Alvi is powered with twin engines and designed specifically for travel along the inland and coastal waters of America. It is equipped even to the extent of an electric generator for the operation of lights, radios and other appliances. Comfortable accommodation for six persons is provided.

H. F. Weber of Toronto, captain and engineer of the ship, states that in the cruise up from Florida no waters more beautiful than those to be found in this area were visited. With Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and two friends aboard, the craft was headed north last month. From Florida as far as Norfolk, Virginia, the course was over inland canal most of the way. For forty-eight hours, the craft weathered the open sea on the leg from Norfolk to New York, and then proceeded up the Hudson and the Oswego canal to Lake Ontario and up the Trent system to this city. It will proceed to Georgian Bay on the arrival of its owners from Toronto at the end of the week.

ALBERT AUSTIN DOMINION BANK CHAIRMAN DIES

the first franchise for a street railway in the Manitoba capital.

"Electric System Dangerous"

He was the first to introduce and advocate electric overhead trolley cars in Canada. Winnipeg's street railway in 1880 used horse-drawn cars. But Mr. Austin was unable to convince the city council that an electrical system was not dangerous, and in 1892 sold out his interests in the utility field to Mackenzie, Mann and Ross, returning East.

Before doing so, however, he had successfully operated an electrical railway system in Winnipeg suburbs. One line connected Winnipeg with Elm Pairk, on the Red River. The council refused to permit him to electrify the whole system.

He became a director of the Dominion Bank on his return to Toronto, his birthplace. His interests widened rapidly. He became vice-president of the Consumers Gas. Later he was interested in many financial enterprises.

In 1882 he married mary Richmond Kerr, daughter of Dawson Kerr, who was then general manager of the Chicago Journal of Commerce. His fruit farm at Port Dalhousie, Ont., was one of the finest in Ontario, and one of the largest.

Golf was his favorite recreation. He founded the Lambton Golf and Country Club near Toronto, and was honorary president at his death. For many years he served as president.

HAVELOCK RESIDENT HONORED UPON EVENT OF 80TH BIRTHDAY

Over 40 Relatives Gather and Congratulate Mr. Roy Bonney at Round Lake Home.

SUTTON SHOWER.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, July 5. — A delightful anniversary celebration was held at the lovely summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bonney, of Havelock, at Bonnierest, Round Lake, the occasion being the 80th birthday of Mr. Bonney, on Monday last. Forty-three friends and relatives of this worthy old gentleman sat down to dinner, at tables arranged on the lawn, many of these having motored all the way from Toronto to joint Mr. and Mrs. Bonney on this happy occasion.

Mr. Bonney was for many years a resident of Toronto, having come to Canada from Preston, England, while still quite young. For more than twenty years he was a member of the staff of the T. Eaton Company, Toronto, retiring from service some fifteen years ago, when he was presented with a purse of gold from the managers of the store and mail order, and a pension from the company.

Mr. Bonney was for years leader of the Woodgreen Methodist church choir in Toronto, and some time in charge of the choirs of King East, and Parliament Street Methodist churches, and the Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican churches at Emsdale churches, while a resident there. He was also a member of the Mendelssohn choir during the leadership of the late Dr. Vogt.

For ten years he conducted the choir of Havelock United church, retiring only one year ago to enjoy a rest after a life spent in the interest of church music.

Rev. Mr. Archer of Lakefield, a former Havelock pastor, acted as chairman and toastmaster of the birthday party, when the following toasts were proposed: To the best Dad in the World, Dr. Bonney then proceeded to tell his father the many things he had always admired about him, and just how much he appreciated his love and care during the years of childhood and manhood, which pleased the old gentleman more than eanything else could have done.

To the best Husband in the world —proposed by Mrs. Bonney.

To the best Grandpa in the world —Miss Audrey Bonney.

To the host and hostess—by Mr. T. Birdsall of Toronto, and Mr. H. A. Talbot.

Dr. Morgan and Dr. Fenwick, both of Toronto, addressed a few congratulatory remarks to the host and hostess. An original poem, written and read by Mr. Birdsall, giving a brief outline of the talent and good qualities of the octogenarian, and the presentation of a huge birthday cake, decorated with tiny yellow rosebuds, and eighty yellow candles, forming the numbers eighty, by Mrs. Cunningham, of Havelock, a close friend, were pleasing features of the birthday celebration.

Sutton Shower

A happy social evening was enjoyed on Friday last at the Orange Hall here, when Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sutton of Campbellford (Gwen Rutherford) were guests of honor at a miscellaneous shower arranged by the Misses Marie and Helen Bedford.

About one hundred young people were present and enjoyed dancing to the music of Doug. Hutchinsons orchestra, and between dances were refreshed by iced lemonade.

Just before the midnight hour the young couple were called to the front of the hall where a pink and white bower had been placed, and were presented with a large clothes hamper of beautiful gifts placed on a wagon and drawn by little Georgie Rutherford (who was flower girl at the wedding), and wee Marjorie Brennan, both cousins of the bride Before the parcels were opened the happy couple were showered with confetti and roses from a netting suspended over the arch, and the orchestra played "For they are Jolly Good Fellows, in which all present joined in singing.

Many beautiful and costly presents were received by this popular couple, and were graciously acknowledged by the bride and groom. After a brief address, in which Mr. Sutton thanked his friends for the honor tendered him and Mrs. Sutton, and hearty applause from the guests, a waltz, "I Love You Truly" was dedicated to the newly weds.

Afterwards dancing was resumed and continued until shortly before one o'clock, when the gathering dispersed, after singing "Should auld acquaintance be forgot."

Members Plan to Repair and Clean Up Old Garrison Cemetery.

KEENE SHOWER.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BELMONT, July 5. — The matter of making a donation to the Institute fund for the purpose of sending a junior girl to the Macdonald College at Guelph was among the most important matters dealt with by the Belmont Women's Institute at their June meeting on Thursday last.

The roll call was responded to by a verse of poetry, or a garden hint.

After some discussion the secretary was instructed to forward a donation of two dollars towards the junior girls' fund.

The matter of cleaning Garrison's cemetery, and attending to any necessary repairs, was left over until the next meeting, when it is hoped there will be a larger number of members present.

An interesting and detailed report of the Institute convention at Hall's Bridge, was presented by Mrs. Harry Scott, the branch delegate.

An interesting and helpful reading of 'Poetry" was given by Mrs. Robert Anderson, and was much appreciated. Afterwards a short period of community singing was enjoyed.

A dainty lunch was then served by the hostesses, Mesdames George Smith, Robert Anderson, William Smith and Joseph Seabrooke, and after a half hour of social intercourse the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Keene Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Keene of Belmont, were guests of honor at a shower tendered them on Friday evening last by the Young People and Women's nstitute of Prenteveau, in the township town hall, when a large number of friends were present and showered them with many beautiful gifts.

The presentation was made in a very original way: Miss Mary Anderson as a gypsy and Irene Tinney as a vagabond, the former in a colorful costume of red and black with many glittering beads and ornaments, and a bandanna, and the latter as a real vagabond, entered from the rear of the hall, the gypsy, with hand extended, introducing herself as she approached the bride. Arrived at the platform she proceeded to tell the fortune of the guest of honor.

At the concluding lines the vagabond deposited a large bundle at the feet of the bride, who graciously acknowledged them and proceeded to open them. Many lovely gifts were received, from individual members of the Institute, and a handsome table from the club.

A splendid program of vocal solos, duets, readings and instrumental numbers, was arranged for the entertainment of all in attendance. At the conclusion of the entertainment a sumptuous lunch was served, and the evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

If Jewellers sold it~ they would call Sunlight

22 Karat Soap

● Just as it is possible to fashion a "gold" ring from part gold and part baser metals ... so it is possible to make a soap from part pure soap and part substitutes. The karat mark on the ring tells you of its purity, but what mark is there on soaps to guarantee their purity?

● With Sunlight soap ... the "karat" mark of purity is on every bar. It reads: "Guaranteed Pure."

● Sunlight is the only laundry soap with a standing guarantee that it is all pure soap. Being pure, Sunlight dissolves readily ... forming plenty of suds very quickly ... suds which are lively and lasting. They wash more clothes beautifully clean without harm to fabric or colour ... and Sunlight's pure, gentle suds never could roughen or hurt your hands.

● Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto — Soapmakers by Appointment to their Excellencies the Governor-General and Countess of Bessborough.

Because Sunlight is all pure soap, it is the most economical.. bar for bar it washes more clothes than common soap.

Borah Foresees N.R.A Threatening Liberty

WASHINGTON, July 5 (C.P.). — "That meddlesome, irritating, confusing, undermining, destructive thing called bureaucracy," was the label placed to-day on the current trend in the United States by Senator William E. Borah.

The Idaho Republican Independent opened his one-man campaign against present governmental conditions with an address to the nation last night in which he castigated centralization of power at Washington as threatening individualism and personal liberty.

He revealed the "lone wolf" speaking tour he will conduct between now and the November elections will be a concerted attack on what he considers the fostering of monopoly under the National Recovery Act.

Win Phillips and his orchestra, playing at Brock Street Summer Gardens again to-night, had a large and very appreciative dancing crowd last night and presented one of the finest dance programs that has been been given by any visiting band in recent years. To-night is the last night of this engagement, and another big crowd is expected.

Requests have already been made to bring them back later on in the season if it is possible. 1d-4

Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, the Misses Veronica and Violet Harrington, and three sons, Neil, Earl and Daniel Harrington, all at home.

Police Use Tear Gas Subdue Crazed Man

OTTAWA, July 5 (C.P.).—Tear gas was used here to-day by police officers to subdue John O'Brien who ran amuck in the city jail, threatening guards with a pair of garden shears. Police said he will be removed to a hospital for the insane.

O'Brien, arrested a few days ago for attacking a police officer, and said to be a victim of periodic mental disorders, was working in the jail garden early this morning. Suddenly threatening to "kill the judge," he tore apart the garden shears and, wielding a blade in either hand, rushed into the jail office, where he lunged at Turnkey George Young.

Young dodged the blow and slipped out the door, locking O'Brien inside. City police were called and threw a tear gas bomb through a window. O'Brien, overcome by the gas, was taken to hospital, where doctors said he had suffered no ill effects.

Tilly Loses Suit

It took a London jury less than an hour to render a verdict in the divorce suit brought by Edward F. W. James against Tilly Loich, famous Hungarian dancer. The divorce was granted, and Tilly was found guilty of adultery with Prince Serge Obolensky, brother-in-law of Vincent Astor. Tilly is shown above with her husband, lower right, and the prince, lower left.

L. R. Desmarteaux, former Vice-President of the Metropolitan Stores, is head of a company which is opening in Lindsay a departmental store bearing his own name.

"Desmarteaux Limited, an all-Canadian chain of departmental stores selling a range of merchandise from five cents to five dolalrs, has started alterations in the building formerly known as the Sutcliffe store on the north side of Kent street," the Lindsay Post says. "It will be the first of its kind in this district and is expected to be in operation about the end of August."

Mr. Desmarteaux was the first manager of the Metropolitan Store in Peterborough, and from that position ascended in the company to the vice-presidency, resigning last year.

NO BREAD.

Fish tales roll into the office these days, but one from Gold Lake has highlights of a different nature. It appears a certain prominent Eas. City grocer delegated to provide bread for a gang of 14 (of which he was a member) showed up at the camp with 5 pounds of butter only.

The welcoming committee was on hand for the 3 a.m. arrival and all were hungry. "We want bread," shouted the crew. "Right here," says the grocer, handing up the parcel.

The next chapter is somewhat confused, but according to the story one of our local constabulary (and incidentally draped in half the outfit's blankets) promptly collapsed into eight feet of water at the thoughts of a week without the staff of life. Needless to say, it was a damp night in camp.

Next day the grocer's boots disappeared, and it is rumored a barefooted man was seen rounding up bread the following seven days from all the camps in a 50-mile radius.

INFORMATION LAID

An information charging Sidney Bentley, 127 Durham street, Lindsay, with failing to return to the scene of an accident was laid today by Chief Newhall before Police Magistrate. Bentley is the motorist, according to police, who last Monday evening backed into Dorothy Deal, aged five, at the corner Bethune and Sherbrooke street, and drove away without stopping to investigate the extent of the child's injuries or leaving his name. Police secured his name through the Motor Vehicles Department, spectators of the accident having secured the car's license number.

VISITOR FROM LONDON.

Harvey Hartley of London, England, formerly of Peterborough, was a visitor in the city yesterday. For several years Mr. Hartley has been engaged in special work for the Sun Life Insurance Company. He went to England fifteen years ago from Cleveland and was associated with one of the big American manufacturers, with whom he built up a splendid business success. Among those he visited yesterday was Alderman Walter Stocker, for whom Mr. Hartley worked for a time as a youth. During that time and since then Mr. Stocker took a personal interest in his progress.

LIBERALS "CAN'T TAKE IT"

Commenting on the application of James Hawthorne, Liberal candidate, for a recount, the Havelock Standard, of which T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P.-elect, is editor, states "Apparently the Liberals "can't take it" to use a popular slang phrase, and on Thursday afternoon of last week, James Hawthorne, the defeated Liberal candidate in the local riding, applied to His Honor Judge Ruddy, for a recount, filing the necessary affadavit and depositing the requisite amount $100."

TO ADDRESS KIWANIS

Some time ago, the members of the club heard Professor Seidler speak on "Hitler and Germany," and in view of that fact, the announced address of Professor Delta Champs should be of particular interest.

COACH IS STOLEN

Engaged in investigating the theft of a Pontiac coach from an Otonabee Township address adjacent to the city limits, provincial police were also notified that Graham's service station on Highway 7, about six miles east of the city was broken into last night or early this morning. It is possible that the two incidents are connected, and that in making away with the stolen car, the miscreant running out of gas helped himself at the Graham station which is on a deserted section of the highway.

SOLDIERS OF CHILDREN

Youngsters Are Being Taught the Art of Bayonet-Sticking.

This fourth article in a series on Fascism and Italy deals with the Youth Movement in Italy. Mussolini wants more population, but so far has failed to get it. The series, appearing exclusively in The Examiner, is summarized by Central Press Canadian from articles in Fortune Magazine.

All over Europe masses of young people, hundreds, thousands, are exercising in unison. Acres of lithe young bodies dressed in shirts and shorts, doing knee-bending, arm-waving, torso-twisting in endless, serried ranks. From Leningrad to Sicily these huge groups of gymnast may be found, and they are most common in those countries that have dictatorships. The Stalins and Mussolinis and Hitlers are the drill-masters not only of their peoples' minds and habits, but of their bodies as well, and, naturally, most of the drilling takes place with the plastic bodies of youth. Youth is the stuff of which armies are made. And a well-drilled, obedient youth is the best buttress that a dictatorship can have to assure itself of inner support.

In Italy the Youth Movement begins where youth itself begins—Fascism is deeply concerned with the couplings of the Italian people. Everyone knows that Il Duce wants the women of Italy to have as many babies as they can.

Wants Population Increase

Il Duce not only wants to increase Italian births; he just as much wants to decrease Italian deaths, to check emigration to do all he can to quicken a population that is already very dense; 344 to the square mile. Now there is a large body of opinion, even among good Fascists, to the effect that there are already too many Italians in Italy, as well as elsewhere. Italy has a grievous unemployment problem; in Italy there are many who are poor and some who approach starvation. Il Duce's baby policy ignores all that and founds itself firmly on what he calls the demographic theory. For the time being it is enough to say that this theory looks forward to a day, perhaps fifty or a hundred years from now, when the jaded, outworn peoples of Europe will be threatened with extinction by fresher and stronger peoples from outside the borders. In other words, Il Duce looks forward to Der Tag, not such an offensive Tag as quickened the pulse of Wilhelm Hohenzollern, but a defensive Tag, even more crucial, when the Italians will be obliged to fight against their own destruction.

Soldiers of Children

On that day the chance of the Italian people to survive will depend on the numbers and the strength, both bodily and military, of the Italian people. With this crisis in plain, theoretical view, Il Duce wants the Italian people to spawn the maximum number of soldiers; he wants them to have perfect bodies and to be learned in the use of arms; he wants them to be infused with a proud, fiery belief in the distinctive glory of the Italian people and its duty to survive. To this end, the state pursues a policy which, carried to its extreme, would make each Italian boy a strong and skilful soldier and each Italian girl the mother of a brood of such soldiers. The boys of Fascism, disciplined, orderly, purposive, march in strict military file along the main roads of Italy, all of them proud to be obedient privates and many carrying real bolt-action rifles on their shoulders. That maritial body of boys is the prime aim of the Italian Youth Movement. They are the first platoon of the new and oncoming host of Italian warriors which, if Il Duce has his way, will stand ready at Der Tag.

The Demographic Theory

The demographic theory is based on the study of birth and death rates, of the growth and decline of populations. Strange as it may seem, it is a fact that the Italian birth date dropped from a high of 39.3 per thousand in 1876 to 25.2 in 1929. And the rate of increase of the Italian population dropped from a high of 14.2 per thousand in 1912 to 9.1 in 1929. This, demographically speaking, is cause for great alarm. It is by no means so alarming as the figures for the countries of northern central and western Europe, where much bigger declines are to be noted. (Between 1915 and 1929 the U.S. birthrate dropped from 25.1 to 18.9). Still, it is alarming, and here is the reason why. The demographic theorists believe that there is a cyclic law of population which is quite as exact as the laws of plant growth and decay. Peoples rise and fall like roses. Fresher peoples, like fresher roses, supplant the old. The signs that a people had reached the stage of decay may be found in a prolonged falling birth rate, and this implies that decay has affected the individual's fibre as well as the people as a whole. Before long a lusty, growing people invades the land and takes it over. Il Duce tells the youth of Italy to gird up its loins and prepare for an unnamed but statistically self-evident foe. He tells the Italians to produce as much youth as they can. And to those who point out the unemployed and the poor and the undernourished, Il Duce gives an answer that is not unknown elsewhere. Unemployment is not caused by an excess of workers. Poverty is not caused by an excess of purses. Starvation is not caused by an excess of mouths. There is enough work and money and food for everyone once the national economy is arranged. Il Duce has not found the perfect arrangement. It must therefore be a source of great torment and worry to him to observe that, despite all his ballyhoo for babies, the Italian birth rate, except for one year, 1930, has consistently declined—from 24.9 in 1931 to 23.8 in 1932 to 23.5 in 1933. Even so this drop would undoubtedly be much steeper were it not for Il Duce's loud campaigning.

Bounties for Babies

The adored Duce must get a great many new babies merely by saying he wants them. But he is too shrewd a realist to depend wholly on speeches about the glory of motherhood and the need for a fine sunburned youth. The best way to get a baby, like everything else, is to offer something in return, and Il Duce offers a good deal. Take the case of illegitimate children. The realistic Duce knows that year in and year out a large number of these will be born in Italy. But they make good citizens, as time has often shown. Thus, by state law the National Institution for the Protection of Motherhood and Infancy, founded in 1925, provides for them. Unmarried mothers can receive a good dole for three years. The institution thereafter keeps its eye on the child.

More on the social life in Italy under Fascism in tomorrow's article.

The Keynote of Child Education

In Italy, as well as in Germany and other European countries, the keynote of child education is to teach them to shoot, to parade, to use bayonets, and to be, above all, obedient. The girl children are taught from earliest childhood that it is their duty to bear the State more male children for the army. Here is a sample of the training Mussolini is giving the Balilla (the youths) in Italy. It shows a young ten-year-old lad, fully equipped with a real gun and pack.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Avoid making work for yourself. There are many women, really competent who make themselves more work than they need to. They get things done, but not in the easiest way. They employ more dishes when preparing food than they actually need. They surround themselves with extras when sewing such as odd pieces of a pattern not required at the time, and yet not folded and put back as taken out, although known to be unwanted pieces, etc. We all know such persons if we are not ourselves of the group. It is worth taking some trouble to acquire ways of doing things easily, so some suggestions are made today.

* * * * * * *

If, as soon as a kettle or sancepan is emptied of its contents, it is filled with hot water, if convenient, or cold, if not, it will be the work of but a moment or two to clean it later. It is even better to wash the container immediately. It will be hot from the stove, the food will not have had time to harden on the edges, or the scum to stick, if there is a scum. It can be washed clean in a jiffy, if done immediately, and what a delight it is not to have an accumulation of pots and pans to wash after the dishes themselves have all been done. Sometimes these pots and pans seem the last straw. Try doing them immediately, and note the difference in the task of cleaning up.

* * * * * * *

Avoid leaving things around. It is one of the commonest ways of making one's self work, and it is a habit once fallen into that is very hard to break. To hear "Have you seen anything of my gloves"—or whatever it is, becomes annoying to the rest of the household. The loser feels annoyed with herself, and often reacts in a querulousness, until the family are drawn into a vortex of discussion. It is trouble-saving as well as labor-saving not to make extra work for one's self.

HAIR CARE AFTER SWIM IMPORTANT TO BEAUTY

Back in the old days when Granny was a lass, bathing suits were so voluminous that they covered a gal from neck to ankle. In those times swimming virtually was an unknown sport as far as women were concerned. And the damsel who ventured out ankle deep into the briny was considered a daring tom-boy.

Today, however, bathing suits have been reduced to a minimum. And what a minimum! But that's not the only way in which things have changed. For nowadays, women go in for swimming just as vigorously and expertly as any mere male. Indeed, our Gertrude Ederles, our Helen Meanys and our Eleanor Holms are enough to make the average male feel shame-faced about his own puny aquatic endeavors.

Of course, I'm not meaning to imply that every woman today is an aquatic champion. But women do swim a good deal; more than they ever have before. And I'm glad that they're reaping the benefits and pleasures of this healthful exercise. There's only one feature of swimming really that's discouraging. And that is, that so often, the 1934 model mermaid's hair becomes soaked with hard lake or briny ocean water during the swimming.

That's perfectly all right, of course, if a gal does the right thing by her hair afterward. But the average female doesn't. And it certainly is harmful to permit hard river or lake water, or briny ocean water to remain in the hair after a swim. For such a procedure ocean water usually makes the hair sticky and unattractive, and also tends to extract too much natural oil from the hair, leaving it dry and brittle.

If you intend to do any swimming this summer, always remember that, if your hair becomes wet, it is advisable that you rinse it with clear water after your swim. You don't actually need to shampoo your hair. But most bathing places are equipped with showers. And you can utilize one of the showers to rinse your hair. Then take a towel and dry your locks thoroughly. This procedure will help no end to keep your locks healthy, soft and glossy during the entire swimming season.

nails nightly before retiring. This will help greatly to correct their dry, brittle condition.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A BATTLE OF WITS.

Strategy soars over the heads of the vast majority of players, when contract becomes a battle of wits between two strategists as good as South and West proved to be. Each sensed what the other held and each sensed what the other sought to do. Both knew that the outcome depended largely upon some slip made, and neither player slipped. Opportunity alone had to decide the final score. The gallery rarely had as fine a lesson in bidding and play as the deal offered.

	♠ J 7 5 4 ♥ 9 6 4 ♦ 7 6 4 3 ♣ 5 4
♠ K 8 6 ♥ K 10 5 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ Q 10 6 3	W E N. S.	♠ 10 9 3 ♥ Q J 3 ♦ J 10 8 ♣ A J 9 8
	♠ A Q 2 ♥ A 8 7 2 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ K 7 2

Bidding went: South, 1-no trump, vulnerable and needing only 20 points to win the rubber; West doubled, not vulnerable, and having no part game score; East, 2-clubs; passed by South, well satisfied; West, 2-no trumps, to test partner; East, 3-no trumps, when West showed stops to all 4 suits, ending bidding. There was no sense in doubling with a partner who probably never would win a trick.

The opening lead was the 4 of spades, showing just 4 cards held by North, and plainly indicating that player held no longer suit, perhaps it was his only suit of more than 3 cards Dummy played the 3, marking the declarer with the K and either the J or 8. West never would have gone game bidding needlessly unless he held high honor strength in each suit outside diamonds, which dummy had bid

Almost every player would have played the Ace, then led the Q, hoping that West might be foolish enough to win the second lead, so that North might win 2 spade tricks, when South gained entry with his K of clubs. Three spade tricks, 1 club trick and the ace of hearts would defeat the contract without question. But South knew that West never would be dull enough to win the second spade trick. He would wait to win the third spade trick, knowing that North's hand was dead The only chance that South had to fool West was to put up his Q of spades on the first trick, hoping that West might fear not to take the trick thinking that North held the ace and would kill the K on a lead through South played the Q of spades, but West knew that South never would have opened the bidding at so high a score, especially when vulnerable, unless he held more than the Q of spades, ace of hearts and the two minor suit K's. Surely South held the ace of spades. West refused the trick Before to-morrow think how South could play from then on to surely defeat the contract.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

JOCKEY NICK WALL tried to squeeze through on the rail on closing day at Hamilton and was seriously hurt. If you remember we critized him for doing the same thing while aboard Young Kitty last Saturday. The last time though he was knocked to the track and a trailing horse stepped on him. He is a real clever jockey except for that one fault of trying to make room on the rail instead of taking the safe overland route. We all hope for a speedy recovery but latest reports are that he is in bad shape. In the meantime Eddie Seagram will have to procure a new rider as Wall was the Stable jockey.

Following the record attendances of Saturday and the holiday another large crowd turned out for the closing exercises on Tuesday. Fort Erie got away to a wonderful start yesterday. A large fourth of July crowd crossing the river from Buffalo and the wagering was brisk. This is the track where a lot of long shots usually go over. One reason is a number of horses are shipped there that never see action at other Canadian tracks and it is difficult for punters to compare their chances with the regular Canadian contingent.

OLD GRANITE ROCK is very partial to the Fort Erie racing strip and usually manages to take down a purse or two. Yellow Metal is another that should go well over this oval. Stamford Park at Niagara Falls are staging a meeting immediately after Fort Erie, so it will mean twenty - one days of continuous racing for the Niagara Frontier. That ought to give the boys a good chance to get a line on a horse. Jim Badame has Khorasan, Darksini and Sea Kale all in the proverbial pink and expects to do big business in the next few weeks. He also expects his clever juvenile Muckle Do to earn his oats. Bushman has changed hands so many times this year that it is hard to find from one day to another who really owns him, but he is always in the money and will continue to be as he is one smart plater.

Bill Campbell has Carylon and Canny Age all primed and Dude Foden will be in the pilot house so you can see they are all set to gather in some shekels. Bran Muffin returned to winning form yesterday at Fort Erie's opening. She will cop a few more right smartly. Pat Gaiety, of whom much was expected this season on account of him receiving his early conditioning this spring in Maryland, has failed to enter the winners circle as yet, while his older brother Mr. Gaiety, who was supposed to have only three legs, has won several. Such is horse racing.

42,000 Fans See Hubbell and Fitzsimmons Hurl Brilliant Ball Against Braves.

CUBS SPLIT WITH CARDS.

Dodgers Even With Phillies, Win First Game 8-5, but Lose Second 11-2.

(By Orlo Robertson, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Fourth of July, the day on which the experts say you can look at the top of the baseball standings and pick the pennant winners, has passed and if the adage holds true New York Giants and New York Yankees will meet in a seven-game world series this fall.

Out of the annual array of holiday doubleheaders, attended by a crowd of more than 205,000, came the Giants with the only twin victory scored in the National League and a lead of three games over Chicago Cubs. The Yankees, although unable to get better than an even break, held a slim one-game margin over the fast travelling Detroit Tigers.

The Giants, who a year ago dropped two games to the Braves and still held a five-game lead, yesterday trounced Boston 9-1 and 15-0 before 42,000, the largest outpouring of the day.

Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott were the chief figures in the shutout after Fred Fitzsimmons had held the Tribe to six hits in the first game. The New York screw ball artist held the Braves to five hits in registering his third shutout and 12th victory of the year while Ott connected with his 20 and 21st home runs to lengthen his lead over Chuck Klein.

Good Mound Duels

Two good pitching performances marked the splitting of the St. Louis Cardinals - Chicago Cubs double bill. Tex Carleton let the Cubs down with six hits to give the Cards the first game 6-2 but Chicago behind Jim Weaver's nine-hit pitching, took the nightcap by the same score.

With the Braves losing both games, the Pirates tightened their hold on fourth place by beating Cincinnati Reds 5-1 in the first game only to lose the second 4-3 when Paul Derringer kept the Bucs 12 hits well scattered. Larry French gained an edge over Silas Johnson in the first game by hard hitting in the early innings.

Brooklyn Dodgers pounded out three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Phillies 8-5 in the first game but the Phillies slugged the ball hard in the second to even the score, 11-2.

Here is a scene from the play at Lord's cricket grounds where England sprang a surprise by defeating Australia in the second test match for the historic "Ashes." The play shows G. Art Jones Hurls First No-run, No-hit Game in International League.

(By Associated Press.)

There's no law against fireworks in Baltimore, but Pitcher Art Jones of the Albany Senators created one of his own, and as the result today was the first International League hurler with a no-hit, no-run game this season to his credit.

Artful Art's hitless performance easily was the highlight of the league's four holiday double-headers, out of which Rochester Red Wings emerged victorious in two games, and bounced back into second place.

Jones, who came to Albany via Brooklyn Dodgers, engaged chief Euel Moore in a keen pitching duel in the first game which the Senators won 2-0.

Although Jones did not give up a safe blow, he allowed nine men to reach first base, seven on passes and two who were hit. Moore was none too generous himself, yielding only four hits. The Orioles rallied to take the second game in shutout fashion, 9-0, the Birds pecking Lefty Milligan and Ed. Chapman for as many hits as runs.

Leafs Are Easy Victims.

Rochester scored two one-sided victories over Toronto Maple Leafs, winning the first game by 5-2 and taking the night cap 6-1. Although Tony Kaulman yielded the mound to Johnny Michaels in the ninth, he was given credit for the first game, while Pete Appleton went the route for Rochester in the second, limiting the Leafs to five hits. Toronto dropped to third place.

The league-leading Newark Bears were nosed out in both games by the lowly Syracuse Chiefs by one run margins, 6-5 in the first and 5-4 in the second. In each game the Chiefs put across the winning tally in the closing innings. As the result of the double defeat the Bears' lead was reduced to four games from six.

Acting Manager Bill Sweeney's single with Joe Benes on second in the ninth won the first game, while Bill Cronin's single through third base with the bases loaded in the seventh accounted for the winning marker in the second contest.

Buffalo Bisons gobbled up Montreal Royals, winning the twin bill by scores of 11-7 in the first game and 9-3 in the second. The Bisons bunched their runs in the early innings and had complete control of the situation after the third inning in each game.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Jimmy Foxx, Athletics — Belted 24th homer to tie teammate, Bob Johnson, for circuit drive honors.

Tigers Hug Heels of Leading New Yorkers by Dividing Pair With Indians.

In the American League the Red Sox slammed the offering of their former teammate, Dan MacFayden, for 12 hits and seven runs in the first five innings and then went on to win 8-5. The Yanks squared accounts by taking the second 10-4 behind the four-hit pitching of Jimmy Deshong, who turned in his first victory of the year.

With Jimmy Foxx hitting his 24th home run to tie his teammate, Bob Johnson, for the major league leadership, the Athletics trimmed the Senators twice for the only double victory in the American League. The first was won by a 10-9 score and the second 6-3 with the result the league champions dropped into fourth place and the Red Sox took over third position.

Forty-thousand persons saw the Tigers lose the first game to the Indians 8-6 and then come back to capture the second 5-2 on nthe heels of the Yanks.

Nipping the tying run on a run-down play between third and home to end the second game, the White Sox gained a split with the Browns. They took the second 3-2 after Dick Coffman had shut them out with two singles in the opener. Jack Hayes, Chicago second baseman who returned to the game only last Saturday after being out seven weeks because of an elbow operation, suffered a fractured right thumb.

HALIFAX SCULLER ELIMINATED ROWS SUPERB RACE AT HENLEY

Lone Canadian Hope in Famous Diamond Sculls Ousted in Preliminary.

PRINCETON TRIUMPHS.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 5 (CP-AP Cables.—With a series of 36 races, the historic Henley regatta, Great Britain's annual rowing classic, got off to a good start yesterday, with the rowing of preliminary heats in the Diamond Sculls and crew events. The first day brought the elimination of the one Canadian contender, Dan Wallace of Halifax, a student at Oxford, who was beaten by a bare half-length by R. E. Whinstone of Molesey-on-Bucks.

Wallace rowed a great race and forced Whinstone to make the best time of the day, 8 minutes and 15 seconds. The all-time record for the course is 8.10 and Whinstone's time was 24 seconds faster than the next fastest race of the day.

Buhts Scores Easily

The present holder of the coveted Diamond Sculls, Herbt Buhts of Germany, had an easy time remaining in the running by defeating Guglielmo of Uruguay. He covered the course of a mile and 550 yards in 8.39 and won by three lengths.

The Quinton Club of London triumphed over their co-favorites in the Thames Challenge Cup, the Kent, Conn., schoolboy eight. Quinton gained a two-thirds length victory in 7.11 and now stands as the favorite to carry off the cup. Two other United States entries are still in the hunt for the trophy, the Yale lightweights and Tabor Academy, which defeated the First Trinity eight of Cambridge and Maidenhead College crew, respectively, yesterday.

The Yale four scored an easy win over Molesey-on-Bucks in the Wyford Cup trials, leading at the finish by five lengths in 8.19.

Princeton Men Triumph

Another sculls event saw Wintrop Rutherford, acting coach at Princeton University, win from A. V. C. Douglas of the Scots Guards in 8.40. Douglas had been regarded as a strong contender, but the Yankee won by three lengths. Still another Princeton sculler remained in the running when Henry Bigbee beat H. L. Warren of England by four lengths in the slow time of 8.56. The other sculls events of the day found E. Wingate of the Vesta Rowing Club, England, paired with E. C. Brance of Brazil. The Britisher won by three lengths in 8.56.

Maple Leafs Easily Beat 6th Line 37-18

Maple Leafs defeated Sixth Line, 37 to 18 in a girls' softball slugfest before a big crowd at Central last night. It was an exceptionally sloppy game, both sides kicking in with countless errors, while the opposing twiriers were clouted freely. Both sides scored nine runs in a furious second frame, and the Leafs knocked in no less than a dozen counters in the sixth. The teams:

Sixth Line—K. Nelson, lf; Richardson, ss; Weir, cf; Would, p; Tucker, c; Bowie, 2b; Bell, rf; Davis, 3b; Payne, 1b.

Maple Leafs—L. Cockerill, cf; S. Sturgeon, 1b; P. Rome, 2b; H. Mann, lf; S. White, c; L. Trollop, rf; G. Mann, 3b, p; M. Ballantine, ss; A. Sturgeon, p.

Score by innings:

HAYES FRACTURES THUMB.

CHICAGO, July 5 (A.P.).—Injury took Second Baseman Jack Hayes from the White Sox line-up yesterday. The Chicago infielder suffered what a preliminary examination revealed to be a fractured thumb in the sixth inning of the first game of the holiday double-header with St. Louis when he tried to stop a throw with his bare hand.

UNITED STATES' CHAMPION WILL MEET ENGLAND'S DOROTHY ROUND

25,000 FANS LOOK ON.

WIMBLEDON, July 5 (CP-AP)—Helen Jacobs, United tSates champion, will meet England's Dorothy Round in the finals of the women's singles in the all-England championships. Miss Round eliminated the veteran French player, Mme. Rene Mathieu in the semi-finals to-day after Miss Jacobs had scored a straight-set victory over the young Australian champion, Joan Hartigan.

The semi-finals resulted as most of the 25,000 capacity crowd expected. Miss Jacobs, playing steadily, made short work of the tall Aussie miss who was playing in her first Wimbledon tournament, and ran out the sets 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Round met sterner opposition from the experienced French player, but rallied strongly after dropping the second set to win 6-4, 6-7, 6-2.

Miss Round lifted her game to its peak in the final set as Mme. Mathieu began to tire. She charged the net on every opportunity and her superior ability in the forecourt finally told the tale. Nearly every point was won in an extended rally.

Lester Stoeffen and George M. Lott, Jr., ranking United States doubles team, won to the semi-finals of that division with a straight set victory over the German pair of sHns Denker and H. Henkel 6-1, 13-11, 6-3.

Five rinks from our club motored to Lindsay yesterday afternoon to compete in the Lindsay-Bowling Club's annual tournament. Twenty-four rinks from all around this district made up the entry. None of the Peterborough bowlers were successful as far as prizes were concerned. The boys don't seem to have hit their stride yet.

Today the ladies hold their annual tournament. A big crowd is expected.

To-morrow night will be just one more of those popular weekend tournaments. Each Friday night the committee tries to have something different. So this week Vern Selkirk, manager of Selkirk's Men's Shop has very generously donated 4 white broadcloth shirts as first prize. Then, besides these there will be the regular prizes donated by the club. It is hoped the boys will turn out and enjoy two hours of good fun at very little expense.

MONTREAL PLAYER BEATS RAINVILLE

Veteran Davis Cup Star Eliminated by Henri Paul Emard.

MONTREAL, July (CP)—A fighting youngster on his way up in the Provincial tennis listings yesterday took the measure of Marcel Rainville, for half a decade a mainstay of the Canadian Davis Cup team, as the men's singles of the Province of Quebec tennis tournament reached the quarter-finals.

Rainville's conqueror was Henri Paul Emard of Montreal, ranked eighth in the Province, by a score of 6—4, 8—6. Those who expected Rainville, seeded second, to advance through the tournament counted without the court craft and steadiness of Emard.

Donald Leahong, the British West Indies star from Jamaica, won the right to play Emard to-day, by triumphing over Stuart Veysey, Montreal, 6—4, 6—4. Playing the same all-round game which served him well in turning back George Leclerce of Ottawa Tuesday, Leahong won without being severely pressed.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball Lacrosse Soccer Softball, Bowling etc.

By C. J. P.

A news dispatch the other day from Cleveland, where the 1934 Grand Circuit meet is now on, told of a Canadian race-driver, Vic Fleming, roaring home first with Calumet Evelyn in three heats, 2.04¼, 2.08¼, 2.05¾. Then the same day in the .20 class trot, Vic triumphed with Del Hanover in straight heats that were clocked in 2.05¼ and 2.02½. With Miss Ontario, he also copped one heat in the .23 pace. Considering the fact that Vic was up against some grand international competition, he did himself and his country proud.

• • • • • • •

Quite a few followers of the harness horses here—and there are plenty of them in the grandstand at the Exhibition Grounds at every local meet—will remember Vic Fleming. He hails from Dundas, Ontario, and has often raced here. He's a big chap and has been driving trotters and pacers around the ovals for twenty years, having inherited his love for equines from his dad who also trained and drove. He will have four outstanding horses at the Toronto meet at Thorncliffe Park July 19-25, and it's a safe bet that his green and white colors will lead the parade every now and then while that meet lasts.

• • • • • • •

Before leaving the subject of Mister Fleming, here are a few of the champs he has pushed under the wire: Back in '20, Vic piloted Louie Grattan to the speedy record of 2.00 flat; in '26 he had Mr. McElwyn win his mark of 1.59¼; two years later, the famous Grattan Bars, with Vic holding the reins, paced off a mark of 1.59½; and in the Kalamazoo Derby in '31, Vic captured the event with Toll Gate, clocking one heat in 2.00¼ and establishing for his pacer a world's record for four heats in that race. Yeah, he's quite a guy. We know he isn't a Peterborough man, but he has friends and admirers here, and besides we always had a sneaking admiration for those gallant guys who stick to harness-hoss racing year after year, just for the love of the game and good horse-flesh—'cause there is mighty little money in the biz.

• • • • • • •

But running horses—ha, that is something else again! While harness hoss owners may starve to death, there is gold in them that mounted broncs. A fellow on our night staff does his work by an open window on warm nights and, when the wind is right, an equine odor drifts in from a nearby stable. The smell of horses is not altogether unpleasant, and it seems right profitable to him, for he picks up his racing form and jots down quite a few winners for the next day—the horsey atmosphere apparently putting him in the right mood. We could sit there till the wind shifts and we'd still be picking "also rans." Anyway, we prefer the perfume of the rose.

• • • • • • •

But to desert the race-track for the diamond, there is a bantam baseball game on tonight, weather permitting, at six bells between King Edward and St. Peter's in Riverside Park. These kid baseballers from the two schools put up good battles, the bantam league being particularly well-balanced this summer. If you like the game and enjoy watching the sixteen-year-olds-and-under having a whale of a time, why just drop in for awhile. They like an audeince.

President Nora Seddon, Ottawa, of the Prov. Women's Softball Union, wrote us the following letter yesterday: "Dear Sir—Having received no further word from Peterborough League, we have almost concluded that they will not be with us this season. However, because we are still interested, we would suggest that if any team from the above mentioned league wishes to engage in exhibition games, that they try some of the teams which they would be likely to meet in Provincial playdowns had they affiliated with us.

• • • • • • •

"With this in view, we would recommend the Darlington Township Softball League, Miss E. Rickard, secretary, Newcastle, Ont., phone 3721, comprising Courtice, Zion, Maple Grove, Enneskillen and Newcastle; the Belleville Ladies' League, Mr. B. Vandervort, secretary, Belleville; or Lakeshore League, Miss Muriel Austin, secretary, Box 43, Cobourg, comprising Oshawa, Gregory's Tavernetters (W. Branch), Oshawa Malleable Iron (J. Spencer), Port Hope (W. Dear) and Cobourg (J. Loyd). Will you be kind enough to forward me a copy of the Peterborough schedule? I might make an effort to be in Peterborough to see a game with the purpose of satisfying myself of the strength of your league. In writing at his time, I do so out of interest in softball in general, and the sincere wish to assure you of our desire to help your league in every way whether you are affiliated with us or not. Thanking you for the splendid way you published my entire letter to the Peterborough League a short time ago, I remain, etc."

This Saturday afternoon is an open one at Riverside Park, and the local lacrosse club has been trying to get either Cobourg or Campbellford here for an O.A.L.A. game. Cobourg can't make it as some of their players will be playing baseball that day, and definite word will not be received from Campbellford till late this afternoon. It seems all the Hydro Town players must be interviewed before the complete team is sure of coming, as the Maroons don't want to trot out a weak squad against the Kiwanis here. Something definite on this game will be published in tomorrow's paper.

ASTOR'S BRIGHT BIRD WINS NEWMARKET RACE

NEWMARKET, Eng., July 5 (CP Cable)—Lord Astor's Bright Bird, a three-year-old bay colt, to-day won the Prince of Wales Stakes at a mile and a half, coming in half a length ahead of W. Woodward's Black Devil, with Sir Abe Bailey's Valerius back in third place.

Seven ran in the race which is worth about $10,000. Bright Bird paid 7 to 4. Black Devil 11 to 2 and Valerius 5 to 1.

CRICKET

The official returns of the second round of the provincial county cricket championship, the winners of which qualify for the R. C. Matthews Trophy, have been announced by the secretary of the Ontario Cricket Association as follows:

Essex.....277 Middlesex 90
Waterloo....120 Lincoln 101
Peterboro'...164 Lanark 74

The best batting performances for this round were those of C. Pomeroy (6), and E. M. P. Caunce (2), both of Essex, while D. Mitchell of Peterborough took the most wickets, six for 35 runs.

The likelihood is that Essex and Waterloo will play off on August 6 to decide which will oppose Peterborough in the final on the Toronto C.C.'s ground on Labor Day. Trinity College School of Port Hope will open their tour this afternoon, when they oppose the Rosedale Club, at Rosedale, commencing at 2 o'clock.

ENGLISH SPEED DEMON WILL ATTEMPT TO SET SPEED MARK

Freddy Dixon Will Use Silver Bullet, the Car Which Failed Kaye Don in 1930.

BROUGHT FROM FIELDS.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5 (AP)—A man who two years ago never had sat behind the wheel of a racing car is a challenger for the world's land speed record.

He is Freddy Dixon, 43-year-old garage owner who has earned a tremendous reputation for skill and daring in his brief career. Tinkering over a motor in his shop, Dixon unfolded his plans for attacking the 272 miles an hour mark established by Sir Malcolm Campbell last year.

He will make his bid in the Silver Bullet, the $80,000 car which failed Kaye Don at Daytona in 1930. He didn't pay that price, however, getting it almost for a song from the youngster, Jackie Field, who purchased it from Don in 1931.

A Pile of Junk

"The Silver Bullet is all wrong at the moment," Dixon said. "Just so much junk. No wonder Don failed. The power of the two engines is quite insufficient, and the suspension system requires a complete overhauling. The 26-cylinder engines are supercharged. I am going to remove the superchargers and install a multi-carbureto system.

"I will make my first tests at Bendine Sands in South Wales. Then if all goes well, I'll take the car to Daytona Beach and take a ride."

The rise of Dixon in the car racing world is one of the most colorful romances of the English track. He was a motorcycle racer until 1932 when advancing age made him quit that hazardous game. He retired to the safety of his garage, but, after six months of preparing cars for other men to drive, he felt the urge "to take a spin" himself.

Nearly Lost His Life

For 48 hours before his first race he didn't shut his eyes, so busy was he working over his car. This enthusiasm cost him the race, and almost his life, for he fell asleep at the wheel near the half-way mark and, his little machine, travelling nearly 100 miles an hour, jumped a hedge and was completely wrecked.

Since that time he has won many of the most important races at home and on the continent. His smash-ups have been numerous and spectacular. At Montlhery this year his machine crashed through the retaining wall, and after turning over three times caught fire. When the ambulance arrived Dixon was standing by, calmly surveying the ruins. He didn't have a scratch, and the doctor who examined him five minutes after the crash, said his pulse was perfectly normal.

The very first thing I ask a pupil to do is stand erect.

And the first thought the pupil has is "How will I be able to reach down to the ball."

The club doesn't seem to be long enough and he's sure an upright posture won't permit him to get anywhere near the ground in his downswing.

To overcome this seeming oversight on my part he bends over as he swing down. And the way in which he bends determines the outcome of the shot. If he bends forward at the waist the result can't be good.

Ninety-nine times out of 100 times he'll bend just this way. He may not realize it but a snapshot of his hitting position would prove it.

If the pupil would bend sideways so that his entire body formed a curve to the side he could reach the ball easily and still maintain his erect body position.

Without this erectness the proper foot and leg action cannot be had.

WIN FOR C.G.E. CUT COGS' LEAD

League Leading Clubmen Game and Half Ahead of Electrics—Meet on Friday.

C.G.E. and Cogs tangle in the East Peterborough Baseball League games at six tomorrow (Friday) evening in the Exhibition Grounds. The league-leading Clubmen are only a game and a half ahead of C.G.E. now and a win for the Electrics would cut their lead considerably. On the other hand, if Cogs take this tilt, they will be sitting pretty in first place by over two games. These two teams put up good battles, there seldom being a one-sided score between them, and tomorrow's game should be no exception. At present, it looks very likely that C.G.E. and Cogs will meet in the playoffs early next month, the winner going into the O.B.A.A. playdowns. With a little more strength pitching, C.G.E. should have an even chance of winning out.

Russ Kitchen or Casey Masterson will probably hurl for the Cogs tomorrow, while Percy Vannest—on vacation now—will not likely be in the lineup. Barry, Armour, Hetherington and McGillen are all available to start for Doug Hatton's crew, Barry probably being the first selection. This game, regardless of the pitchers, will be much closer than any of the recent struggles as C.G.E. has been building up and working hard for a playoff berth. It deserves a good crowd of fans.

SOFTBALL BENEFIT

Two all-star local men's softball teams will play a benefit game at Central Saturday evening, the money raised going to aid injured players. Further details tomorrow.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

Chapter 40.

The Italian thrust his wife aside and faced Pointer.

"Listen. Giacomo is my son. He knows it. We all know it. The Tait family is nothing to us. Nothing, you understand. We have no grudge against any one. Maria here has tried to make the Taits believe differently. It was natural. But it was no good. Nothing doing, eh? With the old lady at any rate. And she is the only one where much money is. As to Giacomo killing this Mr. John Tait, why should he? Mr. John Tait paid my wife 100 pounds every year which I set aside for Giacomo. Miss Naylor brought it every quarter in pound notes. It was useful, the money, but it came from a stranger, not from a relation. Giacomo knows. And would Giacomo hurt this kind stranger who sends his mother 25 pounds every 13 weeks for him? It is ridiculous!"

"Mrs. Ricci threatened to be revenged when Lady Tait said she would make a gift of 30,000 pounds to Mr. Tait on his approaching marriage," Pointer said to that.

"Oh, my wife and her threats!" Ricci snapped his fingers under the lady's nose and looked dangerously like tweaking it. That acted like a match to a squib. Up into the air went the signora. Up into the air went the husband. "It is nota true! They cannota touch him. What I say I do. Remember that!" she screamed amid her more fluent Italian.

"Come, inspector, let me have a word with you. As man to man, eh? We shall soon understand one another." And by sheer force Giacomo pushed Mrs. Ricci out of the room, locked the door, and with a smile produced a cobwebby bottle of Asti Spumante.

"Not easy to match this. Just a little glass, eh?" But Pointer stayed his hand and corkscrew.

"Listen, then," Ricci said, pressing a thin Italian cheroot on him, "this wife of mine, a good wife, mind you, and a good mother but just a little—well—jealous——" He smirked at his own reflection in the glass and twisted his mustaches till they looked like black darts. "Yes, jealous indeed!" he sighed. "We had a cashier. A really sympathetic girl. Quite young. And so pretty! She has a sad home life. I talk to her a little and give her good advice. My wife comes upon us as I am giving her the advice. And misunderstands. There is a scene. She tells me that if I ever see the young lady again she will poison both of us with a poison that no one can detect. I laugh. Though I am not happy. She swears that she has such a poison handed down in her mother's family. And—well, her grandmother was a well-known witch. Many things are possible. But I laugh. Now I think my wife thought this would be a splendid opportunity to make me tremble, eh? She would claim to have killed John Tait. She has so often tried to frighten his stepmother into giving her money. Which the old lady refuses to do. She has brains, that old lady. She knows the truth about Giacomo. Oh, at once! Is it likely that my handsome boy was the son of that son of hers? No, indeed. Does he look like him? My wife's father was at Scotland Yard——"

"What was his rank?"

"Interpreter. He spoke every language. He was always talking to her of Scotland Yard. She knows, we know, that you won't arrest except you have proof of guilt. And she is not guilty. So she is safe. Why, she did not know that he was dead until a little while ago when Miss Naylor rang up to say that he had dropped dead in the street and that the police feared he had been poisoned. She would like Lady Tait to think she did that, and she would like me to think she did it. To get even with both of us, and to—well—keep me away from Eleonora. As to why you should want to come here and fasten it on my son Giacomo, unless you want to frighten her, to give her a lesson, eh? In that case it is clever. I can understand your wanting to frighten her," he repeated enviously.

Pointer was non-committal. The shop of Hudson Giacomo would be carefully watched, so would this little hotel. But truth has a way of shining out of things, and Pointer, an acute observer with a very penetrating intelligence, believed that the man before him was telling him the truth. He had felt the same about the son. It was only signora Ricci who perplexed him There truth and falsehood were mingled very cunningly. As he made for the door she bounced out of some dark stairway and stood before him.

"He has been telling you not to pay any attention to what I say, eh?" she said, eyeing her handsome husband out of the corner of her eye. "He has been telling you that I threaten and only wordsa come? Aha! Well, you can believe him if you like. I tell you both thata what I threaten I do. And that I am clever enough to do as I say and yetta not be found out. As for trying to frighten us by arresting Hudson——"

"Giacomo——" struck in Ricci.

"Hudson Giacomo," she amended, "that, of course, was bluffa." And before Pointer could speak, she turned on her heel and seemed to vanish down the dark little stairs that led to the basement.

Pointer walked away, deep in thought. No one could say of Signora Ricci what was truth and what was false. Her husband might think she only wanted to frighten Lady Tait and himself, but . . . Pointer had taken from a pigeon-hole in the little inner room some papers, grocery lists, and such, apparently, written on purple note paper, in purple ink, with a thin nib, so that the writing was florid and ornate and spidery. . . . There had been malignant hatred in her face, voice, and manner when she spoke to Lady Tait just now. . . . She was an Italian, she claimed to have a recipe for an undetectable poison. The boutonnieres would perhaps help. If the leaf around the spray proved to be the same as the specks dug out of Tait's fingertips, another step would have been made.

A detective must be ready to suspect any one, but Pointer put the husband and the son of Signora Ricci among his list of unsuspected-till-the-last. Pointer was due back at the Yard now for an interview with his superiors. But first of all, the chief inspector once again made for the Home Office analyst, who received him with scant favor this time. He was busy weighing what looked like a rat's whisker. At Pointer's abject entreaty, he turned, snapped a fragment of the lily of the valley leaf that the chief inspector was wearing between two slides, examined it, and then looked at the labeled specks.

Then he nodded. "This is the same. I have found, since I saw you, that there is a slight, very slight admixture of turps, in the dye. Probably it was poured into a bottle that had held turpentine. This green dye shows it too. And the glass is identical in manufacture." With that he pushed the slide towards Pointer, drew the balance again towards himself, and seemed to drop into a shut-off recess on the instant.

Pointer hurried away.

Pointer showed Mrs. Burnham the purple sheets of note-paper and the writing. Both, she said, resembled exactly the paper and the writing of the letter which she believed that Mr. Tait meant to show her at noon that day.

Pointer then asked for Lady Tait. He knew, from the interview between her and Signora Ricci, that threatening letters, one or more, had been received by her, and he guessed that that was the something held back which he had felt when talking to her before. That John Tait's murder might be due to her severity would be a terrible fact to face, supposing her to have loved her step-son as she said she had, and as Pointer believed that she had. For she struck him as too proud and too fine a character to be a liar, let alone a criminal.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Jean McDonald, Westwood, Ont.

Your writing portrays a rather generous disposition, and I am very much afraid that you sink your own personality for the benefit of others too often. Of course, your writing, if portrayed in ink, might decipher a slightly different characteristic, but it could not change your lovable nature. Your 't' bar crossings show that you have a tendency to drift along on the tide of your imagination, and once in a while to argue things out. You can be most reserved when necessary, but as a rule you are friendly and open-hearted, kind and sympathetic. I should judge from the manner in which you portray the letter 'I' that you really enjoy being out of doors, but sometimes it seems to be too much of an effort to 'dress up', doesn't it?

Your general character is excellent, but you love personal comfort, and sometimes this characteristic has a natural tendency to make others think that you are selfish. In a way this trait will assist you greatly, because it will prevent you from overtaxing your strength, and so better health will ensue, than if you had given all your time and strength to others.

Miss Rose McGrath, Hastings, Ont.

Strong Points: Excellent character, deeply religious and sincere in morals, and loyal in friendship.

Weak Points: Apt to spread activities over a wide field in preference to concentrating and becoming master of one line of endeavour.

Emotions: Not too emotional, but genuine in friendship and love, though there are times when you cannot find expression through the medium of words, actions or gestures.

Health: Fairly good, but slightly nervous, caused through your genuine endeavour to make yourself do things which are at times distasteful to you, in the daily every day affairs.

Disposition: Lovable, kindly and optimistic, full of fun and sensible good humor.

Temperament: Fairly even, but you can fly off the handle when you find it necessary, can't you?

How to Succeed: Develop your artistic sense. You have quite a lot of physical energy, and should enjoy the fruits of your labors.

Miss Sarah Cullen, Trenton, Ont.

Your handwriting is expressive of a gentle personality, and it reflects an individual, keen intelligence. Your letters are fairly evenly spaced and shaped, so that the indications are that you possess a fairly even temperament, but you are not averse to using your own judgment about things when you know you are right, even if by so doing you are judged temperamental.

You can be impulsive too, but as this usually takes the form of impulsive goodness, it does not matter. Your 't' bars delineate normal will power. Your capital letters show an artistic sense of proportion. Your imagination, though keen, is practical. I should say that you were a very nice person to know, and that it would pay others to cultivate your genuine friendship. A refined reserve is noted in the formations of some of the letters, and this is quite in keeping with your genuine personality.

Miss Mary Haley, Tweed, Ont.

Your writing shows genuine interest in current events. Your mind is keen and receptive. You are energetic and diligent. I think, perhaps, that at times you would like to relax a little, and let things slide, but your better nature and judgment will not let you. You are quite often reserved to a point of being thought un-sociable, but really you are not like that intentionally. It is a sort of pride and respect for your own affairs, and forbidding instincts against prying into the affairs of others.

Your looped up 't' bar shows that you are quite a persistent person, and once you allow yourself to commence a project, you find it difficult to leave it alone till it is complete in all its entirety. Your capital 'M' in the name Mary shows artistic perceptions, and I am sure that you are capable of making many delightful objects of charm with your nimble fingers. The small running formations of the smaller letters indicate dramatic ability, and continuity of thought. Your type as a rule desires self expression, and it is only right that you should devote part of your time each day, in order to satisfy this talent.

Household Hints

MENU HINTS

Veal Pie Jellied Spring Salad
Hot Rolls Butter and Jelly
Individual Pies or Tarts

This is a menu for a large group. The pie serves 36.

Today's Recipes

Veal Pie for 36.—Five pounds veal shoulder, five pound pork leg, seven pounds potatoes, cut in cubes; fifteen carrots, cut in long, narrow strips; one dozen hard-cooked eggs, one pound onions, seventy biscuits. Cook meats until tender, season to taste when half cooked; cool, trim off all fat, etc., cut into cubes about an inch and a half square or larger, keeping veal and pork separate. Carefully cook potatoes until done but not at all "mushy." Cook carrots until very tender but not broken. Cook onions in a little butter until golden, then add a little boiling water; boil until tender. Cook eggs 25 to 30 minutes. Make four quarts gravy out of the broth, season well and add cooked onion. You will need four flat pans to bake this amount in, 8 by 12 by 3 inches deep. Put two cups of gravy into bottom of each pan, a layer of veal and carrots, dividing the amount of each equally in the four pans. Slice three eggs over top of each pan, add two cups more of gravy over top of each pan. Make four recipes for biscuit, using two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons lard, one cup milk. Cut with medium-sized biscuit cutter. It will require at least 40 minutes to bake the pies at 360 degrees. It helps to have the pans of meat, etc., placed in oven to heat while the biscuits are being made, taking pans out one at a time to place biscuits on top.

Rolling Helps

The lemon of average size yields about two tablespoons of juice. To obtain the most juice from a lemon roll it well, pressing with the fingers until the lemon is quite soft. This process frees the juice.

Your Health by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

We live in a sensory world. Every condition of our mental life—our pleasures, our discomforts, our reactions to the world—is determined by the balance of our sensations. The world of a deaf man is different from the world of a blind man. Nobody can tell whether the deaf man is ever able to imagine the world of a blind, man, or vice versa.

It is interesting to speculate on how different our lives would be if the normal preponderance of acuteness of our senses were to be upset. Suppose, for instance, we, like the dog, had rather dim vision but an extremely acute olfatory sense.

The sense of smell of human beings is probably the least developed of any of the senses. In the sense of evolution, however, it is probably the oldest of the senses, except feeling. And the doctrine is that the oldest structure is the most stable. Certainly it is true that our sense of smell is sensitive only to a few things, but to them we react very violently. Disagreeable odors are far more unbearable than disagreeable sights, and perfumes induce extremely profound emotional states.

How limited is our sense of smell may be seen by the fact that we have no wordx for variations. There are, for instance, no blue, green, yellow, red or white odors, but only disagreeable or pleasing.

Recent studies by Dr. Donald A. Laird in his psychological laboratory at Hamilton, N.Y., have confirmed the fact that odors induce more profound emotional changes than any other human sensation, and odors are capable of stimulating memory so that scenes from the past are recalled very vividly.

For instance, there is the report of a school principal who says that one day while reading a sense of loneliness came over her and various memories of her childhood. She examined the book she was reading and could find no reason for this sudden recall. But the print of the book had a strange odor, and she found on turning to the front that it had been printed in London. As a child all of her books came from England, and English and American print have to her different odors.

Another person can instantly recall and live over again the first ocean trip she ever took from the scent of the soap that she used on her fitrs Atlantic crossing.

A peculiar experience is that of a naturalist who gets happy, pleasant sensations from laboratory odors. He says that the odor of specimen alcohol gives him a suffused happiness in which he remembers the enthusiasm of his early days in studying biology.

An advertising man, aged 27, says that the odor of Nuit de Noel perfume recalls the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago.

An architect, aged 53, says that he occasionally passes a lady who uses a particular perfume which excites him pleasantly, although he does not know its name nor anyone who uses it.

These studies may be of value in psychological personality tests.

PRESENTATION MADE TO PASTOR AT ROSENEATH CHURCH SOCIAL

Male Choir of Port Hope United Church Renders Several Selections on Program.

ADDRESSES READ.

ROSENEATH, July 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual strawberry celebration of the Roseneath United Church, held on Tuesday, was another of Roseneath's famous events. Supper was served continuously from before six until after nine o'clock.

Financially the occasion was a marked success, bringing approximately upward to ninety dollars net.

A splendid program was given, chiefly by the male choir of the United Church of Port Hope, with T. W. Stanley, director. Their opening chorus, "Nearer My God to Thee," was beautifully sung and was followed by a short address from Rev. R. W. Paton, the pastor. A solo followed. "Sleep in The Deep" by Mr. Lewis Roberts and he responded to his encore by singing "Ship Ahoy". An instrumental solo was then given by Miss Joey Morrison.

A solo by Jack Rolland, Port Hope, "Without a Song the Day Would Never End"; chorus by the male choir; address by Rev. F. H. Battersby of St. James' Anglican Church. Gordon Mizen of Port Hope, gave the audience a treat with a coronet solo, "At Dawning" and responded to his hearty encore with, "The Rosary"; James Thomas, of the choir, brought down the house with his comic song about "The Little Red Hen," "The Snail and the Ostrich" and through loud applause came back to the platform and sang "She's the Girl for Me."

A chorus by the male choir "Wandering Child Come Home,"; a piano solo "Throw Another Log on The Fire" by Miss Marjorie Tucker.

Vocal selection, "Twilight Is Falling" by James Dodd, Port Hope; solo, "And We Won't Have to Sell the Farm" by Mr. Darling and Jack Jamieson, whose singing is always appreciated, did his usual with a song, "The Maiden Who Loved You So True" and responded to his encore.

Rev. R. W. Paton announced that $107.00 were the door receipts and that a sale of cooking would be held at the close also the canteen would remain open and mentioning the final number, "Home on The Range" by the choir.

Immediately after Mr. Paton's closing remarks, C. W. Varcoe moved a vote of thanks to the male choir of Port Hope and their leader, Mr. Stanley, and to all who had taken part in the program. This was carried by loud applause from the audience.

A dense stillness followed when Mrs. T. A. Tucker walked to the platform and, addressing the minister, Rev. R. W. Paton, to come to the platform, she read an address which is as follows:

Roseneath, Ontario,
June 26, 1934.

Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., B.D.,

Dear Friend and Pastor:—

We, your friends of the Roseneath United Church, wish to take this opportunity to do you honor. We have come to the parting of the ways, and have learned with deep regret of your approaching departure from our midst and we desire to assure you of the deep regard and affection that you hold, not only in your own congregation, but in the entire community and among all denominations.

During your four years of ministry with us you have planted superb faith, given us courage and instilled good thoughts into the hearts of your people. Your helpful suggestions and kind deeds have been a model of God's most wonderful masterpiece—Man!

The parting seems temporary only, for you are not going any great distance from us. You will quickly form other friendships, but we trust you will not soon forget Roseneath and the friends you leave behind you. Your services as a pastor have been unequalled, not only in the pulpit, but with the younger members, for the Trail Rangers will feel they are losing a real pal. The Young People's Society, who looked upon you as their "Head", keenly regret your departure. The Dramatic Society, which you were instrumental in organizing, feel they owe much of their success to your kind assistance, for at all times you were ready to lend a helping hand. Then in the Sunday School the seeds for good planted in the minds of both young and old will surely be a living monument of your work.

The officials of the church felt your guidance during your pastorate here and the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society always were inspired by your presence.

The congregation as a whole extend to you their very best wishes in your new field of labor, and as a tangible appreciation of your work among us, we beg you to accept this gift, not for the intrinsic value, but that its use may serve to remind you of other days and former friends. We suggest that you let them form a link between you and us, and we pray that God's richest blessings may ever rest upon you.

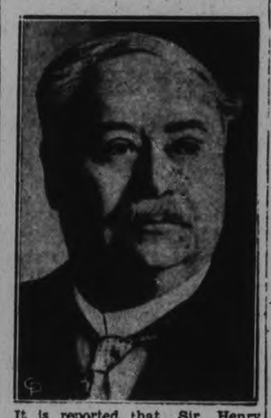
Signed on behalf of the church officials by Norman Sherwin, Sunday School; Andrew Brown, Dramatic Society; Miss Hildred Taylor, Trail Rangers; Harold Mouncey and Young People's Society, Miss Ruby Blodgett.

At the close of the reading Messrs. Alfred Braithwaite and Andrew Brown carried to the platform a solid walnut chesterfield table on which was set an electric lamp, which looked beautiful with its three candles lighted. The shade colors were of russett and rose brocaded with gold and russett, the base of antique bronze, making in all a very handsome gift.

Rev. Mr. Paton in his gracious manner, sincerely thanked the congregation and all the society, and in fact the entire community for their extreme kindness to him during his stay in Roseneath, it being the one place that will be as no other place shall ever be, referring to the late Mrs. Paton.

The evening, though sad, but pleasant, was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

May Give Up Title



It is reported that Sir Henry Pellatt, formerly financier of note, and once owner of the famous Pellatt castle in Toronto, will renounce his title if bankruptcy proceedings are carried out against him. Sir Henry feels that he would be honor bound to make this move, although there is no regulation or custom to compel him to make such a move.

QUINTUPLETS MAY BE MOVED

Red Cross Plans to Get Family in Home Where Electricity Available.

MAKE WINTER EASIER.

CORBEIL, Ont., July 5.(CP).—The Dionne quintuplets, 37 days old yesterday, in all probability will have a new dwelling this winter to provide proper comfort and conveniences, and will be made wards of the Children's Aid Society.

It was learned today that W. H. Alderson, representing the Red Cross Society of Ontario, is planning a more commodious and modernly equipped shelter for the five infants of Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne.

The new home may be erected on the little farm where the family now resides, or it may be built in Callander, where electrical conveniences could be used. The Dionne home faces the five-mile stretch of country road between Corbeil and Callander. Both Corbeil and Callander are about nine miles from North Bay. Sub-zero temperatures are a common occurrence in this section of Northern Ontario.

It was understood the move to place the children under the protection of the Children's Aid Society is to end annoyance and worry to the family caused by efforts to have the parents exhibit the quintuplets.

Must Be Undisturbed

Further, it was said, such action would assure Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the north country physician who has attended the babies since their birth, that the infants could not be disturbed until he is satisfied they have passed through their most dangerous period.

It was believed the period of protection by the Children's Aid Society would extend at least until the end of this year. By that time the babies would have passed seven months of life.

The quintuplets today continued the good progress they have made in their incubators under the care of their nurses and Dr. Dafoe. The infants are still being fed human milk, sent here by hospitals.

Annette was the only one of the five to show a slight loss in weight today over a 24-hour period. She dropped half an ounce to weigh three pounds, 2¼ ounces. Yvonne, the heaviest of the five since birth, remained stationary in weight at three pounds, seven ounces. Emilie and Cecile showed the largest gains, each adding 1¼ ounces, and today weighed two pounds, 10½ ounces, and two pounds, 13¾ ounces, respectively.

TRENT RIVER

Planning for various functions to raise funds made a busy afternoon for members of the Ladies' Aid. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Harold Wood who also gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. John Scott. Mrs. H. R. Wood gave the deaconess report having remembered the sick and bereaved with cards of sympathy.

The members discussed ways and means of securing finances and a bazaar has been planned at a later date when the travelling donation boxes have been returned. Two boxes are circulating at the present time, one in the north and one in the south district but it was thought advisable to start one in Trent River to facilitate matters.

The members decided to hold a sale of home made cooking and ten cent tea on Friday, July 13 in the church dining hall.

Obituary

MRS. JESSIE VARCOE

ROSENEATH, July 5 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of Mrs. Jessie Varcoe, whose death following an extended illness, occurred on Monday, June 25th in her seventy-seventh year, was held from her late residence, Alnwick Township, on Wednesday, at 1.30 p.m., her pastor, Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., B.D., having charge of the service.

In his impressive address, Rev. Mr. Paton referred with strong emphasis to the service of untold value rendered by the pioneer settlers of the country, Mrs. Varcoe having been a member of such a family, her parents, the late James and Isobel Galletaly, who were noted for their honesty and their true Scotch loyalty.

The earthly pilgrimage of the deceased came in peace when her spirit took its flight to the realm of eternal day. "There was no moaning of the bar when she put out to sea." In the valley of the shadow of death she feared no evil, for she was comforted by the rod and staff of the Good Shepherd. Death had no terror for her, for He, who is the resurrection and the life was by her side.

All who knew Mrs. Varcoe testify to her Christian character. Her pastor mentioned her choice of words in the 14th chapter of St. Johns gospel and the 23rd Psalm. Her favorite hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," was sung and prayers of comfort and sympathy were ofered, both in the house and at the grave by Rev. Mr. Paton.

After the marriage of Jessie Galletaly and the late James Varcoe who predeceased his wife by twelve years. Their married life was spent on the Varcoe homestead in the township of Alnwick, which is widely known throughout the entire community.

The immediate surviving relatives include four sons, George at Regina, Sask.; Oliver of Herchell, Sask.; Clifford, of Duncan, Sask., and Delbert at home, also a devoted grandson, Cloyse Varcoe. Two brothers, Allan Galletaly of Rathbourne Ont. and Walter Galletaly of Vancouver, B.C.

The house was filled and many outside for the funeral service, a large number coming from a distance. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Albert Halstead, Archie Mouncey, James Webb, Herbert McCraken, Cecil Radley and James A. Brown.

Among those from outside points who attended the funeral were: Mrs. W. Heal, Peterborough; Mr. Henry Ross and daughter Miss Marion Ross of Upper Grove, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Galletaly and family, Mr. Francis and Miss Fern Galletaly, of Rathburn, Ont.

Beautiful floral tributes marked the high esteem in which the deceased lady was held among her relatives and neighbors.

Interment was made in the Merrills cemetery.

Surveys just completed in Bihar, India, show that last year's earthquake cause the land to sink an average of two feet, and preparations are now being made against possible floods.

TWO ARMED THUGS GET $3,000 PAYROLL

No Defensive Alliance with France

BLUNT ANSWER IS GIVEN QUERY BRITISH HOUSE

No Obligation of Honor Involved in Official Visits States Baldwin.

REFERS TO WEYGAND.

British Officer's Tour of Battlefields Only Matter of Interest.

LONDON, July 6.—(A P)—Technical collaboration from Great Britain in the event Belgium is ever invaded is all that France is asking of Britain, and indications are that she may get it, the Associated Press was informed today.

France has not asked and does not expect, it was learned, any sort of political or defensive alliance with Great Britain, not because the French would not want it, but because months ago Britain plainly informed Paris that the Locarno pact was the only one which she wished to adhere.

The technical collaboration would consist of purely military cooperation which is a matter affecting the general staffs of the two nations' military forces, and not a political point.

In return for technical cooperation, France would have to divorce herself entirely in any military way from the Belgian staff and reconstruct a French defence policy on the basis of a strictly neutral Belgium.

The recent visit to England of General Maxime Weygand, head of the French army, and the return visit of the chief of the British general staff to France were the first steps taken in a tentative policy of cooperation, an informant stated.

Great Britain has no intention of making a defensive alliance with France, Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, bluntly told the House of Commons today.

Mr. Baldwin, acting as Prime Minister in the absence of Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, was questioned by members concerning the significance of the visit here of General Maxime Weygang, French army chief of staff, and the tour of French battlefields by a party of British army officers.

The forthcoming visit of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, also was mentioned.

Mr. Baldwin answered with a curt negative when Morgan Jones, Labor member, asked if Great Britain "contemplated making any arrangement, or had made any arrangement with France without consultation with the League of Nations with reference to mutual action in the event of hostilities breaking out in Europe?"

(The Paris Herald this week said the British cabinet was working on an alliance with France and that M. Barthou's visit was in this connection).

No Significance

The visit of Lord Hailsham, Secretary of War, to France, Mr. Baldwin added, "was without any political implication and was undertaken in connection with an instructional tour of the battlefields of the late war made by seven of our officers as a matter of interest.

"Such tours have taken place on more than oneo ecasion in the past.

Pressed by Jones as to whether there was any "obligation of honor involved in any of these visits such as was involved in vis.s previous to 1914," Mr. Baldwin replied:

"There is nothing in these visits beyond what I have said in answer to the question."

MISSING GIRLS GIVEN REFUGE IN INSTITUTION

Believed Kidnapped, Pair of Wanderers Found Safe at Chatham.

WITHOUT FUNDS.

Ran Away From Home Because of Mother's Threat of Discipline.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 6 (CP) — Two young girls who wandered away from Toronto and were believed kidnapped have been at the Children's Aid Society Shelter here since last Tuesday night, it was revealed to-day.

The children—Edna Crothall, 11, and Reta Parks, 13—both of Toronto, were kept here at the Shelter by Frank Appleyard, superintendent, since they were turned over to him by persons who found them wandering on the highway.

Mr. Appleyard said the children were without funds and resisted efforts to learn the purpose of their expedition.

He added they would be cared for here until some responsible person arrived to take them home.

Police Suspicions

Suspicion of Toronto police that the girls had been kindnapped by a mysterious "Mrs. Shaker" was exploded when it was revealed they were here.

The children said they ran away from Toronto when the mother of one threatened to call in a social worker to discipline her daughter. They said they had hitch-hiked to Windsor over Highway No. 3, and had started back. They had reached Blenhein when they were detained by a traffic officer.

TORONTO, July 6 (CP)—Sergeant Harold Waterhouse of the Toronto Police Department said that a telegram was received from Mr. Appleyard of the Chatham Children's Aid Society, advising that the two Toronto girls missing since Sunday were under his care. Bert Crothall, father of one of the girls, left for Chatham to get the girls, Reta Parks, 12, and Edna Crothall, 11, the police officer said.

More Musicians Quit Union Association

TORONTO, July 6 (CP)—Three more members of the Toronto Musicians' Protective Association today handed in their resignations to the union. Officials of the Canadian Radio Commission said these musicians would be given work at once.

Those who resigned to-day were: Franklin Legge, organist; Marjorie Daines, pianiste; and Ted Andrews, banjo player.

Geoffrey Waddington, orchestra conductor; Percy Faith, conductor, and Archie Cunningham, pianist, resigned last night.

BATON ROUGE, La., July 6, —(CP)—Senator Huey P. Long defined the word "politician" for the benefit of a Louisiana Legislative Committee and said he was one of them.

"A politician," said Long yesterday "is one who works unceasingly for the general welfare of the country. "And I'm one of 'em."

"The Kingfish" laughed as loudly as the committee.

ENGLAND GETS 355 FOR FIVE IN 3RD MATCH

Homesters Making Strong Bid for Honors as Batsmen Master Antipodean Attack.

FIRST DAY'S PLAY.

Pat Hendren, Colorful Middlesex Pro, Amasses 132 Runs in Brilliant Display.

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 6 (C. P. Cable) — Scoring 355 runs for five wickets England to-day made a strong start in the third cricket test match against Australia, each team already has one victory to its credit.

Apart from one over when W. J. O'Reilly, Aussie Bowler, had the leading English players at his mercy, the batsmen mastered the antipodean attack. Pat Hendren, colorful Middlesex professional, had a field day and amassed 132 runs, giving a powerful exhibition of driving. During most of his time at the wickets he was partnered by Maurice Leyland of Yorkshire, who scored 93 not out.

Herbert Sutcliffe, sterling first-wicket batsman, played steadily to score 63.

R. E. S. Wyatt, the English captain, had the mis fortune to lose his wicket off the first ball delivered to him, and Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire idol, hit one mighty boundary and then fell a victim to O'Reilly's wiles.

In O'Reilly's one triumphant over he dismissed C. F. Walters, bowled with the next ball, and, after allowing Walter Hammond one boundary, captured his wicket with a googly. But there he was stopped by the almost impregnable batting of Sutcliffe and Hendren.

Soon aatfer lunch Australia lost two valuable men, Don Bradman and the bowler, Chipperfield, both suffering from sore throats and the extreme heat. A crowd of 25,000 sweltered under a blazing sun at the Old Trafford grounds.

FLYERS THRILL CROWD.

PERRY DEFEATS JACK CRAWFORD MEN'S SINGLES

First Time Title Has Remained in England Since Gore Won It in 1909.

20,000 SEES MATCH.

Englishman Unlooses Terrific Attack to Literally Blast Australian Off Courts.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 6.—(AP)—Frederick John Perry, 25-year-old English tennis star, today defeated Jack Crawford, of Australia, the defending champion, 6—3, 6-0, 7-5 in the men's singles final of the all-England tennis championships to keep the title in England for the first time in 25 years.

FRED PERRY

It was the year Perry was born that A. W. Gore, one of the immortals of the English courts won the Wimbledon championship Since then the stars of Australia, France and the United States have monopolized the titles.

The tall, dark-haired Englishman was not to be denied today as he unloosed one of the most blazing games the famous centre court has witnessed in years to literally blast the Australian ace off the courts.

It was the third championship meeting between the two within the year, and every time Perry has won. He first defeated Crawford in the United States championships last September, then went to Australia and stripped Jack of his Antipodean crown.

Perry required only an hour and ten minutes to complete his conquest, one of the shortest finals of Wimbledon.

Perry had his service broken only twice and at one stretch ran 12 straight games, during which he lost only 18 points. Friends said he played the greatest tennis of his life.

20,000 See Match

A capacity crowd estimated at 20,000 and filling every seat and taking every available inch of standing room was present.

Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, veteran French defenders of the doubles title, advanced to the final round with a 7—5, 3—6, 6—2, 6—4 victory over the highly-touted young English combination of Ian R. Collins and F. H. D. Wilde.

Gain Women's Doubles

Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, Conn., and Mme. Jung Henrotin, her French partner, proved a smooth working combination, gaining the final round of the women's doubles competition with a 6—3, 12-10 victory over Margaret (Peggy) Scriven and Kitty McKane Godfree, of England.

Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian now living in London, and Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, the defending champions, won the other finals berth in women's doubles with a 7—5, 6—0 victory over Lolette Yayot of Switzerland, and Muriel Thomas of England.

Ottawa To Ignore Hunger Marchers

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP)—Ontario hunger marchers will receive little encouragement from the Board of Control here.

"Not so far as I am concerned," was the comment of Mayor P. J. Nolan, when a letter from the organization committee of the "Ontario Hunger March' was read at a board meeting to-day. The letter asked for donations of money or assurances of food and shelter for marchers who might pass through Ottawa. Members of the board agreed that the request be ignored.

The letter explained that a hunger march of unemployed to Toronto was being arranged for July 30 to August 1. It was signed by Ald. R. Morris and Ald. T. A. Ratcraft, East Windsor, and P. Phillips, Toronto.

Honoring Richard Strauss' seventieth birthday, his latest opera "Arabella," was performed in London.

Von Papen Saved From Assassins

VIENNA, July 6 (AP)—The pro - Government newspaper "Weltblatt" stated that it has reliable information that Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen of Germany was slated for assassination at the same time General Kurt Von Sleicher was killed.

"The killers were already en route, but at the last minute, the Reichswehr (army) sent a company with two machine-guns which took up a position in front of Von Papen's house and prevented the murder," says The Weltblatt.

TWO EMPLOYEES TIED TO CHAIRS WELLAND OFFICE

About to Count Payroll When Two Armed Men Entered Office.

LEAVE NO CLUES.

Men Ran to Nearby Field, Where They Changed Their Clothes.

WELLAND, Ont., July 6.—(CP)—Two armed men today held up the office of the Dominion Yarns Company and escaped with about $3,000 after tying two employees of the office to chairs. Police arrived ten minutes after the hold-up but were unable to trace the men.

About to Count Payroll.

J. L. Turner, superintendent of Dominion Yarns, said that he and Miss F. Falkenhage, a clerk, were about to count the payroll in the office of the general manager when the two young fellows, carrying guns, entered the office.

Mr. Turner said the door is generally locked when the money is counted but they had not taken the money from a bag and were just about to look the door when the robbers arrived. "When I saw there were two men and both had guns, I decided not to resist," he declared.

The men ran from the plant into a nearby field, where they were said to have changed clothes before fleeing. A small boy who claimed to have seen them was picked up by police, who took him in an automobile in which they were searching the countryside.

Police found the clothes the robbers left in the field. A hat left lying on the ground had been bought in a Welland store, they said.

The manager's office is on the second floor of the plant building, and Mr. Turner said he did not know how the robbers reached the office without being seen.

"They were only in the office two or three minutes," the superintendent said. "They sat me on a chair, tied my hands behind the chair and then tied my feet. The girl was tied the same way on a chair opposite me.

"It took me about five minutes to get my hands loose. I cut the cords from my feet and called the police. An officer arrived 10 minutes after the robbery occurred. The men did not injure either of us, but I hurt my back getting my hands loose," Mr. Turner said.

Siamese Twin Fights For License To Wed

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Violet Hilton, the starboard half of the Hilton sisters, Siamese twins, is going to fight it out with New York officials who yesterday refused to issue a marriage license to her and Maurice Lambert, musician.

Turned down both here and in Newark, N.J., Miss Hilton at first considered the possibility of going to Maryland to get the license. She changed her mind to-day, and is going to make an issue of it.

Her attorney, Irving Levy, said he would apply in Supreme Court for a mandamus writ directing the New York city clerk to grant the license.

Come to Arkansas

MARION, Ark., July 6 (AP) — Violet Hilton, red-haired Siamese twin, and her fiance, Maurice L. Lambert, to-day were invited to come to this Arkansas town to be married.

Your Evening Smile

PROOF ENOUGH!

The customer finished his meal and called the waiter.

"I would like to speak to the manager," he said.

The manager came up a few moments later and bowed politely.

"You wished to speak to me, sir?" he said.

"Yes," said the customer easily. "You must have a remarkably clean kitchen in this restaurant."

The manager beamed

"That's very nice of you to think that sir," he said. "Generally, it's complaints I have to listen to. But what makes you think we have such a clean kitchen?"

"Well, practically everything tastes of soap," said the customer coldly.

Leap for Life

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 6 —(CP)—No one can say that Frank Tunstall of this city is sluggish either in mind or body —not after what he did yesterday.

Stepping out in the street, Mr. Tunstall found himself directly facing a swiftly-approaching auto. There was no time to dodge, so Mr. Tunstall did the only other thing possible. He gave a powerful leap and vaulted neatly into a sitting posture astraddle the auto's hood. There he rode safely until the car stopped.

FRENCH PEOPLE HEAVILY TAXED KIWANIANS TOLD

Professor Dela Champs Addresses Weekly Luncheon of Kiwanis Club.

DO NOT WANT WAR.

Only Wants Security and Protection Speaker Tells Club Members.

Discussing his native France in the light of world events, Professor Dela Champs of the University of Toronto, disclaimed the popular belief that France is a rich country and that she ise hoarding gold. On the contrary, he described France as the most heavily taxed nation in the world, and one that is absolutely encumbered with debts.

A dignified, scholarly-looking man a long flowing beard, the Professor also discussed the military situation in France, and declared most emphatically that France is "the most pacific of all pacificists."

Wants Security.

Addressing the local Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon at Empress Hotel to-day, he declared: "France wants security; she wants protection. France does not want the awful wars of the past to be repeated."

There is no war-like spirit in France to be found anywhere, Professor Dela Champs declared. "We are afraid of the Germans and all we want is security. When we see what has been happening in Germany in the past three years, is it any wonder that we fear another German invasion. Would you be satisfied with such neighbors."

The Professor said that in Canada people spoke sanctimonious-

5 BANDITS LOOT JEWELRY STORE

Menace Clerks With Machine Gun, Take Stock Worth $100,000.

GAG STAFF.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 6. — (A.P.).—Five thugs, dressed in summer sports costumes and armed with a machine-gun, to-day held up and robbed the Hodgson Kennard and Company jewelry shop of jewelry which a preliminary estimate indicated may reach over one hundred thousand dollars in value.

The robbers drove up to the shop, located in the fashionable magnolia section, in the two cars and all five entered. While the man carrying the machine gun menaced employees, the other four bandits, armed with pistols, taped the employees' mouths and bound them with cords.

The thugs quickly gathered up jewelry and precious stones from the safe and show cases and raced away.

Early estimates place the value of the jewelry at $100,000.

The robbers fled towards Beverly. Boston police were warned and immediately began watching all roads.

The Weather

While the thermometer did not succeed in hitting a record to-day and in fact only touched 88 degrees for the maximum, the extreme humidity of the atmosphere created the illusion that it was hotter than it was. The minimum overnight temperature was 64 degree, with some rain early this morning.

DEATH TO CROWS.

CONSERVATIVES GIVEN VICTORY IN NAZI CABINET

Schmitt, Minister of Economics Handed Autocratic Commercial Powers.

SAYS WORK HAMPERED.

Provinces Continue Unsettled, No Official Death List Ready.

(By A. D. Stefferud — Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press).

BERLIN, July 6.—An important victory for the Conservative element of the Nazi Government was seen to-day in the granting of almost autocratic commercial powers to Kurt Schmitt, Minister of Economics.

He is authorized to impose unlimited fines on persons and institutions who refuse to obey his orders.

Schmitt had complained that his work was being hampered by the more radical doctrines of other Cabinet members and Nazi leaders. He has now obtained more or less a free hand in directing Germany's economic policy.

This development came as leaders attacked labor, financial and political problems with redoubled efforts and a spirit of "well, that's over."

The Nazi press made much of the theme of a party workers' meeting at Flensburg that the "second revolution," which broke out a week ago to-morrow, has been completed and "there is work to be done."

Source of Alarm.

The unsettled situation in the provinces continued a source of speculation and alarm here.

Conditions are said to be disturbed, especially in Silesia, where Catholics and Jews are reported to be worried, and in Bavaria.

There were reverberations here over the French Embassy's sharp denial that France was involved in a conspiracy against the Government.

German newspapers had charged General Kurt Von Schleicher, former Chancellor and one of many killed last week-end, had conspired with France. The Government itself said a 'foreign power' had dickered with the conspirator.

An Emergency

CHICAGO, July 6 (A.P.)—With a kitchen knife and piece of rubber hose, Dr. A. Matheson performed an emergency throat operation which is credited with saving the life of eight-year-old Eileen Berg.

Hereceived an early morning call yesterday from the child's father who cried that his little girl was strangling to death.

Not wishing to take time to get his instruments from his Loop office, Dr. Matheson rushed to his patient to find her unconscious and her throat swelling to the degree that within a few minutes breathing would have been impossible.

He sterilized a kitchen knife, cut off a piece of rubber hose, and after a hasty incision, inserted the tube through which the child drew life-giving air.

CANADIAN'S WORK.

NEW YORK, July 6 (C.P.) — Three New York physicians went serenely about their work to-day after being inoculated in the cause of science with a serum a Canadian doctor hopes will make the world safe from the ravages of infantile paralysis.

Leadership in the work of developing the serum was taken by Maurice Brodie, formerly of Ottawa. He is assistant professor of bacteriology at New York University.

Those who submitted to the test yeserday were Dr. William H. Park, 70-year-old director of the bureau of laboratories, and D. Josephine Neal and D. Henry Wirt Jackson, who had been doing work on infectous diseases in the city research laboratories

The physicians were inoculated with five cubic centimetres each of the new serum, substanially the same amount as has been used on monkeys. The injection was made in the legs or the arms, according to individual preference.

Deny Danger

All three denied that there was any danger in their submitting to the test, and particularly did they shy at any suggestion that they would not ask others to try a vaccine which they themselves had not taken.

The new serum, believed to be a means of avoiding paralysis, not curing it, was developed by Dr. Brodie, in conjunction with Dr. Park and his research assistants, over a period of three years. Then a series of tests were made with the monkeys— they and human beings alone being subject to infantile paralysis. Just before the monkty were to die they were killed. Their spinal corps then were removed and ground up in a solution of formalin.

The formalin killed the virus but not, according to the physician, the immunising properties of the virus. The test is expected to be completed in three or four days.

Father And Son Meet Tragedy Same Time

HAWKESBURY, Ont., July 6.—C.P.).—A father, seriously burned by high tension electric wires, and his eight-year-old son with cuts and lacerations of the knee, were taken to the hospital here yesterday at the same moment. Neither of them knew of the other's accident before arriving at the hospital.

Frank Fray, 55, employee of the Hawkesbury Lumber Company, lies in a critical condition after inadvertently touching wires carrying 2,300 volts at the mill. His son, Lorrie, with a badly cut knee which required 40 stitches, is in another bed. Barring complications, Lorne, who suffered his injuries from falling on a broken bottle while fishing for minnows, will recover. His father's chances are not so good. Three doctors were in consultation last night in an effort to save his life.

FIVE-OUNCE EGG

CARLSBAD, N.M., July 6 (CP)—Here's an egg that any hen might be proud of.

J. O. Coleman, chicken raiser, is displaying an egg measuring seven inches in circumference at the middle and eight and three-fourths inches around the long way. It is three and a quarter inches long and weighs five ounces. The average hen's egg weighs one and six-tenths ounces.

While being loaded into a boat in Gothenburg, Sweden, harbor for shipment to the Isle of Man races, five motorcycles built specially for the contest were wrecked.

Heavy Drinkers

NEW YORK, July 6.—(C.P.)—Julius Liebman, president of the New York State Brewers' Association, estimates the average adult resident of the State consumed two-thirds of a barrel of beer during the past 12 months.

Total sales were 6,269,100 barrels. These weighed 891,000 tons and upheld New York's reputation for beer drinking, for they represented 16.3 per cent of the United States' beer consumption.

PUPILS HONOR TWO TEACHERS

Millbrook Continuation School Likely to be Changed to Grade "A" School.

TEACHERS LEAVING

MILLBROOK, July 6—A gathering of peculiar interest took place in the assembly hall of the Continuation School on Wednesday evening, when the pupils invited as guests of honor the principal, H. W. Jordan, and Mrs. Jordan, and the assistant principal, Alan Smith, M.A., for a farewell party before their departure fom the community.

When the school year opened in September it is expected this will be changed into a Grade A school, with a new staff of three teachers. Mr. Jordan, who has been for some years a resident of the village, was first engaged as assistant principal of the Continuation School, and when Miss M. Muir left he took over her duties as principal. He goes this month to Port Hope, where he has been appointed principal of the public schools of the lakeside town. Mr. Smith has just had the one year on the local teaching staff.

Brief Program

A number of the parents and friends were present for Wednesday evening's social gathering, George Gray taking the chair for the brief program which included duet by Mary Burnham and Bryan Edmunds, a recitation by Bernice Smith, and selections by the Serenaders' Orchestra which was organized and trained entirely through Mr. and Mrs. Jordan's interest and personal teaching.

REID CABINET LIKELY READY NEXT TUESDAY

Alberta's Premier Designate Will Retain His Treasureship Portfolio.

FEW CHANGES EXPECTED.

Allan MacMillan, Co-plaintiff in Brownlee Case, Hints Appeal to be Fyled.

(By George Finlay, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EDMONTON, July 6 (CP)—Alberta's political skies cleared to-day as Hon. Richard Gavin Reid, Manville farmer, picked up the thread of Government broke by two weeks of court procedure and caucus meetings. At his office in the Legislative Buildings the newly-appointed Premier applied himself to the task of choosing a cabinet.

Five days must elapse before the resignation of Premier J. E. Brownlee officially is recognized. Next Tuesday, Mr. Reid, Provincial Treasurer in the Brownlee cabinet, will present his cabinet to Lieut.-Governor W. L. Walsh and formally accept leadership of the United Formers of Alberta government.

Few Changes

The new cabinet, selected to replace Ministers who resigned following disposition of a civil suit against Premier Brownlee, will include a majority of old members. The new Premier plans to take over his old portfolio of Provincial Treasurer and few changes, it is believed, will be made in other departments.

Resignation of Mr. Brownlee, a member of the House since 1921, followed the verdict of a jury in the trial for damages launched by Vivian MacMillan, a former Civil Service stenographer. His action automatically forced resignation of his cabinet. Selection of Mr. Reid to lead the party came at the conclusion of a three-day caucus.

Cabinet reorganization precludes the likelihood of an election, Mr. Reid said, and Mr. Brownlee will retain his seat. He represents the constituency of Ponoka. Mr. Brownlee, upon learning of Mr. Reid's selection said, "He was one of my most faithful ministers; one in whom I have every confidence."

Dark-haired, quiet and unassuming, the 45-year-old Premier designate brings a wealth of experience to his new office. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he came to Canada in 1903. In 1921 he was elected to represent Vermilion in the Provincial House and was appointed Minister of Municipal Affairs and Minister of Health in the Greenfield cabinet.

He was appointed Provincial Treasurer in November, 1923, and in the elections of 1925, 1926 and 1930 was re-elected to serve his old constituency. For many years before his active participation in politics he was a prime mover in the cause of the farmer.

One New Department

A Ministry of Industry, a new department in the cabinet to be formed by Mr. Reid, was being discussed in party circles. It is expected J. J. MacLellan, member for Taber would be the choice for such a post. He is vice-president of the United Grain Growers.

Leaders of the Labor and Independent groups were still in the city but denied their prolonged visit had any political significance. Questioned as to his stand with regard to fusion with other parties, Mr. Reid replied, "I have nothing to say."

Labor, under the leadership of Fred J. White of Calgary, and the Independent group, headed by Fred Moyer of Drumheller, each have four members in the Legislature. In the present House of 63 members the Government holds 36 seats, Liberals 13, Conservatives 6, Labor 4, and Independents 4.

Immediately the new Premier assumes office Mr. Brownlee plans to leave for a tour of Eastern Canada and the United States. A judgment of Mr. Justice W. C. Ives of the Alberta Supreme Court dismissed with costs the damage action of Vivian MacMillan, in which she alleged seduction and was awarded $10,000 by a six-man jury.

Allan MacMillan, former Mayor of Edson and co-plaintiff with his daughter in the suit, intimated today an appeal would be filed. The Canadian Civil Liberties Protective Association has opened a "MacMillan Appeal Fund" to aid the plaintiffs in carrying the case to the Appeal Courts.

TWO ARE SLAIN SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR BATTLE

34 Others Are Shot Down as 2,000 Guardsmen Are Summoned.

SCORES GASSED, BEATEN.

Workers Protesting Dole Cut Continue Rioting Unabated.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. — (AP) —Bayonets bristled along San Francisco's blood-stained waterfront today.

Two thousand National Guardsmen patrolled the area where 34 persons were shot down, at least two of them fatally wounded, by police gun fire yesterday. Scores were gassed, beaten and trampled.

The soldiers occupied the battleground of the Pacific Coast Maritime strike during the night. Embattled strikers huddled silently around picket fires and nursed wounds of yesterday's bloody riots.

"We are not going to retreat from the waterfront," declared Ralph Mallen of the International Longshoremen's Association publicity committee. "We are going ahead and expect to obtain plenty of help from all other unions toward a general strike."

The National Guardsmen were specifically ordered by California's acting governor, Frank F. Merriam, to protect life and property and maintain order along the 5½-mile waterfront. They were under orders, issued by Adjutant General Seth E. Howard, to do no shooting "until there is evidence of an attack upon you or upon state property."

Two Killed

Howard Sperry, 49, a striking longshoreman, and George Counceurakis, 45, member of the Cooks and Waiters Union and connected with the International Labor Defence League died from bullet wounds.

Mrs. Joseph Fuentes was struck in the head by a bullet while riding through the strike zone in a street car. A numberof other noncombatants were among the injured.

From Rincon Hill, where the whine of bullets gave the first war note, the fighting swept down the waterfront streets to the International Longshoremen's Association headquarters and to Stewart and Market Streets. It was at this street intersection that a bomb exploded during a Preparedness Day parade in 1916, killing 10 persons and wounding 40 others.

Police were ordered to take the most severe measures toward the demonstrators, who have barricaded themselves up in the Nordaan workers' district.

Rioting Continues.

Disturbances continued this afternoon with increased violence. Authorities considered asking for military reinforcements.

Special guards were posted at the gas works and other public utilities and barricades were erected cutting off the affected area. The rioters are protesting a dole cut. They resisted repeated police charges after rebuilding barricades which were torn down during the night.

The mob looted homes and shops, centering its attack on a big pawnshop. Furniture was smashed. Virtually every window in the affected district has been smashed.

Lights in the section were cut off last night and a bridge was burned. Municipal and military police gained temporary control by charging over the barricades.

Trying To Kiss Neighbor's Wrestling Wife Gets Farmer Haled to Court And Fined $10

LONDON, Ont., July 6 (C.P.). — James R. Steele, 26 years old, West Nizzouri farmer, was to-day fined $10 and costs by Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw for attempted theft of a kiss from attractive 25-year-old Mrs. Freda Cooper, a neighbor, who once took wrestling lessons. Steele, a brawny six-footer, was allegedly beaten off when he tried to kiss the young matron while she was picking berries on June 22. He was charged formally with common assault.

In giving his evidence, Steele charged that Walter Cooper, husband of complainant, and her two brothers had come to his place on the Sunday following and said he would hear no more about the affair if he gave them $50. This, Cooper denied.

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, July 6 (C.P.). — Though the cattle division of the Toronto livestock market was overloaded with a run of 5,600 head this week and almost 1,700 remained unsold at the close of the short week's trading, only two actual price losses were registered on the division, butcher heifers and butcher cows losing from 25 to 50 cents.

Receipts on all classes were lighter than for the previous week, and except for the two cattle losses and a 15-cent drop in hogs, prices were steady under reduced supplies. Market officials stated light receipts would have to be in order next week if the unusually large holdover is to be cleared up.

Good and choice weighty steers brought $5.25 to $5.50, with common down to $4. Good and choice butcher steers were steady at $4.50 to $5, with butcher heifers down about 25 cents at $4.75. The bulk of the butcher cattle supply went from $4 to $4.50, with common as low as $3. Good cows lost 25 to 50 cents, to close at a general top of $3.

Canners and cutters were weak throughout the week and closed slightly lower at $1 to $1.50. Bulls ranged from $2.50 for bolognas to $3 for heavy butchers, and a few made a top of $3.25. Fed calves held about steady, the best selling at $5; plain at $4.50. Stocks, under a light demand, sold at $2.75 to $3, while milkers and springers sold draggy at $25 to $35.

Bronx Murder Band Pay In Electric Chair

OSSINING, N.Y., July 6 (AP) — The "Bronx Murder Syndicate" had paid in full to-day for the death of "Durable Mike" Malloy.

Joseph Murphy, 27, walked calmly to the Sing Sing death house last night, looked on silently, with mild curiosity as he was strapped into the electric chair at 10.03 p.m. He was pronounced dead three minutes later.

Murphy's three accomplices, Frank Pasqua, Anthony Marino and Daniel Krehsberg, were executed June 7. Two reprieves were granted Murphy to permit mental examinations, but he was adjudged sane.

The four men finally accomplished the insurance murder of Malloy with gas after the speakeasy derelict survived poison liquor, the wheels of an automobile and tainted food mixed with ground tin.

LAKEFIELD COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Reid at Home to Large Circle of Friends on Holiday.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

LAKEFIELD, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — Dominion Day was marked in Lakefield by a happy social event in the golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Reid, held at their home on Reid Street. All afternoon and evening a steady stream of callers joined in offering good wishes and felicitations for happy returns of the day, especially that Mr. and Mrs. Reid may live to celebrate their diamond wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Reid were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Albert Darling and Miss Marion Miles. The house was decorated with flowers and presented a festive appearance and on the table in the living room was a beautiful basket of roses which were the gift of the Women's Association of the United Church. From 3 to 5 o'clock the reception was held in the afternoon, and at 6 o'clock the immediate relatives sat down to a wedding supper, with the six oldest couples present at the bride's table. The toast to the King was loyally honored, and Rev. W. R. Archer, B. A., proposed the toast to the bride and groom of fifty years ago, who are still useful citizens and an example of a happy couple who have travelled together for half a century. Mr. Reid has been a member of the Board of the church for years and was on the Board at the time of the building of the present church and he has always rendered splendid service at every function held there. Mrs. Reid has been his helpmate in church work as in everything else, and her valuable service as the Strangers' secretary of the Women's Missionary Society was marked by the society in the recent presentation in June of a life membership, an honor well deserved. In the Women's Association Mrs. Reid has borne an active part and has been always ready to help, and has been one of those who could be relied on for every emergency. Mrs. Reid replied for Mr. Reid and herself, assuring their friends of the pleasure they took in service to the church. The hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds," was sung. Forty persons sat down to supper.

From eight to ten o'clock the reception was continued and a steady procession of friends called to offer greetingsc and good wishes. A delightful feature was a real old-fashioned "charivari," which surprised everyone at ten o'clock, and a group of young people joined in the old songs, such as: "Put on your old grey bonnet," "The old spinning wheel," "Memories," "Silver threads among the gold," "Let me call you sweetheart." The serenaders were Mrs. McMillen, Misses Eva Hendren, Evelyn Darling, and Mildred Purdy, with Ralph Darling playing the accompaniments on the guitar.

Those who served the guests refreshments at small tables se: in the dining-room were: Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Quanstrom, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. William Northey, Mrs. Charles Spears, Mrs. Robret Darling, Mrs. John Hendren, Mrs. William Purdy, Mrs. James Northey, Misses Evelyn Darling, Mildred Purdy, and Eva Hendren.

Fifty years ago on July 1, 1884, Frances Anne Darling, elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Darling, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Allen. Mrs. David Drain, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Mr. W. J. Little was best man. The wedding was a real community gathering, with one hundred and ten wedding guests. One son, the only child, died in his 20th year and since then Mr. and Mrs. Reid have travelled life's road alone, a veritable Darby and Joan, happy together with congenial tastes and fond of the society of their young nephews and nieces.

For the auspicious occasion of the golden wedding the bridesmaid of fifty years ago was present, but the best man is no longer living. Mrs. Reid's three living brothers, Albert, Robert, and Percy Darling were all present at the golden wedding, also her sister, Mrs. J. R. Northey. Mr. Reid's brothers, James Reid and John Reid, were also present. The celebration on Monday was more than just a golden wedding—it was a community event and a family re-union.

Is Found Guilty

NORMA MILLEN

Though her husband never batted an eye he was sentenced to die for murder, he cursed and wept when the news was brought to him that his pretty wife, Norma Millen, had been found guilty of accessory to the murders. A sentence of 21 years is the maximum under the law for Norma, and the jury carried no recommendation for mercy. She is seen here leaving the court during the trial.

MILLBROOK W.A. SPONSORS SOCIAL

Successful Afternoon Tea Held at Home of Mrs. L. M. Bonneville.

MILLBROOK, July 6.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. L. M. Bonneville kindly gave the use of her home for the silver tea under the auspices of the W.A. of St. Thomas' Church, held on Saturday from 4 to 6 p.m., the hostess being assisted by Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of the Missionary Auxiliary, in receiving the many guests.

Mrs. J. W. Hilton was cashier, and in the entrance hall was also the table of home baking with Mrs. G. Howson and Mrs. A. J. Fallis in charge of the sales. The table in the tea room, with its lovely lace cloth, was centred with a silver basket of daisies and the service was entirely of silver. Pouring tea were Mrs. T. G. Harkness and Mrs. H. Attwooll, and serving the guests were Mrs. J. E. Allen, who was convenor of the tea committee and had oversight of all details, Mrs. Frank Stinson, Misses Ada Attwooll, Margaret Simpson and Rose Macnamara. Others who gave necessary help in connection with the event were Mrs. H. J. Russell and Mrs. Harold Nattress.

Financially the tea added a neat sum to the funds of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, and the table of home baking was likewise a financial success. A number of friends of the Auxiliary sent their money though they were prevented from attending the pleasant social occasion in person.

Women's Association.

Mrs. L. S. Clarry and her daughters, the Misses Mabel and Gertrude Clarry, were hostesses for the July meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church, the gathering being held on the shaded south lawn of their hospitable homestead, Park road, on Tuesday at 3 p.m., with the president, Mrs. F. J. Smith, in the chair. During the opening worship period Mrs. C. W. Richards read the lesson and Mrs. Harold Bigelow the prayer.

Business was chiefly concerned with the details for the garden party to be held on the lawns of Mr. W. A. O'Brian's home on July 17, at which raspberries and cream will be the main feature of the menu if in season, otherwise the decision was to use cold meat, salads, etc. On motion, it was decided to engage the Cavan Dramatic Club to present its play, "The Fruit of His Folly," for the program, and convenors of tables were appointed as follows: Mrs. G. Fallis, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. W. C. Fallis, and each of these will secure her own waiters.

The treasurer reported $4.60 in talent money from Mrs. F. J. Smith and Mrs. Might, proceeds of the afternoon tea served at the latter's home in June, and $10 from the Seth Parker Club. The request of the Black Knight Preceptory that the association serve dinner and tea at their big gathering on August 11, when the seventeen outside lodges have been asked to participate in the observance of the raising of the seige of Derry was finally agreed to, the need of funds being accentuated when the parsonage committee reported that the shingling of the large residence must be shortly undertaken; present repairs for the coming of the new minister included the purchase of a new range for the kitchen and new linoleum laid on the study and hall floors. Other renovation is a matter of almost immediate necessity.

The program included readings of two poems by Canadian authors, "Fair Canada of Ours" and "Canadian Born," by Mrs. G. Fallis and Mrs. Bigelow, and the meeting was dismissed with prayer. A dainty lunch was served by Misses Mabel and Gertrude Clarry at the close, and during the pleasant social hour many of the guests enjoyed a walk through the lovely flower garden adjacent to the lawn where the meeting had been held. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the hostesses before adjournment.

GARDEN PARTY AT LIFFORD HOME

St. Mary's Church Affair at Sisson Home is Splendid Success.

COMEDY DRAMA FOLLOWS.

LIFFORD LINE, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—One of the most successful garden parties of the season was held on Wednesday evening under the auspices of St. Mary's Church, Lifford, on the beautiful lawns surrounding the farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Sisson, Eighth Line, Manvers.

The weather being ideal, crowds motored in from many neighboring centres including Fleetwood, Janetville, Ballyduff and Bethany, as well as those from Bailleboro and Peterborough.

The attractive supper tables were bounteously laid at the north of the buildings and when justice had been done to the appetizing supper, the gathering repaired to a nearby field for the sport program.

The Bailleboro girls' softball team played a lively game with the Bethany girls, with the latter team winning by the small margin of 14-13. The line up:

Bailleboro.—P. Carl, 2b; A. Barnard, c; R. Wood, p; T. White, 1b; M. Whittington, lf; D. Campbell, cf; M. Wood, 3b; D. Dawson, ss; W. Gaynor, rf; W. Watt, lf.

Bethany.—I. Sisson, 3b; M. Page, lf; E. McKinnon, rf; E. Jackett, c; V. Strachan, ss; W. Beer, 1b; M. Patterson, cf; M. Hannah, p; D. Fallis, 2b.

Umpires.—M. Wood, Bailleboro; K. Thorndyke, Bethany.

Comedy-Drama

At the concusion of the sport program a stage was arranged at the front of the residence for a splendid comedy-drama in three acts, entitled "Mother's Moment," given by Mark Street United Church Dramatic Club of Peterborough, with Mrs. L. Agnew directing. A delightful musical program was put on by Peterborough talent between acts.

From a financial standpoint as well as social, the evening was a decided success; the sum of $88 being realized.

The one regrettable feature of the evening was the fact that during the last innings of the enjoyable ball game, Miss Watt, a Bailleboro player, turned her ankle on the bag at third base and suffered a very severe sprain. Dr. McNeil of Pontypool was at once summoned.

CONSERATIVES GIVEN VICTORY

Munich could not be verified, and it was indicated a statement would be issued denying this. An Associated Press correspondent who went to the home was unable to see him, but learned the Cardinal's palace is under surveillance.

(The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said police at Munich ruled no long distance telephone conversations could be made in any language except German because "the authorities must know what is going out.")

Peaceful Articles

Following Government assurances that executions had ended, newspapers to-day printed long articles on "Foundations for Reconstructing Social Insurance," "The Duties of Labor Leaders" and "The Delights of Farming for Young People." Details of the Nazi Conference at Flensburg were prominently displayed.

There Rudolf Hess, Minister without portfolio and important lieutentant of Chancellor Hitler, told Viktor Lutzen, new Chief of Staff of the Storm Troops, that "in your efforts to keep the historical calling of the Storm Troops as a true and powerful instrument in the hands of Der Fuehrer (Hitler) you will find the support of us all."

But every other indication was that the power and the glory of the Storm Troops, in whose ranks the rebellion was fostered, have gone. Most of them, it was indicated, will be disbanded.

Hindenburg Improves

Paul Von Hindenburg, 86-year-old President of the Third Reich, remained calmly at his Neudeck estate, apparently in improved health.

The fate of his protege, Frank Von Papen, Vice-Chancellor, whom Hitler reportedly tried to oust in favor of Herman Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia, remained in doubt.

Von Hindenburg's intercession saved Von Papen's job, temporarily at least, but there were indications he would be demoted or would leave the Cabinet because of his health.

The body of Fritz Beck, head of the Foreign Academic Bureau at Munich, was found yesterday in a forest. It had six bullet wounds and had been badly battered.

There was still no official death list, except the Government's "under 50." Many more, however, various unofficial sources indicated, were killed.

LONDON, July 6 (CP Cable). — In the third Royal Air Force crash since Saturday, a new night-bomber hurtled into a hedge near Oxford last night, killing Sergeant Robinson on his birthday, and injuring four other occupants of the plane.

Two more R.A.F. men were killed near Northolt, bringing the total lost to four since Saturday, when Squadron Leader Stanley Collett, son of Londons' Lord Mayor, fell at the Hendon annual display of military flying.

Pleasing Program At Warsaw Meeting

WARSAW, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — The United Church W.M.S. held its meeting in the Sunday School room on Wednesday, July 4. Mrs. Wilkinson presided. After the opening devotions and of routine, there was a little discussion about closing the books by the last day of December. Money is coming in fairly well. The half-yearly statement was sent by Mrs. Digweed, who was unable to be present.

Quilt blocks are requested to be in as soon as possible, when they will be put together so the quilting can soon be done.

Mrs. Charlotte Cooper, convenor of Group "A," took the chair; one verse of "Will Your Anchor Hold" was sung. Mrs. A. Payne read a short article on "Bringing Gifts to God." Mrs. G. G. Taylor took the Study Book lesson. Mrs. Roland Payne and Mrs. Arthur Payne assisted by reading selections.

Mrs. Gormley very kindly gave two beautiful piano selections: "To a Water Lily," by MacDowell, and "Sea Rapture" by M. Kennedy Fraser. Mrs. Cooper read "The World for Christ." Mr. Gormley, a guest sang "Just For To-day."

"B" Group, leader Mrs. Anderson, will have charge of the August meeting.

The quarterly tea by the group followed. The tables were very very pretty, with blue Canterbury bells and peonies.

Supper was a happy social affair and Mrs. William Jackson, who in younger days was a member, joined the group. The meal was well within regulations, but delicious and ended with ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh (formerly Hazel Brown) of Toronto, and little daughter, spent the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements.

Mrs. Ellen Brown, who has spent a few weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Jane Clements, returned to Toronto with her daughter on Monday.

Empty Oil Barrels Keep Ship Afloat

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., July 6.—(CP)—How a crew of fishermen kept their leaking vessel afloat by lashing empty barrels around its hull was related today with the arrival of the revenue cutter Stumble Inn.

Patrolling the Cape Breton coast this week, the cutter came across the disabled schooner Gladys Ella, adrift near the northern tip of Cape Breton. She had been lost on a lobster fishing expedition when a gale drove her ashore on St. Paul's Island after her engines had become disabled.

Refloated, she shipped water so swiftly her crew feared she would sink and Captain S. Rideout ordered them to fasten oil barrels to the hull and keep her above water. The makeshift pontoons were holding the schooner up easily when the cutter came along.

The Stumble Inn towed her into White Point.

LAKEFIELD COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Reid at Home to Large Circle of Friends on Holiday.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

LAKEFIELD, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — Dominion Day was marked in Lakefield by a happy social event in the golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Reid, held at their home on Reid Street. All afternoon and evening a steady stream of callers joined in offering good wishes and felicitations for happy returns of the day, especially that Mr. and Mrs. Reid may live to celebrate their diamond wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Reid were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Albert Darling and Miss Marion Miles. The house was decorated with flowers and presented a festive appearance and on the table in the living room was a beautiful basket of roses which were the gift of the Women's Association of the United Church. From 3 to 5 o'clock the reception was held in the afternoon, and at 6 o'clock the immediate relatives sat down to a wedding supper, with the six oldest couples present at the bride's table. The toast to the King was loyally honored, and Rev. W. R. Archer, B. A., proposed the toast to the bride and groom of fifty years ago, who are still useful citizens and an example of a happy couple who have travelled together for half a century. Mr. Reid has been a member of the Board of the church for years and was on the Board at the time of the building of the present church and he has always rendered splendid service at every function held there. Mrs. Reid has been his helpmate in church work as in everything else, and her valuable service as the Strangers' secretary of the Women's Missionary Society was marked by the society in the recent presentation in June of a life membership, an honor well deserved. In the Women's Association Mrs. Reid has borne an active part and has been always ready to help, and has been one of those who could be relied on for every emergency. Mrs. Reid replied for Mr. Reid and herself, assuring their friends of the pleasure they took in service to the church. The hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds," was sung. Forty persons sat down to supper.

From eight to ten o'clock the reception was continued and a steady procession of friends called to offer greetingsc and good wishes. A delightful feature was a real old-fashioned "charivari," which surprised everyone at ten o'clock, and a group of young people joined in the old songs, such as: "Put on your old grey bonnet," "The old spinning wheel," "Memories," "Silver threads among the gold," "Let me call you sweetheart." The serenaders were Mrs. McMillen, Misses Eva Hendren, Evelyn Darling, and Mildred Purdy, with Ralph Darling playing the accompaniments on the guitar.

Those who served the guests refreshments at small tables set in the dining-room were: Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Quanstrom, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. William Northey, Mrs. Charles Spears, Mrs. Robret Darling, Mrs. John Hendren, Mrs. William Purdy, Mrs. James Northey, Misses Evelyn Darling, Mildred Purdy, and Eva Hendren.

Among the guests who attended the reception were:

From Winnipeg— Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Darling and Miss Evelyn Darling.

From Chicago — Mr. and Mrs. Quanstrom, Messrs. George and Luke Long.

From Courtrite — Mr. and Mrs. John Reid and Mrs. Andrews.

From Ottawa—Mrs. A. Jory.

From Peterborough — Mr. Harold Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Darling.

From Stoney Lake— Mrs. David Drain.

From Warsaw — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Little.

From Cobourg — Mr. and Mrs. Haig.

From Lakefield — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Darling, Mr. Ralph Darling, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Darling, Mrs. J. R. Northey, Mr. Gerald Northey, Mrs. W. J. Webster, Mrs. John Hendren, Miss Eva Hendren, Mr. and Mr. William Purdy, Miss Mildred Purdy, Mrs. Richard White, Mrs. Sam White, Mr. and Mrs. William Northey, Mrs. John Millage, Mrs. Welbourne, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Hiscutt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Roseborough, Mrs. T. T. Milburn, Miss Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. Gruetzner, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Charlton, Mrs. Lorne Webster, Miss Mary Webster, Miss Marion Miles, Mrs. Judson Hull, Mrs. Earl Orr, Mrs. M. Harvey, Rev. W. R. Archer, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. J. Lemay, Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Burgess, Miss Walton, Mrs. MacMillen, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Higgins, Mrs. H. E. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Higgins, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Ted Webster, Mrs. Nathan Payne, Miss Ethel Wilson, Miss M. McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Braden, Mrs. John Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northey, Mrs. Fred Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Payne, Mr. Alexander Macdonald, Mrs. Munro, Mr. Percy Wilson (Norwood), Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamblin, Mrs. Clarence Foster, Mrs. Roy Bullock, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harding (Warsaw), Mrs. Hutt, Mrs. Ray Welbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Millage, Mrs. A. Davis, Miss Margaret Sanderson, Mrs. Earl Ivey, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Drain (Warsaw), Freddy Coons, and Dot Northey, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Miss Graham, Mrs. Elmer Lillico, Mrs. Leslie Harrison, Miss Allene Miles, Elton Miles, Mrs. J. W. Ridpath, Mr. Goldie Drain, Mr. and Mds. Dave Tucker and son, Earl Robinson.

Fifty years ago on July 1, 1884, Frances Anne Darling, elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Darling, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Allen. Mrs. David Drain, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Mr. W. J. Little was best man. The wedding was a real community gathering, with one hundred and ten wedding guests. One son, the only child, died in his 20th year and since then Mr. and Mrs. Reid have travelled life's road alone, a veritable Darby and Joan, happy together with congenial tastes and fond of the society of their young nephews and nieces.

For the auspicious occasion of the golden wedding the bridesmaid of fifty years ago was present, but the best man is no longer living. Mrs. Reid's three living brothers, Albert, Robert, and Percy Darling were all present at the golden wedding, also her sister, Mrs. J. R. Northey. Mr. Reid's brothers, James Reid and John Reid, were also present. The celebration on Monday was more than just a golden wedding—it was a community event and a family re-union.

Is Found Guilty

NORMA MILLEN

Though her husband never batted an eye he was sentenced to die for murder, he cursed and wept when the news was brought to him that his pretty wife, Norma Millen, had been found guilty of accessory to the murders. A sentence of 21 years is the maximum under the law for Norma, and the jury carried no recommendation for mercy. She is seen here leaving the court during the trial.

MILLBROOK W.A. SPONSORS SOCIAL

Successful Afternoon Tea Held at Home of Mrs. L. M. Bonneville.

MILLBROOK, July 6.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. L. M. Bonneville kindly gave the use of her home for the silver tea under the auspices of the W.A. of St. Thomas' Church, held on Saturday from 4 to 6 p.m., the hostess being assisted by Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of the Missionary Auxiliary, in receiving the many guests.

Mrs. J. W. Hilton was cashier, and in the entrance hall was also the table of home baking with Mrs. G. Howson and Mrs. A. J. Fallis in charge of the sales. The table in the tea room, with its lovely lace cloth, was centred with a silver basket of daisies and the service was entirely of silver. Pouring tea were Mrs. T. G. Harkness and Mrs. H. Attwooll, and serving the guests were Mrs. J. E. Allen, who was convenor of the tea committee and had oversight of all details, Mrs. Frank Stinson, Misses Ada Attwooll, Margaret Simpson and Rose Macnamara. Others who gave necessary help in connection with the event were Mrs. H. J. Russell and Mrs. Harold Nattress.

Financially the tea added a neat sum to the funds of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, and the table of home baking was likewise a financial success. A number of friends of the Auxiliary sent their money though they were prevented from attending the pleasant social occasion in person.

Women's Association.

Mrs. L. S. Clarry and her daughters, the Misses Mabel and Gertrude Clarry, were hostesses for the July meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church, the gathering being held on the shaded south lawn of their hospitable homestead, Park road, on Tuesday at 3 p.m., with the president, Mrs. F. J. Smith, in the chair. During the opening worship period Mrs. C. W. Richards read the lesson and Mrs. Harold Bigelow the prayer.

Business was chiefly concerned with the details for the garden party to be held on the lawns of Mr. W. A. O'Brian's home on July 17, at which raspberries and creom will be the main feature of the menu if in season, otherwise the decision was to use cold meat, salads, etc. On motion, it was decided to engage the Cavan Dramatic Club to present its play, "The Fruit of His Folly," for the program, and convenors of tables were appointed as follows: Mrs. G. Fallis, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. W. C. Fallis, and each of these will secure her own waiters.

The treasurer reported $4.60 in talent money from Mrs. F. J. Smith and Mrs. Might, proceeds of the afternoon tea served at the latter's home in June, and $10 from the Seth Parker Club. The request of the Black Knight Preceptory that the association serve dinner and tea at their big gathering on August 11, when the seventeen outside lodges have been asked to participate in the observance of the raising of the seige of Derry was finally agreed to, the need of funds being accentuated when the parsonage committee reported that the shingling of the large residence must be shortly undertaken; present repairs for the coming of the new minister included the purchase of a new range for the kitchen and new linoleum laid on the study and hall floors. Other renovation is a matter of almost immediate necessity.

The program included readings of two poems by Canadian authors, "Fair Canada of Ours" and "Canadian Born," by Mrs. G. Fallis and Mrs. Bigelow, and the meeting was dismissed with prayer. A dainty lunch was served by Misses Mabel and Gertrude Clarry at the close, and during the pleasant social hour many of the guests enjoyed a walk through the lovely flower garden adjacent to the lawn where the meeting had been held. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the hostesses before adjournment.

"The Duties of Labor Leaders" and "The Delights of Farming for Young People." Details of the Nazi Conference at Flensburg were prominently displayed.

There Rudolf Hess, Minister without portfolio and important lieutentant of Chancellor Hitler, told Viktor Lutzen, new Chief of Staff of the Storm Troops, that "in your efforts to keep the historical calling of the Storm Troops as a true and powerful instrument in the hands of Der Fuehrer (Hitler) you will find the support of us all."

But every other indication was that the power and the glory of the Storm Troops, in whose ranks the rebellion was fostered, have gone. Most of them, it was indicated, will be disbanded.

Hindenburg Improves

Paul Von Hindenburg, 86-year-old President of the Third Reich, remained calmly at his Neudeck estate, apparently in improved health.

The fate of his protege, Frank Von Papen, Vice-Chancellor, whom Hitler reportedly tried to oust in favor of Herman Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia, remained in doubt.

Von Hindenburg's intercession saved Von Papen's job, temporarily at least, but there were indications he would be demoted or would leave the Cabinet because of his health.

The body of Fritz Beck, head of the Foreign Academic Bureau at Munich, was found yesterday in a forest. It had six bullet wounds and had been badly battered.

There was still no official death list, except the Government's "under 50." Many more, however, various unofficial sources indicated, were killed.

R.A.F. Plane Crashes, Third Since Saturday

LONDON, July 6 (CP Cable). — In the third Royal Air Force crash since Saturday, a new night-bomber hurtled into a hedge near Oxford last night, killing Sergeant Robinson on his birthday, and injuring four other occupants of the plane.

Two more R.A.F. men were killed near Northolt, bringing the total lost to four since Saturday, when Squadron Leader Stanley Collett, son of Londons' Lord Mayor, fell at the Hendon annual display of military flying.

Pleasing Program At Warsaw Meeting

WARSAW, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — The United Church W.M.S. held its meeting in the Sunday School room on Wednesday, July 4. Mrs. Wilkinson presided. After the opening devotions and of routine, there was a little discussion about closing the books by the last day of December. Money is coming in fairly well. The half-yearly statement was sent by Mrs. Digweed, who was unable to be present.

Quilt blocks are requested to be in as soon as possible, when they will be put together so the quilting can soon be done.

Mrs. Charlotte Cooper, convenor of Group "A," took the chair; one verse of "Will Your Anchor Hold" was sung. Mrs. A. Payne read a short article on "Bringing Gifts to God." Mrs. G. G. Taylor took the Study Book lesson. Mrs. Roland Payne and Mrs. Arthur Payne assisted by reading selections.

Mrs. Gormley very kindly gave two beautiful piano selections: "To a Water Lily," by MacDowell, and "Sea Rapture" by M. Kennedy Fraser. Mrs. Cooper read "The World for Christ." Mr. Gormley, a guest, sang "Just For To-day."

"B" Group, leader Mrs. Anderson, will have charge of the August meeting.

The quarterly tea by the group followed. The tables were very very pretty, with blue Canterbury bells and peonies.

Supper was a happy social affair and Mrs. William Jackson, who in younger days was a member, joined the group. The meal was well within regulations, but delicious and ended with ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh (formerly Hazel Brown) of Toronto, and little daughter, spent the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements.

Empty Oil Barrels Keep Ship Afloat

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., July 6.—(CP)—How a crew of fishermen kept their leaking vessel afloat by lashing empty barrels around its hull was related today with the arrival of the revenue cutter Stumble Inn.

Patrolling the Cape Breton coast this week, the cutter came across the disabled schooner Gladys Ella, adrift near the northern tip of Cape Breton. She had been lost on a lobster fishing expedition when a gale drove her ashore on St. Paul's Island after her engines had become disabled.

Refloated, she shipped water so swiftly her crew feared she would sink and Captain S. Rideout ordered them to fasten oil barrels to the hull and keep her above water. The makeshift pontoons were holding the schooner up easily when the cutter came along.

The Stumble Inn towed her into White Point.

TO-MORROW'S APPEAL.

The Examiner hopes that the citizens of Peterborough will make a generous response to the tag day appeal of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, to-morrow.

The work of this organization on behalf of ex-service men and their families merits genral commendation and support.

Under the unusual economic conditions of the last few years demands upon its services have necessarily been heavy; at the same time it has been compelled to operate on decreased revenues by reason of the fact that many Legion members have been unemployed or working only part time and therefore have been unable to make up their dues, the income of the Legion consequently suffering.

This condition makes a measure of public assistance imperative, and it is the hope of the Legion officers that the people of this city and district, approving of the cause and realizing the urgency of the need, will be liberal in their offering to-morrow.

There is a very real field of service for the Canadian Legion in this community, and there must be no let-down in its work else ex-service men who have deserved well of their home city will pay the penalty.

A TAX ON MEALS.

The Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities has announced that its members are five to one in favor of a tax on meals served in hotels and restaurants, to be called the "hospitals tax," and which would relieve the municipalities of the present tax for indigents.

This is the sort of proposal that is too often made, and that is extremely difficult to justify.

It is true that Quebec has a tax of that nature, levied for the same purpose, but two wrongs never did make a right, and there is no reason why Ontario should establish an unfair tax just because her sister province has done so.

As a matter of fact, why should the people who eat meals in hotels or restaurants be discriminated against?

Most of them do not eat in such places from choice, but because of necessity, and if it is fair to place a tax on their meals it would be just as fair to make those who eat at home pay a similar levy.

As one paper says of the proposal, it would be just as sensible, much more so in fact, to place a special tax on every funeral procession, on every suit of clothes, on every pair of shoes, on every ferry boat ride.

The burden of caring for indigent patients is undoubtedly a heavy municipal obligation, but it is decidedly unfair to look to hotel and restaurant patrons to foot the bill.

The Association of Rural Municipalities had better reconsider the question, and draft a more equitable plan of taking care of this expense.

NOT A GOOD RECORD.

The fears expressed by many people that the freer sale of wine and beer in Ontario will increase the number of traffic accidents have some foundation in the records made public in Detroit as to the effect of public sale of intoxicants upon automobile mishaps.

In the Michigan city it is announced that since the return of legalized drinking the traffic acoident total has increased by 50 per cent., fatalities have been 25 per cent. greater, and most significant of all, motor accidents attributable to liquor have increased by 174 per cent.

The figures for the first five months of this year compared with those of the same period in 1933 show the following:

Fatalities	142	196
Injured	4,521	6,233
Accidents, no injury	6,061	9,402

A study of the accidents in which police reported liquor as a factor gives the following significant comparison:

	1933	1934
January	50	154
February	40	103
March	49	134
April	61	151
May	94	160

The state of Michigan records show that of the 1,813 owners of motor cars barred from the highways since October 15, 1933, 1,400 lost the privilege of operating a car because they had tried to drive an automobile while drunk.

It is true that the Detroit and Michigan figures as to the increase in traffic accidents and in drunk driving charges are worse than the average throughout the country, which reveals a 40 per cent. increase since the wiping out of the prohibition law.

THE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT.

The surprising speed at which Canada's financial position is picking up is revealed in the statement from Ottawa that for the first three months of the present fiscal year the customs-excise revenues show an increase of over $15,000,000 over the total for the same period last year.

There was an increase of $6,890,742 in customs receipts and a gain of $8,408,863 in excise revenues, while in the three months the income tax collections jumped by $823,267.

The June figures tell the same gratifying story, inasmuch as the total customs and excise revenue for the month was $20,090,277, an increase over June last year of $4,224,349.

From Ottawa, too, comes the statement that generally speaking the whole situation as seen from the capital is the best in years.

With federal revenues jumping, a decided falling fall in the number receiving direct relief, unemployment showing a pronounced decrease, and the $40,000,000 public works program expected to contribute materially to the pick-up in business and industry, there are more grounds for optimism than at any period since the depression began.

If the revenues of the Government show the same improvement during the remainder of the fiscal year, the Canadian people will have some reason to hope for a lifting of some of the present burden of taxation from their shoulders when the next Dominion Budget is presented.

At all events the outlook is much brighter than for years, and there is ample ground for believing that Canada is rapidly moving in the direction of better times for the whole country.

ADVERTISING PETERBOROUGH.

John Smith, Peterborough paddler, who is on his way to England in a canoe, may not be seeking publicity, but his feat is nevertheless securing a considerable amount of advertising, not only for himself, but for his home city. Thus under the heading, "An Aquatic Lindbergh," we find the Boston Herald referring to Smith's exploit:

"John Smith, of Peterborough, Ontario, has started to paddle across the ocean in a canvas-covered canoe. Already he has shot six furious rapids. He found the Long Sault bad, the Soulange worse and the Cascades terrible. Once, riding on the crest of a wave, he could see for miles around—and he lost $10 worth of groceries. The ocean naturally has no terrors for this young man of 20.

"But the most interesting thing about him is his hatred of publicity. He pulls his hat over his face when any one tries to photograph him. 'People seem to think I'm a freak,' he complains, 'because I plan to paddle my way across the Atlantic.. What I am doing is my own business, and nobody but the wild waves of rapids or sea is going to stop me. I am no college boy looking for a thrill, or canoe factory agent looking for free publicity. I am not even a member of any of the canoe clubs of Peterborough.'

"Such modesty, which seems to be genuine, is to be commended; but does this scion of the Smiths imagine that he is going to paddle across the ocean in a canvas-covered canoe, or try to do it, and escape public attention? Nobody's business? Of course not; but the public will make it its business. How about a movie of John Smith tossed in the air by the Cascades? There might be money in it for him. And does he think he can prevent some enterprising publisher from chartering an Atlantic liner to follow him over the ocean wave? The white light of publicity is a fearsome thing. Some like it, though."

HE WOULD DECENTRALIZE INDUSTRY.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator of United States, believes changes must be made to meet the conditions which have been brought to notice in his country. He admits the problem of relief is acute. His latest figure gave 16,000,000 as being on the relief rolls. When there is a falling off in one district something takes place elsewhere which causes the figures to grow. By way of illustration: Since the drought became acute in the west and mid-west farming section there have been 527,000 persons placed on relief and the list is extending.

Mr. Hopkins said that industrial mistakes will have to be remedied, and his chief theory is that industry will have to be decentralized, and he is certain it would pay to follow such a plan. His reasoning is interesting. When industry becomes centralized in cities the people who work in shops or factories live a huddled sort of existence. They can make no use of land because land becomes too expensive. The result is that they have to depend on others entirely for their sustenance, and in a slack period they cannot provide themselves even with sufficient to eat. If a worker desires to own a home he has to pay too high a price, carry too great a load of interest and spend too many of his productive years trying to get the place cleared.

According to Mr. Hopkins, it would be better for industries to be spread around in the smaller places. He would see to it there was no exploitation in land prices, and that those who desired to secure homes to which were attached a reasonably large piece of property could do so. Their home investment would be much smaller than in the congested area; the family would have opportunity to become partially self-sustained from their own land; there would be more wholesome living conditions, and there would be a good opportunity to avoid the crisis which comes quicky during a period of industrial slackness.

Of course, it is possible to advance reasons why the plan might not work, but Mr. Hopkins has been officially interested in one of the greatest movements to combat depression which the world has yet seen, and his conclusions must be seriously considered. He does not come as a witness who has not a knowledge according to fact and intelligent observation.

We do not believe it is possible to successfully argue that the continued piling up of industry in larger centres can be defended. It would be much better to have these industries spread around in such a way that there would be a series of fairly active smaller centres. The large city is a mistake, and there is but one thing to do with a mistake—correct it.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Fred Perry and Jack Crawford made it a safe and sane Fourth of July for British tennis supremacy.

With the Federal Parliament out of the trenches at last Ottawa's front page position will have to be vacated until the next session opens.

Let the whole truth in regard to penitentiary conditions and administration be brought out. That is the only way to end the present criticism.

Some 200 applications for restaurant beer licenses in Ontario have already been made, and in the opinion of a great many people, that is some 200 too many.

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition is just a little over six weeks away. With the big event three weeks earlier than usual a new record in good weather and attendance is expected.

WORTHY ARTICLES

Editor, Examiner.

Dear sir:

Through the medium of your valuable columns I would like to call the attention of the various home and school associations of this city, and of parents generally, to two very thoughtful articles appearing in this month's issue of the "Rosicrucian Digest." The "Thought of the Month" by the Imperator of the Rosicrucian Order on "Our Newest Responsibility" and the companion article, "A Few Cold Facts for Thinkers", by Mr. J. F. Wright, D.S.C.

While the state of affairs revealed in these articles fortunately may not apply to a great extent in Peterborough yet the articles themselves do reveal a dangerous trend that is well worth the serious attention of every thoughtful person, who desires the real welfare of our young people. The "Rosicrucian Digest" may be read at the Public Library, or copies may be obtained direct from the American Jurisdiction, A.M.O.R.C., San Jose, Calif., at twenty-five cents.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours truly,
R. FARTHING,
District Commissioner Rosicrucian Order.

HEADING UP LIQUOR CONTROL

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear sir.

The suggestion that Mr. Hepburn include in his Cabinet a minister without portfolio who shall constitute the Board and be the business manager of the Liquor Control system, is not an altogether happy one. It points rather definitely in the wrong direction. If the attitude taken in the 1930 convention of the Liberal party and since maintained in its political declarations means anything, it means that the liquor problem shal be served from direct relation to party politics. To place the administrator of liquor control in the Cabinet is in many respects to do quite the opposite. It will stamp the Liberal party as taking into its bosom the Liquor Control business; it will make every member of the Cabinet in a sense a personal director of our Provincial liquor business; it will expose the liquor control management in a manifold degree to those subtle influences, often reinforced by seeming political advantage, which must make for the misdirection of the business and the degeneracy of its management; it will mean that any criticism necesarily aimed at the management will be construed as directly against the Government and in some measure against all its members; it will render very difficult and disturbing the dismissal of the management or a change in its personnel if such action should become necessary; it will have a subtle but widespread and highly injurious educative effect.

The consumption of liquor augments for society many of its most grievous burdens. Its diminution is confessedly desirable. Liquor consumption, however, has by its association with government under our own existing system already gained a tolerance and secured a social vogue tending greatly to extend its use. The stamp of government approval tends to obscure the dangers that exist and the evils that in all too many cases result. The appointment of the head of a liquor-selling agency as a minister of the Crown would tend to further disarm the public mind, on the theory that the King can do no wrong. The placing the liquor business in part under government management has given it a prestige impossible for it to acquire by itself. To honor it with a representative in the Cabinet would be to confer upon it a preeminence utterly unjustified.

The increased toll of accidents and deaths on our highways that has attended the coming of Government Sale and that is so largely inescapable while drivers indulge even moderately in liquor, is likely to be still further augmented when beer is easily obtainable in most parts of the country at any hour of the day. Alarming results have followed the legalization of 3.2 beer in the United States; and in England where 50,837 persons have been killed and 1,421,083 persons injured on the highways in seven years, a similar warning is apparent. The sequence is inevitable and the responsibility for such results rests not alone with the drinking driver, but also with the system and the people who despite scientific and social facts render it social and legislative support. In view of the utterances of magistrates and judges anent the drinking driver it would not be surprising, if the head of the liquor-selling system becomes a member of the Cabinet, to have him popularly known ere-long as the Minister of Murder.

The chief administrator of liquor control will require to be a man of considerable business capacity. He will need also to possess independent judgment and great firmness of character. It will be a mistake if the responsibilities of such a difficult task are committed to anyone whose past history identifies him with the liquor-selling business, or to anyone who represents the liquor-producing interests rather than the sober judgment of the people of the Province.

A Thought

DIFFICULTIES

Difficulties are but a stimulus to the strong man. The danger which will frighten one man away for ever will be an additional attraction to another. And some men, like races, are always best when their backs are to the wall. We have all known such people and we cannot help admiring them, for they succeed where others would inevitably fail. The ability to hang on and hold out when failure seems certain, has saved many a fortune and many a life. We should learn to be patient with our own failures, not forgetting to grow better by defeat. And humanity loves to encourage the man who keeps on trying and never failus to do his best.

Foreign Affairs

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

THE UNITED STATES

A Changed Foreign Policy.

For seventy-five years the foreign policy of the United States had the appearance of imperialism. But it was in appearance only. The extension of territory to the Rio Grande was to forestall colonization by any European power. The annexation of Hawaii and the occupation of the Philippine Islands smacked like the Imperial Impulse. The presence of United States in Nicaragua in the personnel of marines with the Stars and Stripes floating above them did not look good to the rest of the world. Suspicion held the place of confidence More than one American Secretary of State sensed the reason.

To President Roosevelt must be given credit for the significant change of the foreign policy of the United States. The Phillipine Islands have been given the option of either remaining in their present relation to the United States, or their freedom. A plebiscite will decide.

Cuba has found her own voice. The Platt Amendment restrictions have been cancelled. American ships of war will no longer stand by to guard the properties of American capitalists. Cuba's destiny will be henceforth in her own hands. The American marines have already been withdrawn from Nicaragua. The withdrawal of these marines and the announcement that the United States offers to enter into an international agreement to refrain from sending troops, armed or otherwise, across its frontier. The announcement has been made to the world by the Secretary of State at Washington that the American marines will be out of Haiti by the first of October of this year.

Influences are at work profoundly changing the attitude of the people towards, "manifest destiny." Idealism is rapidly taking the place of concern for the glories of empire. Millions of Americans are seriously asking, "What is the providential mission of our nation?"

GERMANY AND ITALY

Hitler and Mussolini Clasp Hands.

Movements of statesmen become the-same-day world news. Hitler's feet had scarcely touched Italian soil before the whole world listening-in knew. Even the plaudits of Italian multitudes were heard far off. But the real news nobody heard. Hitler and Mussolini chatted on the porch of a Venice golf cub. Newspaper reporters failed to catch even one word on which a story could be written. What a world this has become! Things of little importance can be heard around the world. Hitler and Mussolini sit out in the open of a golf course and chat and nobody knows what.

The newspapers had to write something. And they did. They wrote about how Mussolini towered in military attire over his visitor. The military display of the Italian made him look the more a statesman. Hitler was dressed in German mufti. He was rustic rather than noble and aristocratic. Both men are dictators. But Mussolini was the ideal embodiment.

This meeting in Venice put all the other nation statesmen on tip toes. What does it all mean? Does it threaten the peace of Europe? That day Venice did disturb rest of the world. While no word spoken on the porch of that Venice golf club was heard, the subject of conversation could be easily sensed. One word immediately stood out. Austria! Austria! yes, that was the one word that moved the nations. The mention of Austria in any of the capitals of Europe arouses instant speculation. Hitler in Venice, was the one chief topic of conversation and concern in France and Great Britain and the United States. Did the conference bear any peace making fruit?

This much can be read between the lines given out, when the conference was concluded. The fate of Austria was settled. And Austria had no say about its destiny. There will be no Anschluss. Hitler failed. Italy gave him no encouragement to hope for the return of Austria.

Fascism in U.S. As In Italy.

A bit of pepper in hand is the same in its bite as pepper wherever found. A bit of the earth is like earth anywhere. The leopard cannot shed his spots. Fascism has its bite and its spots. Think not that the masses of the Italian people relish the enforcement of Fascism. They are restive. The day is in the morning of vast changes in Italy at the hand of the people. This system of government in Italy has entered the period of senility. It has not fostered national strength. It never will. In its very nature it is destructive, disintegrating. It is divisive rather than integrating.

One little spot in the estate of Washington is illustrative. Roslyn lies in the mountains. Seattle is one hundred miles away. And on the way from Seattle to Portland, three miles from the highway, and through the Cle-Elum pass, nestles this beautiful mountain village. E. M. Hugh-Jones an Oxford University professor describes the scene with its mountains and pass and village as resembling a toy baloon on a string. Cut the string or throw a police force across the pass and the baloon will be isolated.

Professor Hugh-Jones is a member of the Economics faculty at Oxford. He is a traveller with a purpose. He travels to know as well as to win strength to guide young men in their quest for knowledge. To teach Economics the world must be travelled and first hand facts gleaned and digested. Recently he has been motoring through the United States. He came to Roslyn. It is in the midst of a mining camp. The camp is full of strife. The controllers of the camp and the miners are Fascists. Workers and Fascists are at grips. Why?

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

REGINA, SASCATCHEWAN.

The original name of the queen city of the west was Pile of Bones, named for the creek, which ran through the settlement. The creek later was given the more dignified name of Waskana river, the former name in reality being the English translation from the Sioux language. The suggestion for this change came from Sir Sam Steele, then an officer in the R. N. W. M. P.

When the capital of the North West Territories was moved from North Battleford in 1883, the suggestion was made that the new capital be called Regina, this being Latin for queen. This name was suggested by Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyle, Queen Victoria's daughter, and wife of the governor-general.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A NEWSPAPER'S DIAMOND JUBILEE.

On this date, in 1874, the Manitoba Free Press became a daily. First issued as a weekly on November 9, 1872, the Free Press has shared the transformation from primitive Fort Garry to the metropolitan Winnipeg; indeed, its publisher, W. F. Luxton, was one of those who urged incorporation as a city, the Free Press fighting the battle of the citizens when the legislature rejected the incorporating bill and describing with much detail and self-pride demonstration and bonfires on Main Street when the charter was at last granted in 1873.

In its early days the Free Press was ardently Liberal, often in advance of its party, and always speaking its individual mind, whether it pleased the politicians or not. It broke with the Liberals on the conscription issue in 1917 and has ever since been more independent than Liberal, taking a wide view of affairs. Its immense power among the people of the West has often been demonstrated. Its editors and publishers have always been men to be proud of, not the least of them being the veterans, E. H. Macklin and John W. Dafoe, publisher and editor for now more than half the journal's existence. Their many friends, will, I am sure, join me in wishing them many happy returns of the 60th anniversary of the daily edition of the Manitoba Free Press, now for some reason, which I have never been able to fatham, the Winnipeg Free Press. But what's in a name? It's the work that counts and the influence that a newspaper yields not only in its own community but nationally, and in that regard The Winnipeg Free Press stands in the very first rank.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

DO YOU "RATIONALIZE"

I rationalize, you rationalize, nearly everybody you know rationalizes.

It's a twentieth century word for getting out from under, for excusing yourself from the results of your folly, for taking the curse off your mistakes, for making yourself feel better, for bringing in a verdict of not guilty against yourself.

You rationalize when you bump into a door in the dark and blame somebody else for leaving it open. Though you should have turned on the light and then you wouldn't have bumped into it. . . . Samuel Insull rationalizes when he blames circumstances for the trouble he is in. . . . Napoleon rationalized when he sat on St. Helena and criticised everybody but himself for his downfall. . . . We all rationalize when we look back through our lives and find one small point when we failed or when somebody else failed us and we say that all would have been different—if only that one small thing hadn't happened. . . . I rationalize when I'm lazy, but complain that I couldn't do my work because I had too many visitors.

Some of our rationalizations are on the surface and even we know that they exist. . . . But others are buried so deeply that we hardly know they are there. We buried them, but we have deliberately forgotten them.

We rationalize our failures to be popular with the excuse that we are too sensitive and rare to achieve commonplace approval. The writer whose book has failed rationalizes when he thinks his book was too good for the common herd.

But sometimes you meet a man or a woman who is joyously frank with himself or herself. They don't lie. They confess their failures and inadequacies with a great laugh, admit their stupidities, their weaknesses more openly than if they were talking about the other fellow. . . . Not with a whimper. Not with a sigh. Not with tears, as some self-haters do. . . . But gallantly, getting a deal of fun out of living.

When you meet such a man or woman it is as though you were in the presence of a great wind blowing from heaven and sweeping all the mean pretenses and little secrecies from life. And you catch the contagion of such honesty and courage and are the stronger for the rich encounter.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Prices were steady on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, the fractional decline of butter being the only exception to the general trend.

The butter market was off ½c a pound, fresh No. 1 being quoted at 19c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers brought 20c to 21c a pound for solids and 21c to 22c for prints. Receipts totalled 1,369 boxes.

Potatoes held steady, New Brunswick Mountains being 80c to 85c per 80-lb. bag; Quebec whites, 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains, $1 to $1.05 per 90-lb. bag.

On the egg market, graded shipments in carlots or less brought 22c to 23c dozen for A-large, 21c to 22c for A-medium, 20c to 21c for B and 19c to 19½c for C. Receipts were 3,866 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO.—Stimulated by unlooked-for strength of the Liverpool wheat market, wheat prices in Chicago scored substantial gains yesterday.

Broadening of inquiry for flour in the United States accompanied the upward trend of wheat. Liverpool despatches asserted 3c a bushel rise there in wheat prices the last 48 hours had been due chiefly to the fact that large quantities of Argentine wheat were rejected as of too inferior quality to be delivered on contracts.

Wheat in Chicago rose a maximum of 2c, closing unsettled, 1¼c to 1¾c above Tuesday's finish; corn unchanged to ¼c higher; oats, ¼c to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 2c decline to an advance of 5c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 6. — Wheat futures fluctuated mildly in a featureless session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Steadiness was the rule, however, as the prices rallied from early fractional losses to close ⅛c lower to unchanged, July option at 76¼c, October 78c, and December 79¼c to 79⅛c.

Spreading operations between Winnipeg and Chicago comprised most of the day's small trade, with some buying against export sales reported. Firmness in the outside market aided local values, Liverpool closing strong at ⅛d to ¼d higher and Chicago scoring advances.

Crop reports from other sources continued bullish. No improvement in European prospects was reported.

Cash grains were active, with higher grades of wheat meeting a good demand. Spreads cised ¼c to ⅛c better. Coarse grains futures continued quiet.

Jackson Bros.: "We anticipate a gradual increase in trading from this point on, under the influence of actual trade conditions, but with no bull market until the fall. It is inconceivable that the logic of inflation will not assert itself positively in the equity stocks."

Jenks Gwynne: "There is some expectation of a revival of market activity with the progress of the month."

Weingarten & Co.: "We do not look for any decidedly price trends during the balance of the week."

Standard Facts and Forecasts says:—Quiet strength yesterday provided some affirmation for those prognosticators who follow the theory that price moves on the few days after a holiday have some significance. Something a little more than superficial agreement with such a theory would seem to be necessary to inspire real confidence in the move, however, for the market has outlined a pretty definite trading range during the past eight or nine weeks, and a decisive piercing of the 93-94 resistance area on the Standard Industrial Index is desirable under present conditions. While considerable caution should be exercised in following rallies with the outlook continues to warrant maintainence of long position, anticipate reflections in prospects for better business.

Few Price Changes Appear in Base Metal and the Silver Groups.

GOOD DAY'S BUSINESS.

TORONTO, July 6.—(CP)— Despite the heat and the restraining influence of the industrial markets, the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange turned in a good day's business with volume particularly heavy in some of the gold shares. One of the questions on the printed blank which the applicant filled out was:

"When can you report for duty?"

The fo rm was returend today to the civil service commission with this answer:

FRENCH PEOPLE HEAVILY TAXED

ly of the 100 years of peace that had existtd with the United States. It was very beautiful, he thought, but such thoughts were for children and not for thinking men and women. 'Do not think you are any more peaceful than the Frenchman or anyone else," he counselled, "and do not judge other peoples by your own situation."

Professor Dela Champs who declared that he had lost all faith in history, spoke of the averagt Canadians knowledge of the French nation, as being that gleaned from distorted press despatches that reached America from Germany. Such meager knowledge had the tendency to engender sympathy for "poor Germany" and to make the average Canadian look upon Franct as a covetous nation that was hoarding gold and amassing wealth.

Referring to Germany's inability to pay her war debts to France, he stated that the moratoriums that Germany had successfully sought were made by Von Hindenburg speaking as the mouthpiece of Wall Street moneylenders. President Hoover, he said, had inspired the moratorium, he declared, to save American money that was invested in Germany.

Blames Wall Street

"I am not a capitalist nor yet a Socialist, but there are times when capital is a nuisance. All the manoeuvring over German war debt payments has been done by Wall Street moneylenders," the speaker reiterated.

He added that while France was being continually pressed for payments by her allies, the Germans were being allowed to default their payments or have them diminished.

France was on the verge of bankrupty, he stated, in describing as utter nonsense reports that France was a wealthy country. Referring to France as the most heavily taxed nation in the world, he said taxation had about reached the very limit, and it was that fact which was largely responsible for the recent demonstrations in Paris.

The speaker expressed the opinion that Ontario was inclined to be anti-French and pro-German, but he felt that any change of feeling on the part of Ontarians towards the German people was only brought about by Hitler's treatment of the Jews in Germany.

As further proof of the poverty and distress that is existing in France to-day, the speaker stated that while it was truthfully stated in the press reports that France had only 380,000 persons on relief, such a statement did not account for all the people that were without employment.

In England and Canada, he said, there were professional people in receipt of relief. Not so in France, where "white collar" people had not got over the stage of looking upon relief as charity. In France he said, if one member of a family is fortunate enough to have a job that one job has to do for the entire family. People help one another to the limit.

"Do not think we are not suffering from depression. We are. Members of my own family have been without employment for over two years. But they do not want relief.'."

Professor Dela Champs was accorded a vote of thanks by President A. B. Gates, ably moved by Dr. C. M. Scott.

While luncheon was in progress the members of the club were entertained by the Searle instrumental trio, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. C. Searle, violin and piano respectively, and by Tom Smith, 'cello.

Among guests of the day were included William Browne of Illinois, brother of Kiwanian Carl S Browne and Edgar Burnham of St. Petersburg, Florida.

"Tight buttoned"

Have You, The "Can't Afford It" Habit?

THE use of that phrase does not suggest the inability to buy so much as the desire to practice rigid economy . . . to save . . . to deny yourself needed and necessary commodities.

But Man, oh Man, and you, too, Madam, how better and more effectively can you practice economy and thrift than to buy when prices are at their lowest ebb in years? How more certainly can you insure economy than to replace worn or out-of-date furniture than when new is selling for one-third of what it sold for 15 years ago? Or to stock up on food products when they are 40% less than at any time since the war? Or clothing when $53 to-day will buy you what you paid $100 for in 1912?

What you really cannot afford to do is not buy because you cannot afford to miss to-day's low levels . . . prices that are an actual boon to reduced incomes . . . to the practice of sensible, far-sighted economy.

Nazis Have Gone Mad - Hitler Is Striving For Peace

IS THE OPINION OF EX-AVIATOR OF GERMAN ARMY

German People Do Not Want Hohenzollerns Back, Declares Captain of Yacht.

STILL HATE FRENCH

Germans Are Anxious for War of Revenge—Hitler is Fine Leader.

The Nazis in Germany have temporarily gone mad in their lust for power.

Hitler, himself, is a fine leader, however, and has the sympathy of the nation behind him. He is striving for peace and industry.

The German people do not want the Hohenzollerns back.

The German people still hate the French bitterly and are anxious for a war of revenge.

These are some of the convictions expressed by F. H. Weber, a native of Munster, Westphalia, Germany, who served in the flying corps of the German army during the Great War, in a chat with an Examiner reporter to-day. Speaking quietly with a pronounced accent which made understanding of his speech difficult at times, he spoke modestly with the intelligence of an educated observer. He came to Canada six years ago and has secured naturalization papers Although he is not entirely out of sympathy with the Nazi regime, he declares that he has no desire to return to his Fatherland as long as present conditions exist.

Youth in Saddle.

Of a trim, athletic build, Mr. Weber is a reminder of the fact that among the millions who fought for their Fatherland believing their cause to be the just one, was the same fine type of youth which was to be found in any of the other armies. He is forty-two years of age, but, mindful of the youthful generation which is in the saddle in Germany to-day, he refers to himself as an old-timer. He is visiting Peterborough as captain of the yacht Alvi of Toronto, which has been anchored at the George Street Wharf during the past several days.

Hitler is all right, Mr. Weber asserted. The trouble is that the radical element in his organization is not content to give him the proper chance to shape things up. Hitler is an idealist and is striving for the happiness and contentment of the German people. He realizes as readily as anyone else that world peace is essential to happiness. If the German nation were not behind Hitler they would have overthrown him many months ago, he said.

If the nation is satisfied with Hitlerism, Mr. Weber was asked, why does the government find it necessary ot maintain a reign of terrorism, and to suppress free speech and the freedom of the press?

Conditions in Germany are exaggerated greatly by the foreign press, the former airman replied Undoubtedly the government has found it necessary to keep a close eye on the press and restrict public speech, but those are measures which have to be taken when any new movement of a radical nature is getting under way he opined. From his contact with relatives and friends in Germany he has heard no evidence of any general system of terrorism. If Hitler succeeds in stamping out the unruly forces of radicals who have been striving for power in the last few weeks, he will endeavor to lead his country onward to peaceful, industrious prosperity, Mr. Weber declared confidently.

Are Intentions Peaceful?

What about the constant marching of millions of German children, youth and adults in the countless semi-military organizations which Germany boasts Can Hitler's intentions be really peaceful when he approves that sort of mass training?

"Well, what about it?" Mr. Weber retorted. "In Canada we have great bands of Boy Scouts, large numbers of Cadets in the Public and High Schools, and a network of permanent and non-permanent military forces. The newspapers don't give these organizations much attention in Canada, so we think nothing of it. If military training is more general in Germany than in Canada it is because the Germans are a very thorough people, and when they do anything they do it right."

The German people do not want to fight any more than anybody else, he continued. They do not want ever to go to war again with Great Britain and the United States, but a hatred of the French persists and the masses still feel in their hearts that they have a debt of revenge to collect from France. France is responsible for this feeling, he argued. The Germans offered to let bygones be bygones after the war, but the French set out to kick them to death once they were down. If France would turn around and be friendly during the next few years, the German hate would likely disappear, he said.

Flight Instructor.

Mr. Weber served as a flight instructor in the famous Bavarian squadron which Hermann Goering, Hitler's right-hand man of to-day, commanded. Speaking of the war, he said that not a man who fought in the German army believes that the Gemans were actually defeated on the field of battle. They are confident that if it had not been for the lack of food and military supplies at the front and the revolution at home they could have forced the collapse of France before the end of 1918, he related.

"Nobody won the war. We Germans realized the futility of the whole affair just as everyone else did. Now that it is all over, we see some of the countries that fought with the Allies suffering even greater after-effects of the war than Germany. The entire business was a result of the stupid bungling of the incompetent statesmen in control in Europe."

Mr. Weber has a very simple solution for the war problem.

"Take a hundred of the big fellows at the head of each of the nations going to war, and put them in a ring to fight it out among themselves. Allow free admission for the ordinary people so they can see how quickly the 'big shots' sit down and begin to talk peace."

60,000,000 In German Audience Trying To Decide Which Is Villain And Which Is Hero In Political Moving Picture

Herman Goering | Emil Robert Ley | Franz von Papen | Joseph Goebbels | Paul von Hindenburg | Adolf Hitler

So many garbled reports are coming out of Germany that the complete story of the uprising in the Reich will probably never be known. One report places the executed at 500, others much less; another report says Hindenburg "is showing his iron hand", while a contradictory statement reports him suffering from a stroke, resigning and turning over the presidency to ex-Chancellor Franz von Papen, who is reported being held as a hostage by the Hitler Nazis. With all these garbled reports, the outside world knows more of the tragic happenings than the German people, a strict press censorship muzzling all but the briefest mention. Foreign interpretive correspondents see in the revolution the beginning of the end for Adolf Hitler, chancellor of the German Reich, and dictator of the nation. The men shown in the layout are the chief figures in the news. Reading from LEFT to RIGHT: Hermann Goering, prime minister of Prussia and chief Hitler aide, is reported to succeed Franz von Papen as vice-chancellor; Emil Ley, labor "czar", who threatened to call a strike of 20,000,000 German workers as a protest against any attempt at Hohenzollern restoration; Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen, reported in custody of Nazis, mentioned elsewhere as successor to dying Hindenburg as president. He is a monarchist and brought the present crisis to a head by a speech attacking Nazi policies. Joseph Goebbels, minister of "propaganda and enlightenment," who, it is reported, is to be shorn of some of his power by Hitler. He leads the more radical element in the Reich. President Paul von Hindenburg, 85-year-old hero, monarchist, and up to now, at least, an apparent supporter of Hitler, is reported once as approving Hitler's executions and purgings, and again, as ready to hand over the reigns of government. Last, but by no means least, the humble house-painter, the hysterical Adolf Hitler, who is personally leading attacks on suspected revolutionaries within the party ranks, giving them a three-minute court-martial, then ordering their execution, regardless of their protestations.

Early Indications Are That Tourist Season Will Be Best In Several Years—Resorts Busy

Early indications are that the Kawartha Lakes and whole Trent system will enjoy better tourist business this season than for some years past. It is reported from various summer resorts throughout the district that thus far the season is far ahead of last year.

J. J. Dorris, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, which is headquarters for much of the tourist business of the district, informed The Examiner that many more inquiries from Americans who are planning to spend their holidays in the Kawarthas have reached his office this year than last. "It appears that many Americans are planning to holiday in Ontario and are particularly interested in the attractions of the Kawarthas," he said. "From the number of inquiries we have received it is indicated that more tourists will come to this district."

Business at the summer resorts really sprang into its stride last week. The hotel at South Beach reports a large number of guests, while the Burleigh Falls Fishing Club also had an auspicious opening week. Other well-known resorts have had their share of the early business.

American cars have been dotting the city's streets for the past week, although their number does not approach those here during the boom years. Merchants report that the tourist business is much better than last summer.

Along the Otonabee River and Rice Lake resort owners state that the action of the Government in permitting fishing for pickerel from boats earlier than last year has been a big help to their business. Fishing is reported to be good throughout the district, and returning tourists appear to be well satisfied.

CENTRAL BANK AWAITS HEAD

Cabinet Soon to Set Up Legislation for Marketing.

PREMIER PLANS HOLIDAY.

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP)—Cabinet Council entered yesterday upon the task of building up the necessary machinery to carry out the involved proposals authorized by legislation at the Parliamentary session just closed. The set-up of the marketing legislation, the farm debt relief scheme, and the central bank will all be matters of immediate consideration.

Quick Action Expected

It is understood that establishment of a central bank will be delayed only so long as it takes to secure men with the necessary qualifications to head it. Undoubtedly the first Governor will be imported from Great Britain since it has been made clear on more than one occasion that it would be extremely difficult if not impossible to find a Canadian to fill the post.

It is possible, if a Canadian banker of the right type can be induced to head the new bank, he will be sent to London and other centres where central banks are in operation in order to study methods, so that the desire to keep the staff purely Canadian may be realized.

In the meantime a great deal of the groundwork has been accomplished and Finance Department officials will form the nucleus of the personnel. In some quarters it is felt that only the services of a technical adviser will have to be secured from abroad.

Marketing Action Soon

Numerous inquiries are pouring in to the various departments with respect to the marketing and debt adjustment legislation and no time will be lost in implementing these measures, it was stated to-day.

Cabinet Council will meet again to-day, after which Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will depart for Calgary for a fortnight's absence. It is understood Right Hon. Sir George Perley will be Acting Prime Minister during Mr. Bennett's absence.

It's Air Golf But Looks Like Sure Suicide

Washington sportsmen-aviators thrill U.S. capital with a new game—"air golf"—played by pilots in their aeroplane. Airmen fly over each hole on the course, dropping the ball. Then they land, hole out with regulation clubs. This is done nine times on a nine-hole course at College Park airport. Photo shows a pilot dropping the ball on the ninth green and Mrs. George Brinkerhoff putting with her partner-pilot-husband watching her play. The game has plenty of thrills.

G3 IS HERE

A NEW
ALL-WEATHER TIRE
TO MEET NEW DRIVING DEMANDS

Cars with double the power! Cars able to do 80 to 90 miles per hour easily! Cars with far bigger and more powerful brakes! But what about tires?

The new cars were wearing out tires too fast. Not only ordinary tires—but Goodyears, too. Goodyear knew its tires were better than ever—the finest the industry produced—yet even they were not up to expectations.

What was to be done? There had to be a new kind of tire—to keep pace with the swift advance in car mechanism. Goodyear put this problem up to its engineers: "Build a tire that can take all that the new cars can give, and more."

Then began months of tire building . . . testing . . . comparing . . . wearing out new kinds of tires on the road. One of the test tires—G-3—showed incredibly little wear.

"TRY TO WEAR OUT G-3"—came the order.

Running 24 hours a day—week after week—test cars mauled G-3 over every sort of road. Speeding up to 50 and slamming on the brakes . . . speeding up to 50 and slamming on the brakes . . . keeping it up day and night. That was the means Goodyear adopted to see if G-3 would "take it." Car brakes had to be re-adjusted every 8 hours, relined every 72 hours. The cars themselves were almost wrecked. Drivers were exhausted. But G-3 kept rolling along!

G-3, the marvel tire which came through road tests that no other tire could stand, is now in dealers' hands.

Replacing the previous All-Weather, the G-3 has a new and perfected All-Weather tread.

It is a BIGGER tire with broader, flatter tread, containing an average of 2 pounds more rubber per tire. Each size looks like a size larger.

There are more non-skid blocks nested closer together to provide better, safer traction and to reduce wear, caused by "squirming" and "cupping" under pressure. The riding ribs are wider for longer wear and quiet running. There is at least 25% more safe tread wear in G-3 than in the previous All-Weather tread, which for 19 years in a row was first choice tire of all Canada.

Of course G-3 costs us a lot more to build, but it doesn't cost you one penny more than ordinary tires. See G-3 at any Goodyear dealer's today.

GOODYEAR "G3"
ALL WEATHER TREAD

FOR 40 YEARS JOE REYNOLDS HAS DRIVEN BUS

Native Son of Bobcaygeon Noted Character in British Columbia.

DAY OF TRUMPETS.

Joe Reynolds, native son of Bobcaygeon, is the subject of a feature story in a recent issue of the Vancouver Sun.

According to Bob Bouchette, the writer of the article, "for forty years Joe has been taking visitors to Vancouver on tours of the city. It was forty years ago that he first took his stand at the Hotel Vancouver and you can still see him there today. He runs the big sightseeing bus."

To Joe the business of weather-watching is a practical business. It means hard cash to him. He has been watching the weather for forty years. It is one of his chief concerns.

These Mountains

"I don't always hit it right," says Joe; "nobody could, including the Weather Man. It's those mountains across the inlet that upset all calculations. A change in weather comes upon you before you know it."

We started to talk about the earliness of the season. All nature in this part of the world seemed to have taken a fortnight's headstart, it appeared.

"I have been forty years in this game," said Joe, "and I have never seen anything to equal it. No, sir, not in forty years has there been such an early summer and, believe me, if there had been I would remember it.

Here 46 Years

Joe was born in Bobcaygeon, Ontario, but he came out here with his father and mother when he was 13 years old. That was 46 years ago.

Joe Reynolds, Sr., was a bandmaster. He headed the civic band, which used to parade the street, dispensing sweet sounds, whenever something important was going on.

I used to carry my father's violin when he was marching to the Vancouver Opera House with the band," said Joe. "Naturally, he couldn't head the band and carry his violin at the same time. I used to like it because I'd march right into the theatre and see the show for nothing."

Joe's eyes were reminiscent.

"They tell me that my father's violin—I still have it—is a Stradivarius, but I'm not so sure. They can fake these things so that even the experts can't tell. I took this one to an expert in Seattle and he couldn't detect any forgery, but still I'm not sure.

Day of Trumpets

Joe began weather watching and meeting visitors when he was only 16 years old. He drove a hack then, and his stand was the Hotel Vancouver, as it is today.

"After the hacks," said Joe, "I had the tally ho. We used to drive about the street blowing a trumpet. The last of the tally ho was around 1916. Since then it's been motor buses."

I asked Joe if he liked the motor bus as well as the horse-drawn version.

"Oh, no," and he eyed his sightseeing bus mournfully, "you can't talk to that. Give me a team of four horses any time."

Joe gazed at a sky of unmarred blue.

"It's greeat weather all right," he said, "great weather. "It's juct the right weather for lacrosse."

He sighed. Joe, you may recall, was captain of the old Vancouver Lacrosse Club, and his heart is still in the game.

"No sir," he repeated, "I've never seen a season to equal it. Not in 40 years. And we may have to wait another 40 for another like it. Let's hope not."

Reich-Switzerland Press War Looms

BERLIN, July 6 (CP.)—A "newspaper war" between the Reich and little Switzerland was threatened today unless the German Government allows its subjects to buy and read Swiss journals.

Circulation of foreign newspapers has increased tremendously since the "second revolution" last Saturday. Germans want to know really what has been going on in their own country and what foreigners think about it all.

Paul Dinichert, Swiss Minister here, protested that he, an accredited diplomat, is prevented from reading his favorite newspaper. He told Nazi officials that unless the situation is remedied he will see to it that the German Minister at Berne is deprived of his customary papers.

This reprisal failing, Dinichert said he will propose to his home government that all German newspapers be excluded from Switzerland, where about 140,000 Germans now live.

PEACOCK'S HINT STIRS UP KING

Liberal Leader Says Next Gov't of Canada Will Not be National One

NOR TORY EITHER.

OTTAWA, July 6 (C.P.)—At the Dominion Day banquet in London Sir Edward Peacock, well known Canadian financier is reported as saying:

"We found it possible in this country to work together in the interest of the state. Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have done the same, but Canada alone lags behind. In Canada in my view, the two chief parties should for a while forget party differences and devote themselves to better understanding and to co-operation that is necessary. If they fail to do so the progress of Canada cannot fail to be retarded."

This statement became the subject of an exchange between Premier R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, in the House of Commons on the closing day of the session. It was duly carried by the Canadian Press. In the same connection Mr. King issued the following statement:

"There are many in Canada who will be inclined to believe that the plea that a national government was necessary to a solution of Canada's problems owed its inspiration to Canada's high commissioner in London. At whose Dominion Day dinner Sir Edward Peacock made his remarks. Be that as it may, there is one thing certain, and that is the next government of Canada will not be a National Government, nor a Conservative Government, nor will it be a government formed at the suggestion of British financial interests not even those of Baring Bros. or the Bank of England or any of their directors."

Through the misunderstanding which the Canadian Press regrets this statement was not carried in its report of Tuesday.

Women of England may be trained to prepare for gas raids.

Many public improvements have been started in Mexico this year.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person (address furnished upon request).

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

JOSEPH MURPHY IS BADLY HURT

Hungerford Township Man Suffers Fractured Shoulder in Car Crash.

SIX OTHERS HURT.

TWEED, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — Joseph Murphy, Hungerford Township, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, suffered a fractured shoulder, numerous bruises and abrasions in an auto accident just north of the village at Meraw's Hill, shortly after 7.30 p.m. on Tuesday night. Murphy was attended by Dr. Doyle, who ordered his immediate removal to Belleville General Hospital, where x-rays were taken.

Six other passengers in the car, Mrs. John Murphy, Miss Monica Murphy, Miss Courneaya, Misses Claire, and Margaret LeSage and Stanton Cassidy suffered from a severe shaking up although their injuries were not serious.

Mr. Murphy, who was driving the car, was proceeding across Highway No. 37 and Mr. George Champagne was going north. The turn is a particularly dangerous one and it is alleged the latter did not see the Murphy car until he was over the hill. The Murphy auto was struck near the rear wheel and was somewhat badly damaged. The other car also met with some damage in the crash.

Provincial Officer Ted Hill of Madoc was called to the scene.

While returning from work on the highway north of Tweed on Thursday evening, Mr. Isaiah Woodcock was accidentally knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Russell Lucas. Apart from a severe shaking up and minor cuts about the face, Mr. Woodcock was not seriously injured. His bicycle, however was a wreck from the mishap.

been invited to the front of the hall, Mary Burnham read an appreciative address, and Dorothy Nattress, on behalf of the pupils of the school, presented Mr. Jordan with a handsome travelling kit fitted entirely in ebony; Mrs. Jordan was remembered with a lovely sheaf of roses offered by daintily-attired little Marie Finn. Mr. Smith's gift was a combined cigarete holder and lighter, Madeline McDowell reading the address, and Helen Mitchell making the presentation. The pleasant surprise was acknowledged by the recipients in their words of thanks, mention also being made of personal regret at leaving the Millbrook school, and community, and the many happy memories that would be carried to the new homes.

L. W. Smith spoke briefly on behalf of the school board, and Rev. William Simpson, B.A., rector of St. Thomas' church, on behalf of the local clergy. Pupils who spoke as representatives or the three forms of the Continuation School included Alvin Widdis and Will Patterson. The singing of "They are jolly good fellows," and the National Anthem compreted this part of the evening, and a dance, with music by the Serenaders, was enjoyed before the gathering broke up.

Additional youth hostels for hikers are being opened in Scotland.

CHURCH PACKED TO DOORS

The People's Church, Bloor street, was packed to capacity one night this week, and hundreds stood on the street outside, when the dedication service was held for Benny K. Wilson's "Church on Wheels."

Mr. Wilson, old Peterborough boy, self-styled "street preacher," conducts services in the open air, using his portable church mounted on an automobile chassis, and delivers his messages to the crowds by means of a loud speaker system on the car.

Sacred Heart Social Tuesday Evening

A large section of this community will be pleased to learn that the annual lawn social and supper of Sacred Heart Church will be held this year on Tuesday next, July 10. As usual year by year, many have been eagerly looking forward to this event as one big evening when they can enjoy to the fullest measure lawn social entertainment for young and old that leaves nothing to be desired.

Next Tuesday will see the 25th social sponsored by Sacred Heart Parish, and unquestionably hundreds of men, woman and children will have a real jolly time on the roomy and pleasant grounds at the south end of the church. Extensive preparations are already under way that no detail shall be overlooked to make this a record-breaking social both in attractions, supper and attendance.

Booths will be erected and gaily decorated for the sale of fancy and useful clothing and household articles, ice cream, candy and soft drinks.

The juniors are to be remembered also, with a specially-constructed fish pond for their entertainment.

The grounds will be brilliantly illuminated, and a first-class band will be in attendance.

The small admission fee of 25c for adults and 15c for children will include a deliciously tasty hot supper.

The drawing for the regular prizes given in connection with this annual social will take place later on in the week.

Don't forget the time or place or date, Tuesday, July 10th, on the grounds of the Sacred Heart Church.

HITLER NEARLY SHOT BY NAZI

Intervention of an Aid Saved Chancellor From Former Friend's Bullet.

DURING BIG RAID.

By RUDOLPH JOSTEN
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BRESLAU, Germany, July 6.—(A. P.)—Chancelolr Hitler, it was revealed to-day, barely escaped assassination Saturday at the hand of Edmund Heines, one of those whom Hitler tried to arrest at Ernest Roehm's home near Munich.

Only through determined and timely intervention of one of the Chancellor's aides, who shot and killed Heines when the latter ran up to Hitler with a revolver, was disaster to the Chancellor averted, it was revealed.

The story was told to a United States' citizen residing here by a friend of Heine's, who was said to be absolutely reliable. Heines was chief of police of Breslau and a prominent Nazi.

Some Fisherman

"Billy" Jones, 8-year-old son of Captain William Jones of the City Fire Department, can teach his dad a thing or two about fishing. Using a fifteen-cent bamboo pole for a rod and a length of crocheting cotton (from his mother's work basket) for a line, the little fellow accompanied his father to the canal yesterday on the captain's day off duty.

Before Jones Sr. had time to even bait his hook, Jones Jr had hooked a nice bass with the minnow bait he was using. The fish, tipping the scales at 4 pounds 11 ounces, had a length of 20 inches and a girth measurement of 15 inches.

Big Responsibility Rests on License Examiner

250 APPLICANTS PASSED YEARLY BY LOCAL MAN

As Examiner Harold Dunford Insists on High Standard of Efficiency.

MANY DIFFERENT TYPES

Sweet Young Thing Recently Expected to Undergo Physical Examination.

Automobile driving license examiner in this city and district ever since motorists of this province have been required to have driving permits and chauffeur's licenses, Harold Dunford has an appointment under the Highways Department, which he discharges most conscientiously. Last year he put the stamp of approval on about 250 applicants for driving licenses and the number this year promises to average out somewhere on the same level.

Not all would-be motor drivers who go to Mr. Dunford for the necessary test are qualified. Many of them are repeaters. As examiner, he insists on a high standard of efficiency in the operation of a motor vehicle, particularly so in the case of applicants for chauffeur's licenses.

A Big Responsibility

As proof of Mr. Dunford's awareness of the moral responsibility which would be his in granting a license to one whom he did not consider to be fully qualified, it is related that recently an applicant presented himself for examination after only twenty-five minutes of driving instruction. Needless to say he did not get his license that trip.

The applicant who had just purchased a brand new car from a dealer, readily agreed that the license examiner would be assuming a grave moral responsibility in granting a license under such conditions. But was the dealer peeved!

Mr. Dunford's job as examiner has its funny side too. Recently a sweet young thing presented herself at the door, bashfully murmured something about having been sent up from the Chamber of Commerce by the license issuer for an examination, and inquired if "Dr. Dunford" was in. She had anticipated a physical instead of a mechanical examination. And was her face red?

Contrary Minded

Then of course he runs into the almost unbelievably gullible type of person, who has been stuffed with a lot of nonsense by smart aleck friends beforehand. When the examiner tells that type of person to stop they step on the gas; when he tells them to turn right they swing left, and so on. You don't believe it, eh? But Mr. Dunford can vouch for it.

Another type of applicant is the nervous individual, who through sheer nervousness stalls the car upon the least provocation and then blames it upon faulty mechanism. He usually hears such excuses as, "That's a terribly fierce clutch. I had it in the garage today and they don't seem to have fixed it right."

The Know All Type

And yet another type of applicant, is the individual who thinks he knows it all. As an instance, Mr. Dunford once had a reverend gentleman out for a test, who volubly deplored the lack of commonsense displayed by some drivers in backing a car without looking where they are going. Came the portion of the test where the cleric was requested by the license examiner to back the car. He did so—blindly to all intents, and after being told to stop was requested to get out of the car and see what he had been backing into. To his dismay the gentleman of the cloth saw that the rear wheels of the car hovered on the brink of a ditch that had been dug across the roadway, and that might well have served as a grave had it not been for the vigilance of his mentor and examiner.

WESTWOOD

WESTWOOD, July 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—The July meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Margaret Comstock. There was a good attendance of members, and a number of visitors and a profitable and enjoyable afternoon was spent.

The meeting was in charge of the President, Miss Jessie Davidson, who was assisted in the devotional exercises by Mrs. Metcalfe, who led in prayer and Mrs. J. Clysdale, who gave a reading entitled, "At The Cross".

The date of the annual quilting party was set for Wednesday afternoon, July 11th, to be held on the church lawn. A pleasing duet "Little Deeds," by Mrs. G. Faux and Mrs. A. Fleming, was much appreciated.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, of Hastings, the Presbyterial Missionary Monthly Secretary was present and addressed the meeting in the interests of the Missionary Magazine.

The topic of the meeting was Temperance and special and appropriate readings were given by Miss Mary Cameron Mrs. S. Elmhirst, Miss J. Davidson and Mrs. D. N. Cameron.

A hymn, and prayer by Mrs. John Hope, brought the meeting to a close. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, and a vote of thanks and appreciation was tendered her.

Brilliant Scene As Astor Weds

A brilliant scene, attended by prominent social leaders, to say nothing of thousands of "uninvited guests" who lined the streets, was the wedding of John Jacob Astor III, multi-millionaire to titian-haired Ellen Tuck French. The couple are seen here after the wedding at Newport, Rhode Island, posed at the church door.

The vegetable omelet is a fine dish to make when unexpected company comes to lunch. It's a very good idea to keep cans of mixed vegetables, as for soup and salad, in assorted sizes, on your pantry shelf for just such emergencies.

Today's Recipes

Vegetable Omelet.—Make a French omelet of four eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, few grains pepper and four tablespoons milk. Meanwhile have ready a white sauce made of one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour and three-fourths cup milk. Add one eight-ounce can drained vegetables for salad, season with salt and pepper and heat thoroughly. Spread this over half the omelet before folding. Serves four liberally.

Coconut Cookies.—One-fourth cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoon lemon juice, one-half cup milk, and and one-half cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two cups grated fresh coconut. Cream shortening, add sugar, beaten egg and lemon juice. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Add alternately with milk. Lastly, add coconut. The batter should be quite stiff. Drop by small spoonful in well-greased pans, allowing space for spreading. Bake at 385 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes three dozen small cookies.

Torte.—Seven egg whites beaten stiff, two cups sugar, added very gradually; one teaspoon vanilla, one teaspoon vinegar. Mix in the order given. Butter cake tins, line with wax paper, and butter again. Bake in a very slow oven at 250 degrees for about 50 minutes. Remove from oven, turn over and remove paper immediately. Let cool. Spread whipped cream and chopped nuts between layers and on top. Place in refrigerator until ready to serve. This makes two large layers.

TWINS 2 DAYS APART

MACON, Ga., July 6 (CP)—Mrs. J. W. McDaniel is the mother of twins whose birthdays are two days apart. The first child, a girl, was born Tuesday, and the second, a boy, was born Thursday. The babies and Mrs. McDaniel are doing well.

Denmark recently extended government control of the trade in explosives, munitions and arms.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, July 5.—Many strange meetings take place in Hollywood and none was more dramatic than that of William von Brincken and Major Herbert O. Yardley. During the World War von Brincken was a German attache and was interned in San Francisco under suspicion of espionage. At that time, Major Yardley was a cryptograph expert in Washington.

The two were introduced on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, where von Brincken is now an actor and Yardley a writer.

When they had shaken hands, Yardley quipped:

"This is the first time I've met you, but I've read a lot of your letters."

IN ALL HOLLYWOOD

history, no film debut has been maneuvered more cautiously than that of Josephine Hutchinson. The red-haired actress, who first came to theocoast with Eva Le Gallienne's company, is the subject of endless experiment by the Warner Brothers make-up department. Already, Percy Westmore has tried 30 different hair dresses and 12 different make-ups upon the star. Each one of these is photographed in search of the ideal combination The studio will not put her into a picture, either, until just the right role comes along.

to see "Evangeline" join the parade of classics heading for the screen. Phillip Moeller, New York Theatre Guild director, now in Hollywood, wants to direct the Longfellow poem. He sees in it's simple, rural story the same appeal of "Little Women". His choice for Evangeline is a youthful R-K-O player, Virginia Reed. She is slender, blonde and of classic features.

Quite different from Delores Del Rio, who played the role in the old Edwin Carewe version.

"THE THIN MAN"

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer - Cosmopolitan picture which opens Friday at the Capitol Theatre, is one of the best unusual pictures to come out of Hollywood in many a long day.

A detective mystery, it presents William Powell in the finest and most amusing sleuthing role of his career, ably assisted by charming Myrna Loy as his wife, Nora.

The picture never lags in interest, keeps the audience on the edge of their seats every minute, and furnishes respite from the tension it gives to jaded nerves by a liberal sprinkling of humorous situations and dialogue.

Maureen O'Sullivan does well with her role as Dorothy, the daughter of the "Thin Man" who is responsible for all the mystery in the story.

An entirely new face in "The Thin Man" is Porter Hall, well known on the Broadway stage for his fine portrayals but yet unknown in pictures.

Minna Gombell, usually seen in comedy roles, appears in the new picture in a highly emotional part and puts it over in splendid order, while Nat Pendelton at last has become a law-abiding citizen in a police officer's character.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Hubert O'Hara,
Port Hope, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis illustrates splendid business ability, but it also shows that sometimes you do not concentrate quite sufficiently upon the ultimate outcome of your plans and propositions. You seem to rush ahead as though you had no time in which to segregate your thoughts, and then you commence with enthusiasm, but lose interest before the project at stake has had time for completion. Your capitals demonstrate this characteristic most emphatically, especially as your following letters grow smaller and uneven. In an argument, you can be most convincing and demonstrative. You have selling ability if you care to use this talent. You are diplomatic, impressive and carry yourself with an aristocratic air of refinement and deportment. You should appreciate artistic things, especially music and beautiful pictures. You have excellent taste for colors. You are fastidious as regards your own personal belongings.

Eva Smith,
Havelock, Ontario.

Strong Points: Your strong points as described in the writing are energy, sympathy, imagination and a kind-hearted understanding.

Weak Points: Impulsiveness, variable nature, inclined to change at a moment's notice, not a great deal of will power, but yet sufficient to carry you through from day to day.

Emotions: Easily upset by prevailing conditions, and deeply hurt through the feelings. Your friendly nature requires a lot of honest kindness.

Health: The health as noted does not appear to be of the best; there is a nervousness which seems to dominate you at times, and this prevents you from enjoying many good times.

Disposition: Subject to change, but trustworthy and adaptable. Your love-life, of course, is devout and sincere.

Temperament: Loving and forgiving, with an honest endeavour to help others at all times.

How to Succeed: Live your own life. Rest as much as possible; try not to over-do in any manner. Your type as a rule make excellent cooks and housekeepers.

Miss Blanche Storms,
R. R. No. 5, Peterborough, Ont.

Your handwriting was delineated on November the 23rd last year, and has not changed in the slightest degree, so there is no need for me to repeat it here. The delineation was expressed entirely with a desire to help you to realize the good that there is in your nature, and I sincerely hope that it accomplished its purpose, for many times I try very hard to 'lift people up' when I see discouragement in the handwriting, and in this manner one is apt to believe that the delineation is 'too old' for the person for whom it is intended. You are quite young yet, and will have ample time in which to prove my statements, and I want you to sincerely develop every effort with that object in view. You will have to overcome impulsiveness, and try to concentrate a lot more yet, if you are to realize the hopes and ambitions that I told you about. I had definitely expressed three lines of occupation from which you could choose a career. They were: nursing, literary endeavours and hairdressing. Your number is six. Your Sign Gemini The Twins. You are ruled by Mercury. Friday is your best day. April and August the two best months.

Helen Ruby Robertson,
Roseneath, Ont.

Your writing indicates a progressive mind, and I am sure, that although you are very young at present, that you will have no difficulty whatsoever in becoming successful later on. Your capital 'R's' show much promise and indicate reliable qualities. Keep up the good work and you will enjoy using your mental powers to the fullest capacity. Those expressive 't' bars represent very good will power and determination. Of course your disposition will change from time to time, but with youth, that is to be expected.

Your lucky number is nine, and you will find that persons whose number is odd like your own will be more friendly towards you than those who have an even number. Your birthsign is Aquarius The Man. You are ruled by Uranus. April and August are your most fortunate months, and Saturday should be your lucky day.

'SALADA' TEA

Your Health
By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

We mentioned yesterday some cases in which the sensations of hearing and sight were mixed up so that the subjects "heard" colors.

There are many other examples of mixed sensations as well as actions which could be mentioned. For instance, disturbance of the sense of touch is possible. One form of this is where a person handles one object and there is always a sense of two objects. For instance, the point of a pencil touched on the hand or finger is felt as two points.

Dr. Weir Mitchell reported, after his experience in the Civil war, that soldiers often misplaced the location of the pain of injuries. These cannot be called reflex disturbances, and they are most interesting. One person let an omnibus window fall on his finger, which caused violent pains in the face and neck on that side, but no pain in the finger. A soldier was wounded by a bullet in the knee, and felt the pain entirely in the elbow on the same side.

Dr. Mitchell also described the case of a naturalist who had a small mole on one leg which, if roughly rubbed or pinched, invariably caused a sharp pain in the chin.

Among the actions which are liable to interfere with each other are those peculiar reflex actions — sneezing, yawning and hiccuping. I had a patient once who consulted me for insomnia. She wanted to sleep, but every time she started to go to sleep she would begin to yawn, and the yawn would turn into a sneeze, which would wake her up. The condition went on for days, to the point of exhaustion, and was only stopped by administering a general anaesthetic.

Another patient, a girl 15 years old, had a tooth removed. An hour after, she began to yawn, and she continued to do this for five weeks. There was no pain and she was not uncomfortable but seemed very much amused at her condition. Attempts were made to stop the yawning with powerful sedatives, but they only succeeded in changing the yawning into sneezing. One paroxym followed another, with scarcely an interval for speech. She was chloroformed and the sneezing stopped, but was more violent on recovery. Finally, under the administration of bromides, at the end of five weeks, both the sneezing and the yawning stopped.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

B. C.: "What is your opinion of tablets or pills reputed to contain concentrated extracts of vitamins? Where could such pills be analyzed?"

Answer: Pills or capsules which claim to contain Vitamin D in the form of cod liver oil or halibut liver oil or viosterol are valuable. Pills for which the claim is made that they contain Vitamin A probably do contain it, but it is a matter of opinion whether the consumption of Vitamin A in this form is of any value. Most physicians believe it is not. Much the same can be said about Vitamin B preparations. I know of no Vitamin C preparations in pill form, but Vitamin C is very easy to obtain in fresh fruit. Analysis of material for vitamin content is very difficult to do, because we do not know the exact chemical construction of these substances. At most agricultural departments of universities they are equipped to make a few tests, at least for the presence of Vitamin D and Vitamin C.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation" "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

NO INVITATION.

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 6 (C.P. Cable via Reuter's). — The City of Melbourne to-day changed its mind about inviting Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald of the United Kingdom to visit here at the end of his Canadian tour on the ground Mr. Macdonald probably would be unable to make the trip.

Yesterday the city decided to ask the Prime Minister to attend the Melbourne and Victoria State centenary celebrations in October.

Vacation Needs All Cared For In This Group Of Smart Costume s

By LISBETH

You can march smartly clothed around the clock when on vacation if you include this group of garments in your wardrobe.

For instance, you arrive at your destination, and later shop or call in the steel blue linen suit shown worn by Drue Leyton, young screen actress, at the extreme right of the picture. This suit has a seperate pair of revers which detach themselves from the front panel. The normal revers are of white pique trimmed with a gardenia in the same fabric.

The belt and cuff band buttons are of blue composition and octagonally shaped. The jacket has a yoke, inverted pleats, and is belted in Norfolk fashion. The skirt is pleated in back only, and the blouse is of white pique with a grosgrain bow. The tricorne has also is steel blue fabric trimmed with a white pique cockade. White tiered purse and blue shoes and gloves complete this cool looking ensemble.

For mornings—and afternoons, too, if you wish—on the beach or on shipboard, you have your choice of the two costumes in the center of the picture. Sylvia Sidney, second from right, chooses a pair of white duck trousers, black and white checked linen blouse and black and white beach sandals. Notice the nautical wheel embroidered on her blouse.

Next to Sylvia, and firmly grasping a mast, is Evelyn Venable wearing cream colored flannel slacks with a chic double-breasted brown flannel sports coat. A visored beret is worn with this suit.

And now it's dinner time and milady slips into her evening dress. How do you like the simple but ultra smart one worn by Loretta Young, left? It is a powder blue, beaded gown, showing the figure by its close fitting skirt and high waistline. An oval neckline drops easily over the shoulders and forms a deep horseshoe shape in the back. The braided double belt and edging for the neck is distinctive.

And now to bed. And that's not a hardship when you adjust the pale blue silk crepe nightgown shown second from left and worn by Genevieve Tobin. The gown is accordion pleated with bands of blue criss-crossing to form the neck. Soft folds of the material are fastened at the shoulders to make the sleeves.

Despite the threatening sky about 40 members and friends of St. Paul's Ladies' Aid motored to the summer cottage of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, for a picnic. It turned out to be an ideal and most enjoyable day in every sense of the word, one long to be remembered.

Master Billy Hall proved himself to be a most capable and thoughtful host to the children.

The adults in their pretty summer frocks strolled through the woods and among the flower beds, drinking in the ozone and beauty of the setting. After partaking of a most sumptuous repast story telling was enjoyed for a half hour, the honors being equally divided between the host and Mr. William Lyburne. In the evening the canoes motor boats and skiffs were brought into service when young and old enjoyed the beauties of our Otonabee.

Evening shadows crept in, then all gathered around a huge fire and community singing was enjoyed led by Mr. John Anderson. Alas, too quickly sped the hours and departure was at hand A well chosen vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Marsh, seconded by Mrs. Lyburne for the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Hall in making this annual event such a huge success. Mr. Hall replied in his usual affable manner. After singing Auld Lang Sang, and God Save The King they reluctantly bade adieu to the host and hostess, feeling somewhat as Carrie Jacobs-Bond must have felt when she penned those memorable words, "When You Come To The End Of A Perfect Day."

Fruits were grown in California in the time of the Spanish possession but outside the missions there were few serious attempts at horticulture

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

So often spices are associated in our minds with hot foods that we are apt to use them only for cold weather cookery. However, not all spices are "peppery". Even spicy gingerbread has an after-cooling effect. Try this recipe to prove it. It is not a rich cake. Bran is used to improve color and flavor and to all the fiber, minerals and vitamins of the outercoatings.

• • • • • • •

BRAN GINGERBREAD

1-3 cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 egg (well beaten), ½ cup molasses, 1 cup bran, 1½ cups flour, ½ tsp. salt, 1½ tsps. ginger, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. soda, ½ cup buttermilk or sour milk. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, molasses and bran. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 30 to 40 minutes. Yield: 12 servings (1 cake 8 by 8 inches).

• • • • • • •

HINDU RICE KRISPIES

Instead of salted nuts for your summer luncheon or dinner party. The recipe comes from the home of spices.

2 tbsps. butter, 1 tsp. mustard seeds, ½ tsp. curry powder, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. cinnamon, speck of pepper, ½ box rice krispies, 1 cupful fresh salted peanuts. Melt butter, add mustard seeds and cook until they begin to pop. Add the other seasonings, the rice krispies and peanuts. Stir constantly until the rice krispies and peanuts are thoroughly heated. Spices are good in many fruit and milk beverages. Cloves or a little ginger in tea is not new, but have you tried spices in coffee? If caffeine-free coffee is used, the beverage is wholesome for young and old alike.

SPICED ICED COFFEE

6 cups double strength decaffeinated coffee, 20 whole cloves, 5-inch stick of cinnamon, 1 cup powdered sugar. To hot freshly made coffee add cloves and cinnamon. BIARRITZ, France, July 6.—(A. P.)—Another search for a hoard of gold presumably buried by pirates on the Cocos Islands in the Indian ocean is to be made by Col. John Edwards Leckie, Canadian explorer, it was announced here to-day. ....

Funds to finance the romantic expedition were raised in England.

Colonel Leckie plans to sail to the islands in the Queen of Scots, a yacht owned by Anthony Drexel of Philadelphia, who has a villa here. The vessel has been chartered and the explorer plans to leave soon.

Col. Leckie in 1932 was credited with having found the hidden treasure of ancient buccaneers on the Cocos Islands. There is a widespread belief that all of the gold has not yet been recovered.

Maureens Hair's Naturally Curly, But You Can Reset Waves in Locks

The lovely Maureen O'Sullivan, in her recent cinematic role as Tarzan's mate, did considerable swimming under water. Maureen naturally didn't wear a bathing cap in her swimming scenes. Bathing caps are practically unknown articles in the wilds of Africa. But this lass didn't have to worry much about her coiffure. Her locks are naturally curly, you know. And all she had to do was to push up her hair a bit after each soaking, in order to put the waves into their usual flawless formation.

As I told you yesterday, when the average gal goes swimming and gets her hair soaked, it is advisable that she rinse her locks thoroughly afterward, in order to remove the hard lake or ocean water. But so many damsels are afraid that if they do this, they'll ruin their waves. And waves seem to be actual necessities to the mermaid of 1934 vintage.

Of course, no damsel can stand under a shower after she's had her permanent or natural wave set, and expect it to look just as well after the rinsing. The thing she can do, however, is to press the waves back in her hair after she's rinsed it. And with a bit of practice, she should become quite expert at resetting her own tresses.

In the actual setting of the hair after it has been rinsed, first place your middle finger in the position where you wish your first wave to be, and press it firmly against your head. Then place your comb in your hair close to your finger, and bring the hair forward toward your forehead in a graceful dip. Pinch the resulting ridge between your middle and index fingers to make it more pronounced. After the first ridge has been completed, place your middle finger directly below it and comb your hair toward the back of your head. Pinch the second ridge in the same manner as the first. Continue this for the entire length of your hair. If you wish to curl up theends, twist them into tiny circles and insert hairpins to hold them in place. Then permit your hair to dry thoroughly. And when it's dry and you comb it, you'll find your waves just as perfect as they were before your swim!

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Superfluous Hair

Martha: The superfluous hair bleach to which you refer is composed of two teaspoons of peroxide and half a teaspoon of ordinary household ammonia.

Broad Face

Lil S.: When applying your rouge, blend it in toward your nose. This will help to make your face appear more slender. Also part your hair on the side, fluff it softly about your face, and keep it flat over your ears.

Weight

Betts: I think that a girl five feet five inches tall and 22 years of age, should weigh about 129 pounds.

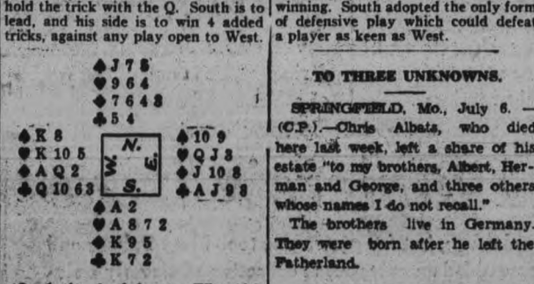
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A 12-CARD PROBLEM.

West is the declarer. The contract is 3-no trumps. The opening lead was the 4 of spades. South was allowed to hold the trick with the Q. South is to lead, and his side is to win 4 added tricks, against any play open to West.



Lead the 2 of hearts. Win with West's 10. Lead the Q of clubs. Win with South's K. Lead the ace and 8 of hearts. Win with the K of hearts. Run off 3 club tricks. It does not matter what North discards. Diamonds are his best discards. South will twice follow suit in clubs, then he must discard his 2 of spades.

Having taken the 3 club tricks, lead the J of diamonds. It does not matter whether or not South covers. He may as well put up his K on the first lead of that suit through him. The declarer will win 3 diamond tricks. Only 2 more tricks have to be played. The declarer holds only the 10-9 of spades. What North holds does not matter. South has left only the ace of spades and a good heart. The last 2 tricks must go to South. He already has won 1 trick in spades and 1 trick in clubs and a trick with the ace of hearts. The 2 tricks now coming to him will make a total of 5, defeating the contract by the only means possible against perfect offensive play by West.

Had South won the first spade trick with the ace, then led back the Q of that suit, West would have let South hold the trick. West would have won the third spade trick, after South had no more of that suit to lead. This play by South would have given his side 2 spade tricks, 1 club trick and 1 heart trick, enabling West to go game.

Had West won the first spade trick, by taking South's Q with his K, he never could have gone game. When South won the first lead of clubs with his K, South would have led his ace of spades, followed by a low spade, and North would have won 2 spade tricks. Three spade tricks, 1 club trick and 1 heart trick would have defeated the game contract.

West adopted the only type of offensive play which stood a chance of winning. South adopted the only form of defensive play which could defeat a player as keen as West.

Bachelors and Childless Parents Heavily Taxed in Italy

HOW TO KILL WITHOUT SINNING TAUGHT CHILDREN OF FASCISM IN PLAN TO RAISE BIG ARMIES

Mussolini Organizes Both Boys and Girls—Bachelors Taxed.

CHILDLESS PARENTS PAY

Children Taught to Forget Fine Arts and Philosophical Education.

Mussolini, as supreme ruler of Italy and Fascism, wants to build the children of Italy into a strong, obedient, military race. He is convinced that Italy will one day be forced to fight for her existence. To that purpose boys are trained for the army, girls to become the mothers of future armies. This series of articles on Fascism and Italy, of which this is the fifth, are summarized by Central Press Canadian exclusively for The Examiner.

Il Duce is almost fanatically desirous of building for Italy a large population. The state slaps special taxes on bachelors (they rose from $200,000 in 1926-27 to $6,800,000 in 1933-34 estimates). The state gives cash prizes to newly-weds on Mothers' and Infants' Day (12,300 last December 24). The state taxes childless couples heavily, and lowers the taxes or drops them altogether for government workers supporting ten. Government workers also get monthly doles ranging from fifty cents to $7.50 per child, depending on the age of the child and class of work. For big families (i.e., something like seven children) under various conditions, rents and carfares and rates for gas and electricity are reduced, and free medical service, schoolbooks, and poor relief are provided.

Finally, it is needless to say that Il Duce and the Roman church stand shoulder to shoulder in the war on birth control and abortion.

Child Education.

Now the children are born. Next, the state begins their ardent Fascist education. Today the primary schools have more than 4,500,000 pupils out of a possible total of about 4,800,000. Here the small Italian is first instilled with the proud fever of Fascism. Each Italian school child gets one of four common readers. These glossy, handsome books are printed in bold type and filled with smartly painted pictures in vivid colors—real bijoux of design—showing all sorts of Italian glories from the flowers in the Italian fields to the latest models of Italian fighting seaplanes. In these irresistible books the small Italian first learns to read. And here are samples of his reading matter:

"I am an Italian, how fortunate!"

"Tell me, dady, did you know the soldiers who died in the war, whose names are inscribed on the monument?"

"Certainly."

"And who killed them?"

"Our enemies, the Austrians and the Germans."

When to Kill

"There are three cases in which to kill is not a sin....necessary defence....war proclaimed by the legitimate authorities.....capital punishment, also sanctioned...."

"God bless you and give you male children!"

"You....must know that if the little girls did not love their dolls so dearly you would not have so many soldiers for war."

"When the wise man was asked: 'What is the highest virtue of a child?' he answered. 'Obedience.' 'And the second?' 'Obedience.' 'And the third?' 'Obedience'."

The child learns his arithmetic with figures from Fascist industry, his applied science from pages on Fascist machines, and his mind is steeped in Fascist history and heroism. But the constant theme is war and how great it is to be a good soldier. The book tells him:

"The children of Italy are called Balilla."

Organized Into Armies

The Balilla are strictly the young boys of Italy, aged eight to fourteen, who are trained in rigid army dicipline by Fascist officers. They are issued real small-sized rifles. This junior army was formed in 1926 and by a royal decree in 1928 all other juvenile asociations were abolished. Not all Italian boys are Balilla. But most of them are. In all Italian schools the teachers act as recruiting sergeants for the junior army, and in most schools a large part of the student body belongs. If a boy is poor, his equipment is given him free. Fascist propaganda and the presure of public opinion and the natural intoxication of small boys with military things are so strong that the Balilla now number more than 1,000,000. A roughly equal number of girls of belong to the Picole Italiane, a sporting, athletic, and disciplinary body for the future mothers of the race.

At the age of fourteen the good Balilla graduates into the Avanguardist (boys from fourteen to eighteen), and begins to study machine guns, aeroplanes, and the most modern tools of war.

Philosophy Forgotten

And in all Italy last year there were not more than 3,000 university students of letters and philosophy. That is a fact worth remembering; the state wants its men to have a hot, zealous obedience rather than the inquiring mind. There is no state propaganda for the life of scholarship, and last year there were only about 47,000 students in the Italian universities, of which some 22,000 were in the rather necessary studies of medicines and the law.

The state has established several national sports centres (there are huge stadiums at Rome and Milan and Florence and Bologna and Naples) where thousands of Italians spend their leisure hours in all kinds of athletics under expert coaching. Much of this exercise comes under the head of the National Dopolovaro (leisure time) Institution.

Forced Out of Cities

Il Duce is not getting his maximum birth rate. But he is getting millions of lusty young soldiers. He is making millions of Italians healthy and robust. In addition to the sporting and hygienic movements already described, Il Duce recommends that his people turn from the woefully crowded cities to the healthy country or to Italy's burning and desolate colonies. He helps them along by reclaiming the land and by slapping such taxes on the cities that it is difficult for the lower middle class, petty shopkeepers and tradesmen, to remain in them.

And, finally, Il Duce is regimenting his people—whether they are soldiers or not. It is obvious that all the groups we have mentioned—mothers, small boys and girls, adolescents, working people at leisure—serve two purposes. They serve their obvious purpose. And they serve the high common purpose of regimenting Italy; they are all Fascist propaganda of the subtlest persuasive sort. The realist Duce is giving his people daily, palpable gifts, gifts that cultivate them as strong Fascist bodies and zealous Fascist souls. His people are solidly behind him now, according to the Fortune finding.

In all these articles on Fascism and Italy, the name Mussolini has been mentioned many times. Who this man is, how he rose to power from a humble blacksmith's shop, was an ardent Marxist first then more ardent Fascist will be related in the sixth article. Watch for it tomorrow.

Girls In Italy Are Also Organized

Mussolini not only organizes the boys of Italy into military groups, he also concentrates on the girls, for whom he has established athletic and body-building organizations in order that these girls may be the mothers of a strong and virile race of warriors. The more male children born, the better, as far as Mussolini is concerned. So far, however, he has been unable to stop the continual drop in the birth rate.

Miss M. V. Buchanan, Formerly Manager for W. J. Kent, Opens Own Pharmacy.

OPPOSITE THE CLINIC

Miss Myrtle V. Buchanan, Phm B., announces the opening of a pharmacy trading under the name of Buchanan's Drug Store on the north side of Charlotte street almost directly opposite the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic.

Formerly with the W. J. Kent's, old-established drug store for a number of years, Miss Buchanan claims distinction of being one of only two fully qualified women druggists practising in this city. Her contemporary is Miss Winnifred E. Davis, pharmacist in the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic dispensary.

Miss Buchanan, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Buchanan of Benson Ave. graduated from the Ontario College of Pharmacy in 1922. She has a large number of friends who will wish her success in her venture.

The store nicely located adjacent to the west-end residential district is attractive in its layout. Shelves and showcases carry a complete line of drugs, medical and surgical sundries, cigarettes and tobacco, while a neat little dispensary at the rear is fully equipped to provide a complete prescription service.

Miss Buchanan also plans to handle ice-cream and soft drinks.

CAMP MEETING IS BEING HELD WALLACE GROVE

More Than Sixty Tents Are Grouped in the Shade of the Trees.

PEACEFUL RETREAT.

Amid the maples and beeches of Wallace's Grove the district camp meeting of the Pentecostal Assemblies of this district is nearing the end of the first week of its fortnight of religious services.

More than sixty tents are grouped in the shade of the trees, providing every necessity for the community of men and women and children who are quietly enjoying a prayerful retreat from the busy and preoccupied world. Many others are rooming in the city. Some of them have come from Minneapolis, Winnipeg, New York State, Quebec and the Maritimes, but the majority are from this district.

Communal accommodation includes a dining tent, library, refreshment counter, electric lighting, fresh water pumped and piped from a near-by brook. Hot meals are cooked on the grounds.

Each day begins with prayer at 7 a.m., folowed by breakfast and fellowship. At 10.30 o'clock Pastor R. E. McAlister of London conducts bible study, and at 2.30 p.m. and again at 7.30 p.m. services are featured by sermons and prayer lead by Rev. Fred Squire of Essex, England. Rev. George A. Chambers of Peterborough is another assistant.

Rev. Mr. Squire is a well known evangelist with the Pentecostal Assemblies of Great Britain. He is now touring Canada, and during the present camp meeting is the featured preacher every evening.

Sunday's services will be at the same hours as on week days, and with ample parking space in the Grove large congregations are expected during the week ends. The Peterborough-Lindsay bus has been chartered for daily trips to the Grove leaving Aylmer and Charlotte streets at 10 a.m., 1.45 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Thousands of conversions have been reported from Rev. Mr. Squire's ministry in the Old Country, also wonderful cases of divine healing in which the dumb spoke, the blind received the gift of sight, and goitre and cancer were cured.

The evening services have been especially well attended since the camp was opened on Monday, and large increases in the congregations during the week end are confidently expected.

SHOWERS PROVE GENERAL BOON

Western Districts Get Their First Moisture Since June 18.

NEW LIFE IN CROPS.

(By the Canadian Press)

A boon to the farmers throughout Ontario, rain has appeared to moisten fields baked by the lengthy heat spell.. The precipitation ranged from half an inch to 1½ inches, checking the drought menace in areas where wells and streams were drying up and bringing life to the crops.

Farmers in the Tillsonburg area welcomed the preciptation yesterday. The rain started early and continued until noon with the skies remaining overcast for the remainder of the day, permitting the moisture to sink into the land. The tobacco crop generally is good in his district.

St. Thomas district welcomed the first real downpour since June 18. Farmers declared it was a geat benefit to corn, field beans, second-crop alfalfa and spring grains. Farmers in the Brantford district, faced by the drought menace since the planting season, reported yesterday's rainfall as beneficial, helping to fill up wells, cisterns and creeks which, however, are still far from normal levels.

Rain also appeased in the Toronto and Orangeville districts to put new life into the farm crops. Crops in the Orangevlit area are reported in excellent condition.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE MEETING at Fort Erie is going along in great style. They catered to over twelve thousand persons on the Fourth of July holiday and immigration officers tell us that more autos crossed the Peace Bridge that day than on any one since 1929. The feature race was a beautiful effort with Miss Monoa getting a nose decision over Crout Au Pot in the very last stride. Art Hullcoat kept up his winning ways when his Plain Ben accounted for the final heat the other day. Nearly all the campaigners at the border track are owned by Canadians which is a good sign for our breeders. This is due to the large number of American tracks operating this year.

Indian Runner won the big Stars and Stripes handicap at Arlington Park in Chicago for the second successive year. This is one handicap horse that is equally at home in a sprint or a distance affair . . . Spey Crest is working up to a wining effort. She has not been returned a winner yet this year but it won't be long now. Down Montreal way they have a distance plater called Chiclero all primed up and ready to go. Another one in the Quebec province city is Hogarty while at Rockingham park there is a trick by the name of McAdam that can fairly fly. Butter Beans is also down there and his connections expect him to bring home the old salt pork any day now.

WHEN BILL Kennedy finished second at Hamilton the other day and paid around $40 for a place ticket it was a great break of luck for a Toronto broker. It seems this horse had been in a riding academy near the Queen city until a month ago when his owners decided to make a racer out of him. This Toronto gentleman whom we spoke of decided to take a horseback canter one bright Sunday morning last winter and hied himself out to the academy and got this horse. He was slowly cantering along the bridle path of one of the city's riding parke when for some unknown reason the horse started to run and went for over two miles before his rider could stop him.

When he returned to the stable he told the proprietor about the incident and he then was told that they were contemplating making a racer out of him. He said there and then if he ever saw him entered he would go to the track and wager on him. So he was at Hamilton and had a five buck wager across the board which netted him about $125 profit and he remarked that the Sunday morning ride only cost him $2 for the hour he had him out.

INJURIES RIDDLE ROYAL RANKS DROP BACK TO FIFTH POSITION

Montreal Club Has Dropped 22 Games Against 17 Victories Since First of June.

OPEN DATE THURSDAY.

(By the Associated Press)

Montreal Royals win the International League's "hard luck" award without a struggle.

At full strength they look like a certain first division club but they've been so shot full of holes injuries and illness that they have dropped into fifth place and may slip further unless some of the crippies get back. As it is, manager Oscar Roettger, himself a casualty, has been playing a catcher in the outfield and a pitcher at first base.

Montreal's troubles all started on May 21 when catcher Butch Henline suffered a broken finger in Rochester. He still is out of the lineup. Roettger was hit on the head by a pitched ball on June 2, was out for 15 days, and then suffered a torn cartilage in his knee July 2 and probably will not be able to resume his place at first base for three weeks. Infielder Billy Rhiel suffered a torn leg muscle in an exhibition game June 25 and still is out of action. Outfielder Jim Ripple likewise hurt his leg on July 2 and has not recovered although he is playing. Denver Grigsby, another flychaser, contracted influenza on Wednesday and there's no telling when he'll back.

It is surprising that the Royals, with their makeshift lineup which has catcher Frank Reiber in the outfield and pitcher Ray Fritz at first base, have been able to do as well as they have.

Since the first of June they have dropped 22 games against 17 victories and thus enabled Albany's Senators, now moving along at a fine clip, to slip into fourth place.

An open date left all clubs idle yesterday but business was to be resumed as usual to-day.

CALLADINE BESTS WILLIAMS IN BRILLIANT HURLING DUEL

Strong Hitting in Pinches Gives Petes C.O.B.L. Victory at Belleville.

MURRAY GETS 2 TRIPLES.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 6 (Special to The Examiner).—Restricting Belleville Nationals to six scattered hits, Bill Calladine pitched the Peterborough Seniors into a tie for first place in the C.O.B.L. here last evening, when he bested Jack Williams in one of the prettiest pitchers' duels seen locally in many a year. Starting rather cautiously, Calladine improved as the game progressed to turn back the homsters when they pressed in the latter innings. Timely hitting by Murray and Ash accounted profusely towards the elevation of the Liftlock crew into first place, a tie with the Kingston Ponies for the top position in the C.O.B.L.

Leads With Willow

Murray, the Petes' keystone sacker, was the big hitter of the day, counting two smashing triples and a single to his credit, while Ash collected a brace of one-base blows to his side of the batting average.

Hits came sparingly on both sides, with Manager Mills collecting two one-base blows, as did Kerr, while oFrd counted the only extra base clout garnered by the Nats.

Defensively Ford and Kerr stood out for the home team, while Batten and Konopka played stellar baseball defensively behind the superb pitching of Calladine, Konopka handed four hard chances well while Batten excelled himself in the seventh when he raced in close to grab off Scarlett's puny infield roller and toss out the runner.

Score First in Fourth

The Petes opened the offensive play in the fourth when, after two were out, Murray, Whatley and Ash successively singled, with Murray being caught at the plate on Ash's one-base blow.

In the sixth after one was out, Murray tripled, but on Whatley's tap was caught and run down between the plate and third. Whatley took second on the play and scampered home on Ash's single. After two were out in the eighth, Murray slashed a hard triple to right, and on the throw-in Ford overthrew to third to allow Murray to scamper across the plate for an unearned run.

The home club only threatened in the fourth when, with two on, Calladine forced Weir and Scarlett to hit to the infield, while in the sixth, with Kerr and third and Mills on first Calladine struck out Weir, as Kerr was caught off third when the squeeze play failed. Despite the fact Ford doubled in the eigth, Calladine bore down in the latter innings to be master of all he surveyed. He well deserved the victory he gained.

The game was played in record time of 1.39.

EAST CITY BOWL IS OPEN THIS EVENING

Omemee and C. G. E. Will Tangle in First Game on New Grounds.

The Ashburnham Bowl is open to the public tonight for the first time this year, with Omemee girls and C.G.E. playing a league softball game at six o'clock. The grounds have been greatly improved by city workmen, while the girls' games up till now have been played elsewhere. But the fair ones start back to-night on their home diamond—one of the finest in Ontario. The Omemee and C.G.E. squads should put up a good game to inaugurate the '34 season at the Bowl. At least a thousand fans are expected, and they are requested to keep off the newly-rolled and planted grass. There is ample accomodation in the large horse-shoe stand, and motorists are also urged to remain by the road-side.

There will be a brief opening ceremony before the contest starts with Mayor Denne, Alderman Stocker and Alderman Cotton officiating. The ceremony will consist of a few words by the Mayor and then the ball will be pitched to a batter in the time-honored opening tradition. All local girls' games in future this summer will be held at the East City Bowl.

BRINTONS TAKE 8 TO 4 VICTORY

Carpetmakers Collect 17 Hits Off Orphans' Offerings For Win.

THREE DOUBLE PLAYS.

Brintons took an 8-4 decision from the Orphans in a classy men's softball game at Central last night. A huge crowd watched a smart struggle, punctuated with bitter arguments, with Brintons having two big frames to get the nod. They scored five runs off Martin in the second and three off Shine in the eighth. The Waifs got one each in the fifth and seventh and two in the ninth. Lefty Sturgeon pitched hitless ball till the sixth and gave only half a dozen safe blows throughout while fanning six, but he walked nine. Both teams turned in some lovely fielding.

Fred Martin was nicked for seven hits in the second and retired in favor of Frank Shine. The latter twirled nice ball till the eighth, blanking the Brintons till that frame. He allowed a total of ten hits and one walk while striking out six. H. Dormer led Brintons at bat with four in five, while Calladine had a triple and two singles in five and Weir three in five. G. Dormer and Williamson got two each. Willshaw, with two in three, was the only Orphan with more than one safe blow.

Three snappy double-plays featured this lively contest, the Orphans being a Shine-to-Board-to-Cadd one. Brintons got two, one a H. Dormer-to-Smith, and the second a G. Dormer-to-H. Dormer-to-Smith killing. Nice catches were made by Hope and Miller. The teams:

Orphans: Jones, cf; Willshaw, 3b; Miller, 2b; Fleming, ss; Beard, 1b Cadd, 2b; Hope, lf; Scates, lf; O'Toole, rf; Martin, p; Shine, p.

Brintons: H. Dormer, 2b; Smith, 1b; Playford, cf; Calladine, c; Weir, lf; Newson, 3b; Sturgeon, p; G. Dormer, ss; Williamson, rf.

Score by innings:

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press.)

Lou Gehrig, Yankees— Hit two homers and two singles for seven of Yankees' eight runs.

Oral Hildebrand, Indians— Shut out White Sox, allowing eight hits.

Joe Moore, Giants— Pinch hemer with bases full started Giants on victorious scoring rampage.

Bob Johnson, Athletics — Singled home winning run against Red Sox.

WASHINTGON'S CHANCES SLIM OF REPEATING IN TITLE WIN

Lou Gehrig's Bat is Potent Factor in Yankees' 8-3 Victory Over Senators.

TERRYMEN WIN 13-7.

(By Herbert W. Barker—A.P. Staff Writer).

It's still too early to count them entirely out of the running. Washington Senators' chances of retaining the American League pennant nevertheless grow slimmer and slimmer each day.

The partial collapse of what was an all-star pitching staff a year ago and injuries to key-men, notably Joe Kuhel and Luke Sewell, have contributed to the champions' poor showing in the last three weeks.

Their third successive setback and their 11th defeat in 18 games, an 8-3 trouncing from New York Yankees yesterday, left the Senators in fifth place, eight extremely large games out of first place. Washington solved Johnny Broaca's slants to the extent of 12 hits, including home runs by Buddy Myer and Jonathan Stone, but the Senators never were really in the ball game after the third, when Lou Gehrig's 22nd home run came with the bases filled. The big Yankee first baseman hit No. 23 with one on in the fifth, and also contributed two singles to the good cause, driving in a total of seven runs.

Yanks Add to Lead.

The victory stretched the Yankees' lead over Detroit's Tigers, who were idle, to a game and a half. Cleveland took possession of third place, a few points ahead of Boston Red Sox, by blanking Chicago White Sox, 8-0, behind Oral Hildebrand's effective pitching. Willie Kamm's two doubles and a single featured an Indian attack on George Earnshaw, which reached a climax with a six-run drive in the seventh.

Successive singles in the seventh by Eric McNail, Roger Cramer and Bob Johnson gave Philadelphia Athletics the run they needed to top the Red Sox, 6-5. Joe Cascarella's relief pitching held the Sox safe in the last three innings.

Break For Giants.

A two-game National League program presented New York Giants with a fine opportunity to increase their lead over the three western clubs, all of whom were idle, and the world's champions didn't fail.

They clouted Ray Benge, Bill Clark and Walter Beck for 15 hits, including Joe Moore's pinch hit home run with the bases clogged in the sixth, and won 13-7.

Home runs by Dolph Camilli and George Davis helped the Phillies down Boston Braves, 14-11, in a wild battle at Baker bowl. Camilli's drive, his 9th of the season, came with the score tied at 11-all, and two men on bases in the eighth. Boston's string of 17 hits included Wally Berger's 16th homer and one by Marty McManus.

Entry Of Eva Dawes Refused At London

LONDON, July 6.—(CP)—Entry of Eva Dawes, Toronto high-jump star, was refused by the committee in charge of the British Empire Games trials. Seven other entries from the Parkdale Club of Toronto also were refused because they appeared too late. It was explained the time for the close of entries already had been extended, and as the Parkdale entries did not arrive until today, they were turned down.

The track and field trials for the Canadian women stars will start tomorrow night, and conclude Saturday afternoon. Miss Dawes was one of the greatest threats in the high jump.

Leander Rowing Club Gains Henley Finals

HENLEY - ON - THAMES, England, July 6 (CP-AP)—Leander Rowing Club defeated the Thames Club by a half-length on the flower-banked Thames to-day to enter the finals of the Grand Challenge Cup in the Royal Henley regatta.

The Leanders covered the distance in 6.44, to break the Grand Cup record of 6.51 it established in a preliminary heat yesterday.

The other semi-final went to Princeton University which defeated Pembroke College by a length in 6.53.

The powerful Leander crew, which is composed of the pick of Oxford and Cambridge veterans, trailed the Thames Club by a few feet to the mile flag, when Leander forged ahead to set her new record.

CREAM OF FEMININE ATHLETES AT LONDON FOR SPORTS TESTS

150 Women Gathered From Maritimes to British Columbia for Trial Meet.

STARTS THIS EVENING.

LONDON, Ont., July 6 (C.P.)—An ocean journey with a chance for British Empire fame was the lure presented to nearly 150 women track and field stars to-day as they prepared for the trials which will decide the team to journey to England for the British Empire Games.

The cream of Canada's feminine athletes will open the trials to-night. Saturday afternoon the concluding events will be run. From the Maritimes to British Columbia the athletes have journeyed here to fight for places on the team.

Eight entries from Toronto Parkdale Club yesterday met thumbs down action by the committee in charge of the trials. The entries made their appearance yesterday and it was declared they were too late. The lists already had been kept open over the allotted time, it was explained.

Refusal of the entries from Parkdale Club barred Miss Eva Dawes from competition. She is a high jump star and was considered a serious contender for the honors at the trials.

Little Memorial Stadium at University of Western Ontario is expected to present a perfect track for the runners. The girls will compete in senior, intermediate and junior events. The intermediates compete to-night in the 60 metres, baseball throw and javelin throw while the juniors will display their abilities at the 60 metres, baseball throw, running broad jump.

Mrs. R. J. Foster of Edmonton, president of the Women's Amateur Athletic Fideration, announced an executive session of the organization would be held this morning. There were no important subjects to be discussed but the session was being held as the whole executive made its appearance for the trials. She said the opportunity for some constructive discussion between the branches had been accepted and the meeting decided upon.

Twenty members may be selected for the trip to the old country when the team is completed. Prepared to battle for places on the team are members of the 1932 Canadian Olympic band, including Hilda Strike, Montreal speedster who captured second place in the 100 metres at Los Angeles; Mildred Fizzell of Toronto, Lillian Palmer and Mary Frizzell of Vancouver; Eileen Meagher of Halifax and Mary Vanderbilt of New Liskeard, Ont.

Following are the scores:

Crowe, 6-4 and 6-3; second men's doubles—H. Hammell and C. Richmond won from W. T. Holgate and J. A. Bell, Kawartha, 7-5, 3-6 and 8-6; ladies' doubles—Miss G. Carvoith and Miss R. MONARCH PARK QUARTET WINS FOR 3RD TIME

Port Hope Four Gets Second Money, While Local Rinks Gain Other Money Positions.

LARGE ENTRY LIST.

(By Herb Martin)

For the third year in succession Mrs. J. Haas and her rink, from Monarch Park Club, Toronto were successful in winning the "J. J. Duffus" trophy and first prizes, at the annual tournament sponsored by the Peterborough Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club yesterday afternoon.

J. J. Duffus—donor of the cup—was introduced and "J.J." in his usually might and breezy way hoped, that now that he had made arrangements for the weather to fair up, that when the day's play was over the best teams would be in the money and that everybody would be satisfied.

Mrs. W. Zeihr, Peterborough was the winner over Miss Sedgwick, Peterborough for the third honors by the score 4-1.

Credit to Local Club

Too much credit can not be given to the ladies of our club in as much as they turned out 100 per cent, played their own schedule rinks, and by so doing, not only augmented the entry list, but helped to make the day one of the very best.

During the recess hour tea was served to the lady bowlers by the members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

There were many outstanding features throughout the day but one that was particularly noticed was the "good fellowship" and "friendly" feeling that prevailed all along the line.

The leading done by Mrs. H. G. Beatty of Mrs. Hope's rink was such that would make many an old timer jealous.

If it had not been for the rain earlier in the day the games would have been over much sooner — at that everybody was home at a little after eleven—not bad for a tournament.

Cogs and C.G.E. are booked to go into a song and dance in their E.P.L. struggle tonight at six down at ye Grounds ala Exhibiah. Now, we strongly advised fans to go to a game down there early this week, and the game turned out to be a bigger flop than Hitler. However, when we point out that it wasn't a C.G.E.-Cogs' game, and that these two teams are separated by only a game and a half after battling for over a month, fans will see that this is a promising-looking fixture. Probably Russ Kitchen and Jack Barry will be the opposing flingers and we look for a real fight.

• • • • • • •

The gals' softball game tonight is at the Ashburnham Bowl—and now watch the crowds grow! It's between Omemee and C.G.E. and will start at six or as soon after as it takes Mayor Denne and Aldermen Stocker and Cotton to officially open the remodelled Bowl. The city has done a real job on these grounds and deserves plenty of credit. The gals' diamond is second to none in the Province. We know that's taking in a lot of territory but it's a fact. Future local games by the damsels will be at the Bowl.

• • • • • • •

Two all-star men's softball team clash tomorrow (Saturday) evening at six o'clock at Central for the Softball Benefit Fund—that's for injured players. Here are the prospective lineups: Bert Deck's—Starr, c; Smith, 1b; H. Dormer, 2b; Crary, ss; Newson, 3b; Weir, lf; Playford, cf; Gardner, rf; pitchers, Sturgeon, Shine and Elliott; Gainey, utility. Jake Beckerman's—Calladine, c; Ellis, 1b; Stanger, 2b; Fleming, ss; Dorrington, 3b; Hall, lf; Gillespie, cf; Currie, rf; pitchers, Montgomery, Butcher and Heffernan; Wiley, utility. The pick of the players from the four City League teams make up these two squads and a record crowd should be on hand for a grand game.

• • • • • • •

Brintons beat the Orphans, 8-4, before a big crowd at Central last eve, but they got an even break on the verbal battles. There were more arguments at that tilt than any Peace Conference in Geneva ever witnessed, and as usual the umpires got the worst of it. It always looks rather silly to us to see about eighteen players arguing bitterly with the umpire over some ruling, when the players don't understand the rule! Rule-books are not expensive and save a lot of wear and tear on the tonsils. However, it adds excitement for the fans.

• • • • • • •

It was a classy ball game with Letty Sturgeon hurling great ball, giving only six hits and all of them in the last four frames. He had good support. The Orphans made a mistake in starting Martin instead of Shine, as the former spotted the Carpetmen five runs before he got the derick in the second. Shine shone after that, though the winners squeezed three runs across in the eight. Three fast double-plays were pulled off, and when you get that many two-ply killings into a softball game—all of them starting on the ground—you know the lads are stopping to pick daisies on the diamond. Yeah, a neat tussle.

• • • • • • •

The Petes lived up their rep as the best 1934 road team in the C.O.B.L. yesterday when they journeyed down to Belleville and took a 2-0 victory to put them in a first-place tie with Kingston. They've only lost one game out of four away from home. Last evening's contest was another pitching duel—these things are rather common in this loop lately—with Bill Calladine outpitching Jack Williams in a grand battle. Bill held the Nats to six scattered hits and fanned four of them, breaking his hook and crossing his fast ball to keep the homesters off-balance all through. And he had swell support. Williams struck out three and allowed seven hits, but two were triples and the Petes hit a little better in the pinches. Williams also got good support.

• • • • • • •

Bud Murray, who goes better on foreign fields, led the locals' attack with two mammoth triples and a single in four times to bat, besides fielding a nice game. Captain Fred Ash got two hits. Mills and Kerr led the losers with two apiece. The whole Petes' infield starred defensively, the outfield having little to do. Knotty Lee's gallant gang are tough onions in the other fellow's garden and have won in Kingston, Oshawa and Belleville this summer, besides losing one in the Quinte town. Bill Calladine seems to have found himself and will be a big help from now on.

• • • • • • •

At the time of writing, no word has been received by us regarding the proposed lacrosse game between the local Kiwanis team and the Campbellford Maroons. It's too bad if the Petes can't get a game when it's an open Saturday for sports here and Riverside Park is available, but the lacrosse schedule in this O.A.L.A. group seems to be a loose affair at best. We don't understand how a team can send word to another that it will have to postpone a schedule game owing to players playing baseball or working or something. That's their tough luck. A schedule is supposed to be lived up to, even if a team has to default one or more games. Maybe some arrangements for a game here tomorrow will be made later today, but we haven't heard anything yet.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE HERE ON SATURDAY

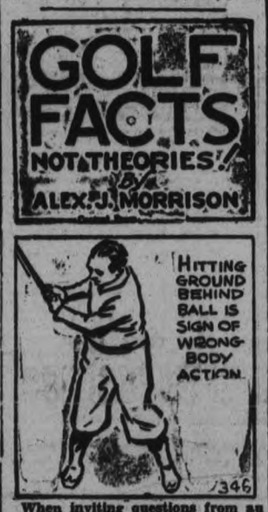
Local Followers of Cricket Given Chance to See Two Clever Elevens at Play.

P.C.C. IN FINALS.

Tomorrow, Saturday, July 6, the Peterborough Cricket Club will play a match against Upper Canada College at Nicholls Oval. This match should appeal to all interested in the game, and is quite one of best matches of the season. U.C.C., where cricket has been played for a century, are champions of the School "Big Four," their rivals being Ridley; Trinity College School, Port Hope, and St. Andrew's. They are now on a tour and go from Peterborough to Ottawa, where they will play two matches on the Rideau Hall ground.

Peterborough are now finalists in the Cricket County Championship, having beaten Ontario County in the first round, Lanark County in the second, and drawn a bye in the third. They are slated to play the winner of Middlesex and Essex at the Toronto C.C. ground on Labor Day. This is a splendid opportunity for those interested to support, by their attendance, the local team, which has done so much to put Peterborough on the map in Ontario cricket.

The following team will represent P.C.C.—Frank Dyer (Capt.), Rev. E. Worrall, A. Hamilton, J. Gore, R. Mawhood, W. Binks, D. Mitchell, G. Langhorne, T. Williams, S. Lorne and G. Blowers. Reserve, R. N. Stuart. Game to start, 1.45.



When inviting questions from audiences in the various cities I'm sure to be asked about hitting the ground back of the ball.

Nearly every player afflicted with this fault thinks it originates in something he does with his hands or arms. Never does he suspect that incorrect body action or balance might cause him to be wild.

Some come close to analyzing properly by blaming a dropping right shoulder.

When the right shoulder drops forward toward the ball it's but a part of, or one indication of, the wrong shoulder action.

Obviously, the shoulders could not move incorrectly without faulty hip action.

If you find yourself hitting too high or too low, check up on your hip action. When your hips are free and you keep your chin back you'll get a clean hit.

Lecturing and demonstrating to large groups of golfers keeps me in close contact with all sorts of swings.

As most of my readers know, I stick pretty close to the main fundamentals. When I watch a player swing I look for these essentials—foot action, wrist action and position of the head.

Nearly all of those whom I watch actually believe that they incorporate the main fundamentals in their swings. Few of them have the proper foot action.

A player will swing with his hands back and forth demonstraing, as he thinks, something like the correct swing. All the time his hands move his feet are glued to the ground, particularly if he's making just a short stroke.

Little does this player realize that the correct swing always finds a foot action corresponding to and harmonizing with the hand action.

KING EDWARD COPS 9-6 WIN

Southenders Gain Lead in First Three Frames to Defeat St. Peter's.

EXCITING STRUGGLE.

King Edward won a 9-6 decision over St. Peter's in a good bantam baseball game last night at Riverside. A small number of fans were on hand and witnessed an exciting struggle with the winners getting seven runs the first three frames to gain the verdict. They added one more each in the sixth and seventh stanzas. The Saints tallied one counter each in the second, fourth and sixth, with three crossing the platter in the third.

Lucano started for the westenders but was replaced by Creighton in the third, the latter finishing up well. Castle went the route for the southerners and southpawed them in fine style to give but five hits and fan five. Some fair fielding was dished up on both sides and some good hitting by Berwick and Girard. Mortimer and Brown grabbed neat catches. The teams:

King Edward: Platt, ss; Todd, 2b; Berwick, 3b; Castle, p; Ridley, 1b; Jay, c; Lawson, cf; Mackness, rf; Mortimer, lf.

St. Peter's: Girard, c; Conroy, cf; Lynch, 3b; Brown, 1b; Creighton, lf, p; Whaley, 2b; Preje, rf; Thornton, rf, 2b; Thomas, ss; Lucano, p, lf.

MARK ST. LEADS CHURCH SERIES

More and Costlier Errors on Part of Knox Team Cost Them Victory.

FINAL SCORE 18-6.

Playing much steadier ball in the field, Mark Street won the first of the two-out-of-three senior championship series of the Church Softball League from Knox, 16-8, last night at the Oval. Both teams fielded below form, but the Knox side had more and costlier errors. Roy Hunter hurled good ball for the Ashburnham crew, fanning five and walking but one. A. Wedlock, for the losers, also pitched well, despite wretched support, striking out eight but walking six. Mark Street jumped Knox to get five unearned runs in the second on three walks and three miscues, and led the rest of the way.

Townsend was the big hitter with a homer, double and two singles. Ferguson and Sager of Mark Street and McDonald and Morrison of Knox each got two hits, with Wedlock clouting a two-bagger. Parsons turned in a good fielding game with nine out of ten chances, while W. Masters and Townsend also looked good defensively. Second game of this series will be Monday at the Oval. The teams:

Knox—Gatfield 2b, Charlton lf, Smythe lf, Wedlock p, McDonald cf, Archibald ss, B. Masters c, Allen 3b, Morrison 1b, G. Masters rf.

Mark Street—Ferguson c, Parsons ss, Townsend cf, M. Hunter 1b, Brady 3b, Darwin M, R. Hunter p, Sager 2b, G. Hunter rf.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

Chapter 41.

Lady Tait received Pointer this time lying on a couch in her room. Her eyes, deep sunk in her head, flickered as they rested on what he held out to her.

"Yes," she said tonelessly, "yes, that is Mrs. Ricci's writing and paper. I have a letter from her, one of several, but I destroyed the others. I kept this to show to my solicitors if I had any more of the same kind." Out of a locked dispatch box she took the one that she had shown to her stepson only the morning before. As Pointer took charge of it she said, still in that lifeless, battered voice:

"I don't, and won't, believe it! That John was killed because of anything to do with my refusal to let this dreadful woman sponge on me as she did on my son. It's not the money, chief inspector, it's——" Lady Tait did not finish. There were too many bitter words thronging to her lips. "I cannot and will not believe it," she repeated.

Pointer read the letter through again after he had left her. It was an unpleasant letter to have reached Lady Tait the day before her step-son was poisoned. But it led to no fresh fields. The Riccis were now a no-thoroughfare, possibly he need go no further, but that young man who came to and left Miss Dundas' studio wearing one of the little boutonnieres, led to a house where the chief inspector had already paused, where the gold pen top belonged, that bitten top which might well have been jerked out by the dying man as all that he could do to name the criminal. And the man had not left the house, his watchers were certain of that.

Pointer drove back to Kensington High street, and up to the police station, where, as he hoped, the sergeant who knew the Westmacott's chauffeur was waiting for him.

"I've just had a word with Osler—that's the chauffeur," the sergeant said, hurrying to conduct Pointer into a private room. "I was very careful. Of course, though he's a chap you can trust to any extent. I only spoke of a bloke who was 'wanted', and said that we heard that such a man had been seen letting himself into the side door of Mr. Westmacott's house. I described him. Osler said there must be a mistake. That door is never used. Never unlocked even. The garden house is shut up and has been for years. There's a covered passageway from it to the back part of the house, to what was the old study, but all that part, garden house, passage and back of the big house, is all shut up and empty. Even millionaires have to economize nowadays apparently, and, apart from that, he's never seen a man answering to the description I gave him, which we had from you, sir, at the house.

"Has he been in Mr. Westmacott's service long?"

"Going on for six years, sir."

"Does he live in?"

Pointer learned that none of the servants lived in except Lady Ida's two personal maids, her son's valet, and an elderly manservant called Craven who used to be Mr. Westmacott's valet.

"When Mr. Westmacott went to China, he left him behind to make himself generally useful in any way he liked at the house. Major something or other, I once heard the chief constable of my part of the country call a man like that. Major Omo, that was it! Though a major doesn't usually make himself useful, the sergeant added with a grin.

"Have you met this man Craven?"

The sergeant had, and a very good impression the ex-valet had made on him. Not clever, but reliable and do-what-he-was-told type.

"Not likely to be allowing the shut-off portion of the house to be used in some way his employers know nothing about?" Pointer asked.

The sergeant replied that no man with eyes in his head would make a proposal of that kind to the elderly valet any more than they would to Lady Ida's butler. In fact, he considered all the servants of the house to be an exceedingly respectable, trustworthy lot.

"But none of them very quick or clever?" Pointer suggested.

The sergeant had to think that over. Then he agreed, and the more he thought it over the more he agreed. "Not even the two maids of her ladyship. They too are uncommon slow, but steady like the rest."

Pointer was looking at a map of Palace Green.

"What about these flats directly behind the gardens of the Palace Green houses—do you know anyone there?"

As he expected, the head porter was quite an old friend of the sergeant's. The police simplify their work a great deal by cultivating constant chats with porters of big blocks. The sergeant jumped in beside Pointer now, and the two drove off up to the building in question. A word from the sergeant, and the porter on duty at the corner block took the two of them up to a room at the very top, his own. It was dark by now, but the lights from the landings of the building in which Pointer was, shone on something in Mr Westmacott's garden that dully reflected their gleams. It was the roof of the zinc-covered way that led, he was told, from the disused summer-house to the disused rear of the house itself.

The porter was told that a man who looked like the man wanted by the police had been seen late that afternoon letting himself into the side door of the end house.

"I've once or twice from up here seen a man go in and out of that door," the porter volunteered. "Very cautious he is about going in. I watched him once walk three times past that door because people were passing, and when he did go in—why, it was like a rabbit bolting into its burrow. One moment he was in the alley, the next there was no one there—as you might say. If you ask me, he's one of the servants slipping round the corner into the Churchill Arms."

Both men listening laughed and agreed that that was likely. But they asked for a description of the man all the same. They got only an impression of a youngish chap, very big, who always wore his hat brim turned well down, and always wore gloves. More than this the porter had not noticed. He felt certain that it was always the same man, but at that distance that could only be guesswork on his part. He could not swear to it.

"What makes me think that he's one of the servants is that the back part of that house ain't used," he added.

Both the men, Pointer and the sergeant, looked suitably surprised.

"Yet the windows don't look dirty," Pointer observed. The moon was kind enough to show quite a glittering row of oblongs in the high house wall facing them some distance away.

"Stoutish party cleans them every month. Red hair—what there is of it. Takes a shocking time over it, too. Yet the rest of the house is done by the same firm of window cleaners as we use. You wouldn't expect a millionaire's household to save window-money, would you?"

A few more questions that led to no results, and, Pointer, followed by the sergeant, thanked the man and made for his car.

"The man who cleans the windows must be Craven," the sergeant said. "Only man in the house who's stout, bald and red-haired."

For Saturday, July 7.

A day of much activity, enterprise and adventure is presaged by the important aspects of the planets, but these are offset by tenacious obstacles, delays and difficult situations to be disposed of by indomitable will and well directed effort before real profit may be secured. While the energies will be found under high stimulus, with skill and ingenuity ready to serve, yet overambition and a disposition to plunge, take chances and speculate may prove a thwarting factor.

If it is Your Birthday—

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and enterprising year, with all the faculties and energies keyed to a high pitch of achievement. But an overadventurous and ambitious spirit may lead to difficulties, a tendency to take rash chances, to speculate, gamble or plunge, may result in financial loss and defeat. Calm decisions and controlled actions may win against odds.

A child born on this day may be bold, adventurous and ambitious, perhaps to an overactive degree, this and an inclination to squander, take long chances and perilous steps proving its undoing.

After the passing of accounts, the pay sheets totalling $2,336.00. Council adjourned until August 7.

NEW BOMBINGS SHAKE AUSTRIA

Catholic Storm Troop Leaders Demand Gov't Suppress Nazis.

FEAR GERMAN OUTLOOK.

VIENNA, July 6 (C.P.). — The government's fatherland front headquarters at Knittelfeld, Styria, were dynamited to-day and the house of a government commissar at Kindberg, Styiria, was bombed, with heavy damage in both cases.

Continuance of terrorism in Austria aroused a conference of Catholic storm troop leaders at Klagenfurt to demand that the government do something against the Nazis.

The conference urged particularly that Nazis in government jobs be dismissed and government commissars be installed in all business establishments and factories suspected of being pro-Nazi.

In the Kufstein district the governor issued orders forbidding government employees to patronize shops owned by Nazi sympathizers.

The Arbeiter Zeitung, secretly circulated official organ of the outlawed Socialist Party, offered its comment on the German Austrian situation.

Another Revolt.

"The second revolution is coming," the paper said, "despite the collapse of the Roehm conspiracy. But now it will not be a brown shirt revolution, it will be a red revolution."

The paper likened the situation in Austria to conditions in 1880, when the Austrian monarch's suppressive measures forced Socialists to resort to bombing.

The Dollfuss Government, however, which already has hanged nine Socialists who took part in the recent civil war and sentenced 984 others to prison, the newspaper observed, is reserving its heaviest prison sentences for Socialist bombers and using comparatively light ones for Nazis who are doing most of the bombing.

The bombing wave of the 80's subsided when workers were given a chance to fight for their rights legally in the newspapers, labor unions, and public assemblies, the paper asserted, saying that "no reconciliation with this gallows and prison regime for the working class will tear open prison doors or liberate captives.

Police, Communists Clash In Toronto

When Sam Carr, Toronto Communist, returned to his home from Kingston penitentiary, from which he had just been released on ticket-of-leave, 1,500 Toronto Communists turned out to welcome him. They did it so enthusiastically, that the Toronto police stepped in and a riot resulted. Taking part in the proceedings was Miss Eugenie Watts, recent medical and psychologist graduate of the University of Toronto, who is seen, above, attempting to administer to one of the injured rioters. She was forbidden. Two of the four men arrested are shown here in the hands of Toronto's ever-alert-for-Reds policemen.

LEGION TAG DAY, SATURDAY

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

We find it necessary to make an appeal to the citizens of Peterborough as we are lacking funds to carry on our good work.

We thank the community for their past generous responses in our undertakings to secure funds, but owing to the number of returned men unemployed, and short time in their various occupations we are severely handicapped.

The Legion has been ceaseless in its efforts to do its share but we cannot unless assisted by a sympathetic public opinion. A man who was cheered as a patriot during the war should not have to know what it is to suffer hardship or poverty.

We would kindly ask the citizens of Peterborough to spare their mite tomorrow and help us carry on with assisting those who have borne the battle.

"Teach me to do the best I can
To help and cheer my fellow man;
Teach me to lose my selfish need
And glory in the larger deed.

Yours truly,
R. HADDOW,
President.

Calchas was the famous prophet of the Greek army before Troy, gifted by Apollo with knowledge of the past and the future.

CHEQUE ARTIST BUSY IN LINDSAY

Great Number of Tourists in Haliburton-Victoria District.

RESORTS ARE FILLED

LINDSAY, July 6. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The greatest influx of American tourists in the history of this district is recorded by proprietors of tourists' resorts in both Victoria and Haliburton Counties after checking up the week-end and holiday registrations. This forecast is confirmed locally. Reports from Haliburton are to the effect that tourist automobiles were so thick on the highways in that district that the road workers were called off the job. Never in the history of that district was there such a quota of tourists at the different resorts, and more are on the way, it is announced. The resorts in Victoria County are filled to capacity. The village of Bobcaygeon is probably the greatest tourist centre in this district, and reports from that centre state that the hotels and resorts are full to capacity. W. Fee, proprietor of the port at Fee's Landing, near Omemee, stated to-day that he was finding some difficulty in handling the large number of Americans seeking accommodation. The visitors are principally from Ohio and Pennsylvania. One American stated to The Examiner to-day the great fishing preserves in this district was the big drawing card for the Americans. Every day contingents of tourists are arriving, and it is expected that before the week-end the numbers will be greatly augmented.

Cheque Artist.

A phoney check artist has been plying his vocation in town, and some of the merchants would like to have a short talk with the slick one. During the past few days he has made out cheques for ten dollars, making small purchases at the stores and receiving the balance in cash. In every case the name of a local business man has been used.

The local police have learned that the car which was abandoned by thieves at Schomberg after they had made a clean-up at that points and carried off their loot in a bus, belonged to Dr. Urquhart, of Cambray. It was stolen from in front of his home and later equipped with license plates stolen at Bobcaygeon, and which belonged to N. S. Irwin, of Lindsay.

Local doctors have reported to the chief of police the theft of hypodermic outfits from their offices during the past few days. One of these cases, minus the contents, was found on C.N.R. property. One doctor reports the theft of a quantity of morphine, needles, etc. Police believe these thefts are the work of dope addicts.

The longshoreman's strike in the United States has seriously affected shipments from Japan, particularly silk cargoes.

REV. T. M. WESLEY IS NEW CAMBORNE PASTOR

Rev. T. M. Wesley, for two years pastor of Rideau Ferry Church, left this week, accompanied by Mrs. Wesley, for his new charge at Camborne in Northumberland County. Rev. Mr. Wesley and Mrs. Wesley will be greatly missed by the people of Rideau Ferry Church, as well as by those of other denominations in the neighborhood, as they had become highly popular in the community. As a returned soldier, Comrade Wesley will also be missed by his fellow-comrades in Perth as he was a familiar figure in the last two years at the Remembrance Day observances and annual banquets of the Perth Legion. Mr. Wesley was a former pastor of Knox United Church, Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. McAvoy, of Trenton, were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnson.

Mr. C. Oliver, of Toronto, spent Dominion Day at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Oliver.

A very enthusiastic meeting of citizens of the village was held on Tuesday night in the Council Chambers to discuss plans for the holding of another street dance in Hastings. The proceeds of the dance last summer went a long way, towards meeting the cost of direct relief. Reeve G. B. Stevenson was in the chair. After much discussion it was decided to hold the dance on Thursday, July 19, or Monday, 23. The securing of an orchestra made the date uncertain. The exact date as well as a list of the committees will appear in The Examiner in a few days.

New Concrete Dam Nears Completion

NEW STRUCTURE BE AVAILABLE MIDDLE OF JULY

Replaces Last of the Old Timber and Stone Dams on the Trent.

MANY DIFFICULTIES.

Contractor Congratulated for Fine Piece of Work at Lock 22.

The work of constructing the new concrete dam at Lock 22, about a mile above Nassau, on the Trent Canal system, is rapidly nearing completion, and with the exception of the removal of the old dam and a few minor operations of grading and sloping of banks, the splendid new structure should be available for controlling the river about the middle of this month.

Last Old Dam To Go

The new dam replaces the last of the old timber and stone dams that formerly studded the river. The old dam is more than 30 years old and was formerly an important unit in Peterborough's power enterprise, supply electrical energy for the old Otonabee Power Company.

The new structure is of concrete reinforced with steel. It consists of concrete foundation, on which is built two abutments and nine piers, carried across approximately 240 feet of river at that point. Between the piers and abutments there are nine sluices for controlling the flow of the river, and one sluice built to handle logs that may be brought down as a drive. Over these piers and abutments there is a concrete slab or platform, 20 feet wide running the whole length of the dam.

Into the construction of this strong dam went the following materials: 4,230 cubic yards of concrete; 27,000 sacks of cement; 45,000 pounds of reinforced steel; and 85,000 pounds of structural steel in piers, logs and rails. The gravel was supplied from the pit owned

GIANT PACIFIC RUM RING BARED

Two B.C. Distillers and Head of Combine Operating on Coast.

$10,000,000 BUSINESS.

SEATTLE, July 7 (AP)—An alleged ring which flooded the Pacific Coast with illicit liquor in the last five years of prohibition was disclosed to-day in criminal charges against two prominent British Columbia distillers.

Henry Reifel, president of Brewers and Distillers, Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C., and his son, George C. Reifel, were accused by the Government of heading an elaborate combine which smuggled liquor worth $10,000,000 into the Pacific Northwest.

The purported operations included formation of special companies and use of a fleet of boats, at least one of which was equipped to throw out a smoke screen to shield speed boats which ran illicit cargoes ashore. The complaint charged the fleet was directed by wirless from British Columbia.

The Reifels, who also were among the defendants named in a civil suit in which the government asked $17,250,000 in customs evasions, pleaded not guilty before a United States Commission, and were released on bonds of $100,000 each.

Don Eggerman, attorney for the two, charged "there is spite work behind these arrests," and blamed "rival Canadian interests."

BITTEN BY A "BUNNY."

SOKANE, Wash., July 7.— (C. P.)—H. E. Taylor, "bitten" on the leg by Oscar, a mechanical rabbit, had to go to the hospital. Taylor, an attendant at dog races here, was struck by the device which the greyhounds chase, as it speed around the rcae track.

He suffered a deep gash in the leg.

New Dam at Lock 22

Built in almost record time despite the unexpected obstacles contractors experienced during the course of its construction, the new concrete dam at lock 22, a mile above Nassau, on the Otonabee River will be ready to do its part in controlling the flow of the river by the middle of the month. The new dam is beautiful in its symmetry and the power and strength it exemplifies. It replaces the last of the old stone and wood dams that formerly studded the river, and is one of the finest dams in the whoe Trent system.

BAVARIAN ALPS PROVIDE HAVEN FOR NAZI CHIEF

Berlin's Guards Doubled After Rumours of Plots to Revenge Roehm.

STORM TROOPS UNEASY.

Hess States Members Still Unit of Party to Avoid Trouble.

(By A. D. Steffeuld).

BERLIN, July 7 (A.P.).—Chancellor Hitler left last night for his summer home in the Bavarian Alps to spend the week-end and possibly a longer vacation there.

It was announced to-day at the Chancellor's office no further Cabinet meetings were planned during July.

Hitler left exactly one week after he had flown to Munich to carry out his grim "purging" of storm troop ranks with firing squads.

Guards have been redoubled in Berlin, following reports that friends of Ernst Roehm, storm troop chief of staff, who was executed last Saturday, were plotting for revenge.

It was understood that storm troopers in civilian clothes held a secret meeting last night calling for "revenge," despite an order a week ago that storm troopers refrain from gathering together for any purpose.

Not To Be Disbanded.

It becomes more and more apparent that the storm troopers, of which Roehm was the leader, are not going to be dissolved, as had been indicated immediately after Chancellor Hitler crushed the plot against his authority which Roehm and others had hatched. The troopers are now on a month's vacation.

The Nazis issued a carefully phrased statement last night saying that the storm troops and the Nazi Party belong to each other, and cannot be separated. The statement was made by Rudolf Hesse, Minister with portfolio, and was directed toward reassuring both troopers and the general public that

CANUCK AT HEART.

Sorry to Hear of Marie Dressler's Illness—Trained at Hart House.

MARMORA, July 7 (Special to Examiner.)—"Toronto is more provincial than the village of Marmora," according to David Manners, Canadian-born screen actor. "The people live within themselves and have no appreciation for those of their own people who are successful," he continued. Manners, who was born at Halifax, attended the University of Toronto, and while there received his first theatrical training at Hart House Theatre. He has returned to Marmora to get color for a novel which he is writing with the town as the locale. He told The Examiner correspondent the noval was being written under a pen name and was only half-finished.

"I thought I had gotten away from this back here," he said when The Examiner found him at the

Woman's Body Held 2 Years For Pension

SENECA, Kas., July 7 (C.P.) — A woman who said she had kept her 88-year-old mother's dismembered body hidden more than two years to collect a Civil War pension, is being held here to-day by authorities.

Mrs. Myrtle Lattimer, about 55, directed Sheriff C. E. Carman and other officers to the body, part of which had been cremated in a kitchen stove, after Postmaster W. L. Kauffman had demanded to see the women to whom the $40 monthly pension cheque had been issued.

Mrs. Lattimer said her mother, Mrs. Marietta Bishop, had died a natural death in January, 1932. She said she did not disturb the body from its bed for several months but finally decided to dispose of it. The upper part was cremated, she said, while the other was placed in a trunk at the home.

PROBE ORDERED INTO MEIGHEN'S HYDRO ACTIVITY

Senator Himself Urges Action —Will Quit Seat if Found Guilty.

DUFF TO INVESTIGATE.

Move Climaxes Charge By Hepburn Regarding Abitibi Power.

OTTAWA, July 7. — (CP) —At the request of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader of the Senate, an investigation by Royal Commission into his activities while member of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, will be held.

Rt. Hon. Sir Lyman P. Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, has been appointed a Commissioner under the Inquiries Act to conduct the investigation. Announcement of his appointment was made by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

Mr. Meighen's request for a Royal Commission was prompted by charges in respect to the Abitibi Canyon Power development, charges which have been repeated during the recent Provincial election campaign.

The Prime Minister, in announcing that he has acceded to the request of his cabinet colleague, stated that "Mr. Meighen submitted that if he were guilty of the charges made against him he would not continue to be a member of the government of Canada."

Mr. Bennett also mentioned in his statement that the charges "were made by the premier-elect of Ontario and by another whom he described as his 'chief lieutenant'."

No indication was given of where the inquiry will be held, but it will take place at the earliest possible date.

Statement Issued.

Mr. Bennett issued the following statement announcing appointment of the Commission:

"For some months Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Government Leader in the Senate, has pressed for the appointment of a Royal Commission

MAHER TO QUIT RADIO BOARD

Vice Chairman Asks Release From Commission by August 15.

DUE TO ILL HEALTH.

OTTAWA, July 7 (C.P.).—The resignation of Thomas Maher, vice-chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, is in the hands of the Government. He has asked to be released from his duties on August 15.

While no definite announcement has been made, it is understood that the resignation will be accepted by the Government. In view of the fact that Mr. Maher wished to retire early in the spring because of ill-health, the resignation was not unexpected.

The Radio Commission consists of three members. Hector Charlesworth is chairman, and A. W. Steel is the third commissioner. The Commission came into existence during the winter of 1932-33, and Mr. Maher was one of the first appointees. Recently the body has been criticized considerably, both in the House of Commons and the house committee on radio. Legislation approved, however, continued it for another year.

Mr. Maher is now on leave, necessitated by ill-health. No indication has been given of his successor.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND VILLAGE SWEPT BY FIRE

Flames Roar Through Business Section of Richmand, Razing 14 Buildings.

BLAMED ON ENGINE.

Half the Town is Levelled and Remainder Endangered by Strong Wind.

RICHMOND, P.E.I., July 7 (CP) —Flames still roared through the business section of this village today after destroying 14 buildings, but at noon scores of volunteer firefighters appeared to have gained control of the conflagration.

The flames had wiped out half the buildings in the village and, fanned by a strong wind, endangered the remaining structures in the community. Roaring along before the breeze, the fire wiped out the post-office, Canadian National Railways station, the village's largest store, four dwellings, a dance hall and several sheds and warehouses.

Loss was estimated tentatively at 40,000.

The fire started in a barn owned by John A. McNeil, whose home was wiped out also. Just before the fire began, a locomotive stopped near the barn, and sparks from the engine were believe dto have ignited hay in the barn.

No lives were lost and no persons were injured as the fire raced through the cluster of structures in the community's business section. But the flames spread so swiftly there was little time for villages to salvage their effects, and their loss will be heavy.

City Workman Is Severely Burned

Philip OCarroll, 52 Olive avenue, city workman, was reported to-day to be recovering nicely from the severe burns he received late Thursday night when gas from a tank of oil he was unloading took fire.

In company with Jack Thirnbeck, city foreman, Mr. O'Carroll was heating the tank car of oil, meant for the city's streets, at the city wards, so that it might be run off in the city's tanks. The men were using a lantern to light their work, and the lantern's flame apparently ignited the fumes from the oil. A jet of flame shot out from the tank car and Mr. O'Carroll was severely burned about the arms and face.

Dr. J. M. O'Brien attended him and had him removed to his home, where he iconvalescing.

Believe Don Prisoner Given Outside Help

TORONTO, July 7 (C.P.).—Officials of the Don Jail to-day said they believed the escape yesterday of Joseph Frolick, 19, awaiting transportation to Kingston Penitentiary to serve a five-year term for housebreaking and other offences, resulted from a plot with other prisoners and some persons outside the jail.

Frolick scaled the jail yard wall yesterday and fled. Authorities said they had reason to believe he received help from someone outside who threw a rope over the wall and took the man away from the jail in an automobile.

RIVAL FACTION FRACAS.

Men Arrested for Attacking Officer Are Taken From Police by Mob.

EAST WINDSOR, July 7.—(CP) — A battle was taking place at the Russian Orthodox Church of St. John the Divine on Drouillard Road late this morning with East Windsor reserves called out, and supplementary forces of Mounted and Provincial Police assisting, following an attack on Deputy Sheriff Howard Anderson.

The deputy sheriff was thrown down the steps of the church as he endeavored to affix a court order padlocking the church until the strike between two rival factions is ended by court action.

Men who were arrested by the police for assaulting the sheriff were taken away from them by the crowd and a hurried call was sent for reserves and outside help.

The building had been padlocked on an order by County Judge F. W. Willson as result of dispute which warring factions have been carrying on for some months. The judge ruled that the problem must go to court for decision.

ROUND SCORES TENNIS UPSET

Defeat of Miss Helen Jacobs Gives England Clean Sweep of Singles Play.

HEART-BREAKING LOSS.

WIMBLEDON, July 7 (CP-AP)—Dorothy Round, ranking English player, to-day gave England a clean sweep of singles play in the All-England tennis championship, scoring a startling upset over Helen Jacobs, United States champion. Scores were 6—2, 5—7, 6—3.

It was a heart-breaking setback for the American girl, who was a finalist against her fellow Californian, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in both 1929 and 1923.

This year, with Mrs. Moody a spectator, Helen had hopes she at least would ascend the throne the great women tennis players of the world since 1884 had ruled.

Win Two Main Titles

The victory for Miss Round made it an English sweep of the two main titles and the first victory for an Englishwoman since 1926, when Mrs. Kitty McKone Godfree won.

It was the first time since 1909 that England had won both titles.

Doubles Triumph

Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian now living in London, and Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, today won the All-England women's doubles tennis title for the second successive time, defeating Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, Conn., and Me Jung Henrotin, also of France, 6—3, 6—3, in the final round.

George Lott and Lester Stoefen, United States doubles champions and Davis Cup players, won the doubles title to avert a complete rout of American forces. They defeated Jean Borotra and Jacque Brugnon, defending champions, in the final match, 6—2, 6—3, 6—4.

Playing like two avenging demons Lott and Stoefen literally blasted the fading French veterans off the court to regain the title Lott and John Van Ryn last won for the United States in 1931.

Stoefen, especially, showed a return to the form which made him the sensation of the winter season and earned him a place on the Davis Cup team, now threatened by the pending arrival of Wilmer Allison.

Both he and Lott were vicious in their back court driving and especially devastating at the net, with Stoefen almost bouncing the ball into the royal box on some of his "kills."

ENGLAND SETS HOME RECORD HIGHEST SCORE

Homesters Run Up Total of *27 Runs for Nine Wickets in Third Match.

DECLARE INNINGS.

English Batsmen Have No Difficulty in Hitting Aussie Bowling All Over the Field.

MANCHESTER, England, July 7 (C.P. Cable). — On a batsman's wicket, England to-day completed a record-breaking first innings score of 627 for nine wickets, declared, and Australia went in to collect 136 runs in quick time with the loss of only one wicket before the close of play for the day.

MANCHESTER, England, July 7 (CP Cable).—England totalled 627 runs for nine wickets and declared shortly after lunch to-day in the first innings of the season's third cricket test match with Australia. It was the fourth highest score ever made in one innings of a test match, and the highest ever made by England at home.

English batsmen hit all over the field off the Australian bowling despite the efforts of Captain W. M. Woodfull to vary the attack. The only Aussie bowler to do serious damage was W. J. O'Reilly, who took part in the fall of seven out of the nine English wickets.

Their ranks weakened by illness the Australian fielding was keen but ineffective. Leyland with 153, Hendren with 132, Ames, Sutcliffe and Allen all contributed to the record-breaking score. Having taken the measure of Australia's best bowlers on a batsman's wicket they cut and drove with complete confidence.

A vast crowd watched the match in blistering heat both yesterday and to-day.

Reduced to Two Groups Working Alternatae Weeks on Highways.

It is understood that about 160 men from the city have been doing his work. Under the new arrangement half of them will be employed in alternate weeks. The change has been announced from the district office of the department at Port Hope, and is not a direct effect of the result of elections for the reason that the administraion of provincial affairs has not yet been assumed by the in-coming Hepburn government.

LAD DIES OF BURNS

CHATHAM, Ont., July 7.—Andrew Vlanckaert, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Charles Vanneck of South Harwich, died in St. Josephs Hospital early to-day from burns received in a gasoline explosion last night.

Charles Vanneck, a prominent onion grower on Erieau marches, the boy's stepfather, was pouring gasoline into the tank of a tractor which was in the barn. The little fellow was nearby holding a lighted lantern and the wind carried fumes of the gasoline to the kersene oil blaze.

The flames completely covered the lad, who was dressed only in a bathing suit.

MAN IS ELECTROCUTED.

LONDON, Ont.—Edward More, 63, of Dorchester, foreman of the Dorchester rural power district, was electrocuted last night while making repairs on a broken Hydro line. The storm had blown a limb across the wires near Harrietsville, breaking the circuit. In making the repairs the Hydro foreman was killed as he touched live wires. His body could not be removed from the pole for an hour, when the power was cut off. Doctors worked for hours in an attempt to resuscitate him.

Woods was repairing the line which had been struck by lightning during a wind and electrical storm which swept over the Ottawa Valley.

So severely burned was he that Dr. McGuire would not permit him removal to the hospital at Cornwall, and he was given medical attention at the power sub-station. Throughout the night five men, working in relays, rendered artificial respiration to the unconscious man, but he failed to rally.

Your Evening Smile

THERE WAS STILL HOPE

A very stout old gentleman had found the golf course rather trying. By the time he came to the 15th hole he had not only broken three clubs and lost at least six balls, but he was also physically tired out.

He turned to his long-suffering caddie:

"I think I'll give up and walk in now, boy," he said in weary tones.

"That's all right, sir," said the caddie with a shake of his shoulders, "finish the round; you've still got three clubs left."

SYDENHAM MAN STORM VICTIM AS TEAM BOLTS

Meaford Lad Has Legs Broken as Building Crashes, Windsor Worker Hurt.

TREES CRASH ON ROADS.

Farm Buildings and City Verandas Are Levelled—Crops Benefit.

(By Canadian Press.)

Highways and roads, farms and city properties were being cleared up to-day after a near-hurricane had swept across the districts on the shores of the Great Lakes, leaving a trail of damage and resulting in one death and injuries to two persons.

Buildings, trees, telephone, hydro and telegraph poles felt the driving force of the winds, accompanied by heavy rainfalls that brought the much-needed moisture to farm lands.

From Georgian Bay down the shores of the lakes the storm swept, starting yesterday afternoon and continuing in some places for an hour. The rain proved beneficial to drought-stricken farm lands, aiding wheat, oats, corn and vegetable crops, but at the same time wrecking farm buildings and ripping verandahs from city homes. Trees were tumbled across roads, blocking traffic. High tension wires fell on highways as poles were knocked down by the blasts. Workmen were rushed to the scene of damage to speed repairs.

Farmer Is Killed.

In Sydenham Township, William Sutton, a farmer who lived alone, was killed when the winds frightened his team of horses and tossed him to death on a stone fence. He was completing his haying with the assistance of Glen Shears, when the accident occurred. Shears saw the man fall from the careening wagon on to the fence.

In the Meaford and Owen Sound and Windsor districts the storm uprooted trees, unroofed buildings and flattened crops. An automobile was wrecked when a tree fell upon it in the Meaford area. Hydro lines littered the highways and a barn on Harold Baker's farm was blown over. Baker's son suffered two broken legs when the building was wrecked.

The roof of the Canadian National freight sheds in Windsor was torn away while other buildings were also unroofed and streets blocked by fallen trees had broken wires. One man was hurt when struck by a falling tree. He received hospital treatment for a gashed head.

The pranks of the storm startled Lawson Patterson of Meaford when he was placing his car in the garage. The building was lifted from its mooring and crashed in a wreck in a field several yards away. Patterson escaped injury but his car was scratched.

The rain gladdened the hearts of Goderich district farmers as it benefitted late grain crops and

Agricultural Notes Of Interest To Farmers In District

Spraying of fruit trees for control of the apple maggot should be done this week, A. D. Runtons, agricultrula representative, advises. All fruit trees in the orchard should be sprayed whether they have fruit or not. These include plum and pear trees. If a thorough clean-up is to be made all scrub apples trees and hawthorne trees within 300 yards of the orchard should also be sprayed.

A poison spray is all that is necessary at this season. The most satisfactory mixture is two pounds of arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of water. If the weather is clear, one application, put on at once, will be sufficient, but in case of wet weather it will be safer to repeat with the same treatment in eight or ten days. During the last two or three years the apple maggot or 'railway worm," as it is sometimes called, has become very numerous, and in many cases ruined the entire apple crop. The specialised fruit grower will be prepared, and will use the necessary precautions, but if the ordinary farmer with a few apple trees wishes to collect a crop for domestic use he will be well advised to make arrangements to spray his trees at once.

"King Devil" and "Orange Hawkweed" or "Devil's Paint Brush" two closely related weeds listed in the Ontario Weed Control Act as "Kawkweeds", are spreading rapidly in old meadows and especially in rough permanent pasture land. They are vigorous perennials, and are not relished by livestock, although sheep will eat them fhen pasture becomes short. The roots are close to the surface and are easily killed by cultivation.

Great care should be taken to remove all patches before they become firmly established. Digging or the application of salt, waste oil, gasoline, coal oil, tar paper, straw, manure or chemical weed killers are effective on limited areas. Salt should be applied at the rate of 18 to 20 pounds per square rod in hot dry weather. Some farmers have obtained results by tearing up the ground as well as possible with a heavy harrow, appliyng a light coat of manure and seeding with vigorous growing grasses. Sheep constitute one of the cheapest methods of destroying "Hawkweeds."

Practically every eastern Ontario farmer depends more or less on an area of rough permanent pasture for at least part of the herd during the summer. This land may be of low value per acre but on the whole the pasture derived from this type of land amounts to many thousands of dollars annually. These lands are likely to become a liability instead of an asset unless "hawkweeds" are controlled.

FIVE SEA SCOUTS ARRIVE IN CITY

Sailing From Montreal to Lake Simcoe and Return.

HUSKY BOYS.

Five husky specimens of Canadian boyhood in trim sailor outfits, docked their vessel at Lock 20 on the Trent Canal here late yesterday afternoon, enroute from the port of Montreal to Lake Simcoe and return.

The boys, the leader of whom is a mere eighteen years of age, all members of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Sea Scouts of Montreal equipped with a 27-foot naval whaler specially built for the Troop in a Halifax shipyard, are making the long and adventurous water trip as a part of their training in the world-wide organization to which they belong.

On arrival here the boys were officially welcomed on behalf of Peterborough Boy Scout Association by District Commissioner John T. Hornsby and by Scoutmasters E. Wolfe and E. Peters. The whaler and its crew left later on its northbound voyage.

The vessel's complement consists of Coxswain George Duncan, acting boatswain; Coxswain Wesley McConnell; Quartermaster John Swift, and Sea Scouts Harold Hicks and Jack Bradbury.

Leaving Montreal on Wednesday, June 27, the boys have made such good sailing time that they are a day and a half ahead of schedule time. Without exception the boys are healthy and bronzed-looking from long hours of exposure to the wind and sun. They have been alternately cooking and eating their meals afloat and ashore as inclination dictated.

They expect to be again passing through local waters about July 18, and have promised that they will notify Commissioner Hornsby of their plans in order that he might be able to make arrangements for their entertainment here by the local scouts. In all the boys expect to be away from Montreal for five weeks.

Among boats to lock through the Lift Locks north bound yesterday afternoon were the cruisers "Kawartha of Peterborough" and the "Abeona" and "The Fo'Castle" both of Rochester, N.Y. The latter was a sailing boat with auxiliary engine.

EDMONTON BODY STICKS TO GUNS

Civil Liberties Protective Association Will Take Up MacMillan Case.

PROTEST JUDGE'S RULE.

EDMONTON, July 7 (CP)—The executive committee of the Civic Liberties Protective Association, which moved to assist Miss Vivian MacMillan in bringing a damage action against Premier J. E. Brownlee before the Appeal Court, to-day stood by its guns.

Miss MacMillan brought a civil action against Premier Brownlee, alleging seduction and was awarded $10,000 by a six-man jury. Acting Chief Justice W. C. Ives discarded the verdict in a written judgment which dismissed the action with costs and the Civic Liberties Protective Association took up cause of the plaintiffa.

The organisation's action brought protest from the advisory committee, which claimed such action should not have been taken without first consulting that body. Mrs. Ella C. Timbres, secretary-treasurer of the organisation, declared subsequently that the reason the committee had taken action without consulting the advisory committee first was that such procedure was "not necessary." It was claimed that a clause of the constitution of the organisation allowed the executive to act without reference to the advisory committee.

Mrs. Timbres insisted the association's interest in the case is not because either the MacMillans or Premier Brownlee was involved, but merely because it was a case in which a judge had overruled the decision of a jury.

Whole Blocks of Pavements Torn Up for Barricades in Bloody Riots

AMSTERDAM, July 7 (C.P.-Hacas). — The grim aspect of war marked Amsterdam to-day is a battalion of infantry and tank corps arrived to reinforce troops and the police in the three-day battle with rebellious workers.

Fighting which began on Wednesday night, was suspended early police patrolling the streets prepared for a resumption of rioting.

The official casualty list cited six dead and many wounded, several of them fatally, it was believed. The actual toll may be much higher as the fighting was severe in some sections and the rioters established their own first-aid stations.

At barricades in the Jordaan quarter police brought machine guns into play before they could drive the Communists and unemployed back from their standards. The Red flag with the hammer and sickle, flew over the barricades in some places.

A cut in the unemployed dole was blamed by the unemployed for the disorders.

45,000 AFFECTED.

SAN FANCISCO, July 7.—(AP)—A "brains, not brawn" leadership took over direction today of Union Labor's fight in behalf of striking Longshoremen.

As steel-helmeted riflemen of the state's militia patrolled the waterfront, scene of tumult, riot, death and injury in recent days, delegates from 120 unions—representing 45,000 members—voted last night to leave the matter of general strike in the hands of a "strike strategy committee."

"This strategy committee is the sane move now," said John O'Connell, president of the Central Labor Council, "it will lead to organized movement in case of a general strike later and would mean that brains and not brawn would direct us."

With the waterfront district quiet momentarily under the threat of bayonets and bullets for those who riot, President Roosevelt's Labor Disputes Board prepared for public hearings Monday to determine issues, facts and practices in the strike which began May 9 when 12,-

PLAN NEW DEPARTMENT UNDER HON. DR. MANION

OTTAWA, July 7.—(C.P.)—Administration of the Dominion Government's activities toward stimulating tourist travel will be under the jurisdiction of Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, it was learned yesterday.

Following the report of a Senate committee, headed by Hon. W. H. Dennis, Halifax, Parliament voted $100,000 at the recent session to be devoted to establishing a central Federal tourist bureau to co-operate with the Provinces in seeking to stimulate travel in Canada.

A considerable part of the appropriation will be spent in advertising the advantages of travel in Canada, not only by visitors from other countries but by Canadians themselves.

It is expected a director will be selected at an early date to take over the work for the Government.

Barber Refused To Cut Off Beard

Recalling an incident connected with his college days of twenty years ago the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson told one on Professor Dela Champs of Toronto University in introducing his old French master to member of the Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Remarking upon the Professor's handsome moutache and beard, the Rev. Paterson said the Professor had one day gone to his barber with the request that the beard be shaved off. He had become tired of joking remarks of the "undergrads", concerning his facial herbiage.

The barber, a true tonsorial artist, demurred saying he could not think of such sacrilege after having tended it for so long a time.

Professor Dela Champs corroborating the incident, remarked that he had been going to the same barber for thirty-four years. He was glad to inform his audience that the barber was still alive and well.

Lad Goes Two Years With Broken Leg

PHILADELPHIA, July 7 (CP)—A 16-year-old boy, crippled for two years by a leg fracture that received no medical attention because of a father's religious scruples, may receive treatment under a court order.

Judge Theodore Rosen, who heard argument in the case after the Society to Protect Children from Cruelty brought it into court, said, "If I find his condition warrants it I shall certainly order him committed for treatment."

Agents of the organization testified the boy, John Hoffman, 16, was suffering severe pain, and that the injury is steadily growing worse.

The father, John Hoffman, termed the fracture "an act of God" and protested "it would be against my religious belief" to allow surgeons to touch the boy.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

The Golden Text

Hebrews 13, 6—"The Lord is my helper; I will not fear: What shall man do unto me?"

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City and District.

"THE GUIDE OF LIFE."

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

REV. G. E. DOWNING, Norwood.

MANY men have desired to know the way of life. The 27th verse of the 11th Psalm is a prayer that expresses that desire, "Teach me Thy way, O Lord." Happy are we when in the mood to be shown the way of the Lord. The 11th verse of the 10th Psalm reveals the confidence of the writer that God will guide him in life's great way. "Thou wilt show me the path of life." Our text reveals the Psalmist's realization as to the value of the Word of God as the chief source of guidance into the great way of God and true life. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet." That signifies that the Bible gives us light right where we are. The Word of God is like a candle, it gives us light in our present situation. It reveals just where we are.

The Bible then reveals our present state and position, our soul state. The Book by the Holy Spirit, above all else in this world, tells us whether our hearts are clean or unclean. One question we should ever be asking ourselves in this present life is, not can I match my life with my friends or neighbors, but can I match my life with God's Holy Word? This Book tells us what we are, and more, where we are. It reveals our position as well as our condition.

"Oh, wonderful, wonderful Word of the Lord!
Our only salvation is there;
It carries conviction down deep in the heart,
And shows us ourselves as we are."

And, we add, where we are. The Word will tell us very, very clearly whether we are in or out of Christ, Christian or non-Christian.

Furthermore, the Bible, as a candle, reveals to us as Christians our present spiritual needs. The Word tells us just what we need now, and not what we think we want. The Book reveals not only the true need of our souls, but also how that need will be met. Once we have found what our real need is it is advisable to read on in the Word, because as we read, so will we find how that need is to be met explained. "The commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

The Bible also reveals to us our present personal experience. This is one of the wonders of the Book of Books. It is because of this fact that we can rise and face the present, however dark it may be, heroically. Nothing is impossible for those who fully believe in the Book. We are aware of this when we realize that the Book reveals characters who have passed through our present experience and have triumphed. I once preached a sermon on, "This one thing I do." After the sermon a lady came to me and said, "That is fine for Paul, but we are not Paul." I asked, was Paul altogether different from us? Was he not a man? Were not his experiences ours at times? Was his life all sunshine and no shadow? Let us ever remember, friends, that the Apostle had his troubles; "For we would not, brethren, have you ignorant of our trouble which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed out of measure, above strength, insomuch that we dispaired even of life." In this experience what did he do? Let the Apostle answer: "We trusted . . . in God which raiseth the dead." Because of that faith in God he became a conqueror. Therefore, we see that the Book not only reveals our present experience, but also aids us in that experience. Possibly today we are perplexed. God's Word to us amid this is, "Be not afraid." Therefore, we can sing triumphantly in perplexity:

"Thy Word is a lamp to my feet,
O Lord,
And trusting in Thee as my all;
Whatever of evil may cross my path,
I never, no never, can fall."

Perhaps we are burdened, yes today in the weakness of our humanity overburdened, and no one seems to be able to help just now. It is at this moment that we need to take the lamp in our hands and let the Lord reveal His message to our hearts and minds. What is that message? "Cast all your care on me"; cast your burden upon the Lord. "Come unto me," ye overburdened ones, "and I," your Saviour, Friend and God, "will give you rest."

On the other hand, we may be alone, so lonely in the hours that come and go, and we wonder if there is some one thing to take that loneliness away. I believe there is. Yes, I know there is. Once I visited a widow laid aside for two years through human frailty. As I entered I said, "Alone again?" "Yes, pastor, alone and yet not alone," came the reply. "Lo, I am with you always." There's the secret, "Alone and yet not alone," because of the very presence of the Divine Son of God who ever fulfills His Word to those that believe.

And so, God's Word, the lamp of our life,—

"It offers rest to weary hearts,
It comforts those who sit in tears;
To all who faint it strength imparts,
And guilds with hope the eternal years."

"Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet"—a light just where I am.

Power comes from unchecked and unstunted individuality.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Why teach children to pray? Would it not be better if we waited until they grew up and let them decide for themselves? —W.G.N.

Why teach them to walk or eat or read or anything? Just because by teaching life is better opened up to them and they are benefitted by the experiences of others. If there were no teaching there could be no progress. Each child would have to make its own way and gain its own speed. If we waited for all children to grow up before we taught them anything the burden of ignorance would crush us and the lost years could never be regained. In one school section where I taught 50 years ago, there was one father who refused to send his children to school because he had never gone himself. Those boys and girls were at a great disadvantage —they never caught up.

Dr. Wylie Clark

If we teach them in the lesser things surely we should try to guide them in the greater.

In the churches of to-day is there not more chaff than wheat?—W.T.

This is a debatable question. We must remember that the chaff is easier seen than the wheat. It is tossed about by any bit of a commotion and bulks more than the wheat, but the wheat weighs more.

With all our criticism of church members and adherents there are many of them who in serious things weigh well. Their weight counts in the problems of the community and they may be depended on in anything that is necessary to be done.

In times of distress and calamity it is amazing how much "wheat" is found among church folk.

They seem to rise to meet the circumstances and willingly take their share of the demands laid upon them.

Could you give in a few words the meaning of the text in the Epistle of James—"Let every man be swift to hear, but slow to speak."—James.

Moffatt translates it, "Let everyone be quick to listen, slow to talk."

The meaning seems to be quite clear. We are to be keen to obtain knowledge, but exceedingly careful about the use of it.

We too often reverse the exhortation. We are slow in our pursuit of knowledge and very careless in mastering its details, but we chatter a lot of nonsense and never have sense enough to hold our tongues.

Someone has said that 90 per cent of our conversation is just senseless havering and the world could well do without it.

That may be overly severe, nevertheless, we are apt not to be thankful to James for his advice and turn the wisdom of his remark upside down.

We surely would save a lot of trouble and confusion if we would never speak unless we were certain of our knowledge.

Is it possible to have a clean mind as well as a clean body? —V.D.

It is possible at times, to have a clean body but it takes much care to keep it clean. Even the dirt from our hands discolors the water and drips black from the soap when we wash them every hour or so. It is impossible to be absolutely clean all the time, but with constant care we can be fairly so.

The mind is a more difficult problem. Things we see, hear, read and think are ever finding their way into the mind and abiding there. When they are good all is well, but when they are false or unclean then the trouble is to get them out. This must be done by refusing them a place in the mind. They must not be meditated upon. The solution lies in training the mind to control itself.

Half an hour spent in thinking about an evil thing leaves an impression hard to wash out. It should never be tolerated—no not even for a second. If this be followed the mind may be kept fairly clean.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

WE are at present living in an age of great spiritual unrest, a stirring of dry bones which is reflecting itself in the social and economic fabric of our civilization.

It is an age of transition from the callous indifferences, the blind social hypocrisies and cruelties of the last century, to what may well prove to be a brighter era fraught with a deeper recognition of the fact that humanity is but one large family with mutual responsibilities, one to the other.

It is being recognized as never before that the welfare of one nation is dependent upon the general welfare of the world, and also that individuals no more than nations can live to themselves alone.

On the other hand, there is also a stirring of the opposite forces, the forces of embodied selfishness, and it behooves every man WHO REALLY THINKS, to analyse his own attitude, to be really honest with himself, to seriously ask himself whether by his thought and action he is on the side of the angels or on the side of the ministers of darkness. To ask whether he is a centre of light, or is he wasting the years of incarnation in a fruitless ministering to his lower self.

The issue is not a matter of religion as such, or of creed. It is simply the question whether in the last analysis he loves his neighbor or himself the better. Upon the sincere asking of that question and the no less honest answering of it depends whether he is serving God or serving the forces of darkness, the brethren of the Shadow. For no matter whether he be Christian or Jew, Buddhist or Moslem, he has to do one or the other, for no man can serve two masters.—Frater IX., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

Are the words "largeness" and "launch" used in the Bible, and if so, whereabouts?—J.B.

Largeness is used once: I. Kings 4:29. Launch is used once: Luke 5:4.

New Wine in Old Bottles

THE fermentation that is going on during these confused days brings to mind one of the inimitable parables of the Master. Spiritual growth requires new forms. Old foundations are not adequate to carry the new load. Old machinery is not capable of handling the new power. If the process that is going on is real, there will need to be structural changes comparable with the inner development.

The easiest thing to do is to bring all our old wine skins of tradition, form, ceremony and organization and expect them to be filled with the tremendous new forces that are strain of the new social and economic changes which are so rapidly and so irresistibly taking place? Our inspiring ground for confidence is that He whose redemptive purpose is to share the abundant life with all mankind will also enable us to become worthy channels of that grace. Let His holy hands remold and remake our enterprises after His own pattern! Then we shall have no lingering fear of change, no distrust of the expanding spiritual forces that are at work making that new earth, wherein is to dwell neither violence nor tyranny, hatred nor greed, but—righteousness!

Asa Relies on God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Of Judah's nineteen kings, five were godly men who led the nation in great spiritual reformations. One of these was Asa, son of Abijah, who reigned forty-one years. He destroyed the idols established in the reigns of his father and grandfather.

During his first years Asa's reign was blessed with peace. Then came the Ethiopian invaders from Egypt, outnumbering his forces two to one. But Asa prayed to Jehovah and was richly rewarded for his faith with victory.

The word of God came to Asa through God's prophets Azariah and Oded, saying, "Be ye strong, and let not your hands be slack: for your work shall be rewarded." Thus Asa's reformation originated in God's word.

Asa heeded the word of God and led the people to covenant to seek the Lord God of their fathers with all their heart and soul. As a result God blessed the people with peace and prosperity. (GOLDEN TEXT—Hebrews 13:6)

A GOOD LOSER.

The Examiner would like to nominate Huntley M. Sinclair, defeated Liberal candidate for the constituency of Carleton in the recent provincial election, for the best loser championship of Ontario.

Although the fortunes of war did not smile upon his aspirations and his opponent secured a majority of the votes, Mr. Sinclair has demonstrated a rare sense of sportsmanship by arranging a picnic and strawberry festival for the electors of the riding as a return for the support that was given him on June 19th.

We have no hesitation in declaring that this gentleman is likely to be heard of again in the political arena, for people admire a good loser, as Mr. Sinclair has undoubtedly shown himself to be.

It is not unusual for a victorious candidate to testify to his gratitude to the voters, but the losing aspirant for political honors very rarely goes to the trouble and expense of staging a public picnic; in fact, many of the defeated standard-bearers do not bother about publishing a card of thanks.

Mr. Sinclair is evidently a different type, and his good sportsmanship is likely to stand him in good stead when he again seeks the favor of the electorate.

A man who can face defeat in that style is not likely to be eliminated as a political factor by one failure to triumph, and as we said, the name of Huntley M. Sinclair can be marked down in the list of Ontario's coming men.

FAIR PLAY FOR THE PREMIER-ELECT.

The Globe's editorial plea for fair play for Premier-elect Mitchell Hepburn is one that all thoughtful citizens will endorse.

As the article pointed out, Mr. Hepburn was elected on very definite promises of economy, the cost of administration, the Liberal leader frequently declared, would be cut by 30 per cent.

Obviously no such saving can be brought about unless non-essential civil service jobs are eliminated to bring down the governmental overhead.

The job-hunters in every quarter who are demanding that the patronage system should be restored are overlooking the very heart of Mr. Hepburn's election platform, that he would cut down the expense of administration in two.

To merely substitute a Liberal civil servant for a Conservative official will not help the Premier-elect in the least to solve the problem and fully discharge his pre-election pledges; under the circumstances, therefore, those who are real friends of Mr. Hepburn will refrain from embarrassing him by persistently clamoring for jobs.

If he is to succeed he must have a free hand to carry out his policies, and certainly his hands will not be free if he is handicapped by a horde of hungry office-seekers, animated only with the desire to feather their own nest and careless about what happens to Mr. Hepburn or his new Government.

The Globe's appeal for consideration of this most important point was both timely and necessary; certainly those who are looking out for their own selfish interest are giving their leader little help or co-operation.

REQUIRES CAREFUL CONSIDERATION.

The lack of speed in introducing freer sale of wine and beer in Ontario is being received very patiently, and few persons seem to be disappointed over the fact that beer by the glass is not yet available.

On the contrary, there are many people who apparently feel that if Mr. Hepburn never puts the new Liquor Act into force the province will be all the better for the failure, and more than one Ontario newspaper has given expression to the opinion that there are greater problems before the province than making it easy to get a drink.

While this feeling must be acknowledged, The Examiner cannot see how the new administration can reasonably be expected to do anything else but to have the changes in the Liquor Control Act made effectivs as soon as is possible, inasmuch as Mr. Hepburn repeatedly pledged himself to that effect during the campaign.

At the same time, however, having regard to the fact that these changes were very indefinitely worded in the bill introduced by the Henry Government, and that everything depends upon the manner in which the measure is administered, it would be wisdom on the part of the new Government to give this legislation careful consideration before committing itself to a policy that might be offensive to the majority of the people of the province.

Changes in the existing regulations should be very cannily made, for there was nothing in the election results to justify the opinion that Ontario wants wide-open liquor laws.

CANADIAN MANUFACTURES.

The highly developed and firmly based nature of Canada's manufacturing industry is stressed in a recent article in Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada, the monthly review published by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Manufacturing, as a matter of fact, accounts for two-thirds of the gross value and three-fifths of the net value of production in the Dominion; again, about three-fifths of Canadian exports are manufactured products.

Although a young country, Canada ranks high in world trade in a number of manufactures.

She holds first position in newsprint exports, exceeding, in fact, all other countries together.

In wheat flour her exports stand third, in wood pulp and automobiles fourth and in rubber tires sixth. In addition, her contribution to world trade is outstanding in farm implements and rubber footwear. She is the second largest manufacturing country in the British Empire.

The leading group of Canadian manufactures, measured by the gross value of output, is based upon vegetable raw materials. With the exception of rubber, coffee and spices, sugar factories and rice mills, industries of this group are dependent mainly on domestic farm products, and Canadian beets are supplying an increasing portion of the sugar produced.

In 1932 the gross production of this group was valued at $436 millions out of a total manufacturing production of $2,136 millions. The largest industry in the group is flour and feed mills, which in 1932 had an output valued at $84,746,000. This industry normally finds about half its market in the export trade.

Other industries which contribute largely to the export trade are rubber and distilleries, and there is a considerable export of refined sugar. Second position in the group is held by bread and bakery products, followed by sugar refineries, rubber, breweries, biscuits and confectionery and tobacco and cigarettes. More than half the raw leaf used in the Canadian tobacco industry is now grown in the Dominion. The animal products group of industries, which ranks fourth, is closely associated with agriculture, its chief industry being slaughtering and meat packing, with butter and cheese second. Both these industries export largely, but the greater part of their production is consumed at home. The boot and shoe industry, third in this group, sells chiefly in the domestic market, which it mainly supplies.

WHEN SOME BUSINESS MEN CRITICIZE

MacLean's Magazine has been waging a campaign against the expenditures of governments, against high taxes. It is a worthy cause. Yet a worthy cause, or a just one, may be ruined by exaggeration, or by ignorance, or by unfairness, and the Journal fears that MacLean's has been betrayed into all three.

In its current issue, for example, MacLean's quotes from the letter of "the president of a long-established, well-conducted and highly regarded Canadian business," as follows:

"None of us who have any business brains would countenance for one moment in our own business what has been going on with regard to the finances of our different governments."

Now the business man who wrote this may know much about business; what he writes shows clearly that he knows nothing about government. Incidentally, the emphasis which MacLean's places upon his letter indicates that MacLean's knows very little about government.

No just comparison can be made between the financial administration of a business and the financial administration of a government. Why? Simply because while the financial administration of a business is subject only to the dictates and the financial profits and needs of a limited number of shareholders, all with a common object, the financial administration of a government is subject, must be subject, to the different needs, demands and vicissitudes of millions of citizens. In other words, while a private business is concerned solely with the profits of a few, or with the safeguarding of the investments of a few, government is as wide as humanity, must concern itself with the lives and the property of millions, with their protection and their progress, with their moral and physical well-being. A moment's thought about that ought to prohibit foolish, superficial talk about running a government, financially, as a business man runs a business.

When a business runs into a period of depression, when its gross earnings begin to decline below its cost of operation, what does it do? It curtails operating costs, reduces overhead, dismisses its employees. If necessary, indeed, it closes down.

Can a government do that? If this "president of a long-established, well conducted Canadian business" thinks that it can, then he must be profoundly ignorant of what has been taking place in Canada since 1931. He cannot have heard of the scores of millions of dollars which the Dominion Government has had to pay out these past four years to save people from want, or starvation. Or of the millions paid out by the provinces, including this province of Ontario. Or of millions paid by municipalities.

But there appear to be other things of which this president of a "well-conducted business" is curiously ignorant. He appears to be unaware of the $50,000,000 which the Government of Canada must pay for soldiers' pensions. He seems not to have heard of such things as old age pensions, paid for by the Dominion and the provinces; of provincial social services, such as mothers' allowance, workmen's compensation acts, health and welfare services, hospitals, and so forth. Yet all of these things, far removed from the profit motive, and no part of the finances of private business, are the concerns of government.

People who pose as being superior to politicians, as being far above them in brains and knowledge, ought to be able to think of these things; ought to have the information to criticise intelligently and the mental equipment to reason logically. They are devoid of all of these qualities when they talk in the slipshod manner of MacLean's great business witness.

Finally, it isn't true that business men don't often borrow to pay the interest on other borrowings. Nor is it true that they always balance their budgets. Despite the fact that they are free of the demands made upon governments, that their task is infinitely lighter, they have not always shown wisdom adequate to their responsibilities. One thinks of the appalling mess which these great masters of business and finance made of the newsprint industry, to quote but one example.

Truly, a lot of people with even a casual knowledge of government must be becoming weary of the sort of criticism which so-called business magnates are eternally levelling at governments. Nine-tenths of it betrays nothing more than that the critics are pathetically ignorant of the principles and difficulties of government.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The British tennis championship, like the golf title, has been regained by Great Britain. All credit to Fred Perry, undoubtedly the world's greatest amateur player of the present day.

No date has been set for Mr. Hepburn's sale of Government automobiles, and in the meanwhile the used car market seems to be keeping reasonably steady.

Hon. Peter Heenan, who is returning to Ontario politics as Minister of Labor, is to sit for Kenora, which means that Earl Hutchinson, the Labor-Liberal member for that riding, will probably find himself named for a civil service appointment.

There is sharp criticism of the proposal that the one-man liquor control commission should be made a member of the Cabinet. As a matter of fact, that policy is a queer way of taking the liquor question out of politics.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

Dominion Day was spent very quietly in this berg, the only fireworks being supplied when Mister K. Lee, the peppery pilot of the village ball club was chucked outo the game by a empire. Incidentally Mister Lee made the only speech of the day, so far as your scribe has gleaned.

After 5 months at Ottawa, east of here, Ed. Peck, our Federal member, is looking forward to some home cooking. Parliament having shut down Tues. last. Welcome home, Ed, say we, neighborly.

Beer by the glass aint been sold—at least openly—in these parts as yet, Mitch Hepburn not having took over the reins of office from Geo. Henry of Oriole P.O., south west of us.

Many horseless carriages from the U.S., well to the south of here, has been noticed in our midst and business in some lines has noticeably picked up, your scribe is glad to report.

Fish stories as yet is scare and so far none of the customers has strung along a sample of the finny tribe for the critical inspection of the staff of this great family journal.

The village council has ordered Wat. Stocker, our parks' chairman, to put the benches back in Confederation Sq., which is where they ought never have been took from, submit we.

The good ship Stoney Lake has been steaming hither and yon with picnics recently, the navigation season being now in full swing, so to speak. Orange peels and pasteboard boxes mark the route of the steamer's meanderings, we add, as a helpful navigation note.

A Thought

MORE ROOM!

We want more room to sleep and play
Than slum and alley give,
More chance to see the dawning day,
More space to breathe and live—
A wider, higher, fuller chance
For decent lives and love's romance.

We want more room for broader thought
Than narrow laws afford,
Since ignorance, with hatred frought,
Oft flies to fire and sword.
And stern suppression of the mind
Makes men to their own welfare blind.

We want more room for love than fear,
More room for good than ill,
More room for all that's sweet and dear,
For learning, science, skill;
To space and time no end is found;
This only human souls are bound.

Foreign Affairs

CHINA
Is Japan Concerned About China's Welfare?

The Chinese are a virile race. Two historic facts are beyond dispute. The Chinese nation is the largest in numbers of all the nations of the earth. Their civilisation is the oldest continuous civilization on our globe. The virility of the race is indisputable. So great is the physical vitality of the Chinese that they have captured industries and trades from the Russians in Vladivostock and along the Trans-Siberian Railway. They have led in industries and commerce in competition with Japanese, and Indians, and Arabians, and Europeans, and Americans in every neutral port in Malaysia.

The Chinese probably can labor more continuously under extremes of heat and cold than any other people on earth.

But this is not all of the story of Chinese virility. The virility has not remained virile. Opium was an infliction on China at the hands of civilised nations. Opium always lowers the vitality of the user. Lowered vitality opens the doors of the body to ever-in-waiting diseases. Malaria has carried off millions of the Chinese people. Tuberculosis has wrought terrible havoc in the ranks of lowered vitality. Venereal diseases have been very prevalent. Opium and intoxicants have increased lust. Make a note of this fact. Drugs and Chinese cigarettes, and intoxicants, make for lust, and deplete physical resistance to disease. They of reckoning is sure to come to all those who companion with these foes of health and sobriety.

But the story lengthens. Gambling among the Chinese has become as prevalent as opium and intoxicants. Their habits of thrift are demoralized. Their industry interfered with by gambling and inebriety. There are many young men walking about Peterborough whose habits of thrift have been destroyed by the same kind of debilitants that curse the Chinese people and make them a prey to the Japanese. Intoxicants and sexual lust bring in their train a loathing against work. The Chinese are racially a plodding, thrifty people. Vice has crippled them a prey to the Japanese. Vices never fail to affect character and industrial efficiency. For adultery the penalty in China for thousands of years has been death. An adulterer is the greatest menace to the homes in any community. Punishment for this crime is swift in China. It ought to be in this Canada of ours.

China has at last become self conscous. The vices that have cursed are now attacked with vigor. Missions and hospitals and clinics are working miracles of recovery and morale. There is a nation-wide demand for the extension of the public school system. China has waked up. The call for occidental books and literature of all kinds is persistent. So unanimous is the response from all parts of the country to the new way of life, unconsciously, China is being knit together as never before. Japan is afraid of a united China. Never in the past has China been coherent. Christianity is doing for China just what it did for a certain man of sand.

Foreign loans made to China by American and Britain have created resentment in Japan. America has loaned money to China to purchase wheat and cotton. A loan in war time to an enemy of Japan could nat have aroused more hatred. Still more incensed has Japan grown with the news that Chinese have purchased a good supply of the best American fighting planes. The purchase was made on a deferred payment plan. Japan has protested. If America were to say to Japan, "You agree to stay out of China, and we will agree to sell her no more fighting planes," Japan would think twice before adventuring further offensive action.

China is building a strong air force. Skilled men like Hawks have been secured to give instruction. The Chinese are taking to the air just as devotedly as they have for centuries been habituated to the earth. With trained air forces China will become within two years supreme in Asia. The loan secured is ample to purchase fighting planes in such numbers that every part of China will have a defensive force within reach. The loyal Chinese have been practising a bit with their planes. Bandits, and other domestic foes have been routed and driven to cover promptly. China was infested with this class of desperadoes before the adventure into the battlefield of the air. As soon as young China can handle a plane he is sure to ask for a commission to hunt out the hiding places of the law breakers. Domestic peace such as China has never enjoyed before is being rapidly established in all parts of the nation.

Readers of The Examiner have queried the reason why Japan does not approve the counsel of the League of Nations. The League of Nations condemned Japan's actions in Manchuria and Manchukou. The League demanded that Japan keep her hand off China's territory China is making her great struggle. If the task of unifying all her many millions of people can be successfully accomplished within five years her future is certain. China to do so must have financial, and other help just as important. A Japanese general prophesied, "When China realises that she can get no help against Japan she will fall into our hands."

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

North Battleford, Saskatchewan

This city, a sister of Battleford, on the south side of the river, was the first capital of the North West Territories, which it held from 1877 to 1883, when the site was moved to Regina.

The city takes its name from its position at the "ford of battle," the river crossing used by the Indians during their sorties in the early days.

This city began an amazing growth when the Canadian National railroad built its Winnipeg-Edmonton line through here instead of on the south side of the river.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

THE DEFEAT OF TICONDEROGA.

On July 8, 1758, the British met with one of the worst defeats in their history in America. Montcalm, then at the height of his military power in New France, had invaded British territory, captured the point of Ticonderoga, changed its name to Carillon, and erected a very strong fort. General Abercrombie, with 6,000 regulars and 2,000 militia, moved up the Hudson to attack the French garrison; but they had been warned of his coming. A chance shot spoiled the British plans. Lord Howe and Robert Rogers, with a party of Rangers, were in the van.

Suddenly they came in contact with a small party of French, lost in the bush. Caught between two divisions of the British army, few of the French escaped; but in the skirmish Lord Howe fell and the loss to our side could scarcely be measured in regiments. Abercrombie might have brought up his artillery and battered the French fort to pieces, or he could have kept Montcalm at bay with a part of his overwhelming numbers, marched the rest to a point higher up Lake Champlain and sat there until he had starved out the whole French army, which had provisions for only eight days.

Instead he sent his troops (Professor W. L. Grant emphasizes the word "sent" by adding "he did not lead them") to the attack. The French fought gallantly behind a wooden stockade, on the summit of a slope which they had strewn with boughs of trees and sharpened stakes in the ground. Montcalm and deLevis were everywhere.

English, Scotch and Americans strove in vain to get at the enemy. Where all were brave the newly formed Highland regiments were the bravest. They tore down the boughs with their naked hands, pushed their way to the foot of the breastwork, climbed it in little disordered clusters, only to be shot down or bayonetted. Between noon and 7 p.m., there were no fewer than six general charges. Then, as twilight came on, Abercrombie, who had passed his time a mile and a quarter to the rear, saw that even with such troops he could not prevail and gave the order to retreat. Nearly 2,000 officers and men had fallen. The Black Watch went into battle 1,000 strong; they came out with 400. Abercrombie still had 13,000 men and his cannon, but neither he nor his army (under such a chief) were in a mood to try again. He retreated to Lake George and entrenched himself there against attack from a foe one-third his number. But on July 25 the following year, Jeffery Amherst captured the fort from the French and drove them back to Ile aux Noix on the Richelieu. It was taken by Ethan Allen in 1775 but recaptured by Burgoyne in 1777 and remained in British hands until after the revolution's end.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

THE GULF.

There is a gulf in every human being's life between what he knows and what he does.

If he is happy, the gulf is no wider than a small ditch and he can jump across it.

If he is unhappy, it is wider than the Grand Canyon, wider than the ocean, and he stands on its brink, shades his eyes, and stares mournfully across its vasty deeps.

And wonders, self-torturing and self-complaining, why he fails so miserably to achieve his heart's desires.

He would be strong. He would be kind. He would be brave. He would be thoughtful and self-constrained and less ill-tempered. . . . Why does he fail so often and so completely?

He knows better. Always he knows better. He sees the right thing to do. It shines before him like the mid-day sun. It welcomes him, entreats him, promises him. Then why can't he always do it? Why does that demon of perversity, of pride, of weakness, sit at the center of him and direct him wrongly, so heart-breakingly lead him astray?

Almost any man (or woman) ought to know better than this, ought to be strong enough to do as he KNOWS best. . . . Then what is the name of that demon that drives him away from his deeper wisdom? If only he could name it then he might be able to challenge it and conquer it.

Is it Self-Pity, perhaps? Is it Cowardice? Is it Stupidity? Is it some untamed savagery out of the ungovernable past? Is it a wild Egotism that refuses to be bound by even the best of laws?

It is a mystery, but some men fight their way through to its solution, span the great gulf and win happiness for themselves. But other men fail to narrow the space between what they know and what they do, moan firfully forever on the brink, weep bitter tears, wave their arms wildly, grope self-pityingly or self-accusingly through the hard remnants of their lives.

by John Leeson on the Warsaw Road, the cement from the Canada Cement Company at Lakefield, and lumber from the Peterborough Lumber Company.

Real Difficulties

In the construction of the dam, the contractors overcame some real difficulties. One of the chief problems was in "unwatering." However, they were successful in completing the main portion of the structure in one season.

Starting early in May last year they built their cofferdam at the westerly end of the work, and by August 31 had completed this portion and were approximately 40 per cent of the way across the river. To accomplish this, they had to cut through and remove several old structures, remnants of the old dismantled Otonabee powerhouse. Immediately after completing this portion they started to build a cofferdam to enable to finish the balance of the work and by the middle of October had started concreting operations on the second portion.

Hole in Bed of River

In the second section, they encountered a very large hole in the bed of the river, where the water had washed out a deep, and very irregularly shaped excavation of 22 feet depth in places. Before work stopped last December the contractors had brought the job safely above any danger from high water. All the work this summer has been above the water, with the exception of one sluiceway. This particular sluiceway is expected to be finished by the middle of the month, and is the last of the concrete necessary in the dam's construction.

It is possible that the work of removing the old dam will be postponed until more favorable water conditions exist.

In accomplishing the construction of the dam in the time taken, The Examiner was reliably informed that the contractor, W. J. Kitt, of North Bay, has shown remarkable skill and energy, and has completed one of the finest pieces of work on the whole Trent system.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Egg prices tended easier, and trading was light on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday.

On the egg market prices were down ½c to 1c per dozen, graded shipments in carlots or less being 21c to 22c a dozen for A-large, 20c to 21c for A-medium, 19½c to 20c for "B," and 19c for "C." Receipts were 1,485 cases.

Butter held steady, fresh No. 1 being quoted at 19c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers brought 20c to 21c a pound for solids, and 21c to 22c for prints. Arrivals were 3,116 boxes.

On the cheese market, Ontario colored was unchanged, being 10⅝c to 10¾c a pound, while Quebec cheese was 10c to 10¼c a pound, off ¼c a pound. Receipts totalled 6,055 boxes.

Potatoes remained unchanged in price. New Brunswick Mountains bringing 80c to 85c per 80-pound bag; Quebec Whites, 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains, $1 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Tightening up of the wheat market as a whole resulted yesterday from the fact that wheat available for immediate use was bringing a liberal premium.

The price of immediate delivery wheat went to the highest point in 15 years, as compared with future delivery contracts. Wonder was expressed in some quarters as to where the Chicago market would be able to obtain any large quantity of cash wheat after the prevailing movement from Illinois and Indiana was ended.

Rallying late in the day from early losses, wheat futures closed irregular, ½c lower to ½c higher than Thursday's finish; corn, ½c to 1¼c down; oats at ¼c to ⅝c decline, and provisions showing 2c to 7c [illegible].

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 7. — Impetus given by buying against export sales sent wheat futures prices climbing in the late dealings yesterday to close ⅝c to ½c higher on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

With selling pressure less pronounced than usual, values had little difficulty retaining their gains, the July delivery closing at 76⅝c, October 78¼c to 78⅝c, and December 79½c.

Sales of Canadian wheat, including a quantity for Vancouver shipment, totalled 500,000 bushels, the best for some time. Reports of frost and dangerously low temperatures over a wide area in Saskatchewan and Alberta also imparted steadiness.

Improvement wa shown in cash grains, with good demand in evidence. Coarse grains were steady.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(A.P.)—The stock market dozed through the greater part of to-day's brief proceedings and prices, with the exception of scattered issues, held to a small fractional range. It was another one of the dullest sessions in the past 10 years, transfers approximating only 170,000 shares. The close was steady.

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, July 7.—(CP)—Six of the cheaper gold shares and Big Missouri, a base metal mainly, accounted for the bulk of the business in today's short session of the mining section, Toronto Stock Exchange. The big gold shares continued in the same slow motion that have characterized their performance over recent weeks.

Central Patricia, a heavy trader in recent sessions at higher prices dropped back to 86 today under profit-taking for a loss of 7 cents. It touched 98 on its rise early in the week. B.R.X. pushed up on good turnover to 1.40 for a gain of 9 cents. Little Long Lac held steady at .30.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, July 7. — (CP) — Strength of the past few days was somewhat dissipated by issues on the Montreal Stock Exchange and prices were mixed at the close of the abbreviated session today. International Nickel was up ¼ at 25¾. McColl Frontenac gained ¼ at 13¼. Canadian Industrial Alcohol 'A' advanced ¼ at 8¾. Consolidated Smelting, Bank of Montreal, Dryden and Quebec Power were fractions better.

Montreal Power declined ¼ at 34¾. Canada Steamships preferred way down ½ at 6.

REID ACCEPTS PREMIER'S POST

Informs Saskatchewan's Governor He Will Take Over Office Tuesday.

NO CABINET HINTS.

EDMONTON, July 7 (CP)—Hon. R. G. Reid, named by a party caucus to take over the leadership of the United Farmers of Alberta Government, to-day notified Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor, he will accept the Premiership, vacated by Hon. J. E. Brownlee, and that he would be ready by Tuesday next to take oath of office.

"In answer to your formal invitation," he wrote, "to accept the office as Premier and chairman of the Executive Council, I may say that I have decided to accept this responsibility.

"I cannot say definitely when it will be possible for the new ministers to take oaths of office. I am, however, endeavoring to arrange it so that it will be possible for this to happen on Tuesday next, July 10."

Resignation of Premier Brownlee came early this week after a Supreme Civil Court jury awarded damages to Vivian MacMillan, Edson, Alta., former Government stenographer, in a civil suit alleging seduction. Chief Justice W. C. Ives later turned aside the award.

The Lieutenant-Governor notified Mr. Reid Thursday that Premier Brownlee's resignation would not be accepted until Mr. Reid was ready to act. To-day there was no indication who Mr. Reid would include in his cabinet. Opinion was split as to whether he would continue with the present cabinet or make changes.

Difference of Opinion

OTTAWA, July 7 (CP)—A. R. Mosher, President of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor and Eastern Canada representative of the Canadian Civil Liberties Protective Association, said to-day he agreed with the association's advisory board the Edmonton executive overstepped the bounds in sponsoring a MacMillan appeal fund. To raise funds for an appeal to the Privy Council in the MacMillan-Brownlee case was not in keeping with the objects of the association, Mosher said.

TRACTOR PARTY TO INVADE BUSH

North Alberta Town Holds Holiday as Millionaire's Expedition Arrives.

1,100 MILE TRIP.

CLYDE, Alta., July 7 (CP)—This little Alberta hamlet was decked out in holiday regalia to-day to welcome a party of modern explorers. The entire village turned out to welcome a tractor expedition headed by Charles E. Bedeux, millionaire sportsman and bound for the Rocky Mountains to explore and study in a scientific manner.

Heralded by the chug-chug of five fast-moving tractors the expedition arrived here from Edmonton, first stop on their 1,100-mile journey to Telegraph Creek. From Fort St. John, the powerful machines will nose their way into the mountainous country across soft muskegs and over steep mountain sides to hunt, explore and study plant and fossil life.

The five machines, loaded with supplies rolled over the 48-mile gravelled highway from Edmonton at a speed of 18 miles an hour. From the point they will journed to Deas Lake, 150 miles down the Pass and continue on to telegraph Creek where they will unite with two advance parties.

The journey is expected to occupy three months.

Hitler Guards Nab Prominent Leader

MUNICH, Germany, July 7 (CP).—Theodore Duesterberg, former steel helmet troop leader and a candidate for President of Germany in 1932, is in a concentration camp at Dachau after his seizure by Chancellor Hitler's picked guards last Sunday, it was learned to-day from a reliable source.

Duesterberg was spending a vacation at Badkrueth in the Tegernsee district when he was hauled out of bed at 1 a.m. by a squad of Hitlerites. He was taken to the nearest secret police headquarters, and after a long hearing was carried back to his boarding-house and permitted to pack his clothes. Then he was taken to Dachau.

His arrest was believed to have been unauthorized. Sources here said it was inconceivable that Duesterberg was connected with a storm troop conspiracy against Hitler.

THROWN THROUGH WINDSHIELDS

NORTH BAR, Ont.—Miss Sophia Lavine of Kirkland Lake was in hospital here to-day with minor injuries suffered in an automobile acident on the Ferguson Highway near Baechler's mills.

It was believed she was thrown against the windshield of a car driven by Harry Poleval of Toronto when the car crashed into a highway grader after a cloud of dust blocked the driver's view.

Fenner and Beane.—"We believe greater confidence is warranted in making purchases in representative issues in anticipation of further recovery to better average price levels.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Before this market can have a sustained advance under an active volume of trading there must first occur a distinct change in the outlook. This can be brought about in one or two ways either by some unexpectedly favorable development or overnight news to fire the hopes and imaginations of speculators, or in the quiet accumulation which is now taking place results in a low but gradual mark up in prices, then an active interest would be stimulated and directed to the idea of getting aboard.

It is not likely that business news over the next week or two will furnish the needed ammunition. Neither is it probable that the administration will do anything spectacular in the field of money inflation perhaps before the latter part of August or early September.

Some accumulation is taking place among the leading oil stocks. While conditions in this industry are not wholly sound an improvement has been recorded and further progress is likely. Among the more attractive are Phillips Pete, Atlantic Refining, Standard Oil of N.J., Cons. Oil of Del., Midcontinent Pete.

Tape indications are that liquidation is taking place in Cons. Gas, a switch from Gas into Kennecott Copper, while entailing a reduction in yield should result in an appreciable improvement in capital amount. A switch from "CG" into Cons. Oil appears advisable. That distribution is being accomplished in Cream of Wheat. That a further advance up around 50 mark may be recorded by General Cigar.

Quarter Of Million Saw Historic Relics Of Old Automobiles

OSHAWA, Ont., July 7—After being the centre of attraction for three days at the Toronto Centennial Relics Exhibition, the much-admired group of old vehicles collected by General Motors of Canada, Limited, goes into temporary retirement to appear again at the Canadian National Exhibition. Nearly a quarter of a million people saw the historic collection, which included gas buggies dating back to 1902, and representative cars through the decades to the present. The collection, it is understood, is to be the nucleus of a permanent automotive museum with a special building of its own at the General Motors of Canada plant here.

Centennial authorities were loud in their praise of the old vehicle display. The individual units span the whole period from the horse-drawn era down to the mechanical wonders of present-day motoring ....really little more than a quarter of a century, but a thousand years measured by the yardstick of progress.

The horse-drawn vehicles include a democrat made by Robert McLaughlin, at Enniskillen in 1866—thirty-five years or more before Mr. McLaughlin dreamed that he would be one of the pioneer automobile makers of the Dominion. Among the cars are a curved-dash Oldsmobile of 1903; a one-cylinder Cadillac of 1905; a two-cylinder McLaughlin-Buick of 1908; an early Chevrolet Six; and a specimen of the celebrated Chevrolet "490."

These cars were picked up from various parts of Canada, and it is believed that valuable additions will be forthcoming from distant parts of the Dominion where "rare old automobiles" have been reported.

MANNERS WILL USE MARMORA

home of Stanley Pearce, a life-long friend. He admitted he was still a Canadian at heart, although he had a strong liking for California.

Friend of Marie Dressler.

"Canada is very dear to me," he said. "I know Marie Dressler, one of our most beloved stars, personally, and it was quite a blow to me when I learned that her condition was critical. In fact it has somewhat marred my holiday.

"I don't like to commit myself, but George Arliss is one of our greatest actors," he said, when asked to give his opinion of various stars. "Lionel Barrymore is always Lionel Barrymore and that is not acting. As for John Barrymore, I wouldn't give my opinion of him for publication. Clark Gable is one of my closest friends. We have spent several week-ends together and he is just a regular fellow. He owes his success to dogged persistence. He has fought every inch of the way to the top and is fighting right now to maintain his position. We both like to get away from everything, and for that reason we go hunting and fishing together often. His favorite hobby is riding, and he is an excellent rider.

Asked if he was married or had ever had a serious love affair, he said, "Use your own imagination."

Manners, whose real name, Rauf Aklom, and who is 32 years old, considers that the screen suffers from being more business than art. He admitted that he rarely goes to see a picture, and that he had not seen the last picture in which he himself played. After three years under contract to Warners Brothers, he is at present free lancing.

The screen has produced two genii, in his opinion—Charlie Chaplin and Mickey Mouse.

Lady Diana Manners, a cousin of his mother, was responsible for his screen name, he replied. He has been fishing and camping at Crow Lake, north of here.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, July 7 (C.P.).—To-day's industrial share market of the Toronto Exchange was the prize laggard of the summer so far, less than 5,000 shares turning over up till the last few minutes, when a big block of brewers and distillers was dumped on the market.

Brewers and Distillers sold down a little on a report that the company was in difficulties over alleged illegal shipments into Washington State. It sold off 10 cents to 1.15. Industrial Alcohol lost ⅛, Walkers Common and Distillers Seagrams were unchanged.

The oils closed unchanged in slow trading.

PARALYSIS OF LIMBS

KITCHENER, Ont.—A Kitchener 11-year-old child suffered complete paralysis of arms and legs as a result of infantile paralysis only three hours after complaining of a slight illness. The family physician was called immediately difficulty was seen developing in the child's limbs. The parents were taken off their guard by the slightness of the illness of which the child complained before paralysis set in. The child was stricken early in the week but the Health Department delayed announcement until to-day. This is the first case reported here in two years, but it is very severe.

MOUNTAIN CITY RUNNER SCORES BRILLIANT WIN

Audrey Dearnley Almost Equals World Record in 60 Metres Senior Final.

IN EMPIRE TRIALS.

Irene Grinkle, of Winnipeg, Romps Home First in Intermediate Event.

LONDON, Ont., July 7. —(CP)— Audrey Dearnley of Hamilton scored a brilliant victory here today in the 60 metres senior final at the women's British Empire Games trials, winning by inches from Betty White, a teammate and Phyllis Ford of Montreal. Her time was 7.8 seconds, one fifth of a second slower than the world's' record.

The co-favorite with Miss Dearnley in the event, Hilda Strike of Montreal, withdrew at the last minute, deciding to save her strength for the 100 yard Empire trial event this afternoon. Mary Frizzell of Vancouver, a 1932 Olympian, failed to place, finishing fourth.

Early Lead Overcome

Miss Ford, a great starter, led up to the 40 metre mark before the sensational Hamilton pair edged up beside here. They fought it out to the tape, Miss Dearnley barely beating out Miss White with Miss Ford another scant foot behind.

Irene Grinke of Winnipeg, a newcomer to national competition, won the intermediate 60 meters final in another blanket finish. The dark haired western star led from start to finish, staving off a final drive by Audrey Stanton of Swansea, to finish a foot in front. Thelma Norris of Calgary, never more than a yard behind the leader, was scarcely more than a foot back of Miss Stanton, at the tape, to place third.

Miss Grinke's time was 8.2 seconds.

Toronto's junior aces Edna Jorran and Jeanette Dolson, ran one-two in the junior 60 metres final. Defending the title she won last summer, at Vancouver, Miss Dolson was unable to match speed with her young teammate after the half way mark. Miss Jordan won by two yards. Doris Haylock, of Montreal, was third.

The favorites started to fall early. Mary Vandervliet of New Liskeard, Ont., member of the last Olympic team, failing to qualify in the first heat of the senior 220 yards. Lillian Palmer of Vancouver won in 25.9 seconds, with Irene Storey of Toronto at her shoulder. Myrtle Lamb of Toronto was a good third, with Miss Vandervleit several yards back. Miss Palmer led all the way easing up in the last 30 yards.

Eilene Meagher of Halifax had an easy time winning the other 220 yards heat. She was six yards in front of Hilda Cameron of Toronto at the tape with Agnes Morris of Hamilton third. Miss Meagher's time of 25.6 seconds broke the Canadian record, held jointly by herself and Miss Morris, by one fifth of a second.

New Cabinet Ready When Henry Quits

ROCHE'S POINT, Ont. July 7 (C.P.) — Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario said to-day he was ready to announce his cabinet line-up as soon as the Conservative government defeated in the recent election resigns.

Mr. Hepburn said he had not asked Premier George S. Henry for any time to form his cabinet before taking offide. "It was Mr. Henry who asked me for two weeks and fixed the date," he added. "We were prepared to take over the government that day," June 29.

Mr. Hepburn said he was prepared to announce his cabinet any time such an announcement was desired.

The Premier-elect and Arthur G. Slaght, his energetic supporter during the election campaign, are spending a holiday here at the Lake Simcoe summer home of Frank P. O'Connor.

BY ART MURRAY

TOMMY GORMAN has run afoul of the New York state racing commission by the form of wagering he is using at his Syracuse meeting. He was told at the start that the only form of betting that was legal was through the bookmakers but he has been selling option tickets which are similar to our own mutuel system. The public are all with him as the prices have been higher than the bookmakers were willing to lay. They are having a special meeting right away to deal with this matter and we will see what we shall see.

While we are speaking of Syracuse we notice where our old friend Angry Lass is down there also Uncle Hood. These two should each take down a purse shortly. Len Sweep is at Mount Royal and looks headed for a winning effort, also her stable mate Mythical Lore. Frank Higgins expects to win a purse with Swagger Stick in the near future. Master Bobbie who won recently at Dufferin looks as if he might gather in another heat shortly. It is beginning to look as if there is something seriously wrong with Broadway Lights. He has not shown a thing since he was badly cut at Windsor last August but it may be that they are slowly bringing him around and not urging him too hard.

THE HORSES at Fort Erie are running pretty well to form which makes the regular form players smile. Its when they start dropping from the clouds that sends the dyed-in-the wool fans home talking to themselves. But the plant officials are having their own troubles, it seems there are plenty of hides on the grounds but it looks as if the saliva test which is in vogue at this track, makes the owners afraid to enter their charges. In fact on Wednesday of this week the entries were not released from the secretary's office until after 3 p.m.

Semester which has been winning quite regularly lately is developing into a real horse. Up until recently he was considered only as a sprinter but now he can go as well over any distance. Crystal Beach is a right smart two-year-old and as the beach he is called after, is quite close to the Fort Erie track it would seem to us to be the proper place to earn a set of brackets. They are staging the Statler Hotel handicap today and it looks like a battle between Crout An Pot and Khorasan with Miss Monos having a chance also.

SOLLS GILLS is making his first appearance today and will probably need a race or two to get tightened up but from then on watch his smoke. He belongs to Willie Morrissey and that should be recommendation enough. Tullihoo, one of Eddie Seagram's flashes has been finishing far back lately but before long she will come to life with a bang.

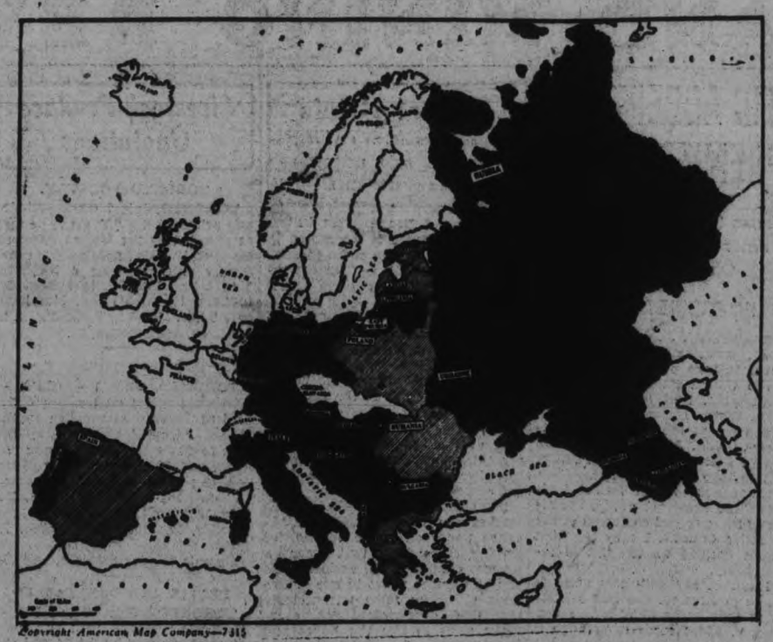
Press Of Ten European Nations Completely Muzzled



Copyright American Map Company—7315

Albin E. Johnson, Geneva correspondent for Editor and Publisher magazine, reveals the amazing fact that 300 million people of Europe (including Russia) are today living under the iron rule of censorship. This amounts to 74 per cent of the total population. Few nations now have absolute freedom of the press, those that do, finding constant pressure being brought to bear. This means that only 26 per cent of the population of Europe rules the other 74 per cent. There is press dictatorship in Italy, Germany, Austria, Russia, Portugal, Bulgario, Jugoslavia, Hungary, Albania and Lithuania. The nations who are fast slipping toward press muzzling are Poland Rumania, Greece, Spain, Esthonia and Latvia. In each of these many nations, the people are asked to read only what the rulers deem good for them to read; the paper are no longer told what not to print, but what to print. A recent sample occurred in Germany when at the height of the Nazi uprising in that country a Berlin paper published a front page leading illustrated article on how children were starving in Russia, and how France was torn by strikes. The Nazi revolution was dismissed in a few curt lines. In the above map, the black indicates absolute censorship, shaded areas, partial, and white, free press.

Presentation Made To Norham Teacher

CAMPBELLFORD, July 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The activities of Norham School were fittingly brought to a close on Friday afternoon when the children and their mothers met with the teacher, Miss Violet Patrick, for a weiner roast and social hour. During the afternoon Ferne Wilson and Doris Platt presented Miss Patrick with a lovely silver dish, and Gladys Menzies read an address, to which Miss Patrick replied thanking the children for their thoughtfulness.

The afternoon was brought to a close by the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

On Monday evening a number of the young people entertained Miss Patrick with a marshmallow roast.

A Mr. Shirt was married in London recently to a Miss Pants.

GLOBE DELIVERY TRUCK WRECKED

Machine Goes Out of Control on Lindsay-Oakwood Highway—Driver Cut by Glass.

RE-UNION, CAMBRAY '12TH.'

LINDSAY, July 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Toronto Globe delivery truck, which operates between Toronto and Lindsay, was almost completely wrecked on the Lindsay, Oakwood Highway yesterday. The truck, it is said, got out of control and turned turtle on the highway. The driver suffered only minor cuts from flying glass.

The village of Cambray will be the scene of a big Orange celebration on the Twelfth of July for the first time in sixty years. It will also be the occasion of an Old Boys' reunion.

Marjorie Bee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bee, of Toronto, who are summering at Fenelon Falls, met with a serious accident this week when an automobile collided with a bicycle which she was riding. The young girl's leg was broken, and she also sustained cuts and bruises on the face and hands. Ruth Webster, of the same village, while running in the yard at her home on Wednesday, fell and broke her arm for the second time within two months.

Roy Eager, a pupil of the Victoria School, while playing on the campus on Thursday afternoon, fell heavily to the ground, breaking his arm in two places.

A popular young resident of Kinmount, in the person of Patrick J. Mansfield, aged 25 years, passed away in Toronto General Hospital a few days ago. The deceased is survived by his parents, two sisters and four brothers. Interment took place in the Galway Catholic Cemetery, after solemn Requiem Mass had been chanted by Rev. Father Walsh.

The death took place in Toronto on Thursday night of Ellen Hurley, widow of the late P. J. Hurley, a former local merchant. The deceased, who has many relatives in Lindsay and Peterborough, is survived by one daughter, Mary, teacher; and two sons, Dr. John Hurley and Clare Hurley of Toronto, and two brothers and two sisters residing in Lindsay.

The funeral of the late Samuel Hollingsworth, father of Eddie Hollingsworth of Peterborough, took place here Friday afternoon under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. and Sons of England. The deceased, who was in his 82nd year, was in the employ of the G.T.R. and later the C.N.R. for forty years. He is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters.

Maple Leafs Fall To Keene Maidens

Keene defeated Maple Leafs, 12-8, in a snappy girls' softball game last night in Keene. The homesters put the tilt on ice by shoving across three markers in the seventh inning. Up to that time, it was a nip-and-tuck affair, with both pitchers going good and getting some fair support. A. Sturgeon and Mary McCarthy went the route on the opposite mounds, both having only one bad frame. The Leafs battled hard and threatened to rally in both the eight and ninth frames. The teams:

Ennismore Defeats East Emily 25 To 19

Ennismore defeated East Emily, 25-19, in an exciting men's softball game on the losers' diamond recently before a large crowd. Both teams turned in a good performance with Ennismore crew having an edge all through. Leo Scollard, Dan Cavanagh and Malcolm Cavanagh hit homers for the winners while Andy Doran clouted a four-bagger for East Emily, the latter a fluke when he was mistaken for one of the other side due to his wearing the same sort of uniform. T. McAuliffe, E. Crough, T. Doran and B. Flynn for the homesters, and D. Mahoney, T. Harrington and D. Cavanagh all played good ball. The teams.

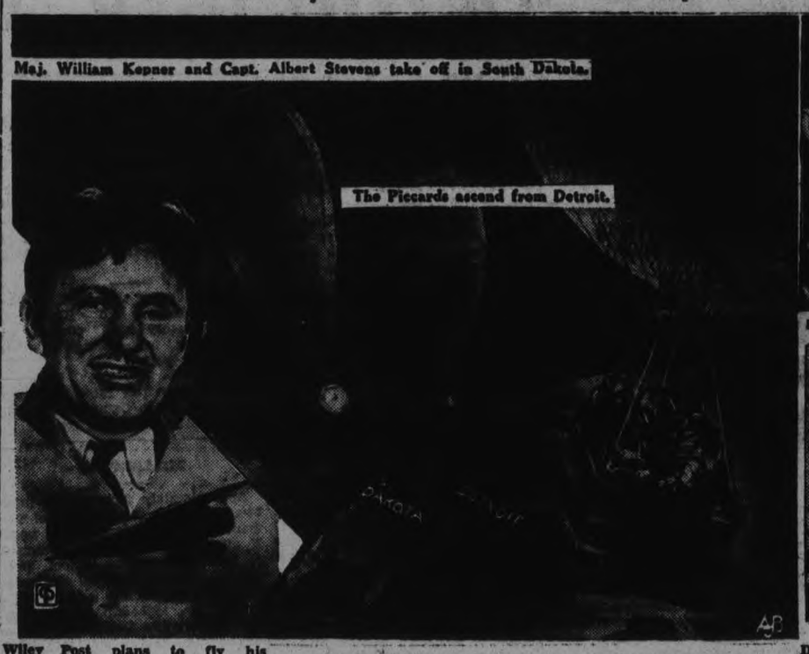
COURAGEOUS YOUTHS

TORONTO.—Young people of today are more courageous, level-headed and responsible than those of a generation or two back, William C. Knoelk, assistant superintendent of schools of Milwaukee and president of Round Table International in convention here, declared today.

Those who raised their heads in horror at the attitude of the modern generation did not understand what they were talking about, Mr. Knoelk said.

Nine Expeditions Planned For Stratosphere This Year



Wiley Post plans to fly his remodeled Winnie Mae into the stratosphere.

Captain Stevens

Major Kepner

Dr. Jean Piccard and Mrs. Piccard prepare for their stratosphere flight.

Col. Emilio Herrera of Spain will go aloft in an open bag.

No less than nine important expeditions into the stratosphere, planned this summer, promise to make history in the thin-aired regions ten to a dozen miles above the earth where science predicts aeroplanes of the future will fly 500 miles per hour. Two American army pilots, Captain Albert W. Stevens and Major William Kepner, will ascend some time this month from a point in South Dakota to a proposed height of 15 miles. They will use the largest free balloon and gondola ever constructed.

There is the proposed flight of Col. Emilio Herrera, of Spain. Colonel Herrera will go aloft in an open bag, protecting his body with a suit of aluminum, designed like a deep sea diver's outfit. Oxygen tanks will supply sustenance after he reaches rarefied air. A second American flight will send Dr. Jean Piccard, brother of the pioneer stratosphere balloonist, into the air above Detroit some time in the early fall. Mrs. Piccard will accompany her husband and be the first woman ever to fly in the stratosphere.

Soviet Russia is not only planning balloon ascensions in which humans figure, but has also designed a special radio-bearing balloon which, it is said, will rise without human guidance to a height of 25 miles and broadcast the reading of instruments to ground stations automatically.

Germany, France, Italy, Spain and Hungary have all dabbled in the planning of hops to the thin-aired regions and will make sundry flights this summer. Of prime importance is the stratoplane designed by a French engineer named Guerchais, which is expected to rise 10 miles above the earth and fly at a speed of more than 300 miles an hour.

The Junkers company in Germany has also started work on stratosphere planes which, when completed will be capableof tremendous speeds. One German transport company has already planned a si-hour schedule of stratosphere flying between New York and Berlin, using these planes.

Wiley Post, 'round-the-world flyer, will conduct the only important assault on altitude records via aeroplane. He plans to fly in the stratosphere with his remodelled Winnie Mae, and hopes to overcome the current height record of 47,332 recently set by the Italian ace, Renato Donati. A robot pilot will guide Post's ship while he conducts research with a host of specially designed instruments.

McLAUGHLIN-BUICK LOWER PRICE AUTOS

Thoroughbreds From Every Standpoint—Companions to 50, 60 and 90 Series.

A new line of McLaughlin-Buick automobiles, engineered and designed as companion cars of the present, 50, 60 and 90 series McLaughlin-Buicks, but to sell in a lower price bracket, is announced by General Motors Products of Canada, Limited.

The new car, a McLaughlin-Buick thoroughbred from every standpoint, has been designated the series 40 McLaughlin-Buick. It includes an initial production range of models on a 117-inch wheelbase chassis of characteristic McLaughlin-Buick design and construction. The new car is powered by a 93-horsepower, valve-in-head straight eight engine and is capable of smooth, easy performance at all speeds.

Unusual performance and economy are outstanding features, the McLaughlin-Buick 40 having been designed to meet these requirements of the lower price field. At the same time, its designers have maintained all the engineering traditions of McLaughlin-Buick, built up over a period of more than 27 years.

Power Flexibility.

The combination of high power and streamline design, with a favorable power weight ratio of 36.4 pounds per horsepower, provides unusual power flexibility throughout the driving range. The car has a second speed up to 55 miles an hour and can accelerate from 10 to 60 miles an hour in 21 seconds.

While remarkable performance has been built into the new series 40 McLaughlin-Buick, fuel economy has not been sacrificed. At a cruising speed of 55 miles an hour the new McLaughlin-Buick will travel 18 miles on a gallon of gasoline, tests show.

In hill performance tests the new cars accelerated up an 11.6 per cent. 1,600-foot grade from 10 miles an hour at the bottom to 35 miles an hour at the top in 38.5 seconds, carrying a passenger load of 450 pounds. With a passenger load of 900 pounds the car accelerated up the same hill from 10 miles an hour at the bottom to 27.5 miles at the crest in 44.5 seconds.

In the design and construction of the new series 40 McLaughlin-Buick, the engineers have accomplished a combination of factors that have brought about a sensational advance in riding comfort. This combination includes knee-action wheels, balanced springing and weight distribution, ride stabilizer and air-cushion tires, all distinctly features of fine car construction which have produced the "McLaughlin-Buick Floating Ride."

Straight Eight Engine.

The valve-in-head principle which McLaughlin-Buick has constantly perfected over a period of 30 years has its culmination in the new series 40 straight eight engine. It has a bore of 3 3-32 inches and stroke of 3 7-8 inches, giving a total displacement of 233 cubic inches. The S. A. E. rated horsepower is 30.63 and its developed brake horsepower is 93 at 3,200 revolutions per minute.

Features of the fuel system, the combination of which have resulted in unusual fuel economy and high performance standards, include dual down-draft carburetion, automatic heat control, automatic choke, automatic idle control. fuel pump, gasoline strainer, air cleaner and silencer and air-cooled fuel line.

The automatic choke, controlled by thermostat and operated by vacuum, eliminates the need of manual choke control and results in a more efficient choking of the carburetor than could be accomplished manually. The thermostatically operated idle control relieves the car driver of the necessity of adjusting the hand throttle on the dash. It operates automatically under all conditions, keeping the motor at the proper idling speed and reducing the possibility of the engine stalling during the warm-up period.

Starting is simplified. The driver needs only to turn on the ignition switch and step on the accelerator pedal. Vacuum spark control is a feature of the new car, which also is equipped with an octane selector.

Comfort and Convenience.

A host of comfort and convenience features characterize the bodies and interiors of the new series 40 McLaughlin-Buicks. Bodies by Fisher have the outstanding Fisher No-Draft ventilation, and because of the ample size of the McLaughlin-Buick 40 chassis, are roomy and comfortable.

The full line of body models together with standard colors specified for them follow: Five-passenger regular sedan with trunk, Navarre green; five-passenger special sedan with trunk, Dorado blue; two-passenger regular coupe, black; five-passenger regular coupe with trunk, Navarre green; five-passenger special couple, with trunk, Dorado blue; and four-passenger special couple, with trunk, Pony brown.

Injured In Hospitals

While moves for peace were made and talk of more strife was heard, San Francisco hospitals and homes held the scarred victims of Thursday's rioting in which two were killed, 34 shot and scores gassed and bruised in violent fighting between police and pickets.

Victory or death was the cry of embattled Maritime Workers at Portland, where a general strike also has been proposed, as they resisted an attempt to move cargo. Strike pickets, who defied a blinding blast from police tear gas guns to grease railroad tracks leading to the docks, shouted:

"If we let you move this train to the dock, our cause is lost. We're ready to give our lives to prevent it."

Delegates of the various trades unions in the city meet at 3 p.m. today with the joint Marine Strike committee to consider the general walkout proposal. Teamsters of San Francisco and Oakland have called meetings for 10 a.m. tomorrow to consider their future policies.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

Stamp collectors have much to look forward to during the next few months, in the way of new issues.

It is reported that Samoa is contemplating a new issue, which is expected to be of a pictorial nature. If this proves true, and the new stamps are really attractive, Samoa, who for a number of years has taken a back seat in most albums, should come to the front in most all types of collections.

It is very difficult at times, to be able to figure out any sensible reason for some of these new issues For instance, in "Stamp Collecting" we note that it is proposed to create two special issues of postage stamps in Indo-China. Each series will be composed of ten values, and the printing limited to 50,000 sets of each. One series are to depict the likeness of King Bai Dai, and will be for sale in Annan province. The other series will portray the King of Cambodia(and will be for sale in that province only. The stamps are to be circulated concurrently with the general issue of French Indo-China. We wonder if these issues would ever appear if it were not for the possible sales to philatelists.

New United States Issue

One can, of course, understand the sound reasoning for such an issue as the National Parks series, about to be released in the United States. Such an issue offers almost unlimited publicity for the huge natural parks or reserves, and other scenic wonders, scattered throughout the United States.

It is quite possible that many people in foreign countries, who have never before realized that such sights exist in America, will become acquainted with what they have missed, through seeing one or more of these postage stamps. There may be the means of not only bringing in tourists from all parts of the world, but also of stimulating interest of citizens of the States, who when on vacation, will visit these parks instead of going out of the States.

Thus we find that the national parks issue will not only benefit the post-office department of the U.S., but will also be a means of bringing money into the country, or of keeping money from leaving the country.

A new issue along similar lines would certainly prove beneficial to Canada, and we are by no means lacking for material to illustrate and advertise.

A new pictorial issue has just recently been released by Switzerland, which, if we may judge from present information, will be outstandingly attractive.

A portrait of young King Ghazi has been adapted to the frame design of the last King Feisal series of Iraq. The new stamps are being printed on plain paper without the Crown CA watermark formerly used.

These are just a few of the many new stamps that we may expect to see during the next few weeks. New British colonial issues from every corner of the world will make their appearance before 1935. It's going to keep the average collector very busy trying to keep up with the new stamps, let alone buying older ones that are still required to fill up the gaps.

no drastic action was contemplated.

"The work of one would be senseless without the other," the statement said.

Hitler's newspaper, Voelscher Boebachter proclamed that:

"The Storm Troops are proudly carrying on, and remain loyal to Der Fuehrer (Hitler). Even in civilian clothes its members can easily be recognized."

Although Commander Herzog of the Storm Troopers in Silesia, where Catholics are uneasy, indicated the Stormers would return from their leave to full strength, Hess and Victor Lutze, new Chief of Staff, sidestepped the point.

It was generally believed the personnel may be cut to as little as 20 per cent of the present strength and that hard physical, mental and moral tests will be used to weed out a large percentage of the Stormers.

Troopers Uneasy

This belief has grown among Berlin Stormers, causing increasing discontent.

Hess' reassurances that "The party still has in the Storm Troops the same organization as before" were interpreted as the start of a campaign to quiet grumblings.

Another placating force to-day was the release from police custody of three members of the staff of Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen, with the announcement they were not connected with plots against the regime.

One of the three, Fritz Gunther Von Tschirsky, Von Papen's adjutant, had been reported killed. The others were Friedrich Karl Von Savigny, a secretary, and Margarate Von Stotzingen of the office force.

Mussolini Comes From Revolutionary Family

STARTING AS SOCIALIST IL DUCE BROKE AWAY, LED ITALY TO WAR

Would Not Accept Pacifist Views—Comes From Revolutionary Family.

HAD LARGE FOLLOWING

Here is the sixth of a series of articles on Fascism and Italy, summarized by Central Press Canadian from Fortune magazine and presented exclusively in The Examiner. Today's article tells of the rise to power to Benito Mussolini, dictator.

The child was born at Varana di Costa on Sunday, July 29, 1883, but it is with his grandfather that we should begin to trace those fiercely combatant forces that have moulded the dictator's stormy life.

Grandfather Luigi Mussolini's inheritance was a scrap of land and a rag of influence at the papal court, the court of a Pontifex Maximus whose earthly realm then included the rough, romantic, eastern coastal district of Romagna, "Mother of the Brigands."

In the Romagna unfortunate Luigi Mussolini strutted briefly as an officer in the militia of His Holiness. Then minus his commission and having sold his scrap of land, he became an embittered day laborer. But the blood of the Mussolini would not down. Grandfather Luigi's active son, Alessandro (Sandro for short), became a blacksmith and more. He married the pious schoolmistress, Posa Maltoni, whose parents always seemed to have a mite of money. Sandro became himself a most impious and violent political blacksmith.

Father Revolutionist

He preached revolt, tampered with ballot boxes on occasion, spent a good bit of his time in jail. In the hamlet of Dovia where his wife continued to teach he was rated a great fellow, hospitable to a fault, fond of wine, fonder of politics, and proud of his acquaintance with Socialist bigwigs in the nearby little town of Forli which fairly reeks of history.

Discipline such as he now pumps into every Fascist boy and girl was not for Benito in his own youth. By the time he was nine he had soaked up so much Socialism, revolt, and Anarchism around Sandro's smithy that his frightened mother asserted herself with desperate insistence and grumbling Sandro took the boy in a donkey cart to the Salesian Fathers at Faenza.

Their dispassionate account of him may still be read: "His set face, his dark eyes always on the alert made an impression on the paternal mind of the director....The boy was bright, intelligent, and had a wonderful memory. But his character was disorderly....his total lack of submission made it impossible, after two years, for him to continue at the school."

Went to Switzerland

With alacrity Sandro took his son to the Normal school at Forlimpopoli where most of the teachers were advanced Liberals or still more advanced Republicans. Before he settled down at Forlimpopoli, rebellious Benito nearly killed a schoolmate in a fist fight so terrible that "I left him for dead and ran away." But death stayed its hand and Benito did settle down for a little. By the time he was eighteen he had earned a diploma permitting him to teach in state schools.

Disgusted with Italy after teaching for a year, Benito asked his mother for some money and set out for Switzerland.

Penniless and measured by the Swiss police as a dangerous radical at the age of twenty-one, he was deported back to Italy and compulsory military service for the king against whom he had preached regicide.

Military service was greatly to change the character of Benito Mussolini. Dropping radicalism to the amazement of his officers (who had been warned of him by the police), he became for two years a model soldier. His mother died while he was in training.

Became Ardent Radical

A few months afterward, released from salutary discipline, he made a second failure of schoolteaching and became so distraught that he walked eight miles one night to assassinate the pedagogue appointed to replace him. Dissuaded from doing murder at the last moment, he flung himself with the zeal of despair into radical agitation and got his first foothold on a steady job when the great Cesare Battisti took him on as editorial writer for his newspaper Il Popolo, the sizzling Socialist daily of Trent in Austria.

A year later Mussolini was his own editor-in-chief, the proud and violent publisher of La Lotta di Classe or "Class War". Such was his local fame that he started with a paid-up circulation of over 1,000 copies, no small triumph in the impoverished Romagna. About this time Andrea Costa, one of he rebels after whom Mussolini is named, had died and the Italian Socialist Congress of 1910 was inclined to hail Costa's brilliant namesake as his successor. With an amazing maiden speech before the congress, the editor of La Lotta di Classe won himself a niche in Left Socialist councils by the sheer revolutionary torrent of his oratory.

Had Large Following

Within a year Editor Mussolini had raised by 50 per cent the circulation of La Lotta di Classe and rolled up a sizable reserve. Since nearly every other Socialist paper was losing money, the party chiefs were impressed. They called the country editor to Milan and threw in his lap the provincial Socialist paper in the realm, Avanti! or "Forward!" which had been losing money hand over fist.

Autocratically the Great Editor began by refusing to print the daily effusions of Avanti's leading Socialist contributors. They brandished their contracts. He kicked them out, wrote some of Avanti! himself —and the circulation began to climb.

Some time before the thrifty editors of La Lotta di Classe had felt that to buy a cradle would be an extravagance. He bought a wicker basket and into it went his first-born who today is Edda, Countess Ciano. There had been no marriage with her mother, for Benito Mussolini and Rachele Guidi held such mummery in low esteem.

Though he filled Avanti! at this time with the most violent outbursts of revolutionary Socialism and egged on syndicalist strikes throughout Italy, an attentive critic might have observed that Editor Mussolini did not support the Socialist maxim —Property is robbery.

War Was Crisis

The crisis of Mussolini's life and of Socialism came, as events have proved, with the World War. Socialism being pacifistic, the editor of Avanti! preached Italian neutrality, but soldier blood was boiling in the veins of the future dictator. Patriotism, to be sure, is anti-Socialist and bourgeois. But a vision burst on Editor Mussolini. It enabled him to rationalize into one his itch to fight and his itch to Socialize. He suddenly saw in war the way to revolution—and what more had he ever wanted? It was all so clear—as everything still is to Excellency Mussolini.

When he called for war as the prelude to revolution, Italy's Socialist hierarchy could not at first believe that Mussolini had gone other than mad. Amid showers of sparks, he resigned as editor of Avanti! and began casting about for another medium of expression. Finally he founded in Milan what is still the Mussolini family paper, Il Popolo d'Italia. It began not as a Fascist paper but as a "Socialist daily." But in it Mussolini continuously whooped it up for war.

His former Socialist colleagues answered him with a crushing disacknowledgment. To an obbligato of savage vilification on both sides he took his leave of the Socialist Congress, which had expelled him as a member of the party, with the words now spread in enormous letters across a wall of Rome's Museum of the Fascist Revolution: "You hate me because you still love me!"

Carried on War Campaign

But without bothering to ponder upon the mystical significance of this high phrase, his former colleagues raised a great shout of accusation against him, asserting that he ha daccepted large subsidies from the British and French ambassadors to change his mind and advocate Italy's entrance into the war.

Within a few months of the founding of Il Popolo d'Italia, mounting war fever swelled the Fascist gatherings to great mass meetings, but Leader Mussolini remained a Socialist according to his lights as appears from the first Fascist program of January, 1915:

"To compel the government to declare war on Austria and Germany!

"To fight for the progress of civilization

"To make war in order to procure a more humane peace and to provoke the Socialist revolution!"

A few weeks after this manifesto a Socialist lawyer named Merlino sneered in print at some one he identified only as "the duce of Fascism." Mussolini, taking furious offence, rushed upon Merlino in a crowded courtroom shouting, "Does this word duce refer to me?' When Merlino nodded, Mussolini punched his nose, seized him by the throat, pushed him against a sizzling steam heater, and nearly strangled the man who thus gave him in derision the title he now values most: Il Duce.

It was not long thereafter that Italy—and with her, Mussolini—was in the war.

Monday's article will conclude the series and will deal further with Mussolini, mighty monarch of Fascism.

Trade between the United States and Tsingtao, China, is showing a marked increase.

A play with plot woven around a marathon race is to be presented in London.

LONDON, July 6.—The richest man in the world is shortly to pay a visit to London.

He is not an occidental magnate but a mighty Indian potentate, ruling over a state as large as England. He is His Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad.

This is his first visit to Europe and he will bring over an entourage of 300 people, which includes thirty-five of his wives, who enjoy the title of senior Begums. They will be strictly in purdah, so no white man can look on their faces.

A special liner has been chartered and his envoys in advance are negotiating to take over a whole London luxury hotel.

Nobody knows the extent of the colossal wealth of the Nizam. Fantastic stories are current that the entire vaults of his palace extending for nearly two miles are lined with gold and silver bullion.

To Visit the King.

He rules over the millions of his subjects with a firm autocratic hand, which has more than once invoked the interference of the Viceroy of India. Shortly after war some point in his administration was not satisfactory to the Viceregal party and a white political official officer was sent along to Hyderabad to "advise and report." This greatly incensed the Nizam.

Then something apparently went wrong on the Indian money market. Huge wads of Indian bearer bonds were being thrown on to the market and minor panics were starting on the stock exchanges of Bombay and Calcutta.

The government tried to buy the bonds but they still continued piling in. The seller of the bonds was discovered to be the Nizam's broker.

There were hasty consultations between the Viceroy himself and the broker and afterwards with the Nizam. The stock markets ceased being flooded with bearer bonds and His Britannic Majesty's political advizer to the state of Hyderabad was called away to undertake less disturbing duties. That little frolic set the Nizam back about ten million dollars.

His first visit to London is to "render homage" and pay his respects to King George. He will be accorded sovereign honors, such as twenty-one gun salute, a sovereigns' escort, guards lining the route from the station to the hotel and one of the King's sons at the station to meet him. In fact everything will be done on the kingly scale to placate this very important potentate, for he can make himself a bigger nuisance to the "sahibs" than a dozen naked Ghandis.

Chevrolet's Extra Weight Means Extra Value

More Comfort . . . Greater Safety . . . Longer Car Life

EVERYBODY knows, weight means comfort—safety—longer life for the car. And Chevrolet gives you more weight than any other car in its class! More pounds of rugged, high quality materials for extra value! More pounds in the big, spacious Fisher bodies, because Chevrolet does not skimp on roominess or safety! More pounds in the husky, solidly built Chevrolet chassis, to safeguard dependability!

And best of all, you get all these advantages of ample weight without any sacrifice of economy. Because Chevrolet is the only low-priced automobile that gives you an engine with overhead valves and Blue Flame cylinder head. Overhead valves are the kind used in racing car engines for greater power. The exclusive Chevrolet Blue Flame head gives more horsepower, more "pick-up", more speed than ever—using actually less gasoline!

Whether you build a house, a road, a bridge or an automobile, you must put into it high grade materials to make it stand the test of time. That's why we say, come to our showrooms and drive the new Chevrolet. "Get the feel" of its extra weight—its solid, built-in value—its road-holding riding comfort—and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car. C-134A

ROCKEFELLER IS 95 SUNDAY

Famous Millionaire Able to Look Back on Eventful Century.

BORN IN 1839.

LAKEWOOD, N.J., July 7 (C.P.)—John D Rockefeller, who learned how to earn, save and give away money long before Lincoln became president of the United States will look back Sunday on nearly a century of progress in his own earthly existence.

On July 8 he marks his 95th birthday and anniversary. He may and probably will sit under his favorite trees at Golf House, his estate here, and should he be in a reflective mood let pass across his mind events in his own life easily remembered by dates of national or international events.

He was, for example, four years old when Samuel F. B. Morse tapped out on his crude telegraph key the words: "What hath God wrought!" He was six the year of the great Irish potato famine and nine when the French set up the second republic and Hungarians under Kossuth declared their freedom.

He might recall the excitement of the news of the laying of the first Atlantic cable and the Crimean War.

He was 22 when Alexander the Second freed the Russian serfs, and still a young man when Whistler sued Ruskin for libel.

Barbara Frietchie was shaking her gray head when Rockefeller was a stripling of 23, and he wasn't so very much older when the Fenians invaded Canada, the Japanese abolished the shogunate in favor of the Mikado, and the Pope became a voluntary prisoner in the Vatican.

POSTPONE DATE OF DRAW

To keep within the law, and to get behind Federal restrictions against lotteries that come into effect on September 1 next, the Kiwanis executive announces that a prize drawing for which tickets are now on sale and which was to have taken place on September 11, has been set back. The drawing for the prizes is to be held on August 31, although the Street Fair in connection with the event will be held on September 11 as originally planned.

Under the new legislation all prizes in excess of fifty dollars won in lotteries is to be forfeited to the Crown.

THE MISSING TURTLE

A few nights ago, The Examiner published an item about a turtle which had been found by some children, and which had a small hole drilled in its shell. The turtle in question belonged to Frank Draper two years ago, and in some manner or other broke away from its string which was tied to the clothes line in the back garden of 524 Weller street. It answers to the name of 'Lindy'. It must have wandered about a lot during the last two years and if the child who found it would like to keep it, he may do so, because Frank Draper now lives in an apartment house, and cannot give a pet turtle its freedom.

SQUAD U.S. TARS CLEAN UP NICE'S STREET CAFES

28 Go on Spree, Wreck Crockery, Furniture, Battle Citizens.

DO $1,625 DAMAGE.

City Police and Battleship Riot Squad Needed to Make Capture.

NICE, France, July 7 (AP)—It was the "day after" for more than 200 sailors from the battleship Arkansas and Wyoming of the United States Navy to-day, following a riotous evening ashore.

Twenty-eight gobs were injured, one seriously, and damage estimated at 25,000 francs (about $1,625) was done when sailors and citizens mixed in several cafe brawls last night.

The revelling and pugnacious tars were finally quelled by a naval riot squad just before dawn and packed back to their ships to be dealt with by their officers.

The beauties of Nice, said by police to have been a cause of the trouble, are now safe for the prefect requested naval officers not to let the sailors return.

James Kline, 22, a wireless operator aboard the Arkansas, is in hospital here in a grave condition with a bullet wound in his neck. He was shot by Leon Curpy, chief of the Surete Police.

Knocked Down 3 Times

Curpy said before he drew his pistol Kline knocked him down three times, kicked him and blackened an eye. The officer also was taken to a hospital but was able to leave after treatment. He will not return to work for two weeks.

The chief said he went to the aid of the wife of a prominent lawyer who was being molested on the street.

Citizens battled the sailors, who became gayer as the night progressed, in five different places simultaneously, police reported. The tars threw crockery and furniture about with abandon.

Police, despite strong battling, were about to lose contol when Rear Admiral Hayne Ellis rushed a riot squad from the Arkansas, anchored at Ville, France.

SASKATCHEWAN FARMERS WILL RESIST EVICTIONS

REGINA, July 7 (C.P.)—Militant resistance to evictions with hunger marches and demonstrations, was the keynott of the plan of action adopted by the national conference of toiling farmers at closing sessions of the three-day conferenct here.

Coupled with the plan, which involves boycotts of foreclosures were six dimands:

Cash relief. This involves distribution of surplus food at government expense.

Cancellation of secured debts, mortgagts and back rents.

No evictions or foreclosures, and re-instatment of evicted farmers.

Higher prices for farm products.

Tax relief through higher taxes on banks, trust companies and insurance companies, and, reduction in rent to the growing tenant class.

Weddings

CHENHALL—SILVER.

HALIFAX, July 7.—The beautiful lawns and terraces of Wyndholm, the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Silver of Dartmouth, bathed in the glory of the early morning sunlight, made an ideal background of the quiet wedding on July 3 at 9 o'clock, when Rev. George Ernst officiated at the marriage of Miss Isable Louise Silver, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Silver, and Frederick William Chenhall, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Chenhall, of Peterborough, Ontario.

Under the spreading trees, on the luxurious carpet of velvety grass, the bridal party took their places, the sunlight filtering through the overhanging boughs, casting a golden light on the bride, one of the most popular and charming girls ever to be married in Dartmouth, who, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a tailored tantex model dress of duck egg blue with three quarter cut coat of the same material, with large natural Baku hat, egg shell accessories, and kid sandals. She carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by two charming little flower girls, Frances Silver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Silver and Shirley Ann Forbes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Eric Forbes, who were dressed in pale yellow and pale pink crepe de chine smocked dresses respectively, with large hats of silk net trimmed with bows to match their dresses and carrying old-fashioned bouquets of sweet peas and roses.

Paul Silver, brother of the bride, attended the groomsman.

The Rev. George Ernst, whose wife was a school chum of Miss Silver, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few of the older friends of the family.

A reception was held afterward in the garden which is now in gorgeous bloom. The bride was assisted in receiving by her mother who wore a brown and white ensemble, brown hat and shoes and a corsage of talisman roses.

After receiving the best wishes of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Chenhall left on a motor trip to Upper Canada, the bride wearing for going away brown and white checked silk crepe dress with touches of gold, dark brown and small hat, and brown accessories.

The bride and groom have been the guests of numerous social functions in their honour, and received many beautiful presents from a host of friends who join in wishing them every happiness.

NOTED ACTORS TAKEN BY DEATH

Alex B. Francis and Harry Pollard Die Within Few Hours of Each Other.

BOTH VETERANS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 7 (A.P.).—Death thinned the ranks of filmdom's old-time personalities by two to-day.

Alex. B. Francis, a distinguished character actor, succumbed to an old internal ailment after an emergency operation. He was 66.

A few hours after Francis' death, Harry Pollard, 55-year-old director, died of a heart attack after an illness of six weeks.

Francis' screen career dated back to the days of one-reelers and the nicklodeons, and almost up until the time of his death he held his place as one of the screen's leading character actors.

He was born in England and started out to be a lawyer, served three years with the British Army in India, became an invalid and turned actor. He once was a star on the Broadway stage.

Pollard directed "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Show Boat," the first of "The Cohens and Kelly" series, and the famous "leather Pusher" series.

DEATH ENDS CONTROVERSY OVER SUNDAY AIR SHOW

Injured Pilot in Hospital Which Was to Receive Gate Receipts

CLERGY PROTESTED

Burton-on-Trent.—Death ended a Sunday air pageant here which the local clergy had tried in vain to stop.

An aeroplane taking part crashed. The passenger was killed, the pilot seriously injured.

The dead man is Cecil Hardy, aged 36, of Stapenhill, Burton.

The pilot, Arthur Bullmore, of Herne Hill, S.E., is lying in the hospital to which the proceeds of the pageant were to have been donated.

The pageant was closed immediately after the crash. Thus ended a controversy which had been going on all the week.

Local clergy had sent a resolution of protest to the local authorities and the chief constable of Staffordshire, urging that the pageant be banned.

The watch committee decided that they had no power to interfere as the aviation ground was just outside the borough. The rural council also decided that they had no power to interfere.

The vicar of an adjoining parish, who is governor of the Burton hospital, said that if the institution accepted money from Sunday flying he would consider withdrawing the support which his parish had given it for many years.

PEER'S REMOVAL COST BRITAIN VAST AMOUNT

Millions in Succession Duties Lost as Will Repudiates Old Home

London.—The British treasury has lost more than $7,500,000 because Sir James Knott, the office boy who founded the Prince Line of steamships, lived the last years of his life in Jersey.

Although Sir James' will was proved recently, the total of his estate was not revealed. Former business associates, however, estimate his fortune at more than $16,500,000.

They base this figure on the fact that, 18 years ago, he sold the whole of his holding in the Prince Line for $15,000,000. He received $50 each for his shares, many of which he had bought for a few dollars.

Sir James bought the Samares Manor estate in Jersey eight years ago, and spent much of his time since then abroad. His will contained the first formal notification of his repudiation of English domicile. It declared that he had acquired for all purposes legal domicile in Jersey. That is why the British treasury has lost a windfall of at least $7,000,000.

BOUQUETS AND KISSES FOR WINNING AUTOISTS

Play National Anthem as British Cars Victorious

Le Mans—A vast crowd of people of all nationalities stood to attention in the broiling sun here while a French band played the British national anthem. It was an inspiring spectacle.

Britain's anthem was played to celebrate Britain's overwhelming victory in the great twenty-four-hour Le Mans road race.

It was the greatest victory ever won by our cars on the continent. Small sports cars bearing the British flag gradually wore down and finally vanquished the more costly and higher powered cars of Italy and France.

Lined in front of the grandstand at the end of the race was a long string of dusty and oil-stained cars, the drivers with their skins blistered by the sun and their eyes choked with dust.

The crowd showered them with bouquets and there was a perfect orgy of kissing. Champagne flowed like water down the drivers' parched throats.

SERBIANS BUILD HOUSE TOTAL COST 16 CENTS

Windows Only Expense—All Work Done by Hand

Belgrade. — Zadruga in Serbian means a big family where brothers and cousins have not divided the family property, but lead a community life, under the leadership usually of the oldest member of the family. These zadrugas are rapidly disappearing in modern times, but there are still some left.

The members of one such zadruga have recently performed a feat which has spread their fame all over Yugoslavia. They have built a house which has cost them (excepting the cost of their own labor) only 16 cents in American money. This is the zadruga of the family of Kujungjitch in the village of Leova Brda, near Fotcha, Herzegovina.

As the original house of this zadruga was too small for all the members of the family, it was decided to build a new house. As funds were short, they decided to build everything themselves. Using the stone from their own quarry, they made the slabs, then they cut the necessary wood. Lime which they themselves had made was used. The house was covered with wooden planks and wooden pegs were used, which also they made themselves. Their only cash outlay was made when they bought glass for the windows, and that cost them 8 dinars, or 16 cents.

WORKS TO SAVE CHURCH

Horncastle.—During the past four months the Rev. E. I. Dredge, the village rector of Horsington, has made more than 700 personal calls and travelled 1,000 miles by car to raise money for the restoration of his parish church which ministers to a congregation 224 strong—consisting mainly of small farmers and farm laborers.

CHILD, SIX, SAVES PAL AT COST OF OWN LIFE

Shoreditch. — A tribute to the bravery of a six-year-old girl was paid by a motorist, Frank Barber, at an inquest.

The child was Dorothy Joyce Day of Douglas Rd., Canonbury, who died in hospital.

Mr. Barber said: "Two little kiddies, hand in hand, ran from the pavement into the road in front of my car.

"I was doing 15 miles an hour, and swerved instinctively to the right, but could not avoid the child. As they ran into the car, Dorothy pushed her friend out of the way so that she herself was hit by the radiator and the wheel went over her. It was a very brave thing to do."

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury, Mr. Barber being exonerated.

MINERS TURN TO HOE END UNEMPLOYMENT

Durham Lads Work in Beet Fields From 5.30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

King's Lynn.—As an experiment about thirty unemployed young Durham miners have been imported into West Norfolk to learn sugar-beet cultivation.

They are employed by Captain A. M. Keith at the Manor and Wicken farms at Castleacre. Some of them came direct from the north of England, and others were transferred from the training camp at Brandon.

The Durham lads have taken keenly to their new and strange work, and have proved themselves a happy, sociable lot. It is doubtful whether any of them had ever used a hoe before coming to Norfolk, and certainly not one of them had ever seen a sugar-beet plant before.

After a period of probation the lads have been put on piecework at the usual rates, and find themselves much better off than when they were on the dole.

The hours of work at first appeared very long—5.30 a.m. until 8 p.m., with intervals for meals—but they are now getting used to them.

HEART STOPS 45 MINUTES

Massage "Brings Man Back to Life" —Returns to Job

Southend. — F. S. Warwick, the was recently thought to be dead for 45 minutes, has resumed his work where he has been employed for 13 years. He was discharged from the Southern Municipal hospital after an abdominal operation.

During the operation Warwick's heart, it is said, stopped beating and respiration ceased.

Dr. Sieman, the hospital superintendent, made an incision over the heart and performed manual massage.

A staff sister, Nurse Marchant, said: "His recovery was the most marvellous thing which has happened here. As far as I know, in all other cases where heart massage has been used death has taken place before the patient regained consciousness."

ATHLETE ON RAIL BOARD

London.—Lord Burghley, M.P., the famous hurdler, was appointed a director of the L.N.E. Railway Company at a meeting of the board of directors recently.

Lord Burghley, who when president of the Cambridge University Athletic club, swept all before him in inter-varsity hurdle events, gained eight British championships, and in 1928 won the Olympic 400 metres hurdles.

EXPLORERS SEEKING NEW ARCTIC SEAWAY

Expedition to Canadian North Hopes to Shed Light on Franklin Tragedy

London.—"I have a strong belief that I may be able to come across relics of the Franklin expedition and throw additional light on this tragic chapter in the history of arctic exploration."

Michell Pierce makes that statement in announcing his plans for an expedition this summer to the archipelago lying between Baffin Land and the Beaufort sea.

Much of this territory, north of Canada, has never been thoroughly explored, and the main coast and adjacent islands are only roughly charted.

Mr. Pierce spent ten years in the Canadian north when serving with the Hudson's Bay Co.

The expedition will endeavor to find a seaway through Fox basin, Fury and Hecla straits and westward, following the mainland to the Pacific.

CROMWELL MURDERED ON "IDES OF MARCH"

So Says Girl's Answer in Knowledge Test

London.—It was decided to hold a general knowledge test at the Wimbledon county school for girls.

Here are the answers to set questions, as given in the school magazine:

The Prince of Wales' motto is "Mon Dieu!" or "Dien Itchen."

Pompeii was killed by the followers of Caesar.

Pompeii was destroyed by the horse with the soldiers in it.

In battle the ancient Britons used a dye of syrup and shellfish.

Cromwell was murdered on the Ides of March.

Columbus discovered America in 1892.

There seems to be some doubt among the schoolgirls as to who is England's "Grand Old Man." Sir Walter Raleigh, Henry VIII., Bernard Shaw, George Lansbury, Lloyd George, "Time" and "Methusalist" all got a vote.

'MASTER OF TACT' SAVED HIS TIPS

Head Waiter Dies Leaving Small Fortune

Eastbourne.—A 75-year-old head waiter of a seaside hotel has left $103,415.

Albert Charles Gabb his name was. He was head waiter of the Grand hotel for 49 years. He retired five years ago, and died last March. He was an "Admirable Crichton" among waiters; a master of tact. He made his small fortune out of tips.

GETS BILL FOR WARNING

Unemployed Veteran Gave Fire Alarm, Receives Firemen's Account

Lyminge.—J. F. Shepherd, an unemployed ex-service man, who as a matter of public duty informed the police of the outbreak of fire at West Woods near here, and then on request spoke to the headquarters of the Folkestone fire brigade, has been presented with a bill for $85 for the firemen's services.

The owners of the forest, which was saved from damage, have repudiated liability. They are a government department, the forestry commission, who recently broadcast an appeal to the public for assistance in preventing forest fires.

SOCIETY WOULD SAVE BRIDGE AS "ANCIENT MONUMENT"

London Bridge Is Falling Down Under Tools Of Wreckers

EMPLOYS MANY

London.—The demolition of Waterloo Bridge has begun.

Early one morning recently, Herbert Morrison, leader of the Labor London county council; G. R. Strauss, chairman of the highways committee, and G. Latham, chairman of the finance committee, removed the first coping stone.

They were watched by a large crowd, in which were long queues of unemployed hoping for work.

The inauguration of the demolition was the simplest chapter in the long story of controversy that has centred around the bridge.

Mr. Morrison heaved on a chain, a large piece of coping stone fell at his feet—and the great job, which is expected to last five years, was started.

Mr. Strauss told a reporter that the L.C.C. was considering many other important road and bridge improvements for London.

"An army of men will be employed on the job," he said, "and no more time will be wasted in getting on with the work."

While the demolition gangs are at work a special committee of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings is endeavoring to have the old bridge declared an ancient monument.

MAN STOPS RUNAWAY ON OWN WEDDING-DAY

Leaves Bride When Children Endangered

Leicester.—A bridegroom and his bride were leaving Leicester register office when they saw a runaway horse attached to a railway dray.

Women and children were screaming and rushing for safety as the horse bolted down the street.

Leaving his bride on the steps of the registery office, the bridegroom, R. I. Branston of Gartree St., ran into the roadway, seized the reins of the horse and brought it to a standstill.

WHAT'S A YEAR TO GIPSIES?

Romany Couple Wed Twelve Months After Banns Published

Epsom.—Walter Marney and May Smith, gipsies, encamped on Epsom Downs, were married in the parish church here—a year later.

Their banns were published at the open-air service on the race course on the Sunday before the 1933 derby. Incidentally, there was much controversy as to whether banns called in the open were strictly regular. It was the first time it had been done.

On the day fixed for the wedding last year neither the bride nor bridegroom appeared. The caravans had passed on to new camping grounds.

OPERATION SAVES DOG AFTER NECK BROKEN

Silver Plates Bind Triple Fracture—Animal Now Active

London. — A greyhound, named Somebody's Choice, who, less than a month ago, broke his neck in three places, is again cantering round the training paddocks at Wembley stadium.

He looks, and is, the picture of health. His recovery is one of the outstanding triumphs of veterinary surgery.

Somebody's Choice suffered a spectacular fall in a recent hurdle trial. At first he was thought to be dead.

Then it was discovered that he was alive, although his neck was broken.

His owner, S. Curson, begged the veterinary surgeon in attendance to do his utmost.

A brilliant operation was performed. What amounts to an artificial neck has been created by means of delicate silver plates. Flexibility has been achieved by clever manipulative surgery.

Somebody's Choice will never race again. But he can bark and lord it over all the Mick the Millers in the world: he is the only dog alive today with a synthetic neck.

BRAVERY REWARDED AS MAN PROSECUTED

Saved Child, Then Summonsed for Rent Arrears

Portadown.—A young unemployed man, John Lutton, was presented with a framed certificate and cheque from the trustees of the Society for the Protection of Life from Fire for saving a 15-year-old girl.

Next he was prosecuted for rent arrears which he promised to pay off each week.

Then he was immediately called to answer a summons for failing to send his two children regularly to school. This case was adjourned for a month.

The award of the certificate to Lutton was the sequel to an incident when a girl's clothes caught fire as she was putting hot milk into a feeding bottle.

It was stated that the girl was a considerable time in hospital, and it was entirely due to Lutton that she was living. He had risked his life to save her.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD

Returns as Millionaire After Humble Start in Village

Bolton. — More than twenty-five years ago a youth employed in a tiny offic at a coal agent's left the village of Adlington, near here. Recently he returned a millionaire financier.

He is John Slater, M.P. for Eastbourne, and he opened some new playing fields in the village. Mr. Slater brought with him a band formed of men employed at a colliery which he owns in Staffordshire.

Mr. Slater owns several big industrial concerns, and has large financial interests both in England and on the continent. In his youth he played as fullback for Bolton Wanderers.

SEEK A PIED PIPER

Town Finds Itself Overrun With Rats

Southend.—Shoeburyness, the garrison town, which is now a part of the borough of Southend, is alarmed over a threatened rat plague.

The Ratepayers' Association, which is seriously inclined to think that the ultimate remedy is a Pied Piper, has asked Southend council to regard the destruction of the rodents as a matter of real urgency. Home allotment-holders hold regular rat-hunts and fill big bags with their catch.

BRITISH MUNITION SALES SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASE

Whitehall Refuses to Disclose Purchasers of Guns and Shells

RECORD EXPORTS

London.—Private manufacturers of arms armaments, warships and military aeroplanes in Britain have exported more of the products in the first five months of this year than in any similar period for the past ten years.

Striking evidence of the growth of the traffic in war material is supplied by the board of trade returns issued recently. Here are the details:

	Five months to May 31, 1933	1934
Ammunition	£808,194	£934,668
Arms	348,478	385,723
Torpedoes and submarine mines	28,854	85,081
Other ordnance	283,093	109,856
War vessels	.....	276,886
Aeroplanes	560,023	724,233
Total	£1,925,642	£2,482,246

There is no indication in the returns of the countries to which these materials are consigned. These are known to the government, however, as Great Britain is the only country in the world which prohibits the export of war material except by special license granted by the board of trade.

Members Inquisitive

Manufacturers of armaments applying for these licenses are requested to state, among other things, the nature of the manufactures, the quantity, the value, and the countries to which they are consigned. The customs authorities are also supplied with this information. The most amazing feature of the present traffic is that the bulk of the these materials are apparently being sent to countries now at peace.

The only specific information given recently on the export of arms has been contained in government replies to questions asked by members of parliament. According to these answers Britain's supplies of arms and ammunition to South American countries, and to Arabia, the Yemen, and the Far East have been infinitesimal during the past six months.

Admit License Increase

Who, then, is buying armaments from Britain at the rate of £7,000,000 a year? The board of trade says "We know there has been an increase in the number of applications for licenses, but that is not a reflection of activity, because many tenders submitted do not lead to orders. We are not in a position to disclose the countries for which arms are made in Britain. Try the customs department."

The customs department says "The information requested is not available."

So the secret remains unsolved.

NEEDLE HID IN MAN'S BODY

Mother Recalls Missing It When Son Was Baby

Birmingham.—A young man complained to Dr. Belcher that he had a pain in his side, says the "British Medical Journal."

The doctor felt the spot indicated —and pricked his finger. Closer examination showed the point of a darning needle jutting from the man's body.

His mother said the needle was one she had lost when he was a baby. "I remember the needle well," she said. "I fastened his shawl with a needle because I did not have a safety pin handy. Then I put him in the cradle in a hurry, as I was called away. I forgot all about it till I came to undress him, and then I could not find the needle."

REUNION TO BE "THRILL"

Exeter.—Gunner Harold Buckley, R.F.A., 24, left here for Hull to meet his father and six brothers and sisters, who have not seen him since he was 17 months' old. "That," he said, "will be the greatest thrill of my life."

LOAF OF BREAD SAVES MAN IN 90-FOOT FALL

Keswick.—A loaf of bread saved the life of W. C. Cooper when he slipped and fell ninety feet on Blea Crag, near Grang-in-Borrowdale.

The accident occurred as he was reaching up for a handhold. His haversack suddenly swung round and unbalanced him.

He bounced off a rocky ledge in his fall, missed by a hair's breadth a large projection of rock, and landed on his back.

The loaf, which was in the haversack, undoubtedly prevented his neck from being broken.

SCHOOL HEAD AWARE OF ROYAL VISIT HOAX

"Sayid Ben Matata," Former Student in Disguise, Urges More Holidays

London.—Hoaxers were hoaxed at Bedford school when two old boys staged a "royal visit."

They thought they were deceiving everybody, but the head, H. Grose-Hodge, knew all about it. He allowed it to go on because he knew it would raise more money at the fete to find funds for a new cricket pavilion.

Extensive preparations had been made for "His Excellency Sayid Ben Matata, son of the ruling prince of Abyssinia," who was to open the function.

The prince arrived with his interpreter and retinue, who were all dressed in brilliant robes and turbans, and were welcomed by the head.

His excellency, who spoke in his own language and had his speech interpreted, said he hoped that he might gain the respect of the boys of Bedford school by asking the headmaster to give them some holidays.

The whole story did not come out till a few days later. The "prince" is McGill Panton, an old boy, and his "interpreter" is Mr. Rogers, another Old Bedfordian, who, with four other undergraduates from Cambridge, arranged the "royal visit." There were 1,000 people present, besides the 800 boys of the school.

BOY PUTS TRUST IN 'UNSINKABLE' LIEEBOAT

Youth Will Dare Ocean to Justify Invention of Father

Bideford.—An attempt to cross the Atlantic in a ship's life-boat—believed to be unsinkable—is to be made next month by a young inventor who is building the craft here in the greatest secrecy.

His adventure, which two others will share, is being made solely to justify the life-work of his father who invented the boat as a young man and died, broken-hearted, many years later because he was unable to obtain board of trade recognition.

H. A. Gaskin, the young inventor, showed a reporter the model of his boat. It is an improvement on his father's early design, and is nearing completion. He has spent every penny of his capital on the venture, he said, and is hoping to obtain a little help in order to achieve complete success.

"Not that I want to make money out of it," he said. "I am doing this to prove to the world that my father was right and that his boat is unsinkable, and secondly to put the boat forward as a humanitarian proposition—a craft which, if carried in liners, would be the means of saving many lives at sea.

Expect 15-Day Journey

"My boat, which I shall call the Gaskin Nautilus, is a speedboat, built on the same principle as my father's, and fitted with two 100 h.p. engines. We should do 10 knots, and we expect to reach New York in 15 days."

Mr. Gaskin's model shows that the boat is the same underneath as on top. Its keel is just like its deck. All round the sides, under the seats, are copper air tanks, each distinct from its neighbor.

He claims that these buoyancy tanks will enable the lifeboat to ride the waves however great the swell. Many experiments have been carried out. The lifeboat has been dropped 20 feet into the water with 20 passengers aboard—and no water was shipped. It has been filled with five tons of water and 12,375 pounds of sand, in bags. It emptied itself of water in 60 seconds.

ENOUGH EX-MINISTERS FOR TEN "CABINETS"

France Has 235 Former Statesmen Still Living

Paris.—There are still many people in France who have never been premier or minister, but the number is fast decreasing. Figures just compiled by some industrious person reveal that there are no less than 235 ministers, ex-ministers and ex-premiers in circulation.

A total of 106 deputies, or a sixth of the roll call of the chamber, and 66 senators, which is about a fifth of that august body's membership, has been a member of one or another of the fleeting cabinets France has had in recent years. With the ex-ministers France could make ten additional cabinets, figuring each cabinet as of 20 ministers.

Production of cabinet members has been going on at a great rate since the war. One of the high spots was in 1926, when just before the inflation of the franc ministries died like flies and the output of ex-ministers achieved a stunning rate. Another high spot has just passed, for since the beginning of 1932 there have been no less than nine cabinets. Quite a few men managed to hang onto their portfolios in this series of shuffles, but a respectable number of new names came—and went.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS FROM FAR CORNERS OF THE WORLD

GIRL HID IN SHIP'S LOCKER TO BE NEAR OWN LOVER

Stowaway Discovered When Boat Was Three Days Out

OFFICIAL'S DAUGHTER

Leningrad.—A beautiful 19-year-old Russian girl, who could not bear the thought of parting from her sweetheart, a ship's officer, has followed romance to England hidden in a locker in a German ship.

The girl, who is said to be the daughter of an official of the Soviet here and is able to speak five languages, came from Russia in the German ship Teresa Horne.

It was not known that she was on board until the ship was three days at sea, and then the master, Captain Arnold, provided her with quarters amidships for the remainder of the voyage.

The authorities at Avonmouth were notified when the Teresa Horne arrived, and the girl, by order of the immigration authorities, is now under care.

After the girl had said good-by to her sweetheart at a Russian port, and the vessel was about to sail, she slipped up the gangway and into the forecastle, where she hid.

FEWER BORN IN JAPAN

Tokio.—Births in Japan last year were 61,618 fewer than in 1932.

REAL HERO APPEARS DISPROVING ANOTHER

Funds Collected for Wrong "Bugler Dunn, V.C."

Melbourne. — After honoring a "hero" who had died "without fitting tribute," Australians have learned that all their sympathy was misplaced. Not long ago a poor middle-aged stranger died in a hospital and just before he passed away he whispered, "I am Bugler Dunn, V.C., the boy who did his bit in the battle of Colenso in 1899." The British ex-Service League investigated the stranger's claims and announced that Bugler Dunn of Colenso had died—unsung. A subscription was opened to raise funds for the "hero's" widow and children.

John Francis Dunn, a steward in a ship which called at Brisbane, heard the story and announced that the real ex-Bugler Dunn was himself. Papers, photographs and a pension card proved his claim and Major G. D. Treloar, president of the British ex-Service League, now says that his proofs must be considered satisfactory.

Bombay.—The man who holds the world's most dangerous post—H. S. E. Stevens, district magistrate at Midnapore—left here for England, on seven months' leave. Midnapore was the scene, last September, of the murder of the magistrate, Mr. Burge, whose two predecessors were also murdered.

HUGE FIR TREE FELLED

Salem, Ore.—One of the largest fir trees in Oregon was felled recently by workmen of the Bohemia Lumber Company in Lane county. It was 6 feet, 10 inches in diameter. Growth rings showed it to be 432 years old.

SEER REVEALS CHAIN OF MYSTERY DEATHS

Relatives of Murdered Woman Die by Own Hands

Schrobenhausen.—Bavarian police, with the help of a woman clairvoyant, are trying to clear up an amazing drama of suicide and murder—a drama that started with a paltry theft and that has caused six deaths since.

At Christmas, 1928, a woman was murdered and robbed of fifty shillings.

Her 29-year-old nephew, Josef Boehm, was suspected of the crime, but was not arrested.

Soon afterwards, a sister of the murdered woman, who, it is alleged, was terrorized by the murderer into wiping up the traces of blood, was found drowned.

Then the mother of the suspect, Boehm, died of poisoning, apparently self-inflicted.

In 1930, Ludwig Buerkel, a neighbor, who knew something about the crime, vanished. Recently the police, thinking Boehm might be connected with this chain of tragedy, arrested him, and his father. A week ago the younger Boehm hanged himself in his cell. A few days afterwards a woman clairvoyant conducted the police to a spot four miles from the village, where, she said, Buerkel's head was buried.

This proved to be accurate, and her story of the whole series of crimes—though she knew neither the scene nor the characters—tallied with the police information.

Last act of this strange drama: Boehm, senior, hanged himself in his cell recently.

WAR ON EAGLES

Deniliquin, Australia.—Alan Wragge, shot 106 eagles which were worrying his sheep. He used caged poultry as a decoy and anchored rabbit traps nearby. Many other farmers and graziers are copying his methods.

CENTENARY CAKE HELD HUNDRED SOVEREIGNS

36,000 Eggs, Tons of Flour and Fruit Used in Huge Desert"

Melbourne.—A great birthday cake was made and baked to mark the centenary of Victoria and the capital city of Melbourne, Australia. Into it went ten tons of the finest products of the state of Victoria, including these items: four and one-half tons fruit; three-quarters ton almonds, one and one-half tons butter, one and one-half tons flour, and 36,000 eggs.

Early in the celebrations the cake was cut into a quarter of a million pieces, each one and one-half ounces, which were sold at a nominal price in sealed boxes. One hundred specially minted golden sovereigns were placed in the cake, and every buyer had a chance of winning a rare coin estimated to be worth $300 as a souvenir after the celebration. Near the heart of the city Birthday Cake building was erected, a replica of the cake itself, 50 feet high and 300 feet in circumference, surmounted by 100 candles.

STAVISKY'S WIDOW PENNILESS IN CELL

Paris.—Beautiful Ariette Stavisky, widow of the man who nearly caused a revolution in France, is still in a person cell, penniless and separated from her two young children.

Only five months ago she was envied by other women as a spoiled beauty able to conjure gold from an apparently inexhaustible source. Her wardrobe was like a queen's, and at all times of the day she looked like a fashion plate.

Her jewels were the envy of the wives of France's richest men, and her cars were so wonderfully elegant that people stopped in the street to look at them.

PUBLISHER FINED ONE FRANC FOR ISSUING HITLER'S BOOK

Defence Claims Severe Language Against France Interested Public

PARIS COURT CASE

Paris.—Adolf Hitler won a signal victory in a French court when the first chamber of the Tribunal of Commerce decided that the Nazi leader's book, "Mein Kampf" ("My Struggle"), could not be published in France without the author's permission.

A French publishing house, Nouvelles Editions Latines, which had issued an unauthorized, unexpurgated edition of the book in French on the grounds that the people of France ought to know what Hitler actually had written, was directed by the court to pay one franc in damages to Hitler's Munich publisher, Franz Eher, and was prohibited from printing or selling copies of the book under pain of a 100 francs fine for each infraction of the order. All existing copies were ordered destroyed. The French publisher also had to pay the court costs.

Cites Author's Rights

Attorneys for the French publisher argued that since Hitler would not authorize an unexpurgated edition of the original, it was in the public interest that it be publi ed in France, especially because of the alleged severe language used by the "Fuhrer" against France, quotations of which were read to the court. Besides, the book was not a "literary work," but a political manifesto, and therefore could be freely reproduced, the defence claimed.

Both contentions were overruled by the court, which held that the Paris publisher was not the judge of the public interest and that the law of July 19, 1793, protected all published works regardless of the author or the nature of his work.

BAYONETS HALT GIRL DURING REVOLUTION

On European Tour by Car She Finds Armed Camp

Istanbul.—A pretty young English girl, Miss Madge Anderson, has just accomplished the feat of motoring in an old car from London to Istanbul, via Bulgaria, in the very middle of the revolution.

Miss Anderson, who is the eldest daughter of J. M. Anderson, British director of the Istanbul Telephone Co., was coming out to join her parents, and arrived here safely.

Her entry into Bulgaria coincided with the revolution and she was held up over eighty times by armed soldiers, who levelled their rifles with fixed bayonets at her, threatening to fire if she did not stop.

Several times she nearly ran into barricades drawn across the road, behind which machine-guns were pointed at her.

During the whole of her journey across Bulgaria she did not meet one other motor car.

FRIENDLY "GESTURE" BOON TO NEWLYWEDS

Cologne. — The burgomaster of Cologne has accepted the mayor of Margate's offer of an exchange of British and German honeymoon couples who have accepted the free facilities given by the respective towns.

"The interchange of newlyweds will most certainly foster and deepen to a considerable degree the friendship and understanding between our two countries," wrote the burgomaster. "I readily agree to your proposal to interchange an English couple with a German pair, the travel expenses to be borne mutually."

McMillen, whose marriage took place a short while ago, were guests last evening at a party held in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blewett, Lindsay Highway, when about one hundred friends of the community gathered to present to them their best wishes for the future. During the evening they were presented with a refrigerator, following the reading of an address by Mr. Max. Archer. The presentation was made by Stanley Mahood and G. Roland Scott. Mr. McMullen, on behalf of his wife and himself, made a suitable reply. The evening was spent in dancing on an improvised platform erected on the lawn. Music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds. Supper was served at midnight by the ladies.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HOUSES

A Weekly Home Feature Service Supplied to The Examiner by Home Builders' Service Bureau, 177 Jarvis Street, Toronto 2

FINANCING

Financing plays a large and important part in the building of a home, as relatively few of us are able to pay "spot cash' for the whole transaction. The same is true in purchasing a home "ready-built," for many homes are bought with comparatively small initial payment and the balance in time or deferred payments through mortgages.

Assuming that you already have your building lot clear, or have available one-fifth to one-fourth the estimated cost, several methods of financing may be considered.

How Much Can You Pay?

The question of how much you can afford to pay for your home comes first, and is usually answered by another question: How much rent can you pay? for, generally speaking, the total cost of the house should equal about 100 months' rent. For example, $50 per month in rent will buy a $6,000 house; $75 rent, a $9,000 to $11,000 home, etc.

The first mortgage loan is the most common method of borrowing money to build a home. This is usually available through mortgage, trust and loan companies. The usual amount loaned on first mortgages is from 50 to 60 per cent. of the total value.

LOCATION

So much of a home's satisfaction depends on its location that careful consideration should be given this important point before making final decision.

A car line within reasonable walking distance is a decided asset; its convenitent and reliable service is an important minor note in the harmony of home comfort, whether or not an automobile is always at the disposal of all members of the family.

The surrounding homes give the character of the locality, but nevertheless the matter of restriction should be investigated to ensure that the erection of poor houses, or nearby stores or apartments, will not be permitted to lessen the residential attractiveness.

The desirability of a school in the vicinity will, of course, depend upon the needs of the family.

Each site has its individual problems. A picturesque wooded lot that is lower than surrounding property may have to be filled in, with consideration given to sewer depth, basement level, preservation of trees, etc., whereas if we have chosen a site higher than adjacent property it may be necessary to remove considerable soil.

These Points Should Be Settled

The condition of the title is of first importance and should be thoroughly investigated, also the accuracy of the lot survey.

In a new section where all public conveniences have not yet been installed it would be well to have a clear understanding regarding sidewalks, gas, light, sewers, water, telephone, garbage collection, protection against fire, etc.

Where temporary measures must be entered into, a definite arrangement should be made for the provision of these necessities as inexpensively as possible. In an district where some such items constitute improvement taxes, one should learn full details of the promised developments and how long payment will continue.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Men folk like variety in their breakfasts—they still have the small boy instinct to top off with a sweet, and sparkling jams and jellies give a perfect finish. Thousands of other uses have made jams essential in every well-managed household, and homemakers the country over, are planning their fruit cupboards these days.

* * * * * * *

The old method of using under-ripe fruit for jelly was so wasteful that it has given way to the short boil recipes. The jelly-making substance found in the pulp of most fruits, is called pectin. Some fruits have a great deal of pectin, and others are deficient in it. But even fruits rich in pectin, have it in varying amounts.

* * * * * * *

Formerly housewives used to boil fruit a long time to concentrate enough of this pectin to make jam or jelly. They never knew how much pectin was in the fruit and so could never be sure of the result, and year after year, thousands of dollars in fruit, sugar, fuel, and time were thrown away because of bad "batches." Sometimes the recipes gave a jam, but it was darker in color than the fresh fruit and not the fresh flavor that is so appetizing in winter.

* * * * * * *

Two thrifty Scotchmen were so appalled at this annual jam-time extravagance that they decided to concentrate, refine and bottle fruit pectin. The result was phenomenal. All the sunshine and flavor of summer fruits could be captured in a tender sparkling jelly.

* * * * * * *

Millions of careful tests were worked out until recipes for every jam and jelly were made "failure-proof." New and unusual combinations were tried—always with perfect results. These short boil recipes not only reduced the length of the cooking period but almost doubled the quantity of jam and jelly resulting. The fruit is no longer "boiled down"—it is simply sterilized and jelled.

* * * * * * *

Canadians are, this year, more eager than ever, to use methods to conserve fruits. The strawberry, raspberry and cherry crops will, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, be lighter than in 1933. So instead of waiting until the end of the season for poor, cheap fruit, the clever housewife buys the best fruit, and makes it go twice as far with modern recipes.

GIRL CAN WEAR MAKE-UP THAT WITHSTANDS WATER

The famous Joan Crawford, whose talented portrayals of exotic characters have made her one of the highest of the screen luminaries, spent some time in New York at the beginning of spring. Joan was taking a bit of a vacation. And while in the Big City, she quite startled the ellegedly "smart" New Yorkers by appearing in luminous make-up. This is a new type of make-up, you know, that gives one's face the appearance of having just been freshly scrubbed, yet makes the skin coloring seem perfect.

Ordinarily, in the summertime, however, Joan uses very little make-up. She tans beautifully, and finds make-up practically unnecessary. And when she emerges from a dip in the briny, she looks every bit as charming as she did before she entered the ocean.

Most of the famous beauties of the past were always careful never to allow themselves to be seen by their admirers unless they looked their best. But that's something that the modern miss seems to forget at times—especially when at the beach. It certainly must be disillusioning to a man to have his best gal emerge from the water after a swim looking colorless and mascara-streaked. The average male likes to feel that at least a part of his gal's delicate coloring is nature's handiwork, you know.

Joan Crawford

If you intend going swimming, and wish to make your face up to withstand the water, try using a paste rouge. Paste rouge tends to shed the water and is therefore fairly waterproof. First apply this type of rouge to your cheeks, and tint your lips with a permanent lipstick. Then apply a powder base of a light type. This makes powder more adherent. Next, apply a waterproof mascara to your lashes, and brush a bit of cream mascara over it. If the cream mascara is applied sparingly, it will not smudge, yet will tend to shed the water.

Eyeshadow isn't essential in bright sunlight, but if you must have it, use it sparingly, and pat a bit of powder over it so that it won't run. Then apply a coating of loose powder over your entire face. This sort of make-up, if properly applied, will leave you looking quite presentable even after a cooling dip in the briny.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

SOUTH MADE IT HARD FOR EAST.

Some defensive players scramble to take their high honor tricks as soon as possible, as if they thought opponents' losses might take wings. Other defensive players hold up blocking cards and make things as difficult as possible for the declarer. South belonged to the latter type and caused East to move with great caution, lest he might not fulfill his game contract.

Bidding went: South, 1 club; West, 1 diamond; East, 1 heart; West, 1 spade; East, 2 hearts; West, 4 hearts holding the contract.

South led the K of clubs, then he shifted and led his low spade. Dummy won with the Q. The 3 of hearts was led. Declarer's 10 won the trick. He led the 8 of diamonds, finessed the J, and North was in with his K.

North led the 9 of clubs through East's J-10, the last thing which East wanted done to him. Of course the declarer had to split his equals, playing the 10. South covered with the Q. Dummy ruffed with the 5.

East dared not lead dummy's diamonds. Having lost 2 tricks, and without knowing how dummy's long suit was divided between opponents, game might be lost by leading that suit and having it ruffed. He could not pull dummy's last trump. He might need that to ruff another lead of clubs. East led the K of spades and South was in the lead. As expected, South led another club honor, forcing dummy's last trump.

South had calculated that the declarer would not dare venture to lead diamonds before pulling the last adverse trump. It is a simple matter to look at a diagram of a hand and play it to best advantage, but it is quite a different matter to do so at the table, when an opponent's tactics leave you in doubt concerning his hand. It looked to the declarer as if South was short of diamonds and wanted to ruff that suit. What South really hoped was that East held a third spade, so that South could ruff, and obtain his fourth defensive trick.

Dummy's 3 of spades was led. North covered with the 8, but East took no chances. He ruffed with the J, and South was shut out. Two rounds of high hearts pulled opposing trumps, and East spread his hand for the balance of tricks and his fulfilled contract.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

I remember once being on a picnic, with three other doctors in the group. One of the picnickers brought us a specimen of mushroom and asked whether it was a poisonous species or not.

All the doctors had to confess they did not know the distinguishing mark of poisonous from non-poisonous species. All doctors are supposed to know such a very elementary fact in hygiene, but I would hate to trust my fate to the judgment of my colleagues in this matter. I know I went home from the picnic in great humiliation and studied the subject, but the details are very easy to forget, and even after having written an article in a textbook on mushrooms, I would have to refresh my memory before making pronouncement.

The best advice is not to eat any mushrooms you have found yourself. The mushrooms in market are almost always cultivated, and naturally the poisonous varieties are eliminated.

The edible mushroom, Agaricus campestris, has a flat cap with a stem shorter than the diameter of the cap. The gills are pinkish and turn blackish brown on keeping. The most poisonous mushroom is the death's head fungus. The stem arises from a bulb or cup, and the stem is surrounded by a collar close to the cap, giving the appearance of a double cap. The gills are white and remain so. The fly agaric is also poisonous, and is distinguished by its yellow, orange and red coloring, with scales on the cap.

The symptoms of mushroom poisoning are due to the action of the drug, muscarine, which is not destroyed by Mushrooms, poisonous and edible. The Amanita phalloides and the Amanita muscaria are poisonous. Agaricus campestric is edible.

cooking. The antidote is the drug, atropine.

The death's head mushroom, however, elaborates a toxin with little or no muscarine, which begins to act only after 10 or 12 hours. It is destroyed only by prolonged cooking. The symptoms are very violent, and consist of vomiting, cramps, diarrhea, thirst, delirium, and jaundice from destruction of red blood cells. The treatment is to wash out the stomach, clean out the digestive tract, and give morphine and amytal. A serum has been prepared but is usually not obtainable when wanted.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Jane Arden, Omemee, Ont.

Your handwriting portrays a versatility peculiar only to one with your type of writing. You are subject to moods and apt to become temperamental over the slightest provocation. You can make up your mind definitely (at least so you think), then change it suddenly. You can be very secretive, and you can be just the opposite. Anyhow, you are at least interesting, because one would never know just what to expect of you. You would detest detail or any systematic work. You would detest being under strict authority, yet, strangely enough, you would be submissive to authority, and plod through routine if you had to. You can be very energetic, and you can be a trifle lax, too. I would not want to term this laziness, because other characteristics counteract this tendency. You should love flowers and music, but I do not think that you would have patience enough with which to cultivate either, even as a hobby. Your 't' bar in the word Ontario, shows a normal amount of will-power, but not much determination.

Miss Sadie Smith, Marmora, Ont.

Your handwriting delineates impulsive qualities, and shows that you lack depth of concentration. It is as though you almost accomplish something, then some one or something "upsets the apple cart". You are perhaps too imaginative and find that your dreams do not come true. If you really want them to come true, use a little psychology, and throw out thought-waves for the most desirable ones. Say to yourself: "Sadie Smith wants a new dress," or hat, or whatever it is you need most, but don't let yourself worry about not getting it, for worry causes negative thoughts, and then dreams and ambitions cannot come true. You will find that any thought sent out definitely into the Cosmic Ray is bound to reap a rich reward, but you must remember never to try to do another harm through this power, for it cannot be done. I am telling you this little bit of psychology in order to help you help yourself, and you may pass it on if you wish. Your last 't' in the word Ontario shows persistence, so I know that there is success in store for you, once you find the right path.

Miss Katie Walls, Warsaw, Ont.

Your handwriting is indicative of sensitiveness and a quiet reserve. I am afraid that you are rather inclined to be a little doubtful as to new and untried things, for instance this report on your writing, though you are ever ready to listen to the new ideas of your friends and to make them happy in doing so.

You are friendly, generous and kind-hearted. Your general health does not seem to be quite as robust as you could wish it to be. Your imagination seems inclined to get the better of you quite often, and so, causes needless worry. I should like to know that you could get out of doors a lot this summer, for sunshine seems essential to one of your delicate type. You appear to spend freely while your money lasts, and then deny yourself things to make up for your spending. You worry a great deal, and I should think you suffer with frequent headaches. Nerve foods would assist you greatly, study your diet and choose only the correct type of food for your individual requirements, and I think that you will soon notice a big improvement in your health.

MENU HINTS

WEDDING BREAKFAST
Bouillon, or Lobster, Crabmeat or Shrimp Cocktail
Creamed Chicken or Chicken a la King
Tiny New Potatoes With Parsley Butter
Green Peas Grapefruit Salad
Ice Cream Cake Coffee

This menu is suggested for a breakfast where there are not too many guests to sit at tables. In the case of a larger number of guests a buffet breakfast is more convenient. A fruit cocktail, tomato juice or pineapple juice cocktails are nice to serve in place of bouillon or the seafood cocktail if the weather is warm. In case a buffet breakfast is decided upon, serve only such foods as can be eaten with fork and spoon.

Consomme Bellevue. — Combine equal amounts of clear chicken consomme with clam broth. Heat and season to taste. Serve in bouillon cups and top with whipped cream and sprinkle with paprika or minced parsley.

Groom's Cake.—One cup butter, two cups brown sugar, six eggs, one cup coffee, one cup molasses, four and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons spoon nutmeg, one teaspoon allspice, two teaspoons cinnamon, two pounds raisins, one pound dates, one-half pound figs, two pounds currants, one-half pound candied lemon peel, one-half pound candied orange peel, one-half pound citron. Cream the butter and sugar together. Add the slightly beaten eggs. Heat the coffee, mix with the molasses and add alternately with the flour sifted with the soda and spices. Add the chopped fruit and pour into well-greased pans. Cover tightly with greased paper and steam three hours. Then bake an hour and a half in a slow oven, 250 degrees Fahrenheit. Makes three loaves, about 10 pounds.

These are the days when we must keep the dishcloth out in the open as much as possible or it will become sour and evil smelling. Hang it out in the air in between meals and let it dry out thoroughly. Then it will not become unpleasant.

Cogs Strengthen E.P.L. Lead With 6-2 Victory

CLUBMEN HOLD LEAD SECURED IN 2ND FRAME

Casey Masterson Hurls Nice Ball on Winners' Mound in Front of Good Support.

GAME CALLED IN 7TH.

Cogs strengthened their place on top of the E.P.L. standing last night at the Exhibition Grounds by turning back C.G.E., 6-2, before a handful of fans. It was called early in the seventh owing to rain. Both teams turned in some smart baseball and it was a real scrap till Cogs got their last two runs in the fifth. Good pitching and classy fielding by the rival infielders hurried the contest off in slightly over an hour.

Hurls Nice Ball

Casey Masterson pitched good ball, striking out seven while being nicked for six hits and two walks. He was throwing them in fast and got out of several nice holes, fanning the side in the third. Clair McGillen toiled on the Electrics' mound and went fair, giving seven safe bingles and three walks as he fanned three. His support was not as good as Masterson's, three miscues being counted against C.G.E.

Huggins led the losers at bat with a double and single in three appearances. For Cogs, Cadd with a triple and single in twice up topped them all. Mein got two singles in three times. Young and Johnston for C.G.E. and Wilson and Padgett for Cogs went good defensively, while Johnston and Mein drew hands for sparkling catches. Rooke's reaching on first saved his teammates several errors.

Score First Run

The Electrics scored first, getting one in the first when Huggins singled, stole, took third on Mowry's hit and tallied on a fielder's choice They got their other one in the fifth, Young hitting to right, pilfering the keystone sack, moving up on an out and jogging home on an error.

Cogs notched three in the second. Rooke was safe on an error. Cadd walked and Moore rolled to McGillen who threw wild to third to let a run in, the others advancing another base on Saunders' wild heave home. Two more crossed the platter when Rogers smashed a clean one to centre field. They got another marker in the third, Padgett walking, being sacrificed, taking third on an out and racing in on Cadd's mighty triple to deep centre. Their last two came in the fifth. Rooke walked and stole, tallying on Cadd's single with the latter taking second on the throw-in. He scored on Moore's hit. Young walked and Huggins flied out to third in the seventh when rain forced the calling of the game.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, it looks like now as if this here ball club of Mister K. Lee's was to play all its games away from the home lot the boys would be further in front than Mitch Hepburn was in advance of Geo. Henry in the June sweepstakes. Since my last the Lee talent has played 3 games, dropping the home fixture here on the holiday, but cracking down on Oshawa in the Motor Town last Sat. and going down to Belleville Thurs. and spilling a neat coat of whitewash over the Nats before their friends and neighbors. So far, Mac, the Petes has been travelling at a .780 clip away from home and only doing a .400 rate at Riverside Park, which is certainly something new in the way of ball clubs.

Last Sat., old-timer, the boys said it with home runs, and that gave our youthful Mister Calladine a chance to register his 1st win of the season, which he did by coming through with a real smart brand of heaving. The Petes was in arrears until the 5th frame when with 2 pals on the paths ahead of him our Mister Foley smote 1 of Mister Knox's pet fast 1's right on the piccolo and the spheroid immediately went places over the right field wall. That sewed up the pastime, and three innings later the old ball game went sailing over the same fence, far as Oshawa was concerned, when our Mister Murray poured the pine to another choice offering and drove the ball outa the park. As our Mister Calladine had the Oshawans hog-tied at this stage, Mister Murray's long clout was plenty margin to win the ball game.

Here Dominion Day, Mac, Mister Archie Deyell returned to the baseball wars after 3 weeks out with a bum ankle, and the big boy did some fancy pitching against the pride of the Mohawks, Mister Chief Williams, who chucks them left-handed and very awkward to hit. Wotta game, neighbors! I been playing it over all week and found about a dozen places where the game was won and lost, and then I give up. Anyway the Nats finally win 3 to 2 in the 10th, and believe you me, it was as close as a humid July day, the decision not being certain until the last ball was hit. And if Mister Foley could have shot that liner in the clear instead of straight at the Nats' shortstop, the Petes mighta copped the duke.

Anyway back they go to Belleville Thurs., and the Nats, anxious to climb in the race, sent Mister Williams right back at them. The Chief done about as well as he done here, holding the Petes to 7 hits and 2 runs, but then our Mister Calladine, who's found his lost curve ball and is going to be poison to a lotta teams from now on, tied the Nats in knots, and they couldn't drive home a solitary counter. The Petes played errorless ball behind that superfine pitching, and the Belleville talent found run-making a impossible feat.

The Lee lads is at home next Wed. entertaining the Oshawa crew, and as this is the only local fixture until the week after next, the fans and fanettes oughta be out in droves. The boys is playing good ball and they deserve the financial and moral support of local fandom.

See ya there, Mac.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

Aid To Golfers

WILLIAMSTON, Mass., July 7.—(CP)—A larcenous crow put 20 yards on the drive of Roger Holmes, school principal today. Playing in a foursome at the Taconic Country Club, Holmes drove off the 14th tee and saw the bird fly away with his ball as soon as it landed.

He gave chase and the crow dropped the ball when he hurled a club at it. The pill landed 20 yards near the 14th green and Holmes was permitted to play it from where it landed.

RAIN AIDS BENGALS.

(By Herbert W. Barker, A.P. Sports Writer.)

Major league pitchers hereafter will have a "Black Friday" all their own to observe with appropriate ceremonies.

Thirty-nine pitchers, 24 in the National and 15 in the American faced the batters in eight games yesterday:

Although available records fail to show that these impressive figures created any new all-time highs for loud and continuous slugging, you'll have a tough time convincing the pitchers they ever have been subjected to so much punishment in one afternoon. The largest collection of runs either league created with one four-game program is 101, set by the National way back in 1887. The record books do not give the highest total for both leagues in one day.

Two of the dizziest games on record combined to send the National League slugging figures up into the realm of higher mathematics. In one of them, Cincinnati Reds outlasted St. Louis Cardinals, 16-15. In the other, the Boston Braves "nosed out" the Phillies, 16-13.

Collected 41 Hits

The Cardinals sent seven pitchers, or everybody but Paul Dean and Bill Hallahan, to the mound in an effort to salvage the game with the Reds, but all to no avail. The Phils and Braves together collected 41 hits, 17 of them for Extra bases, in their Donnybrook at Baker Bowl with Hal Lee, Boston outfielder, setting the pace for all the rest with three home runs and a single. These figures, 31 runs for the Red and Cardinals, and 40 hits for the Phillies and Braves, compared with the record of 49 runs and 51 hits.

One modern mark did fall at Philadelphia, however, when the two clubs were credited with a total of 97 times at bat compared with 95 for Cleveland and St. Louis in 1925. The all-time high of 100 was set by the Boston Nationals and Detroit in 1883.

Games That Count

Although they were comparatively orthodox, the other two National League games were the important ones for Chicago Cubs, trouncing Pittsburgh, 9-1, behind Guy Bush's five-hit pitching pulled up to within 2½ games of the league-leading New York Giants. Van Mungo stopped the Giants with six hits and fanned eight men as Brooklyn earned an 11-2 decision.

Yankee's Lead Shaved

In the American League, New York Yankees' lead was shaved to half a game when the McCarthymen dropped a 9-6 decision to Washington while second place Detroit nosed out St. Louis, 4-3 in a five inning game halted by rain. Lou Gehrig hit his 24th homer for the Yankees and tied Jimmie Foxx and Bob Johnson for the league lead.

Taking over the loop's slugging duties for the day, Boston Red Sox regrined third place by hammering four Philadelphia Athletic pitchers for 20 hits and an 18-6 victory. Cleveland's Indians fell back into fifth position, dropping a 7-6 decision to Chicago White Sox.

RAIN PREVENTS EMPIRE TRIALS

Opening of Ladies' Meet Halted—Four Disqualified in Heats.

WARNING ISSUED.

By ELMER DULMAGE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Ont., July 7.—(C.P.)—Rain washed out the opening program of the women's British Empire trials here early last night and left girls from every section of Canada facing a full day of competition to-day.

There was just time before the deluge arrived for Duke McGarry, veteran Toronto starter, to serve notice that sprinters from six provinces will receive no mercy if they break before the gun. In the only two heats of the 60-metre senior dash run off McGarry disqualified four entrants.

It was merely notice of treatment to come because the 60-metre event is not an Empire trial. Empire trials in the 100 and 200 yards sprints will be staged to-day—the furlong in the morning. It was to have been run last night.

A meagre crowd of 400, scarcely outnumbering the competitors, took to cover when the rain came less than an hour after the two-day meet started. Officials kept the girls on hand for an hour and then announced the first half of the scheduled events would be staged this morning, starting at 10 o'clock, E.S.T.

NEWARK ENDS BISONS STREAK WITH 8-4 WIN

Baltimore Orioles' Belated Rallies Send Red Wings to Defeat.

GAMES POSTPONED.

(By the Associated Press)

Newark Bears today had apparenty snapped out of a brief slump and widened their first place lead over Rochester Red Wings in the International League.

Col. Jacob Ruppert's Yankee farmhands scored an easy 8-4 victory over Buffalo Bisons yesterday, terminating a short lived two-game losing streak and emerging from a sinking speel which saw them lose five of the six games prior to yesterday's.

Charlie Devens received credit for Newark's victory although he didn't go the full route. When the former Harvard star completed the seventh inning and retired from the contest because of the intense heat and humidity in Buffalo, the bears were leading the Bisons 7-4. Devens had yielded only four hits. Vito Tamulis took up the pitching assignment and was nicked for two hits and a run in the closing frames.

Lose To Orioles

Meanwhile the Rochesterians dropped a 9-4 decision to Baltimore Orioles, occupants of the cellar. The Wings used three pitchers, Ray Hardell, John Berly and Ira Smith in a vain effort to check the Orioles' bats, but the birds refused to be checked and collected 16 hits, while three of their pitchers were tapped 10 times.

Newark's victory and Rochester's defeat enabled the Bears to widen their advantage to five full games. The Bears havewon 53 games and lost 28 against 49 victories and 34 defeats for Rochester.

The night games, Albany at Toronto and syracuse at Montreal, both were postponed. The Albany-Toronto setto was called off because of wet grounds while Syracuse and Montreal played four scoreless innings before rain forced a halt.

KINGSTON PONIES WIN FROM CANTON

Ted Gallagher Returns to Amateur Baseball After Many Years 'Absence.

KINGSTON, July 7. — "Teddy" Gallagher, former peer of all southpaws in the Central Ontario Baseball League, returned to the game last night after an absence of several years, and while he appeared only in the role of pinch-hitter, he scored one of the runs which helped Kingston Ponies defeat Canton, N.Y., in an exhibition game, 7 to 2.

Gallagher, who formerly was offered trials with Toronto Leafs, is out to make a comeback, and last night he stepped to the plate for the first time in half a dozen years. He got to base on an error and later scored.

'Yammy' Jamieson and 'Speedy' St. Louis pitched wonderful ball to allow Canton only two hits, both coming off Jamieson's delivery in the first four innings. In his tenure on the mound Jamieson fanned six, while St. Louis struck out ten in five innings.

Hewitt Smith, leading batter of C.O.B.L. continued terrific slugging, smashing out a double, triple and home-run in four times up.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

By Herb Martin)

The rain last night put the skids under the bowling and by so doing gave everybody a night off. The greens have been in constant use since May 24th, and a little rest will not do anybody any harm, and it will do the greens a world of good.

From time to time many of our bowlers have been lending their bowls to fellow bowlers, and we understand that they do not mind lending them; but when these are not returned to their proper place in proper condition, then it creates a very embarrassing position.

We feel sure that in a lot of cases it is just an oversight, and if they will just attend to the returning of the bowls—well, the chances for borrowing them again would be much brighter.

All those who want to play in the Leads and Seconds or the Skips and Vice-Skips competition must enter their names on a card place in the club house for that purpose. The entries close on July 13. For further information we would ask you to read Page 18 in schedule book.

Manush on Top

"Heinie" Manush, Washington Senators' outfielder, maintained the leadership of baseball's Big Six by hitting three out of five times at bat against the Yankees yesterday and adding two percentage points to his average for a mark of .406. The other American League members of the sextet, Charley Ghringer and Lou Gehrig, remained in second and third places, respectively, while Bill Terry of the Giants and Floyd Vaughan of the Pirates hung on and Joe Medwick of the Cardinals dropped out of sight, yielding his place to Sam Leslie of the Dodgers.

CRACK SOUTHPAWS WILL START FIREWORKS IN MAJOR STRUGGLE

OFFICIAL ROSTERS.

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

NEWYORK, July 7.—(AP)—Nominated in advance by popular acclaim, Vernon (Goofy) Gomez and Carl Owen Hubbell were definitely selected today as starting pitchers for the all-star game between the American and National League at the Pole Grounds next Tuesday.

Obeying the people's mandate as indicated by the recent nationwide poll, Joseph Edward Cronin, the American League's shortstop-manager, and Bill Terry, first baseman and master-mind of the National League forces, picked the two crack southpaws for starting duty and thereby assured a pitching natural for which the baseball world has been waiting for several years.

Gomez and Hubbell, generally ranked as the two finest portsiders in the game, polled by far the greatest number of votes among the pitchers chosen for the two all-star teams.

Announcement of their selection by the two managers was made coincident with the official batting orders for both teams, Cronin has decided to start with a lineup topped off by four of the greatest left-handed hitters in baseball while, Terry, although he named alternates for three positions, nevertheless plans to fire eight righthanded clouters at Gomez.

BOSTON INTERESTS MAY BUY GARDEN

Art Ross, Former Head of Bruins, May Become General Manager of Arena.

BOSTON, July 7 (AP)—The fate of Boston Garden (Madison Square Garden) will probably be decided here next Monday, when Col. John Hammond, New York Garden president, calls his local directors into session to act upon the Boston and Maine's latest ultimatum.

It is understood the railroad, which built the costly sports arena on top of its Boston terminal, demands that the Madison Square Garden Corporation pay the remaining $166,000 due on the Boston Garden Corporation stock and agree to increased rental.

At least two Boston groups, one headed by Charles F. Adams, owner of the Boston Bruins hockey team, have offered to take the Garden off the railroad's hands. In the event that the Adams groups offer is accepted, Art Ross, former manager of the Bruins, will become general manager of the Garden.

There's a benefit ball game slated for tonight at six up at Central. But we don't know who will benefit by it. No doubt, the shekels collected will go to the fund for injured players—Foley is one of them—but the tussle should also benefit the fans, giving 'em a game on Saturday night. And it'll benefit a flock of the players, some of whom can stand the practice. We imagine it'll be a good game, and we want to see injured players get some dough, but most interesting part of the tussle to us will be how some of the enforced teammates—it's between all-star teams—will click. How will Starr and Sturgeon get along on the same squad, and what about Calladne and Ellis? And a raft of other enemies. Will they bury the hatchet—and if so, where? Or will the game for injured players result in more injured players? Well, hardly. Anyway, it'll be interesting. The managers are Bert Deck and Jake Beckerman.

Rain last night put a crimp in the gals' opener at the Bowl. A fair crowd was on deck and it looked like a good game as far as it went. But it didn't go far enough and was listed as "no contest." It must go at least seven frames to be a contest in softball. Omemee was late arriving and Mayor Denne ankled off to another engagement. Ald. Stocker officially opened the Bowl with a nice grooved ball to Fred Scates, men's loop prexy, and Ald. Bob Cotton back of the plate didn't get his mitts on it. No, sir, that ball went for a ride. Well, at least the lid is pried off now and the Bowl is already for future town tussles.

A California dew, dropping in bucketsfull, also washed out the men's softball fixture at Central. Fashion-Crafts were trailing Johnston's Tires, 6-0, at the time, having only one hit off Price in four and a half frames. Bert Deck has a strong suspicion that there were more than the farmers praying for that shower! To give Price credit, he was going along nicely, fanning four in four cantos, but he passed out five Annie Oakleys; whereas Bill Simmons, though hit hard, gave no passes. 'Bill figured Annie doesn't live here any more, and doggone if she didn't.

Two bantam ball teams, Leafs and Hawks, also got caught in the downpour and had to call it a night last night. The umpire said "Desist" early in the fourth with the count, 5-0, for ye Birdmen, three hits and a lot of errors letting in the five. Pammett was tossing nice ball to have the Leafs hitless as he fanned six in three stanzas. Curtain struck out five for the other side. Never ask a bantam pitcher what he's tossing in till after the batter is through. If the batter hits, the young hurler says, "Oh, I just laid it down the middle; I expect some support." But should the batter fan, the Y.H. states, "I give him an inside hook the first strike, then I crossed him with a smoke-ball, and I finished him with a knuckle-drop." And he believes it himself!

Cogs and C.G.E. got in six innings at the Exhibition Grounds, enough for a game last night, Cogs copping it, 6-2. 'Twas a nice little battle marked with good pitching, fielding and some nice bingling. Cogs had more punch at bat and Casey Masterson was going nice on the rubber. The hitting of Cadd, Mein and Huggins, and some nice fielding by Johnston, Mein, Young and a few others were standouts. A nice snappy number.

Last nightajuvenile semi-finalbetwe en George St. and St. James of the Church Softball League was called in the fifth with the former in front, 7-5. Looked like a snappy lah-de-dah. Itll be run off again Monday at King Edward Park, winner tangling with Knox in the finals. Also on Monday, the second game of the senior finals will be held between Knox and Mark St. at the Oval. The Church Loop will be all wound up next week and a whole flock of players will be at loose ends for the rest of the summer. Still, they've had a good two months of play.

The Belleville scribe de sports has finally figured out the C. O. B. L. standing and now admits that the Petes are tied for first place with Kingston, while Belleville is in the cellar with Massa—"in the cold, cold ground." He had the Nats everywhere but in the International League and he has done much chuckling about how Chief Williams was standing us and the other teams on their ears. But since Bill Calladine stepped into Belleville the other day and outpitched the Indian, the chuckling has ceased abruptly—not everywhere, of course, just in Belleville.

Ever since Oshawa dropped out of the Ulster Stadium League in Toronto, that loop has been wobbly. And now it's liable to go bust completely since the executive barred for the rest of the season Managers Bart Sullivan of Danforths and Buck McKenna of the G. W. Grads. It seems these teams were billed to play night before last but both refused to take the field claiming the grounds weren't fit for play. League officers looked over the grounds and ordered the game, and later held a hot meeting and fired these two chaps. Both are big shots in senior ball around Toronto, and it is likely that they'll take a number of their players and go outlaw or else force the league to rescind its action. The O.O.B.L. that started off like something the cat toted home is now the best senior circuit in Ontario; and the Ulster League which started like a million bucks is now worth about a finif, and going down in value every day.

North Douro Scores Easy 28-5 Victory

North Douro Walloped Elmwood's Tuesday evening, 28-5. It was another one of those ragged, one-sided games in which Elmwood's couldn't do anything right and North Douro played heads-up ball. Thompson pitched a grand game, scattering the hits and receiving swell support. Towns started for Elmwood's. He pitched good ball, but his support was so poor that he soon gave up in despair. Walsh replaced him in the fifth, but the support did not become any better. Only six runs were garnered off Walsh, but that in itself was enough to win the ball game.

The teams:

North Douro — F. Condon, c; Thompson, p; Jim Delaney, 1b; Dwyer, 3b; S. Condon, 2b; C. Condon, ss; Allen, rf; J. Delaney, lf; G. Condon, cf.

Douro's Errors Aid Zion Take Victory

Beaver Meadow was the scene of the return match between the Zion girls and Douro on Wednesday evening, ending in a 12-11 triumph for Zion. The close tussle was witnessed by a large crowd of fans from both centres. D. Thompson pitched stellar ball for Slattery's reception on the homester's side and was strikingly effective with bases full. Walsh carried them away from Condon's weakening arm for the Douro crew. WEST SEYMOUR GAINS TOP HOLE

Loop Leaders Are 7-4 Winners Over Petherick's in Close Struggle.

PITCHERS' BATTLE.

BURNBRAE, July 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Only a small crowd of fans witnessed Wednesday evening's Seymour League game, but they were treated to the best game ever staged in this group, when West Seymour forged to the front of the League standing with a 7 to 4 win over Pethericks.

It was a pitchers' battle throughout, and for five innings looked like anybody's game. A few costly errors didn't help Kerr's cause any. His two walks both turned into runs, and he struck out seven, allowing only four hits for a well-pitched game. Russell, for the winners, was practically a one-man team. He struck out twelve, every batter but Barnum suffering at least once. Ten free passes didn't look so good, but he bore down with men on to hold the game safe in the bag. Pethericks had seven men left on bases as against one for the winners.

The Westerners retired in order except for Russell's double, until the fourth, when F. Fry dropped McCulloch's fly and he scored on a passed ball and Hoard's sacrifice. Two were added in the fifth on Holmes' single, a walk to Nicholas, two passed balls and a costly error at first. Their winning margin came in the sixth. Meiklejohn erred on McCook's tap, then Kerr threw badly to second to cut off a steal, and the runner scored. With two gone, Chadwick walked, scoring when Holmes lashed out a homer. Nicholas followed with a three-bagger and counted on a bad throw in.

Pethericks got a lead in the first when a walk and a passed ball, with a wild pitch, gave a run. They lost a royal chance in the fifth when Ray Fry tripled, only to be out when the coach touched him as he was leaving third to score on a sacrifice. Art Petherick pounded out a homer in the sixth, and two more counted in the seventh when Russell walked five, but the Northerners hadn't a batter who could hit the ball, and they ended the game with the bases full. Meiklejohn and Barnum were good in the field for the losers, while the winners were given little to do, McCulloch and Holmes handling eighteen of the twenty-one put outs.

Menie and West Seymour meet on Saturday evening to wind up the third quarter of the schedule. A win for Menie would create a three-cornered tie.

	Won	Lost
West Seymour	3	2

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

Chapter 42.

Pointer drove back with the sergeant to the police station. A message was waiting for him there, from the very man he told to watch the Westmacott house, while doing some telephone repairs ostensibly a little further down. The man—Strange—had not left the house, but a car had driven up, and Mrs. de Souza had gone into the house That was exactly 20 minutes after the chief inspector had left it. Just the time in fact that it would take that lady to get there had she been urgently telephoned for. Mrs. de Souza had stayed just 13 minutes and driven off. She looked worried, both when she passed him going to, and when she passed him leaving the house, the watcher thought.

Pointer himself got through on the telephone at once to his own rooms at the Yard. Watts, his detective sergeant, was given very detailed instructions as to make-up and the line that he was to follow in a call at Mr. Westmacott's house as soon as he could reach it. Pointer dared not go himself. A certain time always had to elapse, he had found, to make even a perfect disguise pass muster with a keen-witted woman, and he thought that Lady Ida's wits were razor-sharp.

And yet the house was growing odder and odder. That an elderly valet should be left behind as a major domo and allowed to choose his work more or less was understandable—fairly. But why the man should choose to clean the windows of the unoccupied part was not so easy to grasp. Servants are very careful not to lose caste, and Pointer could not see why Craven should labor over work done expertly enough for the rest of the house. . . . That shut-off half-house, Was it being used in some way quite unknown to the owners? All very well for the sergeant to be so sure of Craven's character and of the characters of the other servants. Pointer felt that he must have a more unbiased report. For the identity of the man who had called in at Gillian Dundas' studio had become very important, once the chief inspector had had those glass boutonnieres tested. Granted that the criminal thought that the means by which Tait had been poisoned would be impossible to detect, and he might well have felt confident of this, then the wearing of the vehicle by which the other had been poisoned might be the safest way of disposing of it for the time being Or had it a more terrible meaning? Gillian Dundas went in terror of her life, of that Pointer was certain. Was it possible that this man who had called at her studio, was not a friend but an enemy—a destroyer, wearing the same kind of boutonniere as might have killed Tait?

It would be so easy, for a man who always wore gloves, to make a remark on his lily of the valley spray, which défied the sharpest eyesight to detect as artificial. A handing of it over to the person with whom the wearer was chatting, the inevitable tiny slivers of glass run into the fingers that touched it to verify the wearer's statement that it was not a real flower, and the thing was done . . . yes, decidedly he must know all that there was to be known about that man with the strangely wrinkled face, the powerful yellow teeth, and the nails worn down to the quicks. Well, he could depend on Watts.

Watts was a youngish man, slight of build, who possessed a face that could be made to resemble almost any other face at a few minutes' notice.

It was rather a scholarly looking young man, dressed in very well-cut clothes, who rang the bell of the Westmacott house just half an hour after Pointer sent his instructions through to the Yard. He, too, had had a word with the Yard's observer. Mr. Strange had still not left by either door. A tall flunkey with powdered hair opened it. Lady Ida still went in for powdered footmen.

"I say, I'm awfully sorry, but I'm afraid a very poisonous little snake that I was taking to Lord Wilbraham's reptile house has escaped. I've been hunting for it, and by some marks on these steps it looks as though it must have whipped in here when the door was open. I'm awfully sorry. It's only the size of a small pencil, and swift as light. Ah, that's its track!" Not even Pointer could have pounced with more appearance of truth than did Watts on a shiny mark on the marble square inside the door. The footman muttered something, and incontinently fled. A second later the butler, looking distinctly perturbed for once in his life, hurried to where Watts, on his knees, was feeling gingerly with gloved hand under the edge of a carved bench in the hall. To him Watts gave his name as Dorrington, assistant keeper of the reptile house at Whipsnade, on his way to bring a spare snake to Lord Wilbraham for the latter's famous collection of deadly reptiles. He told a swift story of some one knocking against him in the street, of the little box flying out of his hand and breaking—he showed the box ruefully—and of the escape of what was inside it, one of the deadliest small snakes known.

"I have traced him up these steps and into your hall," he wound up firmly. "The question is, where has he got to? Is any member of the family at home to whom I can explain matters ters?" He spoke swiftly and urgently as a man should, who knows that the brother of a fer-de-lance has entered a house.

"Mr. Luttrell Westmacott is in, sir He'll see you," stammered the butler, scanning the floor with bulging eyes.

"I'll come with you and see if I can catch sight of the little brute on the way."

The butler was grateful for company. Together they hurried along a passage, carpeted thickly enough to suggest a jungle to any tropical snake. Throwing open a door, after a swift scanning of the handle, the butler in quavering tones ushered Watts into a smoke room where sat young Westmacott, the nephew of the house's owner, hard at work on a crossword puzzle.

"Mr. Dorrington of the zoo to see you, sir. He thinks a snake has got in here."

This was rather too condensed a way of breaking the news. Watts thought, who, enjoying himself, elaborated, and explained, while he looked around him, over and under the rugs.

"He's not in here," he said, after a few seconds. "He leaves faint traces of his passage—when you know enough to recognize them—rather like a snail's marks, but drier and fainter. And only here and there where he's doubled back on himself." Watts trusted to natural history not being one of Luttrell's hobbies. That young man was helping with a will after putting gloves on. The butler, similarly protected, was helping too. So were the two footmen.

Lady Ida was informed of what had happened and came down into the drawing room, where the hunt had been proceeding, almost at a run.

"I never heard of anything so disgracefully careless," she said in quite justified indignation. "Of course the creature must be found and at once! It may bite at any minute—from anywhere."

Watts murmured abject contrition.

"Some one must have come in or gone out—I mean, the door must have been opened for him to slip in—it's possible the snake might have slipped into any rug or package——"

"When did it escape? I thought it had only happened this minute," Lady Ida asked peremptorily. Watts, acting on instructions, named the moment when Mrs. de Souza's car had stopped at the house.

"Mrs. de Souza!" the butler murmured, drawing a deep breath of horror. "That would be the only time the door was opened. . . . That and to let her out, of course.

Lakefield Institute Holds Annual Picnic

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, July 7. — The annual picnic of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday of this week and was attended by quite a number of the members who motored to Peterborough, and paid an educational visit to the Brinton Carpet Company and Quaker Oats. Both visits were thoroughly enjoyed and later in the afternoon gathered at Ohemong Park for tea. The program was arranged along the lines of Canadian Industries and was a new departure and one which fully justified the experiment.

FOUR GET DAMAGES THREE OTHERS FAIL

Toronto Man Ordered to Pay For Collision Injuries.

TORONTO, July 7.—Damages for injuries suffered by several persons in a collision between two automobiles on No. 2 Highway near Scarboro on December 24 are awarded against Alexander H. Brown, cutter, of Toronto, in a judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall by Mr. Justice Kelly.

Joseph H. Jamison of Peterborough is awarded $1,167; his wife, Thelma Jamison, $400; H. A. Pitt, Toronto, $1,350; and his wife, Audrey Pitt, $3,000. A claim by Alexander H. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Pitt is dismissed.

YEAR'S SUPPLIES SAIL FOR NORTH

Gov't Vessel With Hudson Bay Governor Aboard Will Visit 38 Points.

MESSAGE TO ESKIMOS.

By H. M. PETERS

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, July 7.—(C.P.)—A little ship went a-sailing from Montreal to-day.

But this was no ordinary departure. It represented the Dominion government leaving to administer its vast northern possessions; it meant relief to Royal Canadian Mounted Police scattered at isolated posts up to the Arctic; it meant the church carrying its message to the Indian and Eskimo; it meant mail and supplies; and it meant a great, historic company reaping the harvest of a winter's work by its outposts in the north.

The S. S. Nascopie, laden to her decks, steamed for her annual cruise to 38 points throughout the northland, leaving to the accompaniment of cheers from several hundred gathered on the pier and to the tune of salutes from craft lining the harbor front.

On board, for the first time in the history of her owners, the Hudson's Bay Company, was the governor of the company, P. Ashley Cooper Ofpondon. The Dominion authorities, numbering 15, were headed by Major David L. McKeand of the Department of the Interior, holder of a commission under the Great Seal of Canada to administer justice and direct government operations throughout the ice-girt north.

NEWFOUNDLAND IS DISSATISFIED WITH NEW FORM OF GOVERNMENT

But Observers Believe Foundation for Recovery is Being Laid.

NEW YOUTH MOVEMENT.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 7.—Newfoundland under a commission, replacing the old democratic representative form of government, has so far made not the slightest headway in solving the problems of the country.

Indeed, since its inception on Feb. 16, it has become decidedly unpopular with a great majority of the people of Newfoundland, the first sentiments of gratitude at the assurance by Britain of bearing their financial burden for three years, having worn off.

On the other hand, observers state, the commission is slowly building a system bound to react more rapidly to world economic recovery; a system which works hardships on many at the start, but which, it is claimed, will eventually result in the common good. To use an old Newfoundland phrase, it means, "live, horse and you shall eat grass.'

There has been no decrease in unemployment, no increase in business; cod fishers complain that stiff competition from subsidized fishermen from Spain and Italy has made it impossible for them to longer make sufficient to buy heavily taxed food, clothing and other fishery supplies. The commission's new budget presented at the end of June, made mention of tariff revision which may help bring down the cost of living.

The first budget for the year just ending showed a deficit of $2,131,-551. The budget for 1934, is balanced to include more than $1,250,-000 for relief purposes and several million for public works. The deficit from the first year's statement will be met by the United Kingdom, who have made a grant of $2,192,-500, "which is not to be repaid."

The budget was presented by Hon. E. M. R. Trentham, one of the commissioners. The commisison, presided over by Sir David Anderson, governor of Newfoundland, is comprised of E. M. R. Trentham, one of the commisisoners. The commission, presided over by Sir David Anderson, governor of Newfoundland, is composed of E. M. R. Trentham, W. R. Howley, K.C., J. C. Puddester, Sir John Simpson, Thomas Lodge and ex-Premier Alderdice.

New Youth Movement

One thing the new commission has done which has caused much comment, is the releasing of many civil servants over 60 years of age, many on pensions amounting to not more than $6.00 monthly. Their places are being filled with young university graduates who in past years have been forced to travel to Canada for education and work. These young men are taking over the duties once filled by deputy ministers, etc. As a result there is a decided youth movement in the country. The educated young man is new getting the opportunity he has been crying for for many years.

Meanwhile, the commission itself containing as it does many men prominent in previous governments, is naturally often partisan, and political appointments are still being made. Observers are of the opinion that this partisanship will soon die away and, without the necessity of expensive, lengthy and frequent appeals to the country on questions of national policy, the new commission will be able to function more rapidly and effectively.

The people, however, resent having no say whatever in the government, admitting that some drastic step was necessary to save the country from financial disaster. The commissioners, by constant hammering in public speeches, are reiterating again and again, that recovery will be slow but sure.

Millbrook Couple Given Surprise Party

MILLBROOK, July 7.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— A pleasant surprise was prepared for Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Skinkle on Thursday evening when a large number of friends gathered at the home of the bride and groom for a social time together, and to present them with tangible evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Skinkle, for several years a resident of the community, is held.

Announcement of the arrival of the self-invited guests was by way of a 'musical interlude,' supplied by the young men friends of the groom, on the lawn outside, and when the invitation to enter had been accepted, Henry Gray read an appreciative address, Wilfrid Whyte, on behalf of the wide circle of friends, presented the host and hostess with a handsome electric floor lamp.

Mr. Skinkle made suitable reply on behalf of his bride and himself, and the evening was happily completed with the service of dainty refreshments, and dancing to radio music, the instrument being supplied through tne courtesy of Mr. Whyte.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Skinkle took place on June 1, at Norham, his bride having been Margaret Evelyn West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert West, of Norham. They are residing in Mrs. M. Hawthorne's house, King street east.

PLANT KILLS TWO COWS

CLARKSON, Ont.— Farmers of this district, just west of Toronto, were alarmed today by news that two valuable dairy cows had died from eating water hemlock that had grown in a pasture where they were feeding.

The cows, owned by L. A. Hamilton, had been turned loose in a field that was flooded in the spring. Word was conveyed to neighbors to be on a look-out for the malignant plant which resembles wild parsnip in appearance.

English Grammar Subject Of Entrance Examinations

Questions and answers in the high school entrance grammar paper, which was written Wednesday, are as follows:

Apples are not very plentiful in a new country, because it takes some years for the trees to reach their full growth. 24 Killed In Canada Over Weekend

ONTARIO LEADS WITH 12 DEATHS 7 IN MARITIMES

Two Oshawa Youths Die Instantly as Motorcycle Hits Tourist's Car.

TRAINS KILL THREE.

Ottawa Couple and Girl Sink in Gatineau as Car Strikes Truck.

(By Canadian Press.)

Death stalked Canada's highways and waterways this week-end, and the toll mounted to 24 to-day, with additional fatalities being recorded.

Ontario was the chief sufferer, for in that province six were drowned, four died in motor crashes, one man was killed by a train, and another died as the result of a horse's kick. The Maritime Provinces reported four drowned, and one killed by a car, another by train, and a seventh electrocuted. The Western Provinces got off lightly with only two deaths, a drowning, and a car accident, while in Quebec one man was drowned and two killed by a train.

Worst accident reported was the triple drowning in the Gatineau River near Ottawa, where Charles Warwicker, his wife and 21-year-old Helen White were carried to their death when their car plunged from a bridge.

OSHAWA LADS DIE.

OSHAWA, July 9 (C.P.). — Thomas and James Wright, aged 19 and 16 respectively, of Oshawa, were killed instantly to-day when the motorcycle they were driving crashed headlong into an automobile near here. Their skulls were fractured.

The shock of the crash spread parts of the motorcycle all over the road, while its front wheel became wedged between the wheel and the radiator of the car, a big sedan, with an Americal license. The driver of the car, T. John Thomas, of Chicago, was thrown against the wheel with force enough to break it. He was treated later for fractured ribs.

An inquest has been ordered.

STRATOSPHERE FLIERS READY

Maj. Kepner and Capt. Stevens Wait in South Dakota for Right Weather.

MONSTER BALLOON.

RAPID CITY, S.D., July 9 (CP) Everything except the weather was ready to-day for man's latest venture into the thin upper air.

Officials of the National Geographic Society and the United States army air corps waited hopefully for the favorable weather they must have for the safe stratosphere voyage of their 3,000,000-cubic foot capacity balloon.

Major William E. Kepner and Captain Albert W. Stevens, who will be pilot and scientific observer, respectively announced all preparations had been completed for an immediate ascent.

An official statement announcing the balloon would be called "The Explorer" said:

"The gondola of the balloon which soon will rise far into the stratosphere is more fully equipped for exploration than any that has been taken in that region before. The expedition will explore the upper stratosphere itself and the unseen forces so vital to the world below that play on its outwardly calm spaces. It is hoped to bring back to earth as a result of its explorations new facts from a new world as truly as did Columbus when he crossed an unknown sea of water."

"One-Tree Orchard" Bearing 127 Grafts Is Growing 123 Varieties Apples, 4 Pears

FREDERICTON, July 9 (C.P.). — The one-tree orchard" of F. A. Good, Fredericton educationist and horticulturist, this year has a total of 127 grafts, including 123 distinct varieties of apples and four of pears.

The tree, on Sunnybrook Farm, in the Parish of Kingsclear, York County, has been the amazement of horticulturists in all parts of the world. Mr. Good started in 1926 to turn a veritable "sour apple tree" on his farm into a producer, and since that time, by painstaking efforts, his accomplishments have been extraordinary.

Last spring Mr. Good added 10 new grafts and replaced five torn off by unusually heavy snow. Seven of the new grafts were apples and three pears. All of them, as well as those replacing old grafts, were recording healthy growth.

The tree is expected to produce 100 different varieties of apples this year. Last year 50 varieties grown on the tree were picked and exhibited.

The "orchard" was a wild apple tree some years old when Mr Good began his grafting experiments in 1926. A member of the Faculty of the Provincial Normal School here, Mr. Good began his horticultural experiments as a hobby. Success of his work on the tree has brought him queries from many parts of the world.

ORANGE LODGES ATTEND CHURCH GEORGE STREET

More Than 400 Orangemen Hear the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

HONOR WAR DEAD.

Order Will be Judged by Lives of Members Who Form It.

More than 400 strong, members of the local lodges of the Orange Order paraded last evening to the George Street United Church where in an impressive service they were exhorted by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, "to strengthen their stakes" in order that Orangeism may reach its ultimate success in the lives of its members and in its purposes.

It was the occasion of the annual church parade of the Orange Order here, and eleven lodges of the city and district were well represented in the service, which annually precedes the celebration of The Twelfth. Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe based his thoughtful sermon on chapter 54, second verse, of Isaiah: "Enlarge the place of thy tent—lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes," and he stressed the fact that the Orange Order will be judged, not by its constitution or ritual, but "by the lives of the people who comprise it."

Large Parade.

Many citizens witnessed the parade to and from the church. Forming up at the Orange Hall on Brock Street, the women and children in white dresses with orange sashes, and many of the men wearing the traditional "toppers," the parade marched to the church shortly before 7 o'clock.

It was led by the Salvation Army Band, under the leadership of Bandsman R. G. Routly, which also played an important part in the service, serving as the choir.

An impressive tribute to the city's was dead was paid following the church service. Reforming behind the band, the juveniles leading, the long double-column of the Order marched through the main streets

Half Of Flin Flon Strikers Back on Job

FLIN FLON, Man., July 9 (C.P.). —The strident blast of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company siren called striking mine workers back to their jobs at 9.30 a.m., E.S.T., today and, under the watchful eyes of steel-helmeted Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, 700 employees trooped in to work.

Included in the number back at work to-day were 200 employees who have been on the job throughout the month-old strike of 1,300 workers. A large crowd of strikers and sympathizers, including several women, were on hand as the mine employees punched their time cards. There were no disorders, however.

Aberdeen, Scotland, has restored all depression salary cuts.

RYAN ADVOCATES PSYCHIATRISTS

Believes Clinics Should Be Set Up in Every Corrective Institution.

UED IN NEW YORK.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 9 (C.P.).—Speaking at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at noon to-day, Dr. E. Ryan, former supervisor of mental hospitals for Ontario, advocated that a psychiatrist be appointed to all penal institutions in this province.

"I urge with all earnestness, he said, "on those in authority, both Provincial and Federal, to establish psychiatric clinics in every corrective institution, in every penal institution, in every place where detention of a human being for long or short periods is deemed necessary by law. Neither Ontario nor Canada should exclude the light of science from shining on the bound as well as the free.

"In all the large penal institutions of the state of New York, classification clinics are an essential part of the routine life of the institution.

"From the fact that various research workers consider that less than one-half of the prison population is normal, one-fourth feebleminded, and nearly one-third psychoptathic or psychotic, this of itself would render the presence of a psychiatrist imperative. These findings represent my own experience. The psychiartrist and the psychiatric clinic should occupy the first place in the general advance."

WASAGA-BAGDAD PLANE READY FOR WEDNESDAY

TORONTO, July 9.—(C.P.)—"By Wednesday evening our machine will be all ready to go," J. R. Ayling declared to-day. With Leonard Reid he is making preparations for a Wasaga Beach-to-Bagdad flight in the "trail of the Caribou," former Mollison airplane. "After Wednesday it will be just a matter of waiting for the weather to clear up. The machine is in fine condition. We are taking her out to-day for a test of the instruments. We have three compasses and blind flying equipment, but no radio because of the weight."

Workmen are smooting off an extra two miles at Wasaga Beach, lengthening the natural runway selected.

ANNUAL ROTARY CARNIVAL HAS FINE SURPLUS

Net Profit of Over $2,500 Reported To-day as Rotarians Entertain Their Assistants.

DETROIT CONVENTION.

President Read Gives Interesting Review of Highlights of Detroit Gathering.

With its new president, J. F. Reed, in the chair for the first time, the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day played host to the willing workers who assisted at the recent carnival and heard the gratifying news that the annual event had yielded net profits of over $2,500. All the non-members, both men and women, who helped in the carnival booths or in other ways aided in the success of the undertaking were guests of the club to-day and were warmly thanked for their services by Rotarian Fred Roy, who welcomed them, and by Past President Dr. Moir and President-elect Reed.

President Reed announced the financial success of the carnival, the car draw yielding $892; the special edition of The Examiner in the neighborhood of $1,200, and the carnival booths earning over $500.

Dr. Moir informed the meeting that as a result of the publicity aroused by the carnival new interest had been created in crippled children's work, and some twelve cases had been treated since the carnival and there were to be three operations tomorrow, in addition, a case of incipient tuberculosis had been detected and through the discovery it had been found that a whole family was suffering from the

OSHAWA LODGES BREAKING AWAY

Reported to Have Decided to March in Toronto This Year.

WALK IN PORT HOPE.

Having declined an invitation from Toronto to participate in the celebration of the Twelfth in that city, all Orange Lodges of Peterborough West will parade in the big inter-county celebration at Port Hope, E. F. Reid, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East, told The Examiner to-day, in denying rumors that some Peterborough lodges woud march at Toronto.

"In accordance with the long agreement we have had with the other four counties in this district, all our lodges will march at Port Hope," Mr. Reid declared. "For more than 40 years, Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland Counties have celebrated the Twelfth together, regularly alternating the celebration among the chief towns of the four counties. It has worked out splendidly and Peterborough lodges would do nothing to disturb this arrangement."

In 1931 the lodges of South Ontario, he explained, asked permission to be included in this arrangement. "South Ontario was included and in 1932 the celebration was held in Oshawa, although it was properly Peterborough's turn to have the big walk. I understand that the Oshawa lodges have accepted the invitation to march in Toronto and will not attend at Port Hope. If this is so, then South Ontario will probably be dropped from our inter-county arrangement. They can not come and go out as they please. It is not fair. However, the proper action will be decided at a meeting after the Port Hope celebration."

Service

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP) —A police ambulance roared out of the Wilshire Station last night, siren shrieking. A mile farther, it broke down.

Another ambulance was dispatched from Newton street. It met a similar fate.

One started from Temple street and failed, after it had gone two miles.

A fourth roared confidently out of the 76th Street Station but broke down five blocks away.

Finally a fifth was driven from the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital. It beat the jinx and answered two calls.

AUSSIES SCORE 423 RUNS FOR EIGHT WICKETS

Australians Put Up Stubborn Fight to Get the Break in Third Match.

DRAW IS PROBABLE.

One Day's Play Left for Two Wickets—Batsmen Make Field Day of Game.

MANCHESTER, England, July 9 (CP Cable).—Australia to-day ran their score to 423 runs for loss of eight wickets in the first innings of the third test cricket match against England, replying to an English first innings total of 627 for nine, declared. When play closed for the day it appeared probable the match would result in a draw.

With only one more day to play before the four-day time limit expires, Australia still had two wickets to lose.

The Aussies put up a stubborn fight to-day to get the break in the third of the five-game series. They won the first game and lost the second. Scoring was fairly slow as the Aussies, coming to bat with an overnight total of 136 for one, played carefully. Stanley McCabe, their most daring batsman, hit up 137 and their captain, W. M. Woodful, had second best score with 73.

The wicket appeared made for the batsmen, and bowlers found their adversaries pretty solidly entrenched at the beginning of the day, although they weakened a bit as the top-notchers were eliminated. Hedley Verity, the slow left-arm bowler who made hash of the Aussies' wickets in the second game, still appeared the most successful bowler. He got four wickets, while Walter Hammond took two and G. O. Allen one. The other one went W. M. Woodful, Aussie captain, was run out.

EYE-FLUTTERING CHISELERS SURE TO FIND LOTTERY WINNERS SOFT

Cute Blonde Mammas Dig Deep Into Millions Won in France.

WITHHOLD NAMES.

(By Coralie Van Paassen, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

PARIS, July 9.—One winner of the five million francs prize in the French national lottery, which was run off in nine instalments, fled in panic from his native village to the city of Marseilles, where he and his wife hid for three weeks in an old garret and almost died of starvation. Another new multi-millionaire was so persistently pestered by soft-voiced racketeers, slick hijackers, confidence bozos and other cute chiselers and wise guys that he went plump crazy. One man disappeared without leaving a trace, taking his pile with him, thus causing an uncommon lot of bother to the police, which isn't over yet. Still another died before the drawing. Ungenerously he had kept the winning ticket in the pocket of his mortuary jacket, whereupon his relatives promptly dug up the corpse in the middle of the night. Since they had neglected to ask the authorities for permission, the participants in this ghoulish nocturnal treasure-hunt, all landed in the hoosegow for desecrating a tomb.

Clearly it's not only a cinch to become a Mecaenas over night, although, I dare say, we'd all take a chance on the drawbacks. Money is a greater sweetener than sugar if you know how.

Disagreeable consequences attended the get-rich-quick scheme, sponsored by the French government, have been so numerous that the names of the winners of the five million and the one million-prizes are now being withheld from publication by the authorities. To broadcast a winner's name in some cases has amounted to about the same thing as signing a man's

CONGREGATONS SUPPORT POLICY OF EXAMINER

Sale of Beer and Wine in Restaurants in Peterborough Opposed.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

Three United Churches Discuss Question at Congregational Meetings.

Unanimous endorsation of The Examiner's objection to the issuing of any license for the sale of wine and beer in restaurants in Peterborough was officially recorded by the three congregations of the United Church of Canada Sunday.

This approval, affirming the wishes of a large number of the citizens of Peterborough, carries with it assurances of cooperation in any effort that may be required to obtain effect to the strongly pronounced opposition to any relaxation of the present legislation controlling the sale of beer and wine.

The resolution from St. Andrew's and Trinity churches was adopted at a combined meeting of the two congregations. Their decaration was received by The Examiner to-day as follows:—

"In accordance with the expressed wish of the congregations of St. Andrew's and Trinity United Churches we take pleasure in forwarding the following resolutions.—

Resolved: that we, the combined congregations of St. Andrew's and Trinity United Churches, heartily approve and support The Examiner in its most commendable crusade against the granting of licenses to sell wine and beer in local restaurants.

We commend for consideration The Examiner's published figures on increased accidents and hazards on the highways following the gradual relaxing of the law pertaining to license and sale of intoxicants.

The Examiner's "Safe and Sane" policy will also encourage and stimulate similar action by the press of Ontario, and apart from moral and ethical consideration merits unqualified support as a normal safety policy.

Signed on behalf of St. Andrew's': Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, G. A. Gillespie, Dr. A. Moir; and of Trinity Church—A. B. Cunningham, R. J. Kidd and R. F. Downey."

At St. James' Church

At the close of the morning service at St. James' United Church yesterday morning a congregational meeting was held at which the following resolution, moved by A. S. Kemp, and seconded by E. Benson was unanimously adopted:—

"That we, the members of St. James' United Church are greatly interested in and most deeply appreciate the campaign being carried on by The Examiner against any beer and wine permits in the hotels or restaurants of this city, and are willing to give most hearty co-operation in any effort to see such PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (CP) —In the good old Summertime, Vincent Kelly either keeps his sleeve down and stays warm, or rolls them up—and gets drunk.

"You see, Judge, it's this way," he explained in night court. "I used to have a girl I loved so much I had her name tatooed on my arm. I lost her, and nowadays every time my sleeve slides up and I see her names, I feel so bad I just have to get a drink. Last night, I had my sleeves rolled up."

EXAM QUESTIONS WORDED POORLY SAY EXAMINERS

Ottawa Markers Allow 100 Per Cent. on Entrance Examination Paper.

CLAIM IT WAS UNFAIR.

Queen's Park Admits Tests Sent From There, But Refuse to Comment.

OTTAWA, July 9 (C.P.).—The Ontario High School entrance arithmetic paper was "so poorly and unfairly worded" that Ottawa examiners are allowing full marks for two different answers to the same quesaion.

The question read: "During the month of May, five boys attended school as follows: 16 days, 21 days, 19 days, 18 days, 20 days. Give to one decimal point the average daily attendance of these boys."

The correct answer is 4.2 boys, secured by dividing the total time attendance of 94 days by 22 as the correct number of school days in May. However, 90 per cent. of Ottawa pupils gave the answer as 18.8, the average attendance of the five boys, secured by dividing the total month's attendance of 94 days by five.

"Obviously," said a local examiner, "the question was poorly and unfairly worded.

Officials Silent.

TORONTO, July 9 (C.P.).—Officials of the Department of Education refused to comment to-day on reports from Ottawa to the effect the High School entrance arithmetic paper was "poorly and unfairly worded," and that examiners were allowing full marks for two different answers to the same question.

One official declared the papers were sent from the Department here but the valuation of questions was left to the local boards. One child might take one view of the question, and another child a different view," he said.

Allowances

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 9 (CP) —"The examiner here made allowance in the case of any ambiguous or doubtfully-worded questions the pupils are always given the benefit of the doubt in such cases."

This was the statement of Inspector of Public School W. J. Morrison in Brantford this morning, when queried as to the report from Ottawa that a high school entrance arithmetic paper question had been "poorly and unfairly worded."

Germany Offers Hand Of Friendship to the World

WARNS WORLD OF WAR DANGER AT SAME TIME

Plea for French Understanding is Coupled With Threat to Possible Invaders.

FEARS CLOSING BARRIER.

Fight as Never Before for Liberty—Catholics Ready for Reconciliation.

(By A. D. Stefferud. Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

BERLIN, July 9.—Germany plans to push vigorously a friendlier foreign policy, it appeared to-day, fearing other countries will build political fences completely shutting her out.

Her hand was figuratively stretched out in mingled friendship, apprehension and defiance to France and the world.

A ringing pronouncement for Franco-German understanding and at the same time a warning that Germany will fight "as no people ever yet fought for liberty," by Rudolf Hess, trusted lieutenant of Hitler, was considered something of an about-face in Nazi foreign policy.

Addressing 12,000 Nazi chieftains at Koenigsberg yesterday Hess said a defenceless country endangers peace and that Germany would be satisfied with the minimum arms necessary to security.

A Forced Plea?

Close observers interpreted the straight from the shoulder and unprecedented address of the handsome Cabinet minister as closely tied with the visit to London of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, in search of security agreements, and the concern of other nations over the drastic second Nazi "revolution."

Only a few weeks ago Germany emphasized she must have many more arms and would not be dictated to—in short, that the world must woo her friendship.

But Hess, after recounting the horrors of war, said:

"I say as a veteran to veterans across the border, I, as a leader of one people, ask the leaders of other peoples: Must this be? Can we not, by mutual good-will, spare humanity another war?"

Chancellor Hitler was in seclusion to-day at his summer home in the Bavarian Alps, studying Germany's manifold problems, accentuated by the blood purging of Nazi ranks a week ago.

JOHNSON TURNS CONTROL OF N R A TO ASSISTANTS

Five-Man Board to Relieve Administrator for Summer Months.

LAST MINUTE RUSH.

General to Tour Country Checking Up on Effects of Blue Eagle.

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) — NRA came to-day to the threshold of a new experiment.

Hugh S. Johnson expected to clean up a batch of business before converting the Recovery Agency's one-man leadership into a "five-man control" for the summer.

Most of the job of directing NRA will be shifted to five assistants. General Johnson wants to see how NRA can get along without his hand on the helm. The tryout — which is purely informal and designed to give Administrator Johnson a chance to relax—will be also an important test of commission control.

The General's way of relaxing will be a swing across the country to see the Blue Eagle and put in a good word here and there for the "New Deal."

A last-minute rush of affairs came to his desk to-day. Among problems that awaited his return from a week of rest and conferences in New York were:

1.—Promulgation of one big code for 450 small industries. It would be simple, touching on such matters as wages, working hours, and child labor.

Further Clearing Up

2.—NRA's price policy awaits further clarification, especially President Roosevelt's 15 per cent "tolerance" order. This permits concerns belonging to "open price" codes to go as much as 15 per cent below listed code prices in bidding on Government contracts. Steel and some other industries are reported to be seeking exemption from this tolerance.

3.—NRA must select the administration member to the code authority for the $1,000,000 bread industry. This code became effective to-day.

4.—A 50-page report, ordered by President Roosevelt, on salaries paid moving picture stars, is expected to be turned in soon.

The five-man board will run NRA except for major decisions which., General Johnson must make under the law. On the board will be G. A. Lynch, NRA administrative officer; Robert W. Lea, assistant administrator for industry, and George L. Berry, A. R. Clancy and George Buckley, division administrators.

Steer Jumps 5 Stories Trots Away Unhurt

VANCOUVER, July 9 (C.P.). — Canadian cattle are notorious for their hardihood, but a 120-pound steer has perfofmed a feat here that amazed even the most hardbitten cattlemen.

The steer jumped from the fifth storey window of the slaughter house in Vancouver packing plant, crashed through a heavy corrugated iron roof, landed on the loading platform, jumped from there to the ground and ran up the yard. The animal was not even bruised.

A second steer of similar proportions followed the first out of the window. Although not badly hurt, it suffered a wrenched back and was slaughtered immediately.

Too Busy

MANITONLISH, Wis., July 9 (CP)—John Dillinger is too much of a drawing card to suit Emil Wanatka.

"Business here," Emil said today, "is too good. I'm kept so busy I'm getting tired of it. I want to rest for a year or two."

The Little Bohemia, he said has seen almost boom days since the Dillinger episode.

FLIN FLON STRIKE OUTLOOK EASES

Premier Bracken Appeals to 1,300 Workers to Resume Jobs.

BLAMES REDS.

FLIN FLON, Man., July 9 (C.P.). —Hope for definite settlement of the strike of 1,300 employees of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company increased to-day as first steps towards opening the plant were undertaken.

An appeal for the men to return to work was added by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba to his announcement last night the company would open the plant this morning to all those who desired to return to work. Company officials awaited to see how many would go to their jobs.

Seventeen conferences of varied length were undertaken by Premier Bracken between 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and 10 o'clock last night in his attempt to lay the basis for the return to work of the men who quit on June 9 and others forced into idleness by closing of the plant.

Reviewing the strike situation, Premier Bracken in a written statement said the plant was closed down "largely," in my opinion, due to the activities of the Communist organizers operating through the Mine Workers' Union."

Declaring his interviews in Flin Flon had been from all sides Premier Bracken said he had been assured a majority of employees did not vote for the strike. He added he believed the men who went on strike had been deceived and misled "as to the relationship of the organization they were joining and by the representations of outside agitators."

"If majority wish to wark, and I am convinced that a large majority do, the Government has no alternative but to assure them that they and their families will be fully protected," Premier Bracken added. "In this connection, both the men and the community may rest assured this responsibility will be carried out to the full extent of the law."

NEW CABINET READY.

TORONTO, July 9 (C.P.). — Ontario to-day awaited the next move toward installation of the Liberal administration it elected over Premier George S. Henry's Conservative Government June 19.

Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn was due to return to the Provincial capital to-day from a week's vacation on Lake Simcoe, and was expected to confer with his party officials. The Cabinet, he said, already has been selected and is ready to take office immediatley Mr. Henry resigns.

Premier Henry, on the other hand, says he is awaiting word from his successor and will resign immediately the Liberal leader announces his readiness to take office. Mr. Hepburn says the present Government remained in power the last two weeks at the request of its leader, while the Premier, expressing a refusal to discuss the question last night, said previously he had remained in office to oblige his opponent.

"It won't take us long to quit the Parliament buildings once Mr. Hepburn has signified his intentions to take office," said the Premier.

Mr. Hepburn said his Cabinet is selected and ready to take office immediately the Henry administration resigns.

GARDEN PARTY IN MT. PLEASANT

United Church Affair Is Attended by Largest Crowd on Record.

PLAY "WHITTLIN'" GIVEN.

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual garden party of the Sunday School of the United Church was held on Monday evening, July 2nd. Supper was served in the church shed to one of the largest crowds on record, the tables which were laden with delicious fresh cooking and strawberries and cream in abundance, were clad in snowy white linen and decorated with dainty bouquets.

Following supper a friendly game of softball was played on the athletic grounds by S.S. No. 2 and S.S. No. 9 teams and was enjoyed by the spectators, the latter winning by a score of 12-11.

The crowd then proceeded to the Women's Institute Hall (which was not sufficiently large enough to accommodate nearly all of the crowd) where the Mount Pleasant Dramatic Club presented their popular play entitled "Whittlin'."

Each character in this humorous drama deserved credit for the fine manner in which it was presented in the living room of the Wilson home. The cast of characters were as follows: Dr. Ada m Good, the village doctor, who was a kindly old man always whittling while he's thinking, Harry Jamieson; Mrs. Josiah Wilson, was a mother by soul, trusting every one, Mrs. Herbert Lowes; Ruth Wilson, her daughter was also kind-hearted and wholesome, Ruth Tully; Dave Petterman, the village crab, who was about to foreclose the mortgage on the Wilson home made every one unhappy in his sharp, jerky form of speech, Herbert Lowes; Jimmy Edwards, a "Dopie," who showed unlimited possibilities after he ceased taking the dope, Eric McLean; Annabelle Dee, took the part of a giggling girl at all times, Gwen Fee; Johnny Dee, a telegraph messenger, Alfred Perkins; "Gip" was an old friend of Jimmy's who made his living rolling his bones, Harry Tully.

Garnet Shield, superintendent of the Sunday School was chairman for the program and introduced the play.

Mrs. Winslow in her usual pleasing manner contributed instrumental music. Miss Juan Shield sang "The Little Road Home" in excellent voice with an encore "Danny Boy."

Messrs. Bob McIntosh and Alfred Perkins gave selections on the guitar and mouth organ respectively.

Local beverages are popular just now, and will continue their especial seasonable vogue during the hot weather. With the usual craving for novelty, these beverages have their quota of interest. What can be done to lend that wanted diversity? Here are some suggestions which have been well liked, but which are still in the realm of the different.

* * * * * * *

Grape juice is often added to lemonade to give it an attractive color and a delicate difference of flavor. It is much more of a novelty, however, to add lemon juice to grape juice. This relieves the grape of what to some persons is a cloying sweetness. It supplies zest without being strong enough to impair the luscious taste of the extracted juice of the grapes. Put in also a slice of the citrus fruit into each glass of grape juice and it makes it a more interesting beverage. Or a slice of orange can be used instead of the lemon provided the orange is sour.

* * * * * * *

Pineapple juice either that from the fresh fruit or the liquor drained from a can of pineapple gives a note of diversity to orangeade. A beverage which is distinctive is made of equal parts of pineapple and prune juice added to regulation lemonade. The strained juice from cranberries cooked down with half their measure of water and half of sugar is recommended as an innovation in combination with pineapple juice. Dilute with water and sweeten to taste.

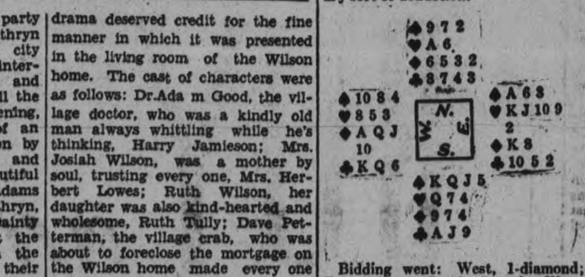
DEDUCTIVE PLAY

If you have for more than 20 years played bridge with the best men in the country, you know whether a player should deduce correctly important facts from opponents' bidding and play. When you see a hand in print you know whether the writer has given a double-dummy version of what should have taken place, or whether he could have done at the table what he writes.

Here is a hand upon which I went game, sitting East, merely by the simplest kind of reasoning, only to be told that I was lucky to guess correctly how the adverse trumps were held. It was no guess. It was the most elementary sort of deduction.



Bidding went: West, 1-diamond; East, 1-heart; South, 1-spade; West, 2-hearts, although he held only 3 small hearts, which often is done as a business risk, when the opening bidder has no rebid length but holds surplus honor values; East, 4-hearts.

The opening lead was the K of spades. It lost to the ace. The natural play was to run off dummy's diamonds, to discard losing spades. Four diamond tricks were run. East discarded 2 spades, although he knew South could ruff the last one.

South ruffed with the 4, and led the J. of spades. I ruffed, and led the 10 of clubs. When South played the J, dummy's Q won the trick. It was no time to take chances.

Dummy's top heart was led. North played the 6. My K won the trick. There was no guess in that play. South could not have passed 3 quick tricks. He would have made an opening bid of 1-spade had he held the ace of hearts, in addition to the ace of clubs, and the K-Q of spades. There would have been no sense in North's failure to kill the Q of clubs had he held the Ace. The odds were 68 to 32 that the 5 missing hearts were held 3-2.

I figured upon South holding either Q-X or Q-X-X, although there were 3 chances in 10 that North held the A-Q-6.

Having won with the K, I had to try bumping together the ace and Q. I led a low heart and North was in with the ace. I ruffed a return spade lead. South won a club with his ace, and the rest of the hand was a spread, giving 4-odd.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

We pointed out yesterday that the most poisonous spider is the so-called black widow, and that several deaths each year are reported from its bite.

Inasmuch as the bites may often be confused with other conditions, and the additional burden of surgical procedures to be added to the original poisoning, it is well to have a knowledge of the symptoms known.

The first symptom of the bite is pain. This pain nearly always extends over the entire body, and is not at all confined to the site of the bite. This pain is agonizing and excruciating, and is especially likely to occur in the muscles of the abdomen, which, in several instances, has led to unnecessary operations. The muscles become very rigid, and there is frequently fever and extreme perspiration, restlessness and anxiety.

In treating severe poisoning of this kind, it is usually necessary to have professional care, because the pain is so great as to require opiates or other anodynes. In many cases using a hot bath or hot compresses gives considerable relief. A valuable form of treatment is the use of convalescent serum. Convalescent serum is blood serum which has been taken from a patient who has recovered from a spider bite. It is supposed this serum will contain the antidotes or antibodies to the poison. When such a serum is preserved and injected into the victim of a spider bite, the symptoms frequently are substantially relieved.

Black spider poison sacs. In many species of spider, even the tarantula, the sacs which contain venom are contained within the jaw structure, but in the Black Widow these repositories, of which each individual has two, extend far back of the jaws.

Most of the cases recover within three or four days, and while deaths have been reported, they are relatively rare. It is best, therefore, not to attempt to carry out too drastic forms of treatment. Especially is it injudicious to try to cauterize or drain the wound or the site of the puncture. The lavish use of coffee and alcohol and stimulants is also unnecessary, because they do no special good, and the disease usually is self-limited.

Opening the wound in order to attempt to remove the poison is much more likely to result in infection than to do any good, because the wound usually was received in a somewhat dirty place, and contamination is extremely likely to occur. Simply swabbing the wound with tincture of iodine is probably better than any other treatment.

Determined efforts to destroy the black widow spider should be undertaken. It is not desirable to exterminate a great many useful and harmless spiders and, therefore, the characteristics of the black widow should be known. The spider is liable to inhabit wooden buildings, such as garages, barns, outdoor toilets, but may be found on the porch or in bedrooms. Many of the patients were bitten while in bed. The spider frequently is found in clothes which have been hanging in exposed places on porches, garages, etc. The web, particularly, is different from most spiders, and does not have the beautiful geometrical design of the common garden spiders' webs, but is straggly, uneven and coarse, and runs in all directions in three dimensions. The poisonous spider itself has rather slim, shiny black legs, which are spread over a space as much as two inches apart. The thing which identifies it the most easily is the red spot on the abdomen.

The spiders themselves can be destroyed by insect sprays, poison sprays and strong fly swatters. The destruction of the eggs and web are equally important.

1,200 ATTEND CAMP MEETING

Testimony Given as to Healings in Answer to Prayer.

MANY NEWCOMERS.

Great crowds attended the Pentecostal Camp Meeting Sunday, at Wallis Grove, near the foot of Green Hill out on the Sherbrooke Road.

The crowds last night were estimated at 1,200 people, Every bit of available space in the large tent where the services are held was filled, and many were standing on the outside.

Evangelist Fred Squire of Essex, England, was the speaker.

A testimony meeting was conducted by the evangelist, and a number spoke of how they had been healed in answer to prayer. One woman from Lindsay testified of being healed of cataract on her eye in the afternoon meeting. Another woman testified of being healed in a recent meeting of a curvature of the spine, causing partial paralysis. Others testified to healing of cancer, tuberculosis, goitre and blindness.

Edward MacDonald of Toronto produced a certified physician's statement of his blindness of both eyes in 1929 and testified to healing April 19th, 1930.

Evangelist Fred Squire, who has been preaching to five thousand people in many of his campaigns in England, spoke of the many healings in his services there in which the dumb spoke, the blind received their sight, goitre and cancer were cured.

His text in the evening was found in Hebrews 2:3, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation." He stated, "The sin of the day is neglect of salvation and the only thing a man has to do to be lost is neglect this great salvation."

Several responded to the altar call and came forward for salvation, finding the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour.

The evangelist also prayed for many who were sick.

The camp grounds rang with the praises of God as the hundreds of people joined in the lively singing, assisted by a large orchestra under the leadership of F. W. Robinson.

The crowds filled the tent in the afternoon when the Rev. Fred Squire preached from Mark 11:2, "Have faith in God."

Four came to the altar for salvation and many sick were prayed for.

Sunday morning, Rev. R. E. McAllister of London, pastor of one of the largest Pentecostal Assemblies in Canada, preached on the "Promises to Overcomers," as given in the Book of Revelation.

This camp meeting is conducted by the Eastern Ontario District of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, Rev. A. E. Adams, District Superintendent. The General Superintendent is the Rev. George A. Chambers, Pastor of the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church of Peterborough.

More than sixty tents are grouped in the shade of the trees, filled with people who came from Minneapolis, Winnipeg, New York State, New Jersey, Ohio, Quebec and the Maritimes, but the majority from Eastern Ontario.

New people are continually coming in from different places and the greatest crowd will be during the coming week when the Conference of the Eastern Ontario District will be held. The conference will meet Tuesday morning at the Full Gospel street, at 9.30, and continue until Friday, each morning.

At the camp meeting grounds each day, beginning with prayer at 7 a.m., followed by breakfast and fellowship at 10.30, Pastor R. E. McAlister of London conducts a Bible study.

The Peterboro-Lindsay bus has been chartered for daily trips to the camp grounds, leaving Aylmer and Charlotte streets at 10.30 a.m., 1.45 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Director Of Vatican Radio Station Dies

VATICAN CITY, July 9, (AP)—Father Giuseppe Gianfranceschi, 59, one of the Vatican's outstanding scientific figures, died early today after a lengthy illness.

He was widely known in connection with his work as director of the Vatican's modern radio station, which Pope Pius inaugurated in February, 1931.

Father Gianfranceschi also was director of the Vatican's ultra short wave radio apparatus, installed by Guglielmo Marconi as the first commercial set of its kind in the world.

The Jesuit scientist had been suffering for some time with cancer of the stomach and was moved to a hospital recently.

Pope Pius, who it was generally believed would have elevated Father Gianfranceschi to the purple except for his ill health, extended him the extreme unction.

NOT DOING TOO BADLY.

While the statement is frequently heard that there is nothing in sight for the majority of college graduates, a little investigation among the former students of Princeton University shows that on the whole men with college training do pretty well for themselves after graduation.

A survey was recently held among 242 graduates of the class of 1924, and thus reveals the fact that ten years after leaving college the members of this group were earning an average of $4,739 and, in addition, making $1,414 each from investments.

Only five of the students canvassed were reported as out of work.

77 per cent. of the graduates are married, and out of the 242 no fewer than 237 declare that they would attend college again if they had their lives to live over.

It is interesting to learn that insurance men lead the class with average earnings of $8,322, followed by real estate men with an average of $7,533 and lawyers whose average earnings are given at $4,222.

Ten men among the 242 earned less than $1,000 last year, 56 per cent. earned less than $4,000 and two earned more than $25,000.

It was generally agreed that the subject that had proved most useful to the graduates who entered the field of business was economics.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

It is intimated that the Bennett Government has in course of preparation a scheme of contributory non-employment insurance which it is proposed to bring before Parliament at the next session.

The explanation for the non-appearance of this legislation at the session just closed is that the business and industrial concerns of the country have not sufficiently recovered from the effects of the long depression to justify the introduction of the bill until a more pronounced betterment is in evidence.

The scheme, it is said, is to be along the lines of the old age pension plan, that is that the administration will be carried on by the provinces which wish to participate and the Federal Government will financially assist those provinces which decide to take advantage of the legislation.

The insurance plan will be based on contributions by the worker, the employer, the province and the Dominion.

Details of this policy will be awaited with a great deal of interest.

The majority of Canadians are convinced that some such protection against unemployment and consequent loss of income is most urgently needed, and they are equally firm in their belief that unemployment insurance should be on a contributory basis—despite the fact, of course, that there are those who clamor loudly for a system of non-contributory insurance.

THE MEIGHEN INQUIRY.

At long last Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is to have the inquiry that he has long been seeking, Premier Bennett having announced the appointing of Chief Justice Sir Lyman P. Duff as royal commissioner to investigate Mr. Meighen's activities as a member of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission.

The Examiner believes that Mr. Meighen was quite justified in demanding an official inquiry by reason of the charges made against him in connection with the Abitibi Canyon power development some time ago and repeated more than once during the course of the recent provincial election campaign.

As the Government leader in the Upper Chamber points out, if he were guilty of these charges he should not be a member of the Senate, and holding that view, he has every right to insist that he should have an opportunity before a proper tribunal of demonstrating his innocence in regard to this Abitibi transaction and any other Hydro activity that it might be desired to look into.

With the task of investigation entrusted to Canada's greatest jurist, the public will have every confidence in the thoroughness and fairness of the probe, and in view of Mr. Meighen's long career as a public man, there will be general agreement with the Federal Government in ordering this matter to be cleared up at the earliest possible moment.

Ugly charges against outstanding statesmen cannot be allowed to go uninvestigated if definite harm is not to be done to the whole structure of government.

DR. MANION'S NEW JOB.

It has been announced from Ottawa that Hon. Dr. Manion, Minister of Railways, has been entrusted with the responsibility of heading the tourist traffic promotion efforts that are to be assumed by the Federal Government.

The Minister of Railways is a hard working member of the Cabinet, and there is every reason to believe that he will tackle this new duty with cheerful energy.

It is work that needs to be done, and its success will ultimately mean a great deal to the people of this country.

Up to the present time, although the tourist business has become one of the country's major industries, little or nothing has been done by the federal administration—neither the present Government nor its predecessors—to give national support to tourist promotion.

The Senate committee which recently investigated the whole situation was quick to recognize the need of federal action and to recommend assistance from the Dominion Government in this all-important business of advertising the advantage Canada offers to tourists in a manner that would bring speedy and definite results.

While the full effect of such publicity cannot be attained this year, it is a source of satisfaction to know that a start has been made, and that Hon. Dr. Manion is to be at the head of the Dominion organization for tourist traffic promotion.

It is an effort that if intelligently and effectively carried out can bring rich dividends that will be shared by Canadians generally, for every person in the country, directly or indirectly, gains from the money put into circulation by the thousands of summer visitors.

MR. MEIGHEN AS A SEER.

Not long ago in the Dominion Senate the fine brain of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was drawn into the offer of remarks upon the problem of social inequalities, which is the favorite theme of superficial theorists who offer a plethora of solutions. Of the reality and profundity of the problem there is no question, but there is also little question that it is a perennial one which has existed from the beginning of time and may last until the end of time, or until the era should arrive when the race will have been purged of the lazy and shiftless, and also of the well-meaning and respectable but handicapped if not incompetent class who for all their diligence and hard work are unable to make things go.

Mr. Meighen realizes, however, that civilization has a duty toward its lame members and that the demand is growing, not without reason, for the fettering of the swift for the benefit of the slow, and for a readjustment of national policy under which surplus earnings will be more heavily taxed with provocation to more spending and consumption of the world's products, thus making the giving of employment a greater objective than that of increasing investments. Mr. Meighen recognizes a trend in that direction in various nations and that general preparation therefore may be wise.

The able Senator's thought-provoking and instructive remarks are so worthy of study that we quote them at some length. He began with dry humor over the British Government at one stage calling in for counsel some fourteen of the most eminent economists over the economic outlook, and proceeded:

"Those gentlemen came, fourteen professors of great eminence, men whose minds had been absorbed with this topic; and after long and arduous review and many discussions, the result of their deliberations was a tie vote, seven to seven.

"That is a fair reflection of the condition that exists the world over; and in the face of such a conflict of views it is perhaps impertinent, rather than courageous, to venture in with a suggestion where the angels have fallen.

"I have already stated in the House that I think the new factor in the collapse of the last cycle, the impact of which was felt with greater force than any experienced before, is the factor of machine and power production. The facilities for production have been multiplied, but not the facilities for consumption. The consequence is a lack of balance. Not only has there been a failure to multiply facilities for consumption, but the displacement of labor by machine and power production has resulted in limiting the consumptive power of a considerable section of the population of every country to the mere necessities of life. While production is prolific, consumption contracts.

"In the race of life those who have been more highly endowed than their fellows in resourcefulness, energy and intellectual capacity and who have applied themselves more practically have always had a substantial advantage, which has produced extraordinary effects. The machine multiplies that advantage. The great power contrivances of this time add to the space that intervenes between the swift and the slow; it multiplies the power of the gifted in contrast with the slow labors of those who are handicapped in one way or another. The inability to succeed which formerly prevailed is now intensified to a tremendous degree. The result is that we have on the one hand the wealth that is being created—quite legitimately, and in the main creditably—and on the other hand the poverty of those who are deprived of the means of livelihood by the machinery which has resulted from human effort, ingenuity and energy.

"I do not know of anything that can be done except still further to fetter the swift for the benefit of the slow. I should like to think there is some other way, more to our taste and liking. Certainly it is not to my liking to handicap the energetic, the enterprising and the hard-working, but it seems to me that the social legislation of the future will proceed along that course, and that we must make up our minds that this will be necessary if we are to have tolerably safe conditions for the fabric of society. I believe that it is a corollary that in these times our laws must be directed to the encouragement of consumption and the distribution of employment by a shortening of the hours of labor; that our taxes should be directed toward surplus earnings year by year, so that the spending of what we have may be encouraged, and in order that by immediate spending and consumption the world's wealth may be devoted to giving employment rather than increasing investments.

"I do not intend to dilate further upon this idea at the present time, but if honorable gentlemen think out the subject they will be, I believe, better prepared for the legislation that is bound to come—not this year, perhaps, but in the not-distant future—legislation, may I add, which is already foreshadowed by the political trends of more than one other nation in the world. I believe that the special advantage given to some by the mechanism of the present day must be counteracted for the benefit of those to whom such advantage does not accrue."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

And now a Round of applause for England's new woman tennis champion, Miss Dorothy Round, who defeated the American champion, Miss Helen Jacobs, on Saturday.

Mr. Hepburn says he is ready to take over. The next move is up to Mr. Henry, and in the general interest he should make it without delay.

The resignation of Thomas Maher, vice-president of the Canadian Radio Commission, is in the hands of the Government, which should not be in any hurry about appointing a successor.

Hon. Peter Heenan is to be Minister of Lands and Forests, but it is understood he will have no chance of using Mr. Finlayson's famous mahogany "fire boat."

It is not easy to understand why no inquest is to be held into the tragic death of D. Paul Munro, member-elect for South Wellington. Such highway fatalities are almost invariably investigated by a coroner's jury.

That "beer by July 1" promise seems to have been lost sight of—but it is worthy of note that not many complaints have been registered.

Some people have happiness thrown in their laps and pass it up for a thrill.—Guelph Mercury.

THE BROWSER.

Someone told the Browser that Hervey Allen's first intention was to publish "Anthony Adverse" as a trilogy . . . three novels about a year apart. . . . The Browser wonders if that trilogy would have been as enormously popular as "Anthony Adverse" in one volume has been. . . . He thinks the three books would never have had a total sale of nearly half a million copies. . . . And he would like to know what the total sales of Stribling's three novels, "The Forge", "The Store" and "Unfinished Cathedral" will be. . . . He has read "Unfinished Cathedral" and for some reason his enthusiasm drooped a little while he was reading. . . . Stribling has great gifts of irony and swift narration, and some of the passages in the book are extraordinary—like the one when Marsan's girl friend hears she's going to have a baby and they sit down and talk about hormones and giggle and don't act at all as the old-fashioned novelist would have had them act. . . . But the characters don't hold together. That old Colonel Militiades Vaiden doesn't seem at all the sort of old man the younger Militiades would have turned out to be. The younger man was mushy, somewhat stupid, seedy minded. The old colonel is hard, realistic, bold, and basically more appealing. . . . Stribling has an odd way of working. He lives in Tennessee, gets up at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, gets into his car, which is stocked with pencils and yellow copy paper, drives into the woods, parks, puts his feet on the seat and writes till he's written out. Then he takes a nap, wakes up and writes again. . . . Then he copies it on a typewriter and throws half of it away. . . . He isn't married.

A. P. Herbert's next book will be "Holy Deadlock", and "amusingly satirical attack on the English divorce laws". He doesn't see why writers shouldn't write "novels with a purpose". Dickens did. Galsworthy did. H. G. Wells does. Storm Jameson does. Shaw writes plays with a purpose. . . . So A. P. Herbert writes novels. . . . Miss Sackville-West has gone to Morocco. . . . Malcolm Cowley thinks the American writers of today are "the first real generation in the history of American letters" and he has written a book about Dos Passos, Cummings, Hemingway, Bromfield, Edmund Wilson, Fitzgerald and others. . . . Symes and Clements' "Rebel America" is in its second printing. . . . Vicki Baum took a job as chambermaid in a Berlin hotel to collect material for her "Grand Hotel"; Arnold Bennett and Theodore Dreiser asked thousands of question when they wrote their hotel novels. . . . When Emile Zola wrote his "Nana" he went round with a little notebook and asked thousands of questions of young ladies who took nothing seriously.

The Browser had no intention of reading "First and Last Ring Lardner". . . . On account of the hiccoughs. When he reads Lardner he gets those things. And when he hiccoughs, they spoil his fun. . . . But just the same, the other night he found himself in the middle of the book and from there he went backward and forward, hiccoughing as he went, and he advises you not to read it either, if you don't like hiccoughs. . . . But perhaps you really ought to read his "Symptoms of Being 35". . . . When you are 35 you are "no longer a larva" and things don't bother so much. You can kiss your young and beautiful sister-in-law six times and her husband won't bat an eye. "When they's seven passengers for a seven-passenger car it is never you that has to take one of them little torture seats" . . . And if you come into a room and your young brothers-in-law are there, "why, they jump up like food shot from guns and say 'Here, take this chair'. . . . Ad you take it." . . . This book also contains a lot about wives who are people who think "two ashtrays is enough for a 12-room house" and about home—which is where you can have more soup—and about bridge and baseball and yacht races which go so slow you'd think somebody must have shot an albatross, and it has some gay little plays in it—but even while you laugh your heart is sad because the genius who wrote it wasn't allowed to live to be three times 35. . . . And after writing about Ring Lardner it seems sort of futile to be writing about people who merely make their living writing books and scrabbling around for ideas and putting them side by side and end to end because they started in writing books and don't know how to stop or how to make a living any other way. . . . So this is the end of

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 88c to 91c; oats 38c to 40c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn 68c to 72c; rye, 46c to50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Disturbed by doubts as to the probable import of the Government's forthcoming monthly crop forecast, wheat values underwent late downturns Saturday.

A disposition among most wheat traders became evident to keep near to shore pending issuance of the official report due next Tuesday, especially as a slight improvement of crop conditions northwest was noted by an authoritative private summary made public Saturday. Earlier the wheat market displayed something of an upturn tendency, influenced by statements from a leading trade expert that commodities, food commodities in particular, were now selling upon an investment basis, and that wheat prices computed in terms of gold were approximately no higher at present than during the bank moratorium in March, 1933.

Wheat closed unsettled near the day's bottom level, ½ to ¾ under Friday's finish; corn, ⅛ to ¾ down; oats, ⅛ decline to ¼ advance; and provisions, 2 cents to 10 cents.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Eggs declined in price last week on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market, while other commodities held steady at the previous week's levels.

On the butter market, fresh No. 1 sold for 19c to 19¼c a pound in cariots or less, compared with 19¼c straight. Small lots to retailers were off a cent, being 20c to 21c a pound for solids, and 21c to 22c a pound for prints. Receipts for the week totalled 33,919 boxes, against 32,090 the week previous. Exports for the week were 20 boxes, in comparison with 57 boxes the week before. There were no exports during the corresponding week last year. Exports to date are 861 boxes, compared with 813 boxes at this time last year.

Cheese prices were unchanged. Ontario colored being quoted at 10½c to 10¾c a pound, while Quebec cheese sold for 10c to 10¼c a pound. Arrivals for the week totalled 34,036 boxes, against 31,775 boxes a week ago. Exports for the week were 14,877 boxes, compared with 14,738 boxes in the preceding week, 21,665 boxes during the corresponding week last year. For the season 1934 to date, exports have totalled 72,625 boxes, as compared with 113,465 boxes at this time last year.

The egg market was off ½c to 2c a dozen. Graded shipments in carlots or less from Ontario brought 20c to 21c a dozen for A large, 19c to 20c for A medium, 19c to 19½c for B, and 18c to 19c for C. Western eggs were 22c a dozen for A large, 21c for A medium, 20c for B and 19c for C. Receipts were 19,513 cases, against 8,092 cases the week previous.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 9. — Slipping in the late dealings from early advances, wheat futures prices closed a dull, featureless session ¼c to ⅝c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday. July wheat ended at 76¾c, October 78c, and December 79¼c.

Absence of strong support made moderate selling burdensome.

Export business in Canadian wheat totalled only 250,000 bushels.

More favorable weather was reported from Europe, but advices indicate little recovery will be made by crops there. Danger of frost in Western Canada vanished with the warmer temperatures reports throughout the Prairie Provinces.

Trading in the cash-grain division was light and spreads closed unchanged. Some export business was reported in oats for Vancouver shipment. Coarse grains continued dull, but fractional gains showed at the close.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

CANADA FIRST ABOLISHED SLAVERY.

On this date in 1793, the first session of the first Legislature of Upper Canada was prorogued at Niagara and the royal assent was given to the first statute in the world abolishing slavery. History tells that Governor Simcoe's attention to the traffic in human bodies was attracted by an incident which took place very soon after his arrival. He was told that a young negress had been shipped across the Niagara river and delivered to a purchaser much as if she were a prize heifer. The governor's anger was aroused; he instructed his attorney general, John White, to prosecute the cruel master, but the black had no rights which the white man was bound to respect and White was helpless.

Simcoe determined that the deviltry should cease so far as his province was concerned and gave instructions that a bill should be prepared for the total abolition of slavery. It was introduced but was bitterly opposed especially by the farming class which contended that farming could not be carried on without free labor. Eventually when it was found impossible to carry the bill for total abolition, a compromise was reached by which the importation of slaves was prohibited and it was stipulated that children born in slavery should receive their freedom when they reached the age of 25. John White's advocacy of the anti-slavery bill aroused such intense antagonism that he found it impossible to find a seat in any future legislature.

In 1798, after Simcoe's departure, a bill to permit the importation of slaves into Upper Canada passed the Assembly but was given the three months' hoist by the Council. Upper Canada thus has the honor of being the first to show practical sympathy for the slave. It was not until 40 years later that the British parliament passed the bill freeing all slaves under the British flag (after 1838). It took a long time for slavery to actually die out. As late as 1811 slaves were advertised for sale in Upper Canada, but as they died slavery ceased.

death warrant. All the winners whose names were bruited about were immediately exposed to a mass attack of all those well-dressed, leisurely ladies and gents who live by their wits and who are always on the lookout for some soft pickin's.

Wait for Suckers

Before the lottery came into vogue they used to hang around the lobbies of expensive tourist hotels watching for some benign elderly traveller from God's own country. It's a marvel how the sidewalk lizards can spot at a glance a rural deacon from the Bible-belt with a taste for midnight adventures. Not a day passes without some dismal tale of woe being spread out in the Parisian scandal-sheets about some confiding Johnny away from the missus for a month having fallen for a bit of inspired pep-talk by some gal who can make her eyelids flutter like the late lamented Rodolph. Of half these strayed jambs you never hear, though. They go home to mama to tell her that Paree ain't what it's cracked up to be. But the tough jimmies and the sugar-mammams go to the American express to change the spondulics and yellow bills into francs. C'est la vie! It soon mounts up.

Since tourist-travel has fallen off, due to prosperity seemingly having a late date around that corner we're all watching, the goo-goo dames got a little tired swinging their silk-clad legs from the high tabourets in front of the mirrored "bars-Americans" and thought up a new line. They hit upon the new match of millionaires that graduates from the lottrie nationale every month. And they soon learned that native sons of France fall just as hard as our goggle-rimmed cousins from across the water, not to mention numismactic Dutch planters and members of the House of Lords.

Wild Celebration

It just takes a little jack to make the French boys feel they want to take a ride on the pink elephants in Montmartre. That was the case with Felicien Raydoux, who exchanged a dress-suit for his coalheavers outfit the day he drew one of the million franc tickets. With all that Mammon in his jeans this lad, who wasn't bad looking in his new togs, bought a Rolls-Royce, climbed the hill of Montmarte, literally the hill of the martyrs, and behaved as if he were the incarnation of fat dividends. The male and feminine yum-yum artists saw him coming a long way off. He picked some platinum blodes with blue baby-eyes and began celebrating all the battles of history, beginning with that of Moses against the Red Sea.

Five days later he was up to the Boyne, but there was a big hole in his marching kit by that time. He made the stivers fly to right and left. After the tenth absinthe ("on the house" one night, he went out and bought a revolver, came back and did a little fancy cowboy's stuff. First he popped the top of the champagne bottle and the gang applauded. Then he did the same with the bar-keeper and a half a dozen gigolos. They called for the police riot-squads before the whole of France was depopulated, which would have been bad business as Mussolini might then have tried to surprise the custom-officers at the border and—just walk in. Felicien was overwhelmed by means of vomiting gas. It worked wonders after all that absinthe. But three men were dead and half a dozen wounded. The ex-coalheaver is going out to Devil's Island with the next excursion. The jury exercised clemency and saved him from the guillotine when he declared that he didn't know the gun was loaded, which is possible.

One With Sense

One big winner stands out as a man of good sense among the battalion of new millionaires. He is M. Jules Rochetaillade, miller. M. Rochetaillade came to Paris, cashed his ticket, took the five million francs to his bank and went home. When the pack of Parisian news-hounds came to the mill, M. Jules appeared in the door with a heavy cudgel.

"Fischez moi le camp!" he shouted. "Get to hell out of here!"

"But M. Rochetaillade," whimpered the boys, "can't you tell us what you are going to do with all that money? We came all the way from Paris to find out."

"Going to do? Je suis meunier and je reste meunier. (I am a miller and I'll stay a miller). Now get!"

And they got. "And the mill goes around with a right good will——" still.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK.

Rev. James Nisbett, one of the great pioneer missionaries of the old west, was responsible for the naming of this most northerly Saskatchewan city, now the southern gateway to the Prince Albert National Park.

Nisbett reached this city in 1866, eight years before his death, and he found only a half dozen settlers in the district. It had previously been unnamed, or had gone by the name of the Saskatchewan River Settlement.

He promptly named it Prince Albert, for the prince consort.

A Thought

IN THE BATTLE OF LIFE

Are you young and strong? Fine! Now's the time to get insurance protection. Have you dependents? You owe it to them to carry life insurance. The amount should be governed by your ability to meet the premiums.

A home is one of the best things a poor man can leave to his family. An automobile is a source of pleasure—almost a necessity these days, we must say—but provide the home first. It makes no difference how modest it be you will find pride in ownership. Happiness never counts the number of rooms in a house. There is a feeling of security in possession of a home—the knowledge that those left behind will have a haven even if the breadwinner be taken away.—The Bee Hive.

Next to London, Calcutta, India, with suburbs is the most populous city in the British Empire.

GENERAL STRIKE LOOMS ON COAST

Walkout Proposals Given Impetus in 'Frisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle.

(By the Associated Press.)

The threat of a general strike on the Pacific coast grew to-day further, complicating an already tense situation in the walkout of Maritime workers.

General strike proposals gained impetus at San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Seattle.

A Longshoremen's Board, recently appointed by President Roosevelt, prepared to hear grievances by Maritime workers as it began hearing under the new Labor Disputes Act. Teamsters in San Francisco and Oakland threatened to walk out unless definite progress toward settlement were made.

In Mineapolis a new impasse threatened between truck drivers and employers. Union leaders set Wednesday night as the deadline for employers to meet workmen's demands.

Six persons were arrested in the Los Angeles hosiery strike when six bullets were fired into the automobile of a strike picket.

Violence broke out in the Ohio onion belt strike when deputy sheriffs and strikers exchanged shots. Twenty-three strikers were arrested.

Deputies at Bridgeton, N.J., arrested eight men when an attempt was made to block tractors at the Seabrook farms, scene of a two-week old strike.

Between 700 and 800 textile strikers returned to work at Gastonia, N.C., when three mills re-opened after settlement of wage differences.

MINING LIST PRICES FIRM

Teck-Hughes and McIntyre Only Issues to Show Activity in Higher Priced Golds.

BASE METALS QUIET.

TORONTO, July 9 (CP).—Fewer than a dozen mining stocks showed action of any importance in today's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange, the general list remaining rather sluggish, with prices holding moderately firm. The high-priced gold stocks, with exception of Teck Hughes, did little and McIntyre, up $1 to $49, constituted the only price adjustment. Silvers and base metals were mainly quiet.

Eldorado was again a heavy trader with the price a little soft around $1.87, off 4 cents, Castle was up a couple of cents, and Nipissing firmed to $2.30 and Premier added a point.

A moderate volume of Noranda went through, mainly in broken lots, with the price steady. Mining Corporation and Sherritt were up a little.

DISTILLERIES SHOW WEAKNESS

Prices Shaded in Comparatively Quiet Trading on Industrial Section.

OIL ISSUES DOWN.

TORONTO, July 9 (CP).—Prices were shaded in comparatively quiet trading today on the industrial section of the Toronto stock exchange. The distillery stocks weakened a little in sympathy with brewers and distillers of Vancouver, which was down 35 cents to 75 on heavy selling by holders alarmed by the court proceedings launched against officials of the company.

Walkers Common lost 1-4 and Distillers Seagram 1-2. Oils came out in considerable volume with British American, Imperial Oil and McColl down 1-8 to 1-4, International Petroleum 5-8, while Canadian Oils pfd. gained 1-2. The interlisted leaders, Brazilian, C. P. R., Smelters, Ford A. and Nickel, all weakened 1-8 to 1-4.

ONTARIO LEADS WITH 12 DEATHS

wicker, the only son of the deceased Fukes, and 21-year-old Helen White were drowned early to-day in the Gatineau River. Douglas Warwicket, the only son of the deceased husband and wife, was saved.

The accident which exacted this toll of three lives occurred about 16 miles from Ottawa, when, swerving to avoid being hit by a truck, the motor-car in which the four people were travelling lunged over the embankment into the river.

"We left the cottage at Danford Lake about 5.45 a.m. to come to town," said Douglas Warwicker today. "Miss White and my mother were sitting in the back seat. I was in the front with dad, who was driving.

"At Farm Point we met a large wood truck, going in the same direction as ourselves. My father tried to pass. He honked his horn several times, but apparently the truck driver did not hear. As w drew opposite the truck swerved toward us. There was nothing my father could do but put on the brakes and go into the ditch. He tried to turn the car on the road again, as we were dangerously near the bank. As he did so our front right fender struck the truck and the car rolled completely over and down the bank, to plunge into the river.

Catches Girl's Clothes.

I got two or three gulps of water and felt nearly suffocated, but I managed to find the handle of the window and open it. As I crawled out I could tell from the running board that the car was upside down. Then my hand caught someone's clothes and I tried to drag the person with me to the surface. We came up long enough for me to see it was Miss White. But just then, for some reason, the car rolled over again, and I lost my grip on her. I tried to feel around for her, but she was gone. I had just enough strength to get to shore."

Four men were in the truck, said Douglas Warwicker, and remained at the scene of the tragedy. He did not see them make any attempt to resoue those in the Warwicker car, he said.

Charles F. Warwicker was 57 years old, a native of Ottawa, and for 20 years an employee of Murphy Gamble, Ltd.

WALL STREET CLOSE.

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP). — Stocks recorded narrow changes today in the dullest trading in years. Only 30,000 shares changed hands between 1 and 2 o'clock, with the day's total turnover approximating 275,000 shares. Some specialities were improved, but leaders, including U. S. Steel, Santa Fe and American Telephone, were only about steady. Cast lost a point.

Dares Hitler's Ire

Bishop Nicholas Bares of Germany, who, in a sermon at Hoppegarten before 75,000 German Catholics, exhorted them to regard Christ as their only "Fuehrer." The word means leader—a popular designation of Chancellor Hitler. The advice was given on the eve of negotiations between church leaders and the department of interior, which will start a study of the reasons for the failure of the concordat signed at Rome a year ago, to adjust relations between church and state.

ITALIAN PLANS WORRY FRANCE

Halts Conference Until Il Duce's Building Program on 2 Warships Known.

SUSPECTED AS BLUFF.

LONDON, Eng., July 9. (AP).—Refusal by Italy to modify her naval construction plans cast a shadow to-day over Anglo-French naval conservations proceeding in the presence of the French foreign minister, Louis Barthou.

It was understood in informed quarters that the British representatives told the French of their concern over the Italian program of two 35-ton battleships, and it was reported the French may feel unable to pursue extensively their preference discussions in preparation for the 1935 naval parley.

They will be retarded, it was indicated, until the full extent of Mussolini's exact plans is revealed.

Behind the scenes pressure has been brought to bear on Italy from several quarters to bring about modification of her building program, but so far unsuccessfully.

While most of the nations view Italy's battleship program, it was said, as a strategic bluff, yet informed circles point out that Rome has not yet changed its stand a particle, and may be seriously planning construction.

"All the French want to know is whether Italy means business" said an informant. "If so, France has no alttrnative but to follow suit. If not, then there is a good chance for a Franco-Italian understanding."

disease. These cases were now being dealt with.

President Reed was the speaker and his concise and interesting report of the Rotary Convention at Detroit was thoroughly enjoyed by both Rotarians and guests.

President Reed described the elaborate preparations that had been made for the entertainment of the thousands of Rotary delegates to the convention, and the smooth-working-out of these plans. He told of the president's ball, the concerts by Mexican entertainers, the Chrysler Choir and other organizations and the various other entertainment features of the big gathering. The new president also vividly summarized the principal speeches of the convention, including those by retiring President John Nelson; Charles Kettering, vice-president of Geneal Motors; Harry Spellman, head of the educational department of the Remington Typewriter Co.; Professor Phelps, of Yale University; Cecil Race, the High Commissioner of the Federated Malay States; Mark Sullivan, noted newspaper correspondent, and others.

President Nelson, he said, had reported that, despite the world depression, Rotary had shown an increase of 97 clubs and of 8,484 new members, spread over 175 political divisions of the world during the last year, with an increased average attendance and an increase in the number of former Rotarians rejoining their clubs.

Past President Dr. Moir expreessd Rotarys thanks to the speaker.

As usual the community singing was in charge of Jack Smith, with George Nicholls at the piano and Miss Trucie Pearson, one of the guests, contributed a vocal solo that was much appreciated.

BROKERS' OPINIONS

17 reviewed; bullish 14; bearish 1; non-commital 2.

Munds Winslow and Potter.—"We think we are in the initial stage of a major advance and would use all irregularity or recessions to accumulate leading stocks."

E. A. Pierce & Co.—"Any signs in the immediate future of expanding volume with a further advance in the averages of one to two points might result in a recovery movement which would at least duplicate the high of mid-June."

C. D. Barney & Co.—"We believe it is well to continue a conservative trading policy until there is some definite indication in the market that a broad progressive movement is in progress.

NEW YORK, July 9 (9.30 a.m.).—The action of the market over the past few weeks shows quite clearly that there is little disposition on the part of the present holders to sell stocks. This may be due to the belief that the March-June reaction in the market has fully discounted such business declines as we are likely to witness this summer, and it may also result from a very natural desire on part of people to maintain positions in common stocks largely as a hedge against money inflation.

In a good many instances the corporate earnings reports covering the second quarter will compare favorably both with those of the first quarter and with the second quarter of last year. However, there is still considerable uncertainty as to just what course business will take during the current quarter and until the outlook has clarified the market is not going to show much vigor.

One of the stories going around is that another of the important western railroads will take favorable dividend action in the near future. The continued heavy movement of coal combined with profit margins has been particularly beneficial to the rails.

Some brokers believe that the silver stocks have not reflected the full extent of the improved prices, says a report from New York, and that some of the silver-copper companies such as Cerro De Pasco, are also likely to be benefitted if the copper market improves before the end of the year.

The price of silver in New York is presently around 46c an ounce and number of Canadian mines producing silver that are now closed down would reopen if silver went to 50c an ounce. At that figure profitable operations are possible.

MOFFAT HALL

This company is getting about $2,500 a week or $130,000 annually under the arrangement whereby it leased its Kirkland Lake property on a profit sharing basis. The lessee is now shipping four cars of ore a week to Noranda or 200 tons with a gross value of $5,000 a week, half going to Moffatt Hall. The ore to date has been shipped from the 150 foot level, with indications of values increasing in depth.

GOLDALE

Birch Bay—Goldale appeared in the news with the announcement that the company had taken a stock option in Birch Bay Gold Mines, and a report that the company's block of claims to the north of McIntyre Porcupine might see some activity. The property "Birch Bay" is in Long Lac close to Long Lac Adair and Big Long Lac. This is east of Little Long Lac.

GOODFISH

Indications are that operations at the mine will be resumed. A crew of men are at work on dewatering this property preliminary to further examination and exploration, and it is expected one shaft will be dewatered by the end of this week.

News of development was also favorable with word that the C ore shot was lengthening and broadening and showing good values.

King and Industrialists Backed Mussolini

BROKE FINALLY WITH SOCIALISTS IN BREAKING UP GENERAL STRIKE

Mussolini Was Badly Wounded Fighting in Alps in 1917.

PEOPLE DISILLUSIONED.

This is the last of a series of articles of Fascism and Italy condensed and summarized from Fortune magazine by Central Press Canadian.

On February 23, 1917, while fighting in the Alps, Corporal Mussolini, who was operating a trench mortar, warned his lieutenant, "The gun is now red-hot."

"Just one more, corporal."

As he placed the shell in position and turned to receive word to fire, the red-hot mortar exploded. It killed five privates and hurled Corporal Mussolini yards away where he lay as though dead, his back a mass of wounds where forty-two splinters of the burst mortar had entered his body, wounding him deeply between the ribs, on the shoulders, and down his thighs and legs.

The pieces of metal were extracted without anesthetic with the patient's temperature at 107. On March 7, practically the first day that Corporal Mussolini was able to master his pain and fever, which was still at 104, the arrival of King Victor Emmanuel was announced. The king knew well that he stood at the bedside of a subject on record as having advocated regicide.

"You must suffer torture," said his majesty.

"Yes, it is torture," replied the corporal, and summoned strength to make precise answers to the king's precise questions as to how the explosion occurred. "Some days ago, Mussolini," said his majesty, "your general spoke to me of you in words of great praise. I commend you, Mussolini."

Found People Disillusioned.

This direct contact of king and corporal no doubt faced the former apostle of regicide with the fact that Victor Emmanuel III. was no more royal namby-pamby. His majesty, in turn, was probably one of the few Italians who realized during the war that the editor of Il Popolo d'Italia might be not without importance to his crown.

On crutches and pale and feeble for more than a year, ex-Corporal Mussolini returned to Milan to find his new paper eking out a modest existence. His Fascists of 1914 had been decimated and all but dispersed. While Russia went Bolshevik and Italy got the short end of the peace conference, the unrest and disillusionment of the Italian people swelled and burst out in a national eruption of strikes and unfurlings of red flags by the Socialists.

After a period of haphazard and capricious strikes (which disgusted Editor Mussolini) the Socialist party came out on March 20, 1919, with a manifesto officially proclaiming their purpose to overthrow the government, abolish capitalism, and set up in Italy a Soviet regime. Three days later Mussolini convoked the remnants of his first Fascist sand with less than fifty followers founded the second of his Fasci in a decisive struggle to curb the Socialist forces, to win back for Italy such lost war gains as Fiume, and to found a regime based not upon his earlier notions of class war but upon his newer conception of class collaboration to the exclusion of class war.

Industrialists Supported.

Industrialists supported him despite his warning:

"Horny hands are not enough to prove a man capable of guiding a state. . . . You must not, however, mistake us for a kind of bodyguard of the bourgeoisie, which, in so far as it consists of profiteers, is utterly vile and contemptible! These people must defend themselves, we will not defend them."

By 1922 the Fascist roll had swelled to an army of 250,000. Of these some 50,000 were equipped with rifles—tokens of appreciation either from industrialists interested in the labor stability which they sought from Fascism or from the army which, drifting rapidly out of control of Italy's inept and dying parliamentary government, was in large measure openly sympathetic with Fascist aims.

Benito Mussolini had by now for nearly a year been a member of the Chamber of Deputies, in which thirty-six Fascists formed a scarcely impressive minority. It was at this juncture that the drift of King Victor Emmanuel toward Fascism began to be noticeable. His majesty seemed to observe in Fascism a superiority over Socialism in discipline and unity of command. The king sent in 1922 for Deputy Mussolini and they met in the Quirinal Palace.

Fought General Strike.

In August the Socialists sought to paralyze Italy by proclaiming a general strike, and Deputy Mussolini, who had had a particularly long private audience with King Victor Emmanuel on July 22, deployed his Fascist legions for their first nation-wide combat.

Black Shirts showed themselves able to operate the railways, light and power plants, and essential public services, which they seized and defended amid bloody skirmishing. Strikers' newspaper plants were wrecked, their leaders barried in the streets. Italian labor received a Fascist twenty-four-hour ultimatum to go back to work—or else.

In September the deputy from Milan was again received at the Quirinal Palace. What passed between the deputy and his monarch then is not a matter of official record.

Becomes Premier.

Having now reached the zero hour of the March on Rome, we shall henceforth drastically condense, relying somewhat on the reader's memory of events during Il Duce's eleven and a half years of power.

Returning to the March, it was not, strictly speaking, so very much on Rome. Of the 250,000 Black Shirts who moved at Il Duce's command, some 200,000 busied themselves with seizing other Italian cities. Secondly, Mussolini did not march with the 50,000 whom he assigned to take the capital. Il Duce, wearing three automatic pistols—just in case—directed his nationwide uprising from Milan.

Rome was now finally in the hands of his legions; the Italian people were cowed before the violence of his Black Shirts. At the Quirinal Palace, General Cittadini, by his Majesty's order, invited Editor Mussolini by telegraph to come to Rome and form a cabinet. Then, and only then, he came, refusing a special train and travelling by ordinary sleeping car.

Rise to Dictatorship.

The dictator's span of power falls naturally into three periods:

1922-23—The semi-parliamentary control of Italy by a dictatorship not yet willing to put its power to the fullest test.

1924-27—The rising tide of violence and terrorism tragically highlighted by the murder of Matteotti, which might have resulted in the collapse of Fascism; the re-establishment of the lira on the gold standard.

1928-34—The solution of the "Vatican question" by means of the Lateran treaties; struggle with the problem of economic crisis and the emergence of corporatism as Mussolini's proposed solution.

The dictator's first address to parliament was surprisingly mild for the wild man of Fascism. Both its program and its tone were moderate. The Italian people, at that time much more cowed than convinced, heaved sighs of relief.

Elsewhere, however, Fascism displayed less sweetness and light. Someone—by legend Italo Balbo, one of Mussolini's Quadrumvits—had invented an ingenius form of political persuasion: pry open the jaws of any objector and pour down his throat one liter of castor oil. Complete philosophical acceptance of Fascist principles usually followed.

Ultimatum to Greece.

But the trick that did more than anything else to prove to the Italian people the miraculous nature of Mussolini was all his own. He had not been in office a year when suddenly one day he learned that some Greek bandits had killed an Italian general and his military commission of three, together with their interpreter.

Without a moment's delay Mussolini hurled a twenty-four-hour ultimatum at Athens demanding a 50,000,000-lire indemnity. When Greece suggested the submission of the incident to the League of Nations, he bombarded the Greek island of Corfu ignored the protests of the great powers, took his 50,000,000 lire from Athens, donated the whole indemnity to succoring refugees in Asia Minor.

Power in World Politics.

In the realm of world politics destiny has shaped the events of the past few years into a pattern not greatly different from that which Mussolini's nature led him inevitably to expect. The League of Nations, the Geneva Disarmament Conference, and the London Economic Conference of more states than ever met before have all fallen even flatter than Mussolini has repeatedly said they must. To Il Duce the element of democracy which is the chief advantage of a world conference damns it as impractical. He stands for open covenants secretly arrived at between two, three, or at most four states at a time. To this end he persuaded Great Britain, France and Germany to sign his four-power Pact.

The major Mussolini postulate not yet fulfilled is that it is madness—because it is impossible—to enforce upon Germany the disarmament terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

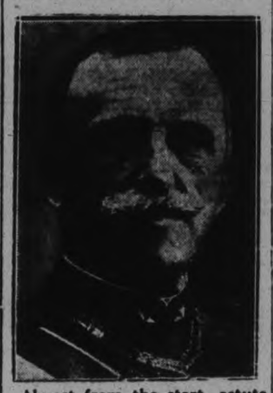
Paradoxically in these circumstances it has fallen to Benito Mussolini to keep Adolf Hitler from running hog-wild. Il Duce speaks a bit of German. Rome will have it that he got Der Fuhrer personally on the 'phone one night last winter.

"I have mobilized three Italian army corps on the frontier of Austria. If Nazis march on Vienna, they will be met at the city's gates by Italian troops!"

That the three Italian army corps were mobilized and that there was no Nazi march on Vienna the world knows the Italians are proud.

"The twentieth century," Il Duce has said, "will be known . . . as the Century of Fascism."

Friend Of Il Duce



Almost from the start, astute King Victor Emmanuel of Italy recognized in Mussolini the future ruler of Italy. He it was who finally asked the present dictator to take over the reins of government from the tottering democratic regime. The king has since been allowed to remain on the throne by Il Duce.

A horse belonging to Mr. Clifford of Asphodel was killed, and the brick dwelling on the Dewart farm east of the village, owned by Mr. Samuel Buck, was damaged.

Lightning entered the dwelling of Mr. Richard Dean, Peterborough street, and damaged the electric meter. cation of Michael Cardinal Faulhaber that he favored a Nazi-Catholic reconciliation without Catholic concessions.

"No one welcomes a demand from a high official source for simplicity and cleanliness more than the Catholic Church," Cardinal Faulhaber said, discussing new instructions to Nazis. "None will cooperate more readily."

Domestic problems demand attention so insistently., qualified observers said, that Nazi leaders can take no chances on international friction to aggravate them or hinder their solution.

Crop Shortages.

Important among them is the economic condition, made precarious by exchange and import problems and threatened crop shortages.

Although Hess made peace overtures to France, his speech carried a defiant note.

"I want to warn the world," he asserted, "against mistaking the Germany of to-day, the Germany of peace, for the Germany of yesterday—the Germany of pacifism.

"Let this be remembered: Despite our memories of the terrors of war, despite the fact that the younger generation wants war as little as does the older, the way is not open for a 'stroll' into our country.

"The French trench soldier will especially understand us if we say to those who play with the idea of war; just you attack us, just you dare to march into Germany.'

"The world would then learn to feel the spirit of new Germany. It would fight as no people ever yet fought for liberty."

France Skeptical

PARIS, July 9 (A.P.)—Cynicism appeared as the keynote of French reaction to-day to the olive branch waved by Germany.

Official comment was lacking, but political observers ascribed the gesture of friendship made by Rudolf Hess, Hitler aide, to two causes.

An effort to wipe out the memory of the bloody purging during the "second revolution," which has caused critical comment abroad.

The activities of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, who is in London reportedly to seek Great Britain's assurance of aid in the event of an emergency — such as a war with Germany.

Newspapers dispayed Hess' speech prominently. Some of them pointed out it was made on the very day of Barthou"s arrival in London.

Editorial comment reflected skepticism of the sincerity of the overtures. Some newspapers pointed out that while Hess offered a new face to France, official German newspapers continued to attack France in a campaign of "absurd calumnies."

ORANGE LODGES ATTEND CHURCH

to Confederation Square. There the ranks halted and faced the War Memorial, and as the band played "Faith of our Fathers," a wreath was laid on the base of the memorial by County Master J. A. Holden. The party that assisted in the laying of the wreath included: Mrs. C. E. Wright, Grand Mistress of Ontario East; E. F. Reid, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East; Harry Welch, Deputy County Master of Peterborough West; and W. A. Millen, County Marshal, who was also in charge of the parade.

Isaiah's Counsel.

In his reading lesson, Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe read Isaiah 54. He stated that Isaiah was speaking to the Jews, who had long been in exile and captivity and who were getting ready to return to their homeland. "They were planning to rebuild their old community, and to them the prophet gave this exhortation: "Enlarge the place of thy tent — lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes.' And they did."

However, the Jews, the speaker pointed out, did not succeed in rebuilding Jerusalem as a commercial capitol as they had hoped to do, "but they did succeed in giving birth to a Christ. A wise counsellor was Isaiah, and it is his counsel and not my own that I desire to give you," stated Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe. Much the same advice was given by Jesus to His apostles, and they, too, strengthened their stakes in preparation for doing the Lord's Work.

"The Orange Order's ambitions without doubt is to enlarge the place of its tent, and that growth is a worthy ambition, but such growth in that way is valueless unless you strengthen your stakes. Getting broader without going deeper will cause your Order eventually to fade and die. Instead of success there will be failure. When more members of your Lodge strengthen their stakes then it will be time enough to lengthen your cords," the speaker explained.

Bible as Centre.

He referred to the fact that the Orange Order has as the centre of its life and works the Bible, and that each member should make the Bible the centre of his life. The propagation of truth is another chief object of the Order, "but," stated Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe, "it is one thing to have an expression of great truth on a parchment, but it is another thing to express that truth in life." He urged that it was essential that the lives of the members of the Order be pure.

"Our Great Book talks about purity as one of the primary requisites of seeing God. For the pure see God not only in the life to come, but also in this life now." He urged that the numerical strength of the Order was not the true measurement of its success, but that real advancement came in spiritual improvement. And as Edith Cavell said, "Patriotism is not enough." Jesus' program calls for Christianizing of the world.

During the service Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe sang a solo, "Only Jesus Satisfies," being accompanied on the organ by Arthur Collison. The Salvation Army Band sang "God gave His Son for Me," and as an instrumental selection played "Lord with My All I Part."

Obituary

MRS. MARY ANN TUMMON

IVANHOE, July 9 (Examiner Correspondence) — On July 2 Mrs. Mary Ann Tummon passed to her reward. She was born at Ivanhoe in 1851, where she resided her lifetime with the exception of the last few years she spent with her daughter, Mrs. W. Sine of Frankford, who is the only surviving member of the family.

In the passing of Mrs. Tummon the community loses a highly respected citizen, one whose life was spent in service for others of a kindly sympathetic nature. She had a great love for little children and this manifested itself in a practical form. From the beginning of the Ivanhoe Mission Band she was a most generous supporter and even after going to live with her daughter sent her contribution annually. She was a life member of the Ivanhoe W.M.S. and never failed in responding to every call. She also helped with W.M.S. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The funeral was held at Beulah Church, Rev. Johnston of Wallbridge assisted by Rev. H. Lackey of Ivanhoe conducted the service. The choir sang "When We Get Home." Interment was made in White Lake cemetery.

FADE OUT SONG

LOS ANGELES, July 9. (CP). — There seemed to be nothing unusual in Clyde W. Coppas' request of a friend to play "Remember Me When I'm Gone." The friend, Robert Van de Mark, played the music on a guitar. Before the piece was finished, Coppas dropped to the floor dead. Police reported the man, in ill health, had swallowed poison.

HOLSTEIN CLUB HOLDS FIELD DAY

On Friday last members of the Victoria County Holstein Club and the Peterborough club and their families to the number of 200 held their annual Field Day and picnic at the home of Bruce McNevin in Emily Township.

Meeting at 10.30 a.m a hurried inspection was made to the herds of Messrs. Ross Calvert, Marshall Ball, William Hall, W. J. Murphy, T. Trotter, and D. Murphy & Son. In this tour some very fine speciemens of the Holstein breed were seen, many of the young animals especially showing excellent type.

Returning to Mr McNevin's at 12.30 a basket lunch was enjoyed on his beautiful lawn followed by a short program. R. Holtby of Port Perry, Extension Fieldman of the Holstein Friesein Association gave a talk on his recent trip to England with a carload of Holstein cows. There is a demand for good Canadian-bred cattle in England. Holsteins cannot be registered in that country, so pedigree does not count to any extent. Professor George E. Rathby of the Animal Husbandry Department, O.A.C. Guelph, gave an interesting and instructive talk on Breeding and Feeding, advocating the use of proven sires and recommended that all pure-bred breeders go into the R.O.P. A. R. Runions, agricultural representative for Peterborough County, Joe Mann, president of the Peterborough Holstein Club, Ross Calvert, president of the Victoria County Club, and Agricultural Representative M. H. Winter, also gave talks. W. J. Murphy, agent of the Victoria County Club, ably acted as chairman. The thanks of the meeting were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. McNevin and the officers of the club for the arrangements they had made for entertainment.

Judging competitions, open to ladies, boys 20 years of age and under, and men 21 years of age and over resulted as follows:

French Not Fooled By German Gesture

PARIS, July 9 (AP)—French officialdom to-day considered the "menace" presented by Germany as unabated by the gesture for peace in the speech of Rudolf Hess, aide to Chancellor Hitler.

Called a "superfluous" warning against "invasion," it was regarded here as an attempt to discourage French efforts to link up Great Britain and the rest of Europe in "defensive rapproachments."

"The French veterans did not need any reminder of the fighting qualities of Germans," said an official, indicating at the same time that the speech was intended principally for German ears.

The French, who reiterated there own desire for peace as a pacifist people," regarded the speech as changing nothing since "it winds up with the same old demand for arms to which France cannot consent."

150 CHILDREN ATTEND SCHOOL

Conducted by George Street, Murray Street and St. Paul's Churches.

GROUP PROGRAM.

One hundred and fifty children, the majority between four and sixteen years of age, enrolled in the Vacation Bible School opened in the city this morning under the auspices of St. Paul's, George Street and Murray Street churches. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, is serving as principal of the school.

The purpose of the scohol is to provide for the beneficial use of leisure time among the children of the city in the absence this summer of an organized playground program. Children of all denominations are welcome to take part in the informal classes which are being conducted under the guidance of more than a dozen volunteer workers from the churches. The children are divided into primary, beginner and junior groups, with a possibility that a senior class will be formed if enough older youngsters enroll. Primary students are meeting in St. Paul's church, beginenrs in George Street church, and juniors in Murray Street church.

The program for each group includes outdoor games, handiwork with paper, wood and yarn and other forms of diversion, as well as a daily devotional period and Bible study. Classes will be conducted between 9 and 11.30 o'clock each morning except Saturday and Sunday for the next ten days. Local bakeries and creameries are donating cookies and mil kfor the refreshment periods scheduled each morning.

St. George's Choir Holds Annual Picnic

A delightful picnic was held at the Cream of Barley Camp, Bowmanville, on Saturday afternoon, when the choir of St. George's Church motored there for their annual outing. Rev. J. L. and Mrs. Hughes, Churchwarden C. E. and Mrs. Styles, Churchwarden A. Knott, and several friends accompanied the party. A ball game took up the greater part of the afternoon with a walk round the beautiful park, where the animals and birds proved of great interest.

After an enjoyable tea, several races were run off, resulting as follows:

Straight running.—1, Edith Spenceley; 2, Marjorie Sims.

Egg and spoon race—1, Beatrice Curtis; 2, Ruth Farr.

Relay race.—1, Agnes Sturgeon and Mrs. Cole (Mrs. Firth substituting for latter); 2, Beatrice Curtis and C. Cole.

Ball throwing—1, Agnes Sturgeon; 2, Beatrice Curtis.

The swings and other sports on the grounds caused much amusement before the return journey was made.

Those kindly providing transportation were Rev. J. L. Hughes, W. Firth, T. Hewitt, and E. Adkinson.

SAINT JAMES' SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS PICNIC

Annual Event Takes Place at Gore's Landing—Large Crowd in Attendance.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

A day to which the children of St. James' United Sunday School eagerly look forward, is the annual excursion which took place on Saturday afternoon. Ideal weather and an unusually large crowd assured the success of this event, when the "Stoney Lake" was chartered to carry them to Gore's Landing, the happy hunting ground of many Sunday School children of Peterborough. All departments of the school were well represented by teachers and superintendents, as well as the officers and friends, headed by the Superintendent, A. E. Prest.

Under the direction of the Cheerful Workers' Class, a capable committee dispensed sweets and ices during the trip, adding very materially to the comfort of the passengers.

Arriving at Gore's Landing about four-thirty o'clock there was ample time to run off the excellent sports program in charge of Miss Zetta Wood, Bill Anderson and Ashton Fife, before supper was served.

Prizes were bestowed upon the lucky winners of the races in order of ages of contestants:

Sports Program

Girls, 6 and 7—1, Jean Orr; 2, Marie Orr.

Boys, 6 and 7—1, Herbie Croft; 2, Gerald Padgett.

Girls, 8 and 9—1, Mary Dalliday; 2, Olive Freel.

Boys, 8 and 9—1, Clinton Welch; 2, Reggie Burns.

Girls, 10 and 11 — 1, Elizabeth Stillwell; 2, Margaret Wilson.

Boys, 10 and 11—1, Gordon Lee; 2, Donald Jamieson.

Girls, 12 and 13—1, Ruth Dalliday; 2, Gwen Woodcock.

Boys, 12 and 13—1, Jack Grose; 2, Gordon Benson.

Girls, 14 and 15—1, Hazel Woodcock; 2, Emma Graham.

Boys, 14 and 15—1, Albert Porter; 2, L. Millyard.

Girls, 16 to 20—1, Helen Routley; 2, Florence Evans.

Boys, 16 to 20—1, Arthur Heal; 2, Harold Fife.

Husband and wife race—Lady's prize, Mrs. Dalliday; Man's prize, Mr. Dalliday.

Needle and Thread race—Lady's prize, Miss Cora Jamison; Man's prize, Mr. Callan.

Several clever contests engaged the attention of all on board. Among these was the "Mystery Man," M. H. Drysdale, which was won by Donald Jamieson. A companion contest to the above was the "Mystery Picture" in which Mr. Drysdale was winner.

Unusual in the line of contests was the "Stop Watch"; first prize going to Mrs. Littlefair and second to S. Hagerman.

For once, there was an advantage in being the oldest person present, and the honor on this occasion went to Mrs. Sharpe, while the youngest person on the boat proved to be little Margaret Heal. For the largest family at the picnic, first prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Henwood, and the second to Mr. and Mrs. Dalliday.

After the sports the tired but happy contestants were ready, and did full justice to the bountiful picnic suppers provided when families, classes or friends gathered in congenial groups to enjoy an hour before starting on their return trip.

On the way home, the boat was given over to the Juniors and tiny tots, who played games to their hearts content, until the sand-man overtook them.

A glorious sunset and safe return under the conduct of the genial captain, made this the end of another successful Sunday School picnic for St. James' United Church.

DROP FIXED VALUATIONS UPON SIX ARTICLES

OTTAWA, July 9.—(C.P.)—Fixed valuations on a number of commodities imposed by the Minister of National Revenue have been cancelled, according to an appraiser's bulletin issued here to-day. The cancellation, made retroactive to April 19, covers several articles regarding which considerable contention had developed. These were jute twines, nursery stock, ferromangese and hats, hoods and salpes of wool felt.

With regar dto jute twins, nursery stock and ferormanganese, the valutians for duty purposes have been cancelled "across the board," that is to say in all three columns of the customs tariffs. The valuation on hats, hpods and shapes of wool felt are cancelled insofar as they affected the British preference only.

To Give Address

At the 1933 convention in Mooseheart, Illinois, Albert J. Sartori of Spokane, Washington, was chosen for the Supreme Dictatorship, the highest elective office in the gift of the Loyal Order of Moose. Mr. Sartori became a Moose in 1917, and has ever since been one of the most active members. His special interest was its humanitarian work. As Dictator, he increased the membership of Spokane, Wash. Lodge No. 161 fourfold. His record as Great North Moose, Legion of the Moose—the leading auxiliary of the fraternity—was equally successful. The Supreme Dictator is a member of all the degrees of the order, including the highest—the Pilgrims' Degree of Merit. He has been a Supreme Officer for thirteen years. No member of the Order of Moose has ever had a more rapid rise than Mr. Sartori. He has ever been a crusader for its humanitarian activities, chief of which is Mooseheart—the great child city near Chicago, established and maintained by the Moose. Mr. Sartori will be at the Moose Hall on Wednesday night and will give a public address.

LOVED ACTRESS IS NEARING END

Marie Dressler Reported Unchanged—Slowly Slipping Say Attendants.

GETS COUNTLESS LETTERS

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 9 (AP)—The condition of Marie Dressler, 62, screen actress ill with cancer and resulting complications, was reported unchanged to-day.

She has held the gain made after her illness reached a critical stage ten days ago, but constant attendants reported an almost imperceptible daily slipping and growing weariness.

During daily returns to consciousness, which are growing shorter, the grand old trouper from Cobourg, Ont., hears read to her the letters which have poured in from countless friends and admirers over the world.

Elsie Janis, Mary Pickford, Irving Thalberg, Margaret Mayo, Amos and Andy, President and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt and many others have sent their good wishes.

Miss Dressler's bravery has never wavered during the long and hopeless fight. The actress has felt no pain from the time about three weeks ago when her sickness took a more serious turn. To the question of her head nurse, Lila Farris, "Are you comfortable, dear?" Miss Dressler always has answered, "Yes."

Although only a ghost of a smile now comes to her face, Miss Dressler acknowledges her friends with her eyes, they say.

The bed on which the actress awaits the end has been so arranged that she can look over a pond of graceful water lillies to the hazy blue of the Pacific Ocean and the distant channel islands.

HEPBURN'S NEW CABINET READY FOR ANNOUNCING

All But Three Ministers Definitely Selected—Rest Chosen To-day.

LIST OUT TUESDAY.

Stewart Lyons, Toronto, Slated to Head Hydro Commission.

The new Ontario Cabinet will, in all probability, be officially announced to-morrow following a meeting between Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn and party prominents. Mr. Hepburn is expected to return to Toronto to-day from a brief holiday at Lake Simcoe and will immediately start definite listing of his Cabinet.

Already all but three Cabinet Ministers have been definitely selected, and it is now regarded as certain the remaining vacancies will be completed within the next few hours. Paul Leduc of Ottawa is expected to be the promised French-Canadian member, and will assume the portfolio of Mines formerly held by Hon. Charles McCrea, defeated in his riding of Sudbury. Two are in the running for the Department of Education, Dr. J. A. Faulkner of Belleville, and W. L. Houck, youthful member for Niagara Falls and a graduate of Cornell University. The Department of Labor and Public Works will probably go to Mayor Croll of Windsor.

In the event these departments are so headed, the full Cabinet line-up will probably be:

Provincial Treasurer — Mr. Hepburn.
Provincial Secretary — Harry C. Nixon.
Attorney-General — A. W. Roebuck, K.C.
Agriculture—Duncan Marshall
Health—Dr. L. J. Simpson.
Lands and Forests — Hon. Peter Heenan.
Highways—T. B. McQuesten
Mines—Mr. Leduc.
Education—Dr. Faulkner or Mr. Houck.
Labor and Public Works — Mayor Croll.

The Hydro Commission will be headed by Stewart Lyons of Toronto while Edward Odette of Tilbury will be the one-man Liquor Control Commission.

MISS GRETA CLARK SPECIAL SPEAKER

Addresses Missionary Meeting of Women's Auxiliary of St. Marks Church, Otonabee.

A special missionary meeting under the auspices of the W.A. of St. Marks Church, Otonabee, was held in the church on Friday evening. Miss Greta Clark, whose year on furlough as missionary from the diocese of Honan, China, expires next month, gave a very inspiring talk on her missionary work in Honan. Despite the threatening weather, and short notice of the meeting, there was a very good attendance, many old friends of Miss Clark who had known here in the days when she was school teacher in Otonabee, taking this opportunity of renewing their acquaintanceship with her. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. J. L. Hughes.

Miss Clark opened her talk with a unique synopsis of Psalm 40, in which she dealt clearly with each of the seven stages of experiences in the spiritual life.

The interesting account of the educational, medical and evangelistic work in Honan was described in detail, many personal experiences being related.

Those who were privileged to hear Miss Clark's wonderful address, and her earnest appeal for the furtherance of missionary work went away feeling that they had a greater interest and better understanding of the extensive diocese of Honan, with its population of ten millions; eight hundred of whom alone are baptized Christians.

WALTER B. STONE KILLED

Walter B. Stone of Webster, Mass., and an old Peterborough boy was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Friday. Mr. Stone was driving some friends to their homes when his car was in a collision with a truck. The car was forced over an enbankment and Mr. Stone suffered a fractured skull. He was the son of Walter Stone, a former employe of the Canadian General Electric here and the two were in the electrical business in Webster.

A BEAUTY!

A twenty-seven pound 'lunge with a 19½ inch girth was the prize pulled out of Rice Lake early yesterday morning by two local anglers, Red Edgar and Dick Evans. They were out in a canoe just east of Keene, casting with a Red Flash wiggler and using a six-ounce split bamboo pole when they made the strike. Mr. Evans had the pole at the time but it took both fishermen an hour and twenty minutes to land the big fish. "He got his teeth in two of my fingers and cut them up plenty," Mr. Edgar said. These men are makers of the Lucky Strike fishing tackle and old hands at the game of "bring 'em back to fry."

CHIEF NEWHALL IS HIGHLY RATED

One of Best Chiefs in Canada Veteran Commissioner Declares.

A. E. CUDDY IN CITY.

"Chief Newhall is one of the best police chiefs in Canada," A. E. Cuddy, retired Assistant Commissioner of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Ontario Provincial Police, informed The Examiner to-day. "I have always had a warm place in my heart for Peterborough and a great admiration for its chief of police. He is a splendid type of policeman; keen, a smart criminal investigator, and absolutely square. Peterborough is fortunate in having him as head of its police force."

Mr. Cuddy, whose reputation as a criminal investigator is known throughout North America, made a flying visit to this city to-day "just to renew acquaintances and look over your beautiful city." He retired last year after more than 50 years of police work. For 30 years he was a member of the Toronto force, then he went to Alberta and organized the Provincial Police of that province. Later he was chief constable of Calgary. For ten years he was assistant commissioner of Ontario's Provincial Police.

"I'm all through with it now," the tall, fine-looking, rugged gentleman said with a note of sadness in his voice. "I'm just resting and taking things easy, but I had some great experiences. If they were properly put together they might make good reading."

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

FORT ERIE had another large turnout on Saturday. The track was very heavy and as a consequence the feature race was called off, but the substitute provided a nice battle between War Plane and Young Kitty. Dornoch who was campaigning around these parts without much success has won three straight races since being shipped to Rockingham Park. The air around Boston must agree with her. Over at Detroit is one called Divert, who figures to win a heat shortly, and at the same place Two Tricks is about due. This one was knocking them dizzy at the Florida tracks all winter, and after a short rest is just rounding to form once more.

With our season nearing the half way mark Harry Giddings is well in the lead of the trainers' ranks, and if nothing unforseen happens it looks as if he will be the leader at the finish. By the way, he has a smart two-year-old called Calico Miss, who should take down a purse real soon. Cherleon has enjoyed a short rest and should be in good condition to cop a heat when sent to the races again. One thing to bear in mind about this one is that she wants no part of a muddy racing strip. Powder Monkey whom we said early in the year looked to be headed for a fine season, has been bearing out our prediction wonderfully. He is in smart hands, as is any horse that has the services of the clever Frank Higgins as a trainer.

DOWN AT Montreal we notice they have the former Whitney horse Hey There. He will win plenty of sprinting events. Another one who always wins consistently at Montreal is Wee Toddler 2nd. He is very consistent. If you ever look at Arlington Park entries we would ask you to give consideration to one called Princess Camelia, who is one of the smartest sprinters around Chicago. She runs with the real good handicap horses, and was a winter favorite for the Kentucky Another of about the Derby a few years ago. same calibre is Isaiah. You will not be sorry if you string along with these two. Arthur Hullcoat has a right smart plater in Plain Ben, who has been winning consistently all summer and the clever Arthur expects him to gather a few more.

We have been advised that Benny Chapman has Calgary Kay all set for a big killing down at Rockingham Park. He also has Nealon Kay and when one of these click they usually pay a hat full, so don't be looking up the alley when this melon cutting takes place. Calgary Kay still holds the high pay-off record for the Windsor tracks. when some four years ago he paid over four hundred dollars for a two dollar ticket, while two years ago at Hialeah his half brother Nealon Kay paid $99.95.

COBOURG ERRORS HELP OSHAWA JUNIORS TO WIN

COBOURG, July 9.—Oshawa Junior hardball squad defeated Cobourg here on Saturday by a score of 14 to 12. Cobourg's errors contributed to their defeat. Turpin was on the mound for Cobourg, while Wilkinson started in hurling position for Oshawa, being replaced in the fifth by Bradd. Turpin allowed 13 hits and the visiting pitching staff 11.

Boston Red Sox Take Doubleheader From Athletics Before 24,018 Fans.

Ruth Hits Homer and Twobagger as Yankees Win From Senators 6-3.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Jimmie Foxx and Bob Johnson hit home runs to steal the headlines, but Philadelphia Athletics steadily are losing ball games these days; more proof, were any needed, that major league pennants can't be won without pitchers.

Foxx went into the lead in the home run derby by clouting Nos. 25 and 26, and Johnson boosted his total to 26 yesterday while the Athletics dropped two games to Boston Redsox and fell a bit deeper into seventh place in the American League. The twin-Athletic sluggers picked the first game for their home-run show, but Boston won the game easily, 7-4, although outhit, 12-7. Bill Dietrich, pitching for the A's, allowed only seven hits, but walked nine men and hit one. The second game was a -2 romp for the third place Redsox as Fritz Ostermueller elbowed effectively.

There was no change in the relative standing of the two leaders, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers, both of whom won. Celebrating his 21st year in the game, Babe Ruth drove in four runs with his 13th homer and a double as the Yankees topped Washington Senators, 6-3. Two rookes, Jimmie Deshong and Jack Saltgaver, shared honors with the Babe. Deshong pitched a strong game all the way, while Saltzgaver kicked in with four hits. Two costly errors by Oscar Melillo, two singles and a pass with the bases filled, gave Detroit three runs in the ninth and a 5-4 victory over St Louis Browns, thus keeping the Tigers within a half a game of the Yankees.

Consolidating their hold on fourth place, Cleveland Indians won their first double-header of the year, beating Chicago Whitesox, 5-4 and 10-5, behind Willis Hudlin and Monte Pearson.

Battle For Lead In Tuesday's Game

A game that will just about decide the leadership in the East Peterborough Baseball League for this summer will be played tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at six in the Exhibition Grounds between Cogs and C.G.E. It is the Electrics' home game and finds them two and a half games back of the loop-leading Clubmen. As there will be only five more scheduled contests after this one, the C.G.E. crew must win tomorrow night to stand a fair chance of ousting Cogs before the schedule ends in less than three weeks.

Russ Kitchen is the logical choice for starting hurling for Cogs in this fracas, while C.G.E. has Hetherington, Armour and Barry available, the former being the likely selection. These two teams are the probable playoff opponents in the E.P.L. the end of the month, and tomorrow's game should give a good indications as to the winner. While Cogs have gone through the season so far with no losses, as against three reverses for C.G.E., the latter team still has a fair chance of upsetting the dope to win out. Nothing is sure in baseball and C.G.E has a good team. As they both put up fine battle when they clash Tuesday's struggle should be well worth seeing.

LEAFS TAKE DOUBLE BILL FROM ALBANY

Boonemen Pound Herring, Chapman and Prim in Timely Fashion.

BLAKE-FRAZIER GO GOOD.

TORONTO, July 9.—Ike Boone and his Maple Leafs provided two interesting performances at Maple Leaf Stadium on Saturday afternoon to delight some 3,500 spectators. Against the slugging Albany Senators, whose recent climb into the International League first division has been one of the mid-season features of the campaign, the Leafs were given some masterly pitching by Fred Blake and Keith Frazier, and the locals did enough opportune clouting to win both games handily. The scores were 5 to 2 and 6 to 1.

Sheriff Blake blanked the visitors after they got their two runs off him in the opening inning. He yielded eight hits in all, three of these coming in the first frame. The Senators were unable to get two hits in any one inning thereafter. Blake gave probably his best performance here this season. He used a change of pace with a sharp breaking curve that had the Senators swinging futilely and nine strike-outs were recorded by the Toronto slabster.

Two Hits Off Frazier

Keith Frazier held the Senators to two hits, both singles, and one of them scratchy, in the abbreviated nightcap. An error by Joe Morrissey, which was pardonable under the circumstances, prevented Frazier getting a shutout. It was a tidy performance by the side-arm flinger, who looks better every time out.

The Leafs collected fourteen safeties off Art Herring, the stocky right hander, who wore a Toronto uniform for part of a season some years ago when Steve O'Neill was manager of the Leafs. The Leafs got at least one hit off Herring in each inning, but only in two frames were they able to produce runs. Some bad base running ruined a couple of good scoring chances. However, the Leafs were out to make the most of their opportunities, and they took plenty of chances on the paths in their efforts to get runs.

Where World's Greatest Tennis Tournament Is Held

The world's greatest lawn tennis tournament takes place each year at Wimbledon, England. Attfacting the finest players from every part of the world, ten, twenty or more thousands of people witness the matches every day during the tournament. This year the interest was even greater. It was the first time in twenty-five years that an Englishman, Perry, won the title. Fred Perry of England and Jack Crawford of Australia staved off the strong U.S. invasion. In the women's tournament a British girl, Dorothy Round, and an American, Helen Jacobs, met in the final. The photo shows a panoramic of the famous courts.

GIANTS BLANK BROOKLYN 2-0

Fitzsimmons Too Much for Dodgers, Holds Suburb Team to Three Hits.

CUBS-PIRATES SPLIT.

(By Canadian Press.)

Fred Fitzsimmons was in rare form and pitched New York Giants to a 2-0 shutout victory over Brooklyn Dodgers, thus boosting the Terrymen's National League lead to two games over Chicago Cubs.

A double by Terry, followed by Ott's sinle, gave the Giants one run in the first and they added another in the fifth when Fitzsimmons, who allowed the Dodgers only three hits, tripled and scored on Frey's wild throw.

Trounced 11-4 in the first game, the Cubs came back with a 16-hit barrage in the nightcap that earned for them a 12-3 decision over fourth place Pittsburgh Pirates. The Corsairs sewed up the first game with six runs in the sixth, but took a ferocious lacing in the first two innings of the closing encounter when the Cubs scored eight runs. Jim Weaver held the Bues to seven hits in winning his fifth successive victory.

Dizzy Dean fanned 10 men as St. Louis Cardinals stopped Cincinnati 6-1 in the first game of a twin bill but brother Paul was soundly shellacked in the second, 8-4. Harlan Pool's homer with the bases filled was the high spot of the Reds' six-run splurge in the third inning. Euel Moore, up from Baltimore, made an auspicious debut as he pitched the Phillies to a 5-3 decision over Boston Braves.

Port Hope Defeats Millbrook Club 6-5

MILLBROOK, July 9. (Examiner Correspondence).—In spite of wet ground that was responsible for a good deal of unexpected slipping and falling on the part of the players, the game of box lacrosse between Port Hope and Millbrook took place at the Cosmos rink on Friday night, under floodlights, the rain that kept up almost until the hour for play being responsible for the state of the rink enclosure.

The visitors went home the winners by one point, the score totalling 6-5, ten minutes' overtime being necessary to break the tie that marked the play at the end of the fourth period. Scoring for Millbrook were Creighton, Lebarr, L. Nattress, E. C. Richards, and for Port Hope, Johnston, Cancilla, Smith and Symons, Sned winning the goal that broke the tie.

The teams lined up:

Port Hope—E. Isaacs, goal; Sneyd and Hagerman, defence; Johnston, centre; F. Cancilla and Young, wings; Marshal, rover; D. Cancilla, Symons, G. Isaac, L. Groome, subs.

Millbrook—J. Larmer, goal; LeBarr and Creighton, defence; E. C. Richards, centre; Nattress and Scott, wings; Donnelly, rover; Ingram, Brown, Freelove, Edmunds, subs.

WINGS REGAIN SECOND PLACE BY DROPPING ORIOLES TWICE

Bisons Clout Three Newark Pitchers for 14 Hits and 11-5 Victory Over Bears—Royals and Chiefs Split in Double Bill.

(By The Associated Press)

Rochester Redwings still are seeking their lost International League batting punch, but they have rallied sufficiently to regain second place in the standings.

They made only 12 hits in a double-header yesterday, yet won two games from Baltimore Orioles, 5-1 and 4-3, and passed the idle Toronto Maple Leafs in the standings.

Norbert Kleinke's four-hit pitching helped the Redwings to score in the first game, but they were outhit 9|5 in the second game and had to travel one extra inning beyond the customary seven to win. George run in this game.

Although beaten, 11-5, by Buffalo Bisons, Newark Bears remained temporarily secure in first place, 4½ games in front of the Redwings and 5½ ahead of Toronto. Buffalo shelled three Bear pitchers for 14 hits good for 26 bases and won with ease. Les Mallon hit three doubles for the winners, while Ollie Tucker and Greg Mulleavy contributed home runs.

Montreal and Syracuse struggled through nearly 4½ hours of baseball to split a doubleheader. Syracuse took the opener, 5-4 in 13 innings, while Montreal came back to snare the nightcap, scheduled for 7 innings, 3-2 in eight.

Breaks First With Single

A crowd of 12,225 paying customers saw Eddie Cirocki break up the opener with a single when the sacks were clogged. Chad Kimsey, pinch hitting for Harry Smythe, had tied the score with a home run, coming with one on, in the 11th. Denver Grigsby's triple in the eighth, followed by Billy Rhiel's long fly, produced the winning run for the Roya's in the nightcap. John Pomorski served as relief pitcher in both games and was charged with the first game loss and credited with the second game victory.

NATS DEFEAT OSHAWA 16-5

Belleville Scores Fourteen Runs in Last Four Innings of Weird Display.

24 HITS IN ALL.

OSHAWA, July 9.—In one of the weirdest displays of baseball ever witnessed on an Oshawa diamond, Belleville Nationals took a 16 to 5 decision from Oshawa Dukes in a C.O.B.L. game at Motor City stadium Saturday afternoon.

After witnessing a tight game for five frames, the largest crowd of the season were treated to a burlesque for the latter part of the contest when the entire Oshawa hurling staff went wild and allowed Nationals to push 14 runs across the plate in the last four innings. Dozy Ogden, who started on the mound for the Dukes, held the visitors to three hits for the first three innings and then developed a wild streak that enabled the Nationals to push seven runs across the plate before the rally was curbed.

Wills, Knox and Matthews saw service in this frame and after the latter also developed a wild streak in the seventh, Frink relieved him and finished the game. E. Smith, who started on the mound for Nationals, hurled good ball for the winners till the fifth frame when he weakened after Lefty Wallace had poled out a terrific homer that cleared the fence in centre field. Utronki relieved him and held the luckless Dukes to two hits for the remainder of the game.

Classy Motor City Squad Will Put Up Plenty of Fight After Saturday's Loss.

PETES AFTER HOME WIN.

Oshawa Dukes play the Petes in Riverside at 5.15 this Wednesday evening, July 11th. It is the only home appearance of the Petes this week and the first twilight game here this summer. With the four C.O.B.L. teams very much in the running at the halfway mark, the contest here Wednesday should pack in a huge crowd of rooters. Being a twilight game it should draw many merchants and store workers who do not get to the games on Saturday afternoons.

The local starting pitcher is unknown yet, depending on how the hurlers go in Kingston this evening. If Archie Deyell starts and finishes against the Ponies tonight, Bill Caladine will in all probability get the call here Wednesday. The Dukes, after their other game in Peterborough when a lefthander defeated Knotty Lee's gang, may send one of their southpaws, Wills or Frink, out to the rubber to start. Knox and Ogden will also be ready by this time for a turn. The classy Motor City outfit is sure to put on a real scrap and the Petes will try hard to show the home folks that they can win at home as well as on the road. It should be a memorable baseball game.

$60,000 GATE IS EXPECTED FOR ALL-STAR GAME TUESDAY

New York's Polo Grounds Will Be Jammed to Full Seating Capacity of 53,602.

GOMEZ OR HUBBELL?

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press, Sports Editor)

All-star teams of the American and National leagues will take the field to-morrow at the Polo Grounds for the sake of sweet charity and the fulfillment of the baseball fan's midsummer day dreams.

The National League park is expected to be jammed to its capacity of 53,602 customers, paying from 55 cents to $2.20 to witness the all-star spectacle, and contributing thereby to a "gate" of nearly $60,000 for the benefit of the players' benevolent fund. The game is scheduled at 12.30 p.m. E.S.T.

It may seem just another afternoon's chore to the players themselves, hand-picked in keeping with most of fandom's preference, but to the baseball-following public at large it is the most glamorous one-day show of the entire year, bringing together the satellites whose names take the headlines or top those indispensable columns of statistics daily, from April to October.

How will Carl Hubbell, ace southpaw of the world champion Giants, fare against a batting order topped by Charley Gehringer, Heinie Manush, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, with Frank Higgins, Al Simmons, Joe Cronin and Bill Dickey bringing up the rear-guard of sluggers? Can Lefty Gomez, the American League's foremost moundsman, baffle a lineup headed by Frank Frisch, Pie Traynor, Joe Medwick or Chuck Klein, Wally Beger, Kiki Cuyler or Mel Ott, Bill Terry, Travis Jackson and Gabby Hartnett or Al Lopez?

These are questions that may be answered at the outset, for Gomez and Hubbell have been nominated to start the game. It will be the first time the two most talked-about southpaws in baseball have opposed each other, with the Yankee star matching his great speed against the more subtle offerings, including the famous "screw ball" of the Giant ace.

Not Returning Home

ATLANTA, July 9 (A.P.)—Primo Carnera, the recent heavyweight champion of the world, passed through Atlanta this week-end with the story—and he stuck to it—that he was enroute from New York to Maine.

Primo arrived Saturday, when he left yesterday afternoon his 16-cylinder car was headed toward Florida—despite his repeated assertions that he was going to Maine.

"You have been to Florida?"

"No, no," Carnera said. "I go to Maine to-night."

"Not going to Florida, then?"

"No, no; too hot. I go to Maine. I stay there one, maybe two months. Now I just ride around and visit my Italian friends.

There's one thing certain—Primo is not going to Italy now.

"No, no," he thundered in answer to the suggestion. "Not until I am again champion."

Notices have been sent out for our first big mixed tournament of the season. It will be held on Wednesday, July 18th. This is considered one of the main events of our bowling season. Already some of the boys have picked their partners. And it begins to look like a big event.

On Wednesday evening we intend to run a little local mixed tournament. The conditions are just the same as the last one. And the draw will be at 7.30 p.m.

Then on Friday night (you know we were rained out last Friday), we are to have one of the biggest nights of the season—and we hope it will be good and hot—and we will tell you why.

Jimmy Matthews, manager of the "Sunshine Dairy" has very kindly consented to donate a bottle of Milk Chocolate to every bowler that plays on that night, and then besides the regular prizes donated by the club, Jimmy will give four pounds of Sunshine Dairy butter as a special prize. Now we know that nothing further need be said—because we have seen this boy in action before and when he does a thing, well, he just does it—that's all.

BROCKVILLE WINS COMSTOCK TROPHY

Amasses 42 Points for Victory Over Ottawa Rowing Club.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 9 (C.P.)—The Brockville club was dusting off the most conspicuous shelf in its clubhouse to-day—the shelf where the Comstock trophy will sit for a year to proclaim to all and sundry that its present owners are champions of the Eastern Rowing Association.

The Eastern Ontario team won the championship in the 14th annual regatta here Saturday with a margin of 11 points over its nearest competitor. A 42-point total was enough to give Brockville the victory over Ottawa with 33 and Lachine, Que., with 27. Toronto Argonauts scored four points and McGill University of Montreal one.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE MATCH ENDS IN DRAW

Exhibition Ends P.C.C. 143 for 8 (innings declared Closed), U.C.C. 127 for Six.

VISITORS FIELD POORLY.

The local cricket team met Upper Canada College on Nicholls Oval, Saturday, July , and the match resulted in a very even draw, the Peterborough men thus retaining their unbeaten record; the final score was P.C.C. 143 for eight wickets (innings declared closed), and U.C.C. 127 for six wickets.

The College Eleven are this year's champions of the School "Big Four" and this was the opening match in a tour they are making. They stayed in Peterborough on Saturday night and play two matches in Ottawa, and then three in Montreal. Upon one view only their batting seems to be better than their bowling and fielding; in fact in the field they were not good, many catches were missed and some of the ground work was careless.

Peterborough batted first and opened with W. Binks and J. Gore, who were very careful and the score was taken very slowly to 19 after 40 minutes' play. Binks was bowled. Rev. E. Worrall, for once, failed, and it was not until Dyer joined Mitchell that there was any lengthy stand, but these two hit freely and scored fast, putting up 34 runs in 20 minutes.

Dyer was splendidly caught by Benett at 105. Langhorne (18) proved a valuable partner to Mitchell, whose splendid innings was closed at 130 by a catch at the wicket. He was in while 110 runs were made, and his own share of these was 60, the highest individual score of the club this season. He took chances and was missed, but made some splendid strokes, including seven 4's. At five o'clock, Capt. Dyer made a generous sporting declaration, leaving the college over two hours to get the runs; at one time it looked as if he had been a little premature, and as long as Bennet was in it looked as if they might get the runs, but eventually at call of time (7.30) they had only reached 127 with six out.

U.C.C. lost Gunn in Dyer's first over, but Bennett (51) found valuable partners in Boeckh, Croft and Dickens, but they were not able to score fast enough to get the runs. Dyer had 3 wickets for 47, and Mitchell 2 for 53, while Mawhood kept wicket in fine style, allowing no byes, catching and stumping one. The Collegians tried eight bowlers, of whom Gunn's 3 for 16 was most successful.

England Makes Clean Tennis Sweep

England made a clean sweep of the tennis tournament at Wimbledon when Miss Dorothy Round defeated Helen Jacobs of the United States in the final game played before the King and Queen. Twenty thousand people yelled themselves hoarse at the popular victory of the young Sunday School teacher. England, with Fred Perry's victory in the men's singles, thus swept the boards clean. Above is seen Miss Dorothy Round in action.

By C.J.P.

You go, generally, to see an all-star benefit game and what do you see? Either an all-star washout or an all-clowning act by fellows who aren't even funny. But such was not the case here Saturday eve when two all-star men's softball teams put on a benefit tussle in Central. No, it turned out to be the sweetest softball struggle shown here this year. In fact, we can't ever recall seeing a better one. It had excellent twirling, almost perfect fielding, a low score and a smashing climax to wind it up. And it had its touch of humor when Bert Deck appeared on the coaching lines with a lady's pyjamas over his suit and a masquerade hat to match.

* * * * * * *

Jake Beckerman's squad lost a tough one, 3-2, after leading till the last half of the ninth. Newson's single with two on and two out just before the curtain fell chased across the two money markers. Chuck Butcher and Frank Shine both tossed lovely ball and had grand backing. Elliott pitched the last two frames in good style for Deck's. Jake immediately challenged Deck to another battle with the same teams next Saturday, Jake claiming, "You were just dripping with horse-shoes!" Over eight bucks were collected and the fans, players and loop officials would probably welcome another such game.

* * * * * * *

There will be no softball game Wednesday, that tie-game of the first half being called off because of the Keene softball tourney. Brinton's Fashion-Craft, Johnston's Tires, Omemee and Oshawa Seniors are some of the classy men's teams that will take part in this tournament which has been sanctioned by the O.A.S.A. There will be intermediate and senior men's teams and gals' there and it should be a big event with some classy prizes and cups put up by Louis Green and the Otonabee Council. Further entries should be sent in to Fred Whalen at Keene right away with a dollar.

* * * * * * *

Incidentally, we can see no purpose in playing that tie-game between Brintons and Fashion-Crafts at all. It seems that the play-offs in the men's circuit calls for the first and second teams in each half to playoff to declare finalists. It's an old rule in the constitution and was okay when there were more than four teams in. But this year there are only four in and all four may get into the play-offs. This is more ridiculous even than the N.H.L. system of play-offs and is simply a way of getting more dough. Of course, the fans wont object and the rule can't be changed till the next annual meeting—but it's still rather absurd. Johnston's and Brintons are top two teams in the first half, and maybe Orphans and Fashion-Crafts will finish one-two in the second! At any rate, there is no necessity for that tie-game being run off.

* * * * * * *

The Petes are billed to play that rained-out C.O.B.L. affair in Kingston this evening, and they come back to play Oshawa here Wednesday. It's the only home game for the Petes this week and should be a good one. Being a twilight fixture at 5.15, it ought to draw a big crowd, especially of people working in stores who can't get off Saturdays. The Dukes beat us here last time but lost to us in Oshawa, so this one is ust a toss-up. Incidentaljly, there were nearly two hundred phone calls Saturday asking how did the Petes make out—people who didn't know the Petes had an off-day. Three open Saturdays in a row for the locals isn't so hot.

* * * * * * *

Oshawa certainly got a bad game out of their system at home Saturday when Belleville beat them, 16-5. It was a good tussle with the Dukes leading till they blew in the sixth and the Nats got seven runs. Belleville used two hurlers, Smith and Utronki, while the Dukes had everybody on their squad that looked like a pitcher out there before the end. They called upon Messrs. Ogden, Knox, Wills, Mathews and Frink and were seriously considering the bat boy at one time. Well, it just ties up the race tighter than a wedding ceremony with the Petes and Ponies tied for first place while right behind them the Dukes and Nats are tied for second position.

* * * * * * *

So Kingston has resurrected Ted (Le fty) Gallagher and intend using him in the C.O.B.L.? Well, well, well. The Ponies' press agent did much laughing when Belleville brought Jack Williams back to the wars, and again when it was announced that Al Heckman was working out with the Petes. "What, make it an old man's league?" queried ye Limestone scribe. And now comes old Ted, much older than Williams or Al. The former star southpaw from Kingston must be nudging forty pretty hard. He quit about six years ago, not when in his prime like Heck or the Chief, but because he could no longer carry the mail with any degree of efficiency. The return of the Belleville and Peterborough veterans is taken seriously, but Gallagher's comeback ought to cause a lot of merriment around the circuit. If we're wrong, we'll eat our new shirt, the one with the pink stripes in it!

* * * * * * *

The Petes should sign up another pitcher, if possible, and any other players they need this week. July 15th—that's Sunday—is the last day for signing players this summer. And with the local's injury jinx always in the offing, and Scriver unlikely to be back this season, it's pretty risky business banking on just two regulars, Deyell and Calladine. We did hear something about the Petes planning to sign up an outfielder from Lindsay, but it seems to us they could stand one more twirler, too.

PACKERS GAIN ONE GOAL WIN OVER LINDSAY

Visitors Reduce 3-0 Half-time C.P.C. Lead in Second Period.

PETES 3, LINDSAY 2.

Canada Packers just managed to squeese out a win over Lindsay, on Saturday afternoon, in the semi-final of Injured Players' Cup by the score of three to two, before a fair attendance of spectators. Tiffney, Lindsay's new custodian, was outstanding with his clever goal-keeping. Dave Leether, local boy, made a creditable showing for his first Senior game in soccer.

Locals Take Lead

In the early stages many interesting tussles took place in mid-field. Lindsay being more aggressive around the Petes' goal but lacked the necessary finish. Latham, at centre-forward, repeatedly broke through to find Chamberlain robbing him of a counter. The visitors overwhelmed the Packers with their steady pressure inside the goal area. Twice did Leether rattle hot drives over the bar although his latter shot just skimmed the crossbar. Buchan intercepted a Lindsay movement to send George Downer away on the wing, who sent a sizzling drive across the goal mouth. Colbran returned the ball to the former, who connected with a first timer. Play ran from end to end at a rapid pace, with the halves feeding the forwards to perfection. It was from a concentrated attack led by Buchan that brought about the 2nd counter for Petes, George Downer picking the far corner away from the visiting custodian. Lindsay retaliated through Wilson, on right wing, who compelled Packers' goalie to concede two fruitless flag kicks. On a raid upon the Lindsay citadel, Art O'Halloran accidently kicked the ball out of his own goal-keep's hands into the net to make the count: Canada Packers 3, Lindsay 0.

Lindsay Reduces Lead

On resuming, the visitors forced the issue, while the local boys felt assured that they had the game won but were surprised when O'Halloran accepted a pass up the centre and bulged the net behind Chamberlain. At this point, a local player received 'marching orders' to the pavilion for some infringement committed. With only ten players, the Packers decided to play the defensive method to hold the meagre lead. After twenty minutes' play, Lindsay bombarded the Packers' goal to reduce the lead; O'Halloran selecting the far corner for the second counter. Both teams added pep to the game with their keen tactics in mid-field. Time and again, the Packers' front line would break through the Lindsay defence to find that their marksmanship was off for the day. In the closing minutes, Downer, on left wing, carried the attack inside the goal area to find the going hard to bring no success. In fact, Colbran dribbled his way through the full backs to find that Tiffney was his obstacle to success. Canada Packers 3, Lindsay 2.

Canada Packers—J. Chamberlain, goal; N. Downer and A. Downer, full backs; Art Downer, J. Buchan and Art Bomley, halves; J. Colbran, M. Gadghan, A. Todd, F. Todd and G. Downer, forwards.

Lindsay—R. Tiffney, goal; J. Flynn and A. O'Halloran, full backs; J. Springhall, H. Latham and D. Best, halves; D. Wilson, J. Taylor, B. Moir, J. Wiles, and D. Lesther, forwards.

Referee—A. Frick. Linesmen—D. Anderson and R. Carmichael.

South-End Review

Albions continued their winning ways in the Southend Softball League by nosing out the Cogs 12-7, last Wednesday. The win gave them undisputed possession of first place in the standing with two wins and no losses and ran their string of victories to six straight. They've won eight out of ten this season and appear to be the team to beat for the loop title. The luckless All Saints' crew were leading Orioles' 9-7, in Friday's game when rain forced the calling of the tilt in the sixth, and it must be replayed later.

Games this week' Nationals vs Albions Monday. All Saints vs Cogs Tuesday, the Albions vs Orioles on Friday. With the Nationals, Orioles and Cogs all tied for second place, with a win and a loss each, these games should be hard-fought affairs and fans should not miss any of them. Spectators are asked to keep well back of the foul lines for their own protection as well as to give the players a chance.

Dianna Pope Holds Tennis Championship

WINDSOR, Ont., July 9 (C.P.).—Dianna Pope, 16-year-old London girls, is still women's tennis champion of Western Ontario, after successfully repelling an American invasion. She won the title on Saturday for the second year in succession by vanquishing Mrs. Emily Johnson, 10 times champion of Detroit, 9-7, 6-4.

Mrs. Johnson was leading 5-3 when the youthful Londoner steadied her shots and took control of the game, giving a polished exhibition of back court play.

Carl Fischer of Detroit captured the men's title in the Western Ontario tournament in three straight sets at the expense of John Reindel, another Detroiter. Fischer was never in difficulty.

Partnered by Ken Kline, Fischer won his second piece of silverware in a hard-fought battle with Jerrie Hoxie and Herbert Wroebell, 2-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1. They provided the fastest tennis of the tournament.

Except for the women's singles, Detroit players made a clean sweep of the tournament.

POOR SHOWING LOCAL PLAYERS

Peterborough Tennis Club Representatives Win Only Two of Thirteen Matches.

EXHIBITION TOURNEY.

In an exhibition tournament in Oshawa Saturday, Peterborough Tennis Club players won only two out of thirteen matches. The Oshawa Club netters, who rank with Toronto's best, proved too experienced for most of their visiting competitors. Max Cotton, city champion here, battled his way to a three-set victory in men's singles over R. D. Macdonald of Oshawa by scores of 6-3, 5-7 and 6-3. The other local win was when Art Ward and Ben Swarts in men's doubles came from behind 5-1 in the first set to win out, 7-5, 6-4, from Don McKinnon and H. Hobart.

Bill McPherson and Bill Howden carried their match with T. Fishleigh and H. Bain to three sets but lost out, 6-3, 7-9 and 6-3, after a hard fight. Miss Barbara Cutting and Bob Maybee in mixed doubles played well against stiff opposition in Miss N. File and H. Hainer, losing 6-2, 4-6 and 6-2. Miss Gladys Carvolth, playing Miss Ruth Fishleigh—one of Ontario's better lady players—lost, 6-2 and 6-2, but put up a fine game. The results:

Men's singles—Len Corn, Oshawa, defeated Roy Friend, 6-2, 6-0; men's doubles, R. Striple and S. James, Oshawa, defeated G. Kirkwood and J. Kirkwood, 6-1 and 6-1; Len Corn and S. James, Oshawa, won over H. Hammell and M. Swartz, 6-3 and 6-1; mixed doubles—Miss Swail and Army Armstrong, Oshawa, defeated Miss P. McClelland and Walter Perks, 6-2 and 6-3; Miss Hobbs and R. O'Hara, Oshawa, won from Miss L. Lundy and N. McKenzie, 6-2 and 6-0; ladies' singles—Miss Picard, Oshawa, defeated Miss Ann Macdonald, 6-1 and 6-2; ladies' doubles—Miss Furber and Miss Goheen, Oshawa, defeated Miss P. McClelland and Miss R. McKee, 6-2 and 6-3; Miss Fleming and Miss Colloghan, Oshawa won from Miss Ann Macdonald and Miss L. Lundy, 6-2 and 6-2.

OTTAWAN WILL CAPTAIN TEAM

Trio of Canadian Cyclists Picked for British Empire Games.

TWO TORONTO GRINDERS.

TORONTO, July 9 (C.P.). — On the pedal-pushing ability of a sensational young Ottawan and two Torontonians will rest the Canadian challenge to speed cycling honors in the British Empire games.

The Canadian Wheelmen's Association, it was announced last night by W. M. Gladdish, secretary of the Ontario branch of the A.A.U., decided at a special meeting that George S. Turner of Ottawa would captain the trio of Canadian riders. Robert J. McLeod and Russell P. Hunt, both of Toronto, will complete the team.

Turner captured the point championship at the Canadian dirt track bicycle championships at Exhibition Park here Saturday, by winning the five and one-mile races and finishing second in the third mile dash, and the 1,000 metre time trials. McLeod also took a double win, making the best time of 1.20 1-5 in the 1,000 metre time trial, while in the one-half mile final he staged an impressive victory.

DECK ALL-STARS WIN ON SATURDAY

Softball Fans Treated to Classy Exhibition as Beckerman Clan Beaten.

Deck's All-Stars took a 3-2 victory over Beckerman's All-Stars in the softball game at Central, Saturday evening. A huge crowd was treated to the best fixture seen here this year, a highly exciting and smart contest that was featured by grand pitching, snappy fielding and a dramatic windup. The Deck crew, after trailing all through, won out in the last half of the ninth when Newson's single with two out scored the tying and winning runs.

It was a hurlers' duel between Chuck Butcher and Frank Shine, though Freddie Elliott replaced Shine to finish the last two frames for the winners. Butcher held his rivals hitless 'till the fifth and gave a total of only six safe blows, several of them scratchy. He struck out four but kept himself in the hole with walks, dishing out nine free bases, Shine was touched for only five hits in seven frames and he fanned eight and walked four. Elliott gave one hit and struck out one. Both sides backed their twirlers up with great support.

Dorrington led the losers at bat with a single and homer in four trips, though the four-bagger was a fluke that rolled by Weir. Newson topped the other side with the willow, getting two singles in four appearances. Gainey hit a double. The defensive work was featured by two double-plays, one by Gainey to H. Dormer to Smith, and one by Starr unassisted, the fielding of Dorrington and a hard running catch by Playford.

The Beckerman side got their two runs in the second when Butcher walked and Dorrington homered. They threatened several other innings but couldn't count another. The winners got a run back in the fifth when Playford walked and scored on Gainey's double. They had runners on second and third with only one out in the eighth but Butcher worked hard to keep them off the score-sheet. They won in the ninth when H. Dormer singled and Smith walked, both tallying on Newson's hard single to centre. The teams:

Beckerman's — Dorrington, 3b; Stanger, 2b; Calladine, c; Ellis, 1b; Montgomery, lf; Gillespie, cf; Currie, rf; Fleming, ss; Butcher, p.

Deck's — H. Dormer, 2b; Smith, 1b; Starr, c; Newson, 3b; Weir, lf; Playford, c; Gardner, rf; Sturgeon, rf; Shine, p; Elliott, p; Gainey, ss.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 43.

Watts had attained one of the objects that had been set him, to get the household to name the lady in his hearing, so that he could have an excuse for calling on her next. But the man seen entering by the little side door into the garden house he had not yet found, and that, and a careful survey of the inside of the house, were his main objectives. If possible he was to get into the disused portion of the house. But that, Pointer had told him, might be impossible.

Lady Ida showed that firmness of character that Pointer had read in her face. She was no slacker herself and she allowed no inefficiency. All the servants, except the cook and a maid who was out, were called in to help, and for a while nothing was heard but frightened breathing and moving furniture.

"You didn't leave the door open behind you?" he heard the butler ask another servant in a suppressed voice. Watts had already put him down as Craven, the man described to him over the phone just now by the chief inspector. The reply was a quick look in Lady Ida's direction and a quicker shake of the head. Another minute and Lady Ida herself took the same man aside into a room. They were alone but for a few seconds, but when Lady Ida came out again she looked very relieved.

"I think we've hunted everywhere now," she said after a little longer search. "Below stairs has been done by the cook, my maid has gone through my cupboards, and we've accounted for the rest of the house."

"But surely we haven't searched all the rooms?" Watts asked as though in surprise. "The house looks a lot bigger from the outside."

"Mr. Westmacott's own part is shut up and never entered," she explained, and on that Watts, who had been given very careful orders not to arouse any suspicions, suddenly caught sight of marks on the outside of the window sill which proved that the snake had slipped out that way. He rushed down the stairs. "It can't live an hour in this chill," he explained, "nor can it climb a perpendicular wall of any height over two feet. By morning it will be dead, you may be sure." He ended in a mass of apologies, and unshriven, took his leave.

So the shut-off portion of the house was really closed . . . and, though Watts had seen the whole household with the exception of one maid, he had not seen Strange. He was to try Mrs. de Souza next, and find out if she would let drop any remark about the house—or the mysterious man.

A car rushed him to Mrs. de Souza's flat. Evidently some sort of an entertainment was on, but a message that he had just left Lady Ida and would like to speak to Mrs. de Souza for a moment, had him at once taken into an empty room of mirrors and stucco walls that struck him as about the most vulgar thing of its kind that he had ever seen. He perched himself on a scarlet and purple divan, and meditated on a great heap of crystal oranges pilled at his feet, when Mrs. de Souza hurried in. A middle-aged woman with a crafty face followed her.

"You come from Lady Ida Westmacott?" Mrs. de Souza said, and fixed a pair of eyes on Watts that looked him over from head to foot, and found, he was sure, nothing wrong with his appearance.

He explained what had happened, or rather what he wanted her and Lady Ida to think had happened.

"The point is this, as you called there this afternoon, the snake might have got into your handbag had you laid it down anywhere."

"Or up my stockings," shrieked Mrs. de Souza, swirling her skirts around what looked like a couple of inverted champagne bottles, and jumping up and down on the floor—shrieking with each jump. Her maid shrieked too.

"No, no!" Watts managed to shout above the noise the two made, "that's impossible. I pledge you my word it couldn't and wouldn't climb a stocking. And probably you've opened your handbag since you went to the house."

They calmed down at that. The bag in question, a tiny affair, was brought on the end of a pair of tongs, and Watts, gloves on, and with the look of a man prepared at any second to pounce on a deadly reptile, opened it, examined it, and pronounced it safe.

"There is a mark on a window sill of the Palace Green house which looks as though he had slithered out that way. If so, he can't survive a night of this temperature and all is well. But I was afraid you might have inadvertently carried him off with you, or else that he might have crept into the unoccupied part of the house."

A look of utter consternation showed in Mrs. de Souza's face at his last words. Again she jumped to her feet and hurried into another room, whence in a moment came the sound of a telephone bell's tinkle, but with all her hurry she had closed the door behind her. A few minutes later she came in smiling.

"Lady Ida says that fortunately that wouldn't matter, as no one ever goes in there. The rooms are quite shut off."

Watts found she refused to be drawn into any remarks about the house, or the household, in Palace Green.

The maid had taken no part in the conversation, whatever, which was natural, but not so natural was the fixed, unwinking stare that Watts found fastened on him whenever he glanced in her direction. Watts now took his leave, again apologizing humbly for the "dreadful accident" and its inconveniences. Mrs. de Souza, like Lady Ida, refused to be gracious, and a quite abject Watts was shown out, to recover himself in his car and look the picture of pleased success. But he stopped the car some distance from the Westmacott house, and taking something from the Watcher—to whom he had handed it on his arrival—once more rang the bell and dangled before the at first frosty—then delighted—eye of the butler what looked like a piece of bootlace.

"Got him! Numbed with cold, it was easy. Tell your mistress that it's all right now."

The butler thawed into human thankfulness. Watts, chatting happily, as a man does who has escaped a calamity, told how he had even rushed to the house of the lady they had said called, to ask her to make sure she hadn't unwittingly taken it away with her.

"That mark on the window sill wasn't as clear about the snake not having crawled in again as it might have been," he confided. "However, all's well that ends well," and he passed a handsome tip into the palm nearest him. The butler promised to let Lady Ida and Mr. Luttrell Westmacott know on their return, and the incident was closed pleasantly. Watts gave a sigh of relief. After reporting, he would be free to go to bed. He had now carried out his instructions to the letter. Pointer heard what he had to say, and then, as Watts hoped, let him go to his home, but for the chief inspector bed was yet quite a distance off. So many things had to be hunted out by day, that all that was possible must be done by night. The shut-off portion of the house puzzled him. Watts had told him that each of the passages upstairs ended in a wall mirror, enclosed in plain or gilt pilasters. All were at least six or seven years old. At least. That meant that the alterations must have been done, the part of the house shut off, with Mr. Westmacott's knowledge, by his directions. Why? Any idea of a Jekyll and Hyde existence was ruled out by the man's years of absence on philanthropic missions that really were a blessing to the countries he visited. This, Pointer had been told, was undisputed, and his presence abroad impossible to question. Then why had he blocked off that portion of his home, in the remaining part of which his sister-in-law and her son lived? It would have seemed simpler to have shut the house up, putting a trustworthy caretaker in. Mr. Westmacott was no collector, he had no known treasures which he might consider it safer to hide away.

For Tuesday, July 10.

The planetary configurations for this day are read as favoring all pertaining to the private life rather than business, although there may be some manner of change involved in this. But pre-eminent in the day's activities are social, domestic and romantic engagements, with a possible partiality in the direction of friendship, pleasure, courtship or perhaps marriage, all calling for changed associations, interests and environs.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves plunged in a year of private activities and interests, which may eclipse more sordid and practical considerations. The accent seems to be placed on the pursuit of pleasure, friendship, romance, or marriage, all or either of which may enforce change in the affiliations, surroundings and interests generally. Much happiness and prosperity should follow.

A child born on this day may be efficient and capable but inclined to the social, cultural, artistic and romantic concerns of life. It should be happy and prosperous.

SAN FRANCISCO STRIKE TANGLE GROWS BLACKER

3,700 Teamsters Serve Notice of Walkout Unless Changes Made.

THURSDAY ZERO HOUR.

Longshoremen's Board Opens Public Hearings Between Men, Employers.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9 (AP)—Walkout votes by teamsters of San Francisco and Oakland intensified general strike threats on the Pacific Coast to-day as the National Longshoremen's Board here brought the new Federal Labor Dispute Act to its first test.

The 3,700 teamsters of the two San Francisco Bay cities served notice that unless definite progress is made toward settlement of the maritime strike they will abandon their trucks Thursday morning. General strike proposals gained impetus at San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Seattle.

The general strike proposal supported by 15 of San Francisco's 120 trade unions, is expected to come before other unions in the next few days. The Butchers voted yesterday to leave the question with the Central Labor Council's "strategy" committee.

At Portland, representatives of 80 unions will meet "to formulate plans for a general strike," Gust Anderson, secretary of the Central Labor Council said. The question will be discussed at Seattle by the Northwest Maritime Strike Committee.

In the face of the increasing tension, the Longshoremen's board, recently appointed by President Roosevelt, invokes its full authority under the new law as it opens public hearings on the dispute between the 27,000 maritime workers and their employers.

Berlin Subdued As Nazi Terror Stalks Streets

The streets of Berlin, swathed in a fearsome quiet, are shown in this remarkable radio photo of the vicinity of Potsdamer Plats. Two policemen, their rifles slung over their shoulders, patrol the district where the shadow of Nazi terror has subdued the usual workaday activities. Hermann Goering St., named after Chancellor Hitler's "strong man", stretches away to the right.

"Mickey" Decides To Quit Smoking

WEST PATERSON, N.J., July 9 (AP)—Charles "Mickey" Norman, fair, fat and nearly three, is trying to break the habit of a lifetime—smoking.

After two years as a cigar smoker, "Mickey" hopes—because his parents wish it—to be down to a few puffs a day by his third birthday, July 28.

It's not that they think smoking has done "Mickey" any harm. He is healthy, lively and well-behaved. His height is 37 inches, his weight 35 pounds. The average for his age is 37 inches and 32 to 36 pounds.

But since the world first heard a year ago that "Mickey" was a smoker, letters of protest have come by the hundred to the Norman home. Then, too, since his first experiments with cigars, "Mickey" has broadened his activities to include pipes and cigarette. It is the cigarettes that his parents object to.

APPALLING IGNORANCE LAID TO RADIO PRIEST

NEW YORK, July 9.—(C.P.) — Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest, was denounced as a man of "appalling ignorance" by John Hayes Holems, past or of the Community church, at a meeting yesterday.

"What we have in Father Coughlin is a simple and sincere priest spoiled by a success far outrunning his ability and spirit, and overwhelmed by an age too vast for his knowledge and training to master."

Mr. Holmes said Father Coughlin's early years showed "an earnest, attractive and forceful personality," but that with the economic depression there came a "swift deterioration" in his work.

"Father Coughlin's attractive sincerity was not transformed into insufferable arrogance," he asserted. "In place of righteous indignation against personal sin and public wrong came open prejudice and passion."

SPEAKER URGES SAFEGUARDING CANADIAN YOUTH

Rev. Paul Costello Delivers Address as Legion Honors Dead.

EMPHASIS OF PEACE.

All Urged to Stand Together for Good of City and Country.

Safeguarding of Canadian youth against salacious literature and unsavory motion pictures as a means of perpetuating the sound principles which in their own day they had received from their forefathers was suggested by Rev. Paul Costello as an undertaking worthy of the spirit and manhood of the Canadian Legion in his address during the Decoration Day ceremonies at St. Peter's cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Father Costello spoke in place of Captain Jules Ferrie of Sudbury, president of the Ontario Command of the Legion, who telegraphed that he could not visit the Peterborough branch on this occasion.

The parade of veterans of the Great War, following a brief ceremony of remembrance at the cenotaph on the Legion's premises, was unusually large, and hundreds of citizens joined with them in making Sunday a general Decoration Day at St. Peter's cemetery.

Robert Haddow, president of the Peterborough branch of the Legion, said in opening the memorial ceremony that five comrades had passed on during the year.

"All I ask is that the rising generation will remember these men," Mr. Haddow said. "I hope they will see that this humble Decoration Day is continued and that they will remember the men who died that you might live in peace."

The Legion parade through the city was headed by the 57th Rangers' Band, directed by Band Sergeant E. Patterson, and the standard bearer was Robert White, a veteran of the Imperial navy. Capt. James Abraham was marshall, and Sergeant W. MacLaren sounded the Last Post and Reveille, before the men of the Legion broke their ranks to decorate the designated graves with flowers they had carried. Following a custom of visiting Peterborough's cemeteries in alternate years, a detachment from the Fire Department, representing ex-service men, accompanied the Legion to St. Peter's yesterday.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion was represented by Mrs. Joseph Mills and Mrs. Frank Millard, and Mayor Denne, Aldermen Stocker, Fitzpatrick and Sloan were present.

Emphasis of Peace

In a brief acknowledgment of the honor of having been invited by the Legion to take part in the Decoration Day memorial, Mayor Denne said that Canadians should be thankful that they were living in a peaceful country under the British flag.

"When we look out over the world and see all the unrest, and in Germany where they are shooting people in the streets and in their homes, we ought to be thankful we are living in a country like Canada. We have been passing through a depression, but it is the duty of all of us to work together, hand in hand, regardless of differences, for the good of our country and our own happiness. I have always been a supporter of the Legion and I hope I shall always be able to do my duty to the returned men."

Rev. Paul Costello.

"I am delighted with the splendid crowd here this afternoon," Rev. Father Costello said. "It shows respect not only for the dead, but also for the Legion and the splendid work they are doing. I hope that next Sunday there will be as large or a larger crowd at the Little Lake cemetery to honor the dead there. We regret the absence of Captain Jules Ferrie of Sudbury who was to have spoken here this afternoon, but it was impossible for him to come.

As Mayor Denne has very well said, we of the Legion and the citizens generally must stand together for the good of our city and our country. All we have to do is to look around and realize that our country is a beautiful garden. I think Canada is the garden of the world, and is well worth our while standing up for it and making it a happier place for those who to come after us. It is strange to think that the people who were attacking us a few years ago, are now slaughtering each other. Thanks be to God that we have no such conditions in this country, nor can they occur here as long as we have the sound, stable principles on which Canada has been founded. In this regard, it seems to me there is a great work to be done by the Canadian Legion.

We want our younger generation to be instilled with the same principles as our adults. There is an insidious type of enemy that we should take steps to guard against, of which I can mention two that fall into this class. One of them is the salacious literature that is to be found in libraries and on the shelves of bookstores, and that is not fit reading for our young people. The other is the unsavory movies of today. It is too bad, to say the least, to see little boys and girls going to see some of the moving pictures shown today, and have their young minds contaminated by what they see. To the men of the Legion I would say that there is a big work to be done here. It goes without saying that you are men of good principle. Your service to your country proved that. You have respect for lawful authority, and I would like to see the Legion in Canada exercise their influence to protect the coming generation against the unsavory screen and salacious literature."

In reviewing the work of the Legion over a period of five years, Father Costello remarked that $93,000 had been given by the Canadian Government as pensions to returned men in this district, and men receiving only five and ten per cent have been given some $11,000. The Legion has raised $1,300 in the city which has been expended for relief purposes. Father Costello said he regretted that Peterborough had not been allotted any of the $40,000,000 to be spent by the federal government but Peterborough was still in a position to carry its own burdens and make sacrifices anything worth while was obtained by sacrifice.

"Our Divine Master gave us freedom through the shedding of His blood. Our Canadian men held that freedom by their own blood, and we can do nothing less than help those who remain. They are failing out quickly year by year. I believe that the number is ten thousand a year. It is for the young generation now growing up to show their gratitude for what the men who lived before them have done."

CRONIN CLAN SCORES LEAD IN 5TH FRAME

Americans Overcome Nationals' Early Lead by Counting 6 Runs in Big Fifth.

HOMER IN FIRST.

Hubbell Gives Masterful Display on Mound, Strikes Out 6 in Three Innings.

SCORE BY INNINGS

AMERICANS	.....000 261 000
NATIONALS	.....103 030 000

FIRST INNING.

Americans — Gehringer fouled the first pitch and then smashed a drive past Frisch and ran to second base when Wally Berger fumbled. Manush walked. Ruth took a called strike, swung, and missed the next one, then fanned on a called strike.

Gehrig struck out. Gehringer beat Hartnett's throw to Traynor at third base on a close play. Manush advanced to second. The Nationals kicked at the decision. It was a pair of stolen bases. Foxx also fanned, getting only one four ball and missing the third strike, a "screw ball," by a half-foot as the crowd roared its acclaim of the mighty Hubbell's sensational feat of retiring the three foremost American League sluggers in succession.

No runs, one hit, one error, two left.

Nationals. — Frisch smashed the second pitched ball high into the upper rightfield stands for a home run. Traynor was thrown out on a hard-hit grounder, Gehringer to Gehrig. Medwick fanned, swinging lustily at one of Gomez's fast balls. Cuyler bounced out, Cronin to Gehrig.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING.

Americans — Al Simmons, former American League batting king was Hubbel's fourth straight strike out victim. The White Sox star missed the last one by a wide margin.

Cronin also took three hearty swings, missing each time by ridiculous margins.

Bill Dickey finally broke the spell, banging a curve over Jackson's head for a single.

Gomez also fanned, making Hubbell's sixth strikeout victim in two innings.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Nationals. — Berger hoisted one foul high over the upper deck behind third base, but missed two swings to Gomez's fast balls. Terry received an ovation as he stepped to

FRANCE, BRITAIN IN AGREEMENT

Barthou Leaves for Paris Satisfied With Results of Secret Meet.

RELATIONS IMPROVED.

LONDON, July 10 (C.P. Cable). — Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France left here to-day in a cheerful frame of mind after two days of conversations with British Cabinet officials regarding the situation in Europe.

Before he left, the Minister said: "We French and British discovered we are agreed on the European situation. I am very content."

What transpired at the conference, however, remained a Foreign Office secret. It was believed earlier that when the conversations ended Britain was still holding aloof from any new obligation in continental Europe.

In the bald words of an official communique handed out after the end of discussions between British Cabinet officials and the French delegation headed by Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, the conversations "made it possible for the two governments clearly to appreciate their respective points of view on questions under discussion."

These questions, the statement said, "included French proposals for additional mutual security in Eastern Europe. The future of the disarmament conference and preparations for the naval conference of 1935."

Smith Rapidly Nears Gulf St. Lawrence On Lone Canoe Paddle Across Atlantic

METIS BEACH, Que., July 10 (C.P.). — A lonely voyage in a 16-foot canoe, John Smith, 24, of Peterborough, was paddling close to the Gulf of St. Lawrence to-day on his long trip to England.

Smith left Peterborough, Ontario, on June 14, with the announced intention of paddling across the Atlantic to visit Peterborough, England. He braved the swift white water of several rapids in the Upper St. Lawrence before paddling out into the Ship Channe at Montreal, and started the 1,000-mile journey to the open sea.

He reached St. Fabien de Rimouski on the south shore of the Lower St. Lawrence on July 7, and Rimouski on July 8. Yesterday he arrived here to spend the night, and to-day set out again towards the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the open sea.

GRADING ON RAIL IS INAUGURATED AT C. P. C. PLANT

System Has Been in Force in England and Europe for Some Year.

LIKELY BECOME LAW.

Government Inspectors Have Been Planning Detail for Three Week.

For the first time in the history of the Canadian packing industry grading of hogs on the rail officially was introduced to-day at the Canada packers' plant here.

The innovating of this new system of hog grading, which has been in force in Europe for some years, was ordered by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and is a result of the investigation into the packing industry in England last year by George B. Rothwell, Dominion Livestock Commissioner. On his return to Canada Mr. Rothwell recommended that grading on the rail of hogs be instituted in Canada in order to raise the standard of Canadian bacon hogs, to deal more fairly with Canadian hog producers and at the same time make Canadian bacon more appealing to the taste of the British consummer.

Likely Become Law

It is expected that eventually grading on the rail will become law in Canada. In the meantime Canada Packers' plant here was

TOURISTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Two Women, 2 Children Unhurt as Truck Hurls Car in Ditch at Vineland.

MACHINE IS BURNED.

HAMILTON, July 10 (C.P.).—Four United States tourists escaped injury when they climbed through a door of their car as flames reduced it to twisted metal at noon to-day on the Niagara Highway, one mile west of Vineland.

The accident occurred when the car, driven by Miss Betty Kretschmer, 23, Forrest Hill, L.I., N.Y., was struck in the rear by a truck driven by George Hope, 18, St. Catharines, and hurled into a shallow ditch.

The United States car instantly burst into flames as it struck the ditch. The four passengers, including two children, made their escape by climbing through the door. Besides the driver the occupants were: Mrs. L. H. Mingins, Forrest Hill, L.I., and her two children, Lester June, 11 years, and Susan, five years.

Everything in the car, a new coupe, was burned, including clothing, money and jewelry, with the sole exception of a Bible, which was undamaged by the flames.

The United States party was en route to Sarnia, where they are to holiday.

Ready to Quit

TORONTO, July 10 (C.P.).—"I am ready to hand over now," said Premier George S. Henry to-day at the conclusion of the final Cabinet meeting of his Government. He announced he would communicate immediately with Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn, and inform him the Conservative administration was prepared to resign.

At 1.30 p.m., Mr. Hepburn said he had not yet heard from Mr. Henry, but expected to do so shortly.

DRAINAGE IMPAIRED.

No Highway Workers to be Laid Off Until Complete Survey Made.

TORONTO, July 10 (C.P.). — No action will be taken to dispense with the services of highway workers along Ontario's main roads until a complete survey has been made by his Government, Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn announced to-day.

"We may have to dig out a lot of the ditches which were filled in he said, "for competent engineers inform me the lack of drainage will lead to complete destruction of the roads. When frost gets under the highways, it forces them to crack and break. I believe more harm than good was caused by the wild burst of expenditure undertaken by the Conservative Government in the last few weeks before the general election."

"I do not want to make any formal statement at (his time," said Mr. Hepburn, "but we are going to make a complete survey of the situation and find out just what has been going on."

Mr. Hepburn stated he would issue a statement shortly regarding the investigation to be conducted into Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's transactions with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission of which Mr. Meighen was a member until recently.

"I said at Ottawa Mr Meighen could have any investigation he wanted, although Premier George S. Henry had refused this," he said "However, we will issue a statement on the situation shortly."

Gandhi Prepares For Week's Fasting

KARACHI, India, July 10 (AP)—M. K. Gandhi announced to-day his decision to undertake a one-week's fast when he returns August 7 to the Ashram, his "College of Devotees" near Ahmadabad.

The purpose of the fast will be to expiate injuries inflicted by Gandhi's supporters upon Pundit Lal Nath, Orthodox Hindu leader of those in opposition to Gandhi's campaign against untouchability.

BERLIN, July 10. (AP).—Chancellor Adolf Hitler turned back to the capital of Nazi Germany today to face new unrest, heightened by a food shortage.

Apprehension spread because of a serious shortage in potatoes—the chief staple food of all Germans—limited sharply by the drought and early frosts.

An increase was ordered in the potato import quotas from Belgium Holland and Italy, to meet the emergency.

While the return of Hitler from a week-end in the Bavarian Alps was awaited, interest centred about his reported plans for a vacation cruise this summer on the Baltic Sea.

Should the occasion arise, it was remarked widely, he would thus be ready for a quick flight from Germany.

To batter down opposition to their wholesale executions, the Nazis rolled forward one of the most powerful of their oratorical big guns.

Claims June 30 Passed Without Frictions—Few Ambitious Men Nipped.

BERLIN, July 10 (A.P.) — Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda, read the riot act to the press of the world to-night, especially French and English press in an address international broadcast.

"I want you all to witness," he said in describing the suppression of the second revolution, "that there have been cases of lies, slander and misrepresentation of the true facts such as are almost without parallel in journalism."

A large part of the foreign press, he charged, "Has embarked upon a campaign of lies which in its maliciousness can be compared only with the campaign of atrocity tales that were set in the scene against Germany during the war.

Goebbles Story

Goebbles' version of events 11 days ago is as follows:

"June 30 passed off without friction, without the slightest domestic tremor.

"With his authority and with remarkable brevity, Der Fuehrer (Hitler) quick as lightning suppressed the revolt of a small coterie of saboteurs, ambitious men afflicted with a malady.

"Peace and order were disturbed nowhere in the entire country."

Berlin life proceeded in its normal course. The people of Germany went on a holiday as though nothing had happened, or else continued their work without interruption.

"The people in their entirety, however, welcomed with a sigh of relief the liberating need of Der Fuehrer which saved Germany and thereby the entire world from direct catastrophe.

NEGRO FARMER IS LYNCH VICTIM LOUISIANA MOB

Dragged From Jail by 300 Men for Attack on Young Woman.

SHERIFFS OVERPOWERED.

Girl Says She Was Grabbed Seeking Aid After Drunken Escort Ditched Car.

BASTROP, La., July 10. (AP). A young negro farmer lay dead in an undertaking establishment today, lynched by a mob after officers reported he had confessed an attempted attack on a prominent white girl.

Three hundred men hanged Andrew McLeod, 26, from the limb of an oak tree on the court house square here late last night despite his cries and pleas for mercy.

McLeod was accused of attempting to attack the 19-year-old girl early Sunday near Jones, La., 36 miles from here. He was arrested Sunday and officers were preparing to fyle formal charges againts him at the time the mob battered down the door of the small brick jail house last night and seized him.

Witnesses reported the mob formed quietly and grew to such proportions that officers in the town were unable to halt their plans.

A telephone pole and a railroad rail were used to break down the front doors to the small jail and to burst into the cell where the accused negro was crouched crying and pleading for mercy. The mob worked without any demonstrations.

Lynch Tactics

The negro was forced to stand on top of an automobile while the rope was fastened and then he was pushed clear. The first rope broke and the victim fell to the ground. An unidentified man ran up and slashed his throat.

A stronger rope was obtained and McLeod was hanged. Then the mob dispersed.

Chief of Police B. C. Walton was reported out of town at the time of the lynching and there was no night marshal at the jail Sheriff Fred Carpenter said he and his deputies were unable to halt the mob.

The girl told officers she was returning home from a dance late on Saturday night with her escort who had been drinking when their automobile left the road, and she started walking to a gasoline station up the road in search of aid

She said a negro grabbed her and tried to pull her through a wire fence beside the road, but that she fought him off and he fled at the approach of another car.

Mayor Orders Fullest Probe After Worker Charges Carpentry Hurried.

TORONTO, July 10 (C.P.) —A. McEwan, and C. Meddec were killed, and at least 13 men were in the East General Hospital following collapse of a section of the roof of the filtration plant at Victoria Park to-day.

A heavy concrete slab, measuring 50 x 50 feet, dropped from the roof burying 20 men in the wreckage. Many of the men, injured, were hurriedly removed, but three hours after the accident firemen were pouring water onto the cement below in an effort to keep it soft while search is made. It is not known whether any of the workmen are missing.

Among the known injured were: William Johnston, J. O. Dradioler, T. Aadette, A. Walker, Louis Coral, Fred Johnston, C. MacCarian, C. McCormick, Michael Harrigan, B. Odin, P. Mahady and C. Meddec.

About six men were carried down with the reinforced concrete roof of the southwest section of the northern wing of the structure. Firemen were still pouring water into the mass of wreckage below to keep the cement soft in case there are still any workmen buried.

Mayor W. J. Stewart of Toronto, ordered a thorough investigation into the accident. "Go to the limit," he told Dr. M. M. Crawford, chief coroner and Crown Attorney McFadden. Statement of one workman to the efect the disaster had been caused by "too much hurry with the carpentry work" would be fully probed, the Mayor said.

Shortly before noon, it was definitely ascertain that all trapped men had been taken out and removed either to hospital or to homes in the vicinity.

According to witnesses, there was a resounding crash and then clouds of cement and sand dust buried the structure from sight for some minutes. Ambulances were rushed to the scene, while all av-

THIRD MATCH FOR "ASHES" ENDS IN DRAW

Australians Fail to Finish Second Innings Before Time Limit Expires.

FIRST INNINGS 491.

Aussies Total 66 Runs for Loss of One Wicket When Play is Ended.

MANCHESTER, England, July 10 (C.P. Cable).—The third test cricket match between England and Australia was declared a draw today as the Australians failed to finish their second innings before the time limit expored.

The Australians had 65 runs for loss of one wicket when play ended. Their first innings total was 491, while England scored 627 in the first innings and 123 for no wickets, declared, in the second.

It had become obvious early in the day that the game could not be finished, and Captain R. E. S. Wyatt of England declared his team's innings this afternoon, allowing the visitors about two hours in which to bat the second time.

England's huge total in the first innings, a record for a test match at home, gave the Aussies too difficult a task in their effort to catch up although they batted with great stubbornness.

The draw left the teams on even terms as each has won one game in the five match series.

NORTHERN TOWN SWEPT BY FIRE

35,000,000 Feet of Lumber, Store, Warehouses, 5 Miles Track Destroyed at Dalton.

$750,000 DAMAGE.

DALTON, Ont., July 10 (C.P.)—Damage estimated at $750,000 was caused by fire which swept the yards of the Austin-Nicholson Lumber Company here, it was estimated to-day and nearly 35,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

Between five and six miles of railway track was ruined, five flat cars were burned, a general store, dwelling house, office and several warehouses were destroyed. The fire started shortly after noon yesterday and the town was in danger for several hours afterwards.

Women, children and what personal belongings they could gather were rushed seven miles out of the town as the flames spread, and returned to their homes last night. The fire was still smouldering today.

All afternoon flames shot 250 feet in the air, while piles of planks, unburned, were lifted by air currents caused by the intense heat. There were nine lines of railway track between the lumber, and according to officials to-day the fire started on track six, in the centre of the yard. No men were working in that section all day.

Once the fire was found it was too far advanced to save the lumber. Besides the lumber yard blaze, two forest fires, one on each side of the track, also blazed fiercely They were believed started by sparks from the lumber yard fire and to-day forest rangers were still fighting the blazes. On Sunday, a gas engine valued at nearly $10,000 exploded in the lumberyard.

Officials of the company arrived from Toronto by aeroplane to-day. The lumber was owned by Laidlaw Lumber Company, Leake and Company, Reed Brothers and Shepherd and Dunne Lumber Company, all Toronto wholesalers, although it was milled by Austin and Nicholson.

Hepburn Widens Economy Proposals

Premier to Get $10,000, Ministers $8,000 in Future, is Announcement.

HENRY MAY QUIT TO-DAY.

O'Connor as Next Lieutenant-Governor is Pooh-Poohed by Premier-elect.

TORONTO, July 10 (CP)—Despite numerous intimations and much conjecture by political observers, Ontario to-day still awaited official announcement as to when the defeated Conservative Government of Hon. George S. Henry would tender its resignation, and the new Liberal Cabinet under Premier-elect Mitchell F. Hepburn take over office. Both sides have expressed readiness to make the necessary move; but the move still is to be made.

Mr. Hepburn returned to the city yesterday from a two-weeks' holiday at the home of Frank O'Connor on Lake Simcoe, and took the opportunity to announce a reduction of $2,000 in the annual salary of Cabinet Ministers. The cut would reduce the Premier's salary to $10,000 and Ministers' to $8,000.

Other measures of economy are planned, he said, reiterating his assurance all motor cars of Cabinet Ministers would be sold at public auction. He also denied the suggestion of a Toronto newspapers that his host, Mr. O'Connor would be the next Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. "Pooh," said the Premier-elect, adding such a thought never entered his head.

Generally it was expected resignation of the Henry Government would be made within 24 hours, but no official statements are forthcoming from Government spokesmen.

REV. FR. FLEMING IS LAID TO REST

Founder of Roman Catholic Church in Tweed Passes at Oshawa.

IN HIS 81ST YEAR.

TWEED, July 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—The death occurred on Thursday, July 5 of Rev. Father Fleming at Oshawa.

The late Father Fleming, who was eighty years of age, was born at Waterford, Ireland, and received his education there. At the age of twenty-one he was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Clarey of Kingston, who performed the ceremony while visiting in that country. Following his ordination, the late Father Fleming came to Canada and spent a short time at the Kingston Cathedral and then went to the parish of Madoc as a Curate. From Madoc he came to Tweed and founded the present church, which was built in the year 1887 and was dedicated on October 14, 1887 by Bishop Clarey of Kingston.

During his sojourn in this parish the smallpox plague broke out and Father Fleming went among the sick, acting as priest, doctor and undertaker. The strain of his work during this outbreak, finally caused him to weaken and become sick, and forced him to return to Ireland for a year. On his return to Canada he resumed his work in Kemptville and other parishes.

The St. Carthagh's Church was filled to a capacity by those who came to pay their respects to the founder of the church. People from all denominations, old and young and from far points were present.

The body was brought to Tweed from Oshawa on Saturday evening

Differences

LONDON, Ont., July 10.—(C. P.)—To the question of a departmental examination paper: "What is the difference between pioneer days and the present?" a young Londoner (male) answered something like this: "In pioneer days, there were no electric stoves, washing machines, irons or sweepers and women had no time to sit around painting their faces, fixing their hair and worrying about their dresses."

"Ah, a woman hater," said the examiner. He would not say how many marks he gave the candidate.

VICTORY NEAR FOR PARAGUAY

Officers Confident of Ejecting Bolivians From Fort Ballivian.

HEAVY OFFENSIVE ON.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 10 (AP)—Paraguay was jubilant to-day over belief she had clinched a decisive victory in the Chaco war.

If Paraguayan hopes are confirmed it appeared likely the army could eject Bolivia from Fort Ballivian, her principal stronghold in a disputed area, for which the rival forces have been battling since June 15.

A statement of the Ministry of Defence claimed Paraguayan forces had taken the third line of defence of Bolivia before the fort and that the enemy was retreating in disorder toward Argentina.

(A Bolivian communique at La Paz said the Paraguayan offensive was checked effectively after it had pierced only an outer line. One Paraguayan plane, the report said, was shot down Sunday, and three others put to flight.)

Another Paraguayan assault corps was reported here to be advancing toward Guachalla, behind Ballivian, after breaking the Bolivian line in two places in the Canadian strongest or northern sector.

This report fanned Paraguayan hope of quick possession of Fort Ballivian. Sources here said Bolivian occupancy would be untenable unless her forces were quickly rallied.

A Paraguayan offensive with a full force of 40,000 following a barrage of 200 cannon Sunday was the fourth major one since March.

MUNICH, Germany, July 10. — (A.P.).—A secret order was issued to-day to all members of the storm-troop section known as S.A. reserves number one to turn in their arms, which will be stored in depots.

The uncertainty of the political situation here was thrown into sharp relief by the order.

Whether Victor Lutze, new head of the storm troops, was responsible for the order, was not admitted, but presumably he was.

The weapons referred to were described as "state property."

GUNFIRE ADDS SEVENTH VICTIM 'FRISCO STRIKE

Pacific Coast Maritime Dispute Rapidly Nears New Crisis.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SLAIN.

Oakland Labor Council, Representing 32,000, Call For General Walkout.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (A. P.). — Another death and increasing general strike threats in three cities drew the Pacific Coast maritime dispute rapidly toward a new crisis to-day as a Federal Board pleaded for an armistice.

Gunfire added the seventh victim to the death list since the strike started on May 9. Steven S. Watson, 48, a special deputy sheriff, fell fatally wounded in a Seattle business district battle. The six previous victims were strikers or sympathizers.

Watson said several other deputy sheriffs, who have been on dock duty, were attacked allegedly by strikers. The officers' automobile was turned over. Ivan Gill, a union seaman, was released by police after being questioned concerning a report companions of his had precipitated the fight.

Trade unions in Portland and Oakland took definite action toward general strikes while a similar threat hanging over San Francisco spurred the Federal Board to determined efforts to bring a truce.

Shipmen Summoned.

Shipowners have been called to answer questions pertaining to an armistice proposal late to-day, O. K. Cushing, member of the Board, said. The Board conferred last night with the "strike strategy" committee of seven appointed by the San Francisco Central Labor Council.

The Alameda County (Oakland) Central Labor Council, repreeitinb 79 unions with a membership of 32,000, called for a general strike vote last night. All unions were requested to report results of the ballot at "the earliest possible moment."

Portland's Labor Council was authorized by the 105 unions in the city, with a membership of 45,000, to proceed with arrangements for a general strike, Gust Anderson, secretary, said.

FOOD SHORTAGE BRINGS HITLER BACK TO BERLIN

countries regard the June 30 cleansing."

Goebbels was expected to develop the theme that the world, as mirrored in the press, already understands and approves the bloody second Nazi revolution, and the aims of Hitlerites.

His effort follows closely the startling speech of Rudolf Hess, minister without portfolio, who made peace overtures to France, but warned the world Germany would fight "to the last man" against an invasion.

Ammunition for Goebbel's talk doubtlesly will come from a mass ministry clerks have assiduously gathered—favorable ones indicating sympathy with Germany, and adverse ones demonstrating some quarters still do not grasp the often proclaimed Nazi platform of "security, peace and equality."

9 Jews Slain.

The Jewish Telegraphic Agency said at least nine Jews were slain when Hitler crushed a revolt the week-end before last.

Eight Jews were killed in Silesia, the Agency reported, four of them "while attempting to escape," and one in Berlin, although authorities said the latter, a youth, killed himself by jumping from a window at police headquarters.

Public discussion of the Protestant church strife had been forbidden to-day by Wilhelm Frick, Minister of the Interior, who said "only official notices of the Reichbishop are permitted to appear."

A general vacation until August 18 will be taken by the Stahlheim, or Steel Helmet Veterans' organization, under orders of their directors.

Forces at Odds

The semi-military force is at loggerheads with the Nazi Storm Troops, now on July vacation and whose forces are expected to be cut sharply at the end of the month.

Berlin newspapers to-day generally accorded equal prominence to proud reports of a decrease of 47,000 in unemployment last month and the Hess speech, with the world reaction to the latter.

Hitlers' Volkestinhe Beobachter said editorially Germany had given the world a new peace challenge, asserting "the world knows well enough the German people now have a leadership in complete accord with the will of the people and pledged to seek peace."

Newspapers printed dispatches from Paris, London, Rome and Brussels saying the Hess appeal to war veterans for peace was received with the "keenest attention" and sympathy in those capitals.

Lazarus Improving

"Lazarus," famous fox terrier, killed experimentally more than two months ago and revived a few minutes later, is "feeing better." This was the report of his owner, Dr. Robert E. Cornish, youthful chemist formerly of the University of California staff. Lazarus, who has become known to millions since the experiment was first made public, is improving slowly but definitely, Dr. Cornish said. "He can smell food and hear a whistle, and I believe he can see a little because he blinks in the sunlight," he added. "He is not yet able to stand without support. "Another month may bring much improvement. Dr. Robert Cornish is shown above feeding "Lazarus."

More Trout Streams In Northumberland

HASTINGS, July 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — Three more trout streams have been signed up in Northumberland County, according to information given to The Examiner by B. K. Williams, deputy game warden. The signing up of these creeks made it much better for the anglers, as it removes any chance of arguments with farmers whose farms the creeks run through. The new ones signed up are the Hutchinson creek in Brighton Township, Indian creek at Alderville; Massey creek at Morganston. Several more creeks in Brighton Township are being lined up and will be signed in the near future.

Mr. Williams, whose untiring efforts have done much to improve trout fishing in this county, stated that the department had recommended that 70,000 fingerling trout be placed in the following creeks: Sandy flat creek, DeLong's creek at Burnley, Dawson creek at Castleton, and Burley creek. The fishing in the last mentioned creeks is reported good at the present time.

SASKATCHEWAN VOTE IS RECORD

Conservatives Poll 24.1 P.C. of Total, But Fail to Elect Member.

FARMER-LABOR 21.2 P.C.

REGINA, July 10 (C.P.)—Saskatchewan polled a record vote—including the largest third-party total in the 29-year history of the province—according to a Canadian Press survey of complete returns in the general election three weeks ago. The Farmer-Labor group, which had the blessing of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, won 21.2 per cent of the total vote in electing the only five opposition members.

Liberals polled 54 seats in which ballotting occurred. One constituency was deferred. After holding power since 1929 in a co-operative government aided by Progressives and Independents, Conservatives failed to elect a member though their popular vote was 24.1 per cent of the total.

The popular vote in the last three elections follows:

	1925	1929	1934
Liberal	127,547	164,513	198,431
Cons.	45,503	131,701	100,858

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

When you consider that you spend at least one-third of your life in bed, and that one-third has a serious bearing on the remaining two-thirds, no wonder bedding is important in your life. The amount and kind of sleep you get is directly related to your well-being. It is a well known fact that seven or eight hours of deep-refreshing sleep is far more beneficial and necessary than ten or twelve hours spent in fitful slumber due to an uncomfortable bed.

* * * * * * *

A full size bed for each person is the ideal size. If this is impossible because of space shortage, a twin bed requiring a 39-inch mattress is the next best choice. Your bed must not be too hard so as to delay relaxation, nor must it be so soft as to envelope you, thus overheating your body and causing a restless night.

* * * * * * *

Your summer holidays will mean more to you and your family if the bedding in your cottage or camp is just right. Ninety per cent of all mattresses now sold are of innerspring construction and this popularity is justified. For summer use the reversible "two-in-one" mattress, with a one-piece innerspring unit, is recommended. It is called "two in one" because one side is upholstered with hair, offering the advantage of a cool, firm bed, and the other side padded with felt is a softer, more giving support, but warmer next to the body. This type of innerspring mattress is less expensive than the type known as the multiple unit (many smaller springs each encased in a muslin pocket and then tied together making a very resilient mattress) and will serve you very well.

* * * * * * *

Kapok is the second choice because it is within the budget of all. A good kapok mattress will last three seasons, and with care maybe longer. Kapok is a soft floss-like substance that grows, and is not manufactured as so many believe. Kapok is used for asthma patients. Kapok is non-absorbent, and because it is so impervious to moisture, is excelent for camps by the seashore or in the woods.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

There are several different forms of irritation or poisoning from the sting of insects. With most of them, the local pain, swelling and tenderness is due to the injection of formic acid.

A secondary form of poisoning really is due to foreign protein shock. This happens with bees and wasps only when there are a great many stings. The same is true of red ant bites.

In the bite of poisonous spiders, the formic acid is not usually present, and frequently the bite is no more painful than a pin-prick, either at the time or afterwards. The poison of the black widow spider, described yesterday, produces grave constitutional symptoms but no local irritation.

Tarantulas do not secrete any definite poison, and the result of a tarantula bite is entirely local, so it is probably due to formic acid. It produces a small white, raised, swollen area, about an inch in diameter, with a smarting and stinging sensation. During the years I served in the army I saw many tarantula bites, and never saw a person constitutionally sick, nor did I ever see a person who did not recover.

The same may be said of scorpions. The bite results entirely in a local raised, white spot.

All of these formic acid irritations are treated best with equal parts of spirits of ammonia and water, applied as a wet dressing.

Still another form of irritation from insects comes from the mere touch of parts of its body on the skin. There are some caterpillars with a type of hair which, on being brushed against the skin, liberates a poison which gives rise to a skin eruption. The larva of the browntail moth is the most prominent offender of this kind in this country.

Some insects excrete a poisonous principle through the pores of their bodies. In this category comes the so-called blister beetle or Spanish fly. The excretion from the Spanish fly is called "cantharidin", and formerly was used as a substance to produce blisters for counter-irritation in medical treatment.

There is a sort of beetle in the West Indies which excretes an oily substance from glands situated between the second and third pairs of legs. When this insect gets underneath the clothes and walks across the skin, this oily substance is deposited and causes a burning sensation with quite a violent dermatitis. It is possible that there are a great many other insects which do the same thing, and in sensitive individuals produce even more violent symptoms.

MARMORA CHURCH SPONSORS SOCIAL

United Gathering at Tipperary House, Crow Lake, Proves Success.

MARMORA, July 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—A very pleasing and successful lawn social was held on the grounds of Tipperary House, Crow Lake, on Monday evening under auspices of St. Andrew's United Church. For the conventience of those who wished to spend the whole evening at the lake, refreshments were served at the supper hour. A refreshment booth also gave excellent service throughout the evening.

A delightful program included selections by Marmora Community Band, under direction of Bandmaster G. Woodhouse; solos by J. F. Baker and Jack Grant; a pianoforte solo by Miss Flora Sanderson; a duet by Messrs. Baker and Grant; a reading by Mrs. W. C. Spry and step dancing by Messrs. T. Hannah, S. Henry and J. F. Baker. A fish pond, games and other attractions completed the bill.

NOT SO FUNNY

Old Lady Who Hid Her $15,000,000 Fortune In Odd Places Leaves Executor Wild Tangle

SEATTLE, July 10 (C.P.). — The eccentric old lady who stole soap from hotel bathrooms and wrapped it in $1,000 bills for safekeeping started the administrator of the estate of Sarah E. Smith-Scollard to-day on a wild chase that will lead him across the United States and Canada in search of missing millions.

Wilmon Tucker, Seattle attorney, was appointed administrator when Mrs. Smith-Scollard's peculiar will was admitted to probate. She left $1.00 to her sister, Mrs. Margaret Greeley Fitzpatrick, of Oakland, and $1.00 to her divorced husband, F. E. Scollard, believed to be in Canada.

The remoinder of the estate goes to the "legal heirs." Denton G. Byrdrick, Seattle, former Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives, said the title "legal heirs" devolves upon Mrs. Fitzpatrick, and then upon her children.

Nobody knows the present value of her estate. A woman who would hide $500,000 in a clock, wear a 10-carat diamond on a camping trip, and carry $250,000 worth of jewels around town in a handbag might have done anything, investigators said, with the fortune once estimated at $15,000,000.

Counsel for the heirs, intimating large sums would be unearthed within a few days, said their search would take them into banks of Canada, Virginia, Iowa, Kansas, and through Oregon and Washington.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

What do You Think?

I am asked what I think of leading the second highest honor from two or more in sequence, to show one higher honor held. Thus leading: the kind from ace-king-queen or ace-king; the queen from king-queen-jack or king-queen, the jack from queen-jack-10 or queen-jack, the 10 from jack-10-9 or jack-10.

What does a smart man or woman think of a milliner pointing a plume up, instead of down, or a tailor shifting from wide top and narrow bottom trousers, to pinched waist and wide bottoms? Evidently the milliner and tailor hope to increase sales, by having customers discard what they have for what is offered.

As evidently the lecturer, writer or teacher, who attempts to substitute a strange name of a bid or play for a coined name, or who suggests abandoning a sound established custom for a changed procedure—no better and perhaps not as good—hopes to gain renown and revenue from novices who want to learn more about the novelty.

We have just commenced to scratch the surface of what contract bridge has to offer. With 54 octillions of different ways that pack may be divided among four players, not a soul knows even a fraction of what he might learn, by working at the game. The writer of the inquiry does not state whether the proposed method of leading from honors is her own idea, one gathered from some old book (about once in so often nearly every established custom is the subject for a suggested alteration) or one offered seriously, or otherwise, by another player.

Millions of players have for generations led the top of a sequence of honors. The ace is led from ace-king, doubleton, to show no more of the suit, but otherwise the king is led, from ace-king-queen, ace-king-X and from king-queen-X, to show the ace, or queen, or both. Where the ace-king are held, the leader of the opening lead holds command of the suit. His next lead shows that he seeks a ruff, if the ace and king are led in downward order. If the king and ace are led in ascending order, he seeks no ruff.

When an honor is led from the top of a lower sequence, the lead is held only when partner holds the higher missing honor or honors, and the situation is made clear to all at the table.

A player will win the same number of tricks with ace-king-queen-jack, whether he leads one honor or another. Both consideration for partner and efficiency urge that the situation be made clear to partner, who may wish to know the number of discards he may obtain, in case he is short of the suit led. The established custom is to lead the king. That holding the trick usually indicates clearly enough that the ace is held. Having led in a manner to show the number of winners held, bottom card of the sequence, to show the number of winners held. As there can be no gain in changing the old method of leading honors, why ask players to waste time learning it? Give players something useful to learn.

BE BEAUTIFUL

His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, whose capacity for falling off horses seems unlimited, always takes excellent care of his hands. The prince has strong, capable hands, yet they are also smooth and well-groomed. And a good hand brush is one implement that he always insists upon having amongst his toilet articles. Indeed, just the other day a friend wrote that she'd seen him in a London shop purchasing one of those new roly-poly hand brushes.

The new type of hand brush that I'm talking about certainly is a delightful innovation. Its back is made of polished satinwood, and is like a round ball that fits into the palm of the hand. When you set it down, it rolls automatically onto its side, allowing the bristles to drain properly. And that certainly is an advantage for careless gals who do not seem to realize that improper draining rots the bristles of the average hand brush, and ruins it.

A well-made hand brush really is something that no woman should be without. For soft, smooth hands are actual necessities in this day of perfect grooming. And careful cleansing with a good hand brush constitutes one of the most effective ways of acquiring such hands.

However, bleaching treatments are also necessary to keep the hands a clear, lily-white hue. And girls so often neglect this step in hand beautification. They expend plenty of time in the careful bleaching of their faces. But their poor paddies become dark and discolored through neglect.

For the forgetful lass, however, an excellent soap can be made that not only cleanses the hands, but bleaches them as well. To make this soap, place a full wine-glass of eau de cologne and one of fresh, strained lemon juice in a small pan. Add to this a pound of white castile soap that has been scraped into fine shavings. Then mix the ingredients over a slow heat until all the soap has been dissolved. When the soap is all in liquid form, pour the mixture into a mold of some sort and allow it to harden. You'll find that this soap will not only cleanse your hands, but will also help to keep them soft, smooth and white.

WARKWORTH COUPLE OBSERVE THEIR FIFTIETH WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson Still Enjoy Best of Health.

WED AT MANSE.

WARKWORTH, July 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, highly-respected residents of this village are on Wednesday observing the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were married July 10, 1884, at the Presbyterian Manse by the late Rev. Donald Sutherland. The witnesses were Eleanor Angus, now Mrs. T. A. Thompson of Cornach, Sask., sister of the bride, and Andrew Thompson of this village, brother of the groom. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the bride's home in Dartford.

Mr. Thompson, who is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Thompson, was born in Percy Township, August 13, 1859, where he has lived all his life, with the exception of one year which was spent in Belleville after his marriage, where he learned a trade as a baker with his brother, Jason Thompson. For a few years he worked at this trade with another brother, Andrew Thompson, and for the past 25 years has carried on a successful baking business. Before learning his trade he worked as a miller for the late William Bensley. Mr. Thompson is a member of the local Orange Lodge and has always been a staunch supporter of the Conservative party.

Mrs. Thompson, who before her marrige was May Angus, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Angus, Dartford, was born January 14, 1858.

From this union there were four sons and one daughter, namely: Claude of Cobourg, Bruce of Toronto; Donald, Neil and Mrs. O. E. Kelly, Warkworth; Patricia Kelly is their only grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who are members of the United Church, take a keen interest in all its activities. They are in their usual health and will receive best wishes from many friends.

Household Hints

MENU HINTS.

LUNCHEON

Baked Macaroni and Asparagus
Fruit Salad Devil's Food Cake
Coffee or Tea

This is a very simple luncheon menu, and you may commence it by serving tomato or pineapple juice cocktail.

Today's Recipes

Baked Macaroni and Asparagus.—Cook one cup broken macaroni. Make a cream sauce of four tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour and two and one-fourth cups milk. Add three-fourths cup grated cheese, salt and pepper. When cheese is melted, remove from heat and slowly add three ablespoons Worcestershire sauce and one-half cup mayonnaise. Arrange alternate layers of macaroni and freshly cooked asparagus in a casserole for ramekins, cover with sauce and buttered crumbs. Bake slowly until brown.

Moist Devil's Food Cake.—One cup brown sugar, packed; one-half cup shortening, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon salt, one egg yolk, one-half cup cold coffee, two cups sifted flour. Cream sugar and shortening, add egg, flour and salt and coffee. Mix thoroughly the following and add: Four tablespoons cocoa, one teaspoon soda, one-half cup warm coffee. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes in two layers. Use the egg white in any preferred frosting.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Wash Spinach

Always wash asparagus and spinach thoroughly before cooking. One of the reasons spinach has come in for so much personal dislike in spite of its official good standing is that it often is gritty and unpleasant to eat. Decorate the spinach, too, with slices of hard-boiled egg, and cream it during its final moments on the stove.

Cofjee Punch

Mix one cup strong coffee, one cup orange juice and two No. 2 cans grapefruit (use the juice only), and chill. Just before serving add one quart gingerale and two cups heavy cream if desired. It may be omitted. Makes not quite three quarts.

AGAINST RESTAURANT SALE.

While, of course, The Examiner appreciates the kindly references to itself, the resolutions passed by the congregations of three city churches yesterday approving of our opposition to the granting of restaurant beer and wine licenses in Peterborough are especially welcome because of the evidence they give of the strength of public opinion here against any suggestion of restaurant sale of intoxicants.

The campaign that we have been conducting is one that no community newspaper worthy of the name could have evaded; it is plainly the duty of the press to give expression to the sentiment of the district it serves upon matters of importance, and we certainly had no intention of neglecting that duty and of sitting idly by while plans were under way to impose upon this city a form of beer business that not five per cent. of the people here favor.

These congregational resolutions will add appreciably to the force and strength of Peterborough's protest against restaurant beer licenses, and it is to be hoped that copies of these motions will be promptly despatched to Premier-elect Hepburn, to his liquor control commissioner, E. G. Odette, ex-M.P., and to Mr. Hawthorne, who represents the new administration in its local relations.

We are certain that if this is done there is little danger of any local restaurant being given a license to sell intoxicants, because the new administration has already expressed a desire to meet local sentiment in this matter of relaxations in the present liquor laws.

SAVING THE CHILDREN.

Past President Dr. A. Moir reported to the Rotary Club yesterday that as a result of the publicity attendant upon the annual carnival, renewed interest had been created in the club's work on behalf of crippled children and a dozen new cases had been reported since the carnival.

If there are other crippled children in the city and district whose cases have not been brought to the attention of the Rotary Club, The Examiner would suggest to the parents or to anybody else familiar with the facts that they get into touch with Rotarians in order that treatment may be furnished if it should be found that these children can be effectively dealt with.

The importance of making use of the facilities provided by the Rotary Club has been demonstrated recently by an incident revealed by Dr. Moir yesterday in which a young girl sent in from the northern part of the county for treatment was discovered to be suffering from incipient tuberculosis of the lungs, and a check-up revealed the fact that the child's whole family are victims of the disease.

As a result treatment is being furnished to all members of the family, and a cure in these cases is confidently looked for, whereas had it not been for the Rotary campaign it is unlikely that this situation would have been uncovered in time to have saved the lives of the members of this family.

The Rotary crippled children's work is at the service of the whole community, and every case where assistance is required should be reported promptly.

TAKING CHANCES.

Of the numerous drowning accidents reported over the week-end the majority concerned persons who could not swim and who in spite of that fact ventured out in boats or bathed in dangerous places.

Last year there were 993 drowning accidents in Canada, and most of those who lost their lives were non-swimmers, a condition that tragically stresses the desirability of learning the art or else remaining away from aquatic hazards.

The swimmers who were drowned, for the most part, were victims because they ignored safety first principles; that is they went into the water too soon after meals or tried to swim distances beyond their strength or paid no attention to dangerous conditions.

It does not pay to take chances—even if you are a proficient swimmer.

In this connection the Ottawa Journal calls attention to the statement once made by John Weismuller, one of the greatest swimmers of all time, to the effect that he would no more think of swimming a half mile from the shore without nearby aid than he would think of committing suicide.

Yet hundreds of bathers not in the same class as this champion take such risks, and some of them pay the penalty for their foolishness.

Both swimmers and non-swimmers should find in the heavy list of drowning accidents a plain warning to be careful at all times; this toll of nearly a thousand Canadian lives every summer is too big a price to pay for lack of care.

CONTINUED EXPANSION.

Statistical evidence as to the steady improvement in conditions in the Dominion is multiplying, and the latest authority is the Alexander Hamilton Institute's index of trade activity, which shows a new peak for the recovery movement in May and the highest point reached since August of 1931.

The May index was 72.3, an increase of 5.2 per cent. over the previous month and 40.7 per cent. over May a year ago, while the gain over the depression's low in April, 1933, amounted to 51.9 per cent.

Still more gratifying, the movement upward is continuing.

Preliminary figures indicate a further rise in general business in June as shown by the fact that car loadings in that month averaged 44,116 weekly, as compared with 42,899 in May.

Building contracts awarded showed a sharp seasonal gain in May totalling $17,383,000 as against $11,469,000 in the previous month and only $6,514,000 a year ago. The decrease of 2,560 tons in the April steel output from the previous month was partly erased in May when the output rose 1,074 tons to 71,437 tons. A year ago, the output was 23,126 tons. Rising for the sixth consecutive month, automobile production in May amounted to 20,161 cars, over double the output of a year ago. Newsprint production in May totalled 242,539 tons, an increase of 12.0 per cent. over April and 41.2 per cent. over May last year. Foreign trade was favorable in May with seasonal increases in both imports and exports. Exports were valued at $37,900,000 as compared with $31,562,000 in the previous month, while imports rose to $32,887,000 from $34,815,000. The favorable balance of $5,013,000 in foreign trade in May compared with an unfavorable balance of $3,233,000 in the previous month.

Total employment at the beginning of June reflected the sharp expansion in industrial expansion. The increase of 5.0 per cent. over the previous month was the greatest increase reported in any month since June 1, 1930.

OTTAWA'S BAD HABIT.

After September 1st lottery prize winnings of over $50 will be subject to confiscation by the Dominion Government. Thus the "common informer" will no longer be able to snatch the prizes away from the "lucky" ticket holders. While the change in the regulation has some merit due to the fact that it diverts the winnings to the federal treasury instead of to the pockets of those who might be termed "sneaks," the manner in which the bill was rushed through in the dying moments of the session is open to criticism.

Moreover, it seems rather strange that the Senate passed the bill with very little opposition when the Red Chamber a few weeks previously saw fit to favor a bill which would have legalized sweepstakes in Canada for hospital purposes. Perhaps the advocates of sweepstakes were on their way home when the bill to confiscate lottery winnings over $50 came before the Senate for consideration.

A regrettable feature of Ottawa tactics is the manner in which time is wasted early in the session, and then at the last moment there is a rush and a scramble to get away while important measures are before the House.

When a bill containing several important changes in the Criminal Code reached the Senate as the curtain was being rung down, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Government leader in the Senate, protested that so little time was left for the consideration of such an important measure. Mr. Meighen was quite right in launching his objection. Some day, perhaps, we may have more action and less talk immediately after the members assemble at Ottawa to deal with the country's business.—Kitchener News-Record.

PAYMENT "IN KIND."

Great Britain has rejected the United States proposition that part of her war debt to Washington be "paid in kind"—in goods. The circumstances between the two countries being what they are, rejection was inevitable. Payment "in kind," as proposed, simply wouldn't work.

Just why it wouldn't work may be seen by anybody following a "payment in kind" transaction through its course. Britain's purchases from the United States are greater than United States purchases from Britain. That means that every dollar the United States pays Britain for rubber is needed by Britain to pay the United States for cotton. The Washington proposition was that the United States accept 180 million dollars worth of rubber as payment on war debt. The British Government would take pounds sterling from its treasury and buy the rubber from British producers. The rubber would be shipped to the United States. The United States Government would sell it to American tire manufacturers for dollars. The dollars, deposited in the United States treasury, would reduce the amount of the British war debt.

But the British rubber man would be paid in pounds. He would get no dollars at all. He could not buy cotton with pounds. They would have to be exchanged for dollars, which is the simple origin of the exchange market.

Had the rubber been purchased by American manufacturers in the ordinary channels of trade, the exchange would have been created. The British exporter of rubber would have acquired 180 millions in dollar credits in New York. In actual practice, instead of buying cotton himself, he undoubtedly would have sold his dollar credits to a Manchester spinner. That does not affect the principle.

The cold fact is that unless exchange is created, international trade must stop. Debt payment in kind gets down to the simple essential that the United States would have to reduce her exports by something closely approximating the exact value of the imports she accepted on war debt account. That, remembering the position of the United States farm states, is hardly possible.

This is what the British had in mind when they said in last week's note:

"In fact, the economic objections to cash payments would apply with equal force to deliveries in kind, unless those deliveries were to consist of indigenous products of the debtor country (excluding re-exports), and unless they were to be accepted by the creditor country and consumed by it in addition to the goods taken from the debtor country in the normal course of trade. If the United Kingdom were not to receive payment for goods exported on commercial account, her exchange resources available to purchase cotton and other goods from America would be still further diminished.

"Therefore, while not unwilling to give further consideration to possibilities in this direction, His Majesty's Government do not at present see any method of putting such a plan into practice which would be likely to commend itself to the Government of the United States of America."—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Henry Government would be well advised not to stay upon the order of its going. It is time for the new administration to take hold.

The Radio Commission and union Canadian musicians are still out of harmony, but unfortunately the mix-up does not keep crooners off the air.

The depression is all over so far as British tennis is concerned, and Miss Dorothy Round and Fred Perry are national figures.

Reviewing the legislation passed at the recent session of Parliament, that well-known United States publication, Business Week, declares that "Canada is to have its 'new deal,' but without that label and with little fanfare."

No fewer than 5,114 persons lost their lives in Canada last year in accidents, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. The saddest part is that most of these mishaps could have been averted with ordinary care.

A WOMAN'S POSITION

To the Editor of The Examiner,
Sir:

Now that the lawsuit is no longer pending it would be a pity to let this opportunity pass of noting that when a competent single woman, twenty-one years of age, goes out with a married man she has an object. In this case it proved to be a claim of $25,000.00. Had such an action triumphed it would sooner or later have led to women being kept out of such vehicles altogether and then more so. A woman of age is either responsible for her actions or she is not and the sooner that question was settled the better.

HUSBANDS ON THE LEASH.

Tom had a fine, healthy police dog, German Shepherd. And because Tom lived in town and his yard was small, that dog didn't get enough exercise. He was nervous, excited, tense. Always tied up and never getting enough exercise except a stroll late at night or Sunday morning, his temper was uncertain and once he knocked the cook down and put his front paws on her and roared for Tom to come and see what he had.

Tom noticed that if he took Hans out for a walk and kept him on a leash, he ran Tom ragged, driving ahead, almost running, almost desperately eager for exercise and disobedient to every command, picking fights with other dogs and generally making a nuisance of himself. . . . But if he took off the leash, Hans was quite another dog. He ran around and sniffed the landscape, but he'd come to heel at a quiet command and was almost no trouble at all. A perfect gentleman, sensible, happy dependable.

Some wives keep husbands on leashes, and it doesn't work very well. The husband knows he is on leash, because in many cases the wife proudly displays it and tells everybody about it. . . . She usually has some story about a dear sweet woman who trusted her husband too far and he ran wild and she lost him and now he's married again and she's all alone in her old age. . . . And that's not going to happen to her. So she keeps him on a nice strong leash. It isn't a visible one. But it may not even be made of words. It may consist merely of unspoken thoughts. But the husband knows it is there and no matter what he may say he strains against it. He's like Hans, who was a difficult dog while the leash was on him but behaved so nicely when Tom tursted him to run free on Sunday morning.

And the husband on the leash is almost always that fellow who makes cynical remarks about wives and their ways and what they do to a man. He doesn't mention himself, but you know whom he has in mind. He means himself and he means HIS wife and everybody knows his thoughts. . . . And if he happens to break loose his wife says to herself that she should have had a STRONGER leash, but you very well know that she shouldn't have had any leash at all.

A Thought

FLATTERY

"The habit of flattering your friends and acquaintances is pernicious to your own character. It will injure yourself more than others. This is a very different thing from bestowing that encouragement upon your friend in private which he needs for the purpose of calling forth praiseworthy efforts.—Todd.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

GERMANY

DR. Hanfstaengl is the head of the foreign section of the Nazi Press Department. The foreign section of Nazi Press has been exalted into a Department. The rigid control of the press both domestic and foreign is essential to the purposes of the Nazi Government. No democratic country in the world is so stringent in its policy. In Great Britain and in the United States unless a journalist wilfully and maliciously misrepresents he is at liberty to write all he can establish as facts. Both of these nations are open sesames for foreign journalists.

Dr. Hanfstaengel has issued a statement on the status and privileges and duties of foreign newspaper correspondents who visit Germany. Such correspondents are guests, he says, with special privileges. They are under obligation as reporters of political events to be scrupulously honest. His statement is illustrated. The event is a dinner party. To be in good form manners are desirable. The host must be treated with respect. To abuse hospitality would be rude and boorish. To go through all the rooms sniffing around, opening drawers, reading letters, picking up servants' gossip, if caught in the act, or even suspicioned, would be to get kicked out. Two London correspondents were accused of such impropriety. They were unceremoniously expelled.

Dr. Hanfstaengl has suggested to the nations that there ought to be an international agreement establishing privileges and duties of foreign correspondents. This suggestion has been interpreted as meaning that Hitler purposes added restrictions on foreign journalists.

JAPAN.

ONE shot fired in Albania started the Great War. A lost Vice-Consul in China moved Japaneses battle ships into the waters off Nanking. Mr. Kuramoto had been the active Consul at Nanking for some years. He was a hard worker. Such men in responsible positions are liable to over tension. The human nervous system can be overtaxed. Grief, or trouble, or fear, or too heavy a responsibility often breaks the brittle brain thread. The mind then goes off balance. Trouble of some kind had unbalanced the mind of Kuramoto. He wandered away one day and nobody knew where. The Chinese police found him Wednesday, June the 12th, among the Ming tombs at Nanking.

The Japanese had charged the Chinese with his murder. This the Chinese officials resented. A thorough going search was promised. In the meantime the Japanese government took action. Ships were sent in hot haste to Nanking with sealed orders. The Japs meant business. They welcomed the opportunity to fight. At heart they hoped that Kuramoto had been murdered. They are eagerly watching for some development that will lead to war with China. The murder of an official would be to Japan in its present state of mind ample justification to begin action against China and to complete its purpose to annex all of China's eastern coast.

When found Kuramoto said, "I regret I drank water for I had made up my mind to die." To a reporter he related that he had been sleeping in different places each night. He was so full of fear that he built a rock shelter several times with his own hands. The elite in Japan despise work.

ITALY

THE No-Frontier News Service has some inside news with which to regale the world outside of Italy. One item appearing in its columns started a thorough going investigation of certain claims Fascist Mussolini has made. He has heralded to the world the success of Fascism. To his own people he has given greatly exaggerated and graphic reports, on state occasions. Facts have been established that confute his contentions. The No-Frontier News Service asserts that there has been a precipitous trend downward in Italian economic conditions since the inception of Fascism.

Here are some of the findings which have been established as trustworthy by several investigators. The monthly average of bankuptcies in 1922, the year preceding Fascist rule was 321. Six years after the coming of Italian Fascism, that is in 1926, the number was 970. Ten years after Fascism had been inaugurated as the economic policy of Italy the bank failures were 2,003. In 1931 the total number of bankruptcies was 1,896. Then in 1933 the number had mounted to 21,308.

Let us turn from bank troubles to wages. Wages paid today in Italy are below the rates paid in 1921 from 35 to 50 per cent. This slump cannot be attributed to world conditions. Fascism was to counteract any unfavorable world effect on Italian wages and other Italian economice conditions. Italian wages have declined ever since the Fascists marched on Rome.

Britain under a democratic form of government has paid better wages to her workers. True there has been some decline. Between 1928 and 1933 Italian wages dropped 14 per cent. British wages rose 15 per cent.

The public debt of Italy amounts to 98,029,000,000 lire. This debt is one-fourth of the entire wealth of the nation. As a consequence not to be avoided in any way taxation has increased 50 per cent.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

On this date in 1904—thirty years ago—the newspapers reported that the previous day a contract had been signed at Ottawa for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. It was signed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier for the Dominion of Canada and by Charles M. Hays for the Grand Trunk Railway Company. The idea of western expansion for the pioneer railway was not news; indeed it had been simmering ever since the Canadian Pacific had proven a success, but no definite action was taken until 1902 when it was announced that the Grand Trunk proposed building from North Bay to the Pacific Coast.

When the company applied for government assistance opposition arose chiefly because it failed to open up the undeveloped country in northern Ontario and Quebec. The government proposed an alternative scheme for a line from Moncton to the Pacific, running through the heart of New Brunswick and opening up the back country of Quebec and Ontario. Eventually it was agreed that the government would build the section from Moncton to Winnipeg (the National Transcontinental) and lease it to the Grand Trunk, while the latter would build and operate the western section with a government guarantee.

The proposals were strongly opposed by the Conservative party, Mr. Robert Borden and his followers contending that the scheme was impractical, unfair to the Canadian Pacific and generally against the public welfare; but Laurier insisted, his majority was complaisant and the bill went through. Sir Wilfrid went to the country on the issue was overwhelmingly endorsed—the proposed public expenditure of many millions was the bait, construction was pushed on regardless of expense and the enterprise was completed just about a year after the war broke and the financial crisis began. The Grand Trunk Pacific was unable to carry on; the Grand Trunk was unable to fulfil its guarantee, with the result that both railways were bankrupt and had to be taken over by the Dominion, thus fulfilling just what Sir Robert Borden had predicted in 1904. Had his counsel prevailed we would not have had our present railway load of debt and accumulated interest to pay day by day.

Dog Attended Central School Regularly For Past Five Years—Reports Punctually

Here's a believe-it-or-not item which Peterborough people can claim for their own. With the special permission of the Public School Inspector, a dog in this city has been attending school regularly for the past five years.

The dog is a collie by the name of Brandy owned by the G. A. Macdonald family on London street. Central School is the school he has been attending. With a regularity which at times has compared with that of the most diligent pupils, he has reported punctually for both morning and afternoon classes since 1929. He enters and leaves the class room on his own accord with the sounding of the commencement and dismissal bells just as his "classmates" do.

True, he doesn't pay as much attention to his teachers as he should for he generally chooses a quiet spot at the back of the room he is in and sleeps while the others are learning. But he is never too deep in his sleep to hear the dismissal bell. He is one of the first to get on his feet and await the formation of the marching-out line.

Does Brandy report at the school on Saturday? No sir! He's a wist dog. He knows that there's no school on Saturday or Sunday as well as anybody does. On Saturday he frequently goes to Nicholl's Oval or other spots where his class-mates are apt to be enjoying themselves and joins in the fun. But once in a while he does get fooled. Last Fall when Normal School students were conducting classes at the school, Principal Whightman rang special bells at the end of each study period for their convenience. When the first of these bells sounded Brandy got up and walked out, thinking it was a dismissal bell. Once outside he soon didscovered his error and returned very sheepishly to his room.

When Inspector Mowat first heard of the dog's attendance at the school, he ordered him kept out. He learned later, however, that the youngsters at the school had become quite found of Brandy and that he caused no trouble so he revoked the order.

The class room most friquently favoured by Brandy is that over which Principal Wightman presides. How long he will continue at Central before he feels justified in promoting himself to the Collegiate, nobody knows. Unfortunately he is becoming an old dog and his age has resulted in a certain irregularity in his attendance during the past year.

Now that school is out for the summer, Brandy is, of course, taking it easy until September.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ESTEVAN, SASK.

Here is another case in which the Canadian Pacific Railway exercised some ingenuity in choosing the name for a town.

Many have harbored the thought that the name is of Spanish origin, but as a simple fact it was coined from the names of two distinguished men prominently identified with the early history of the company. They were George Stephen and William C. Van Horne.

The ingenious person responsible for this choice of a name took the last letter in the word George, the first three letters in the word forming the front handle of Van Horne and made Estevan out of it.

The town is noted as the centre of a rich coal deposit which is mined practically on top of the ground.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 88c to 91c; oats, 38c to 40c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 68c to 72c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Staggered by an almost record-breaking increase of the United States wheat visible supply, wheat values reeled heavily downward yesterday.

The increase of stocks of domestic wheat in sight was 8,215,000 bushels the past week, against only 948,000 bushels increase at this time last year. Lowest prices of the day and since May 16 were current at the last.

Wheat closed shaky, 1¼c to 2¼c under Saturday's finish, corn 1⅛c to 1⅝c down, oats 1⅛c off to 1¼c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 10.—Egg prices declined slightly, while cheese prices were firmer on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday.

Graded shipments of Montreal and Ontario eggs brought 20c dozen for A-large, 19c for A-medium, 19c for B, and 18c for C. Receipts were 1,193 cases.

On the cheese market prices were ¼c a pound better. Ontario colored cheese sold for 10⅝c to 10¾c a pound, while Quebec cheese commanded 10c to 10¼c a pound. Arrivals were 427 boxes.

Butter was unchanged in price, fresh No. 1 being quoted at 19c to 19½c a pound in car lots or less, while small lots to retailers brought 20c to 21c a pound for solids and 21c to 22c a pound for profits. Receipts totalled 543 boxes.

The potato market was steady, New Brunswick Mountains being 80c to 85c per 80-pound bag. Quebec whites 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains $1.00 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 10. — Support from an unidentified interest entered the market to prevent greater declines as wheat futures weakened by selling from Chicago, reacted to heavy losses in that market, and closed ½c to ⅝c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

Trading volume here, however, was light, and the pit witnessed many dull moments. July future traded narrowly to close at 78¾c, October 77½c, and December 78¾c to 78⅝c.

Support imparted by export sales of 300,000 bushels of wheat and buying from seaboard houses in the early trading soon petered out. Values traded at levels below the previous close for most of the session.

Cash grain tradiig was slow and offerings restricted. Spreads finished unchanged. Activity in coarse grain futures also was at a low ebb, with values easier in sympathy with wheat.

MORE STRENGTH IN INDUSTRIALS

Increased Activity Seen in the Nickel and Massey Harris Issues.

ON TORONTO MARKET.

TORONTO, July 10 (CP).—Much improved in volume but little changed in the price level, the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange showed more strength than weakness today. Some of the distillery shares and a majority of the oil, steel and utility stocks were on the up side at the close. Business was heavy in the oils, the distillery group as well as nickel and Massey Harris.

GOLD ISSUES LEAD TRADING

Noranda is Prominent in Base Metal Activity—Silvers Sell Higher.

TORONTO, July 10 (CP).—The mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange, led by the gold group, livened up this afternoon and moved ahead on heavy volume. Base metal issues, particularly Noranda, was strong and the silver shares sold higher with volume small except in Eldorado. The oil group was quiet.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Engeles & Co.—"We believe a period of accumulation will be recorded.

Uhlmann.—"An advance is clearly indicated."

New York, N.Y., July 10:

There is no hint in the market's action that any quantity of stock is pressing for sale and there are more suggestions of scarcity of offerings than there are offerings. In that case, the market is in a position to open up one of these mornings and to advance quickly to higher levels. A creeping trend in the direction of trade expansion for the fall will be represented by a creeping market. I believe there is some discriminating buying making its appearance from Europe and especially from London. Not only is there a lack of incentive to buy continental securities now on account of political uncertainties, but if European capital believes that there are larger possibilities in American equities than any where else in the world, the money will flow here. Tape indications are of scanty supply. In American Sugar, ACD, K, T, Commercial Investment Trust there was quiet buying all day in Atchison and the tobaccos. Oils showed lack of pressure.

EDWIN HAMBLIN GIVEN DAMAGES

Judge Ruddy Enjoins George Forbes Against Using Lane in Dummer.

Edwin Hamblin of Dummer Township was awarded $50 and costs in a damage action for trespass against George Forbes by Judge Robert Ruddy here this morning.

The judgment included an injunction restraining Mr. Forbes from use of a lane leading toward his home through the plaintiff's property in the fifth concession of the township.

F. D. Kerr, K.S., was counsel for Mr. Hamblin, and Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., represented the defendant.

Mr. Hamblin's complaint was to the effect that Mr. Forbes had repeatedly refused to put up the bars at the entrance to the lane, and thereby let the plaintiff's cattle wander out on to the road. Sometimes Mr. Hamblin had to cut new rails to replace the bars that had been removed with other stone obstructions. Three times this week, plaintiff said, he had found the bars down. Mr. Hamblin said he had visited Mr. Forbes at his home near White Lake, but could get no satisfaction by that means.

G. Stuart Hamblin, some of the plaintiff, testified that Forbes had told him he had a right to an open road through the lane, and that he would not put up the bars. Other witnesses were W. H. Bell and Mrs. Harriet Dunford, who supported the plaintiff's case.

No evidence was offered by the defense, and after argument by Mr. Kerr and Mr. Langley, Judge Ruddy said that there was no doubt Mr. Hamblin had been annoyed and interefered with in the enjoyment of his property. His Honor found that there had been trespass many times by the defendant.

The plaintiff had asked for $200 damages, but Judge Ruddy said he believed Mr. Hamblin was guessing at most of that amount.

"I think I can guess as well as he can." His Honor remarked in assessing the damages at $50.

Arithmetic Question Not Confusing To Entrance Pupils In Peterborough

No confusion over the High School entrance arithmetic examination was experienced by entrance candidates writing in this city, Public School Inspector A. Mowat said to-day, commenting on a report from Ottawa that two answers were being accepted as correct for one of the questions.

"I grant you that the question might have been worded more clearly," he said. "However, the teacher who marked the arithmetic papers reports that all local candidates followed the same method in answering it. Judging from the marks there could have been little confusion."

The question concerned the daily attendance of five boys at school. Mr. Mowat states that local pupils followed the procedure of adding up the number of days attended by each boy and dividing by five, getting 18.8 as the answer. Interpreting the question in a different way, ten percent of the students writing in Ottawa are said to have arrived at the answer 4.2.

The entrance papers are set by the Ontario Department of Education but are graded by the local Entrance Board.

sliable east end doctors were called. In addition ,the private cars of the workmen were quickly filled with injured, the exact number of whom it was impossible to estimate for some time.

Walter Beattie, druggist, whose store faces the building, declared the accident happened with little warning. "There was simply a roar as the building partly collapsed, and then you couldn't see a thing for dust and flying timbers and stone. The alarm was given quickly, and within a few minutes doctors and ambulances rushed from all directions. Much of the east end fire-fighting apparatus was also called out to help with the rescue work. Then the procession started. Stretchers carried mei, covered with dust, from the ruins. You couldn't tell how badly they were hurt because they were so covered with dirt. Everybody in the neighborhood stood by to lend a hand."

According to Mr. Beattie, there was considerable confusion for a time, as workers helped their "buddies" from the wreckage and promptly rushed them away in their own automobiles. It was practically impossible, he said, to tell how badly some of the men were injured.

Successful Dinghy Races At Chemong

B. D. Hall and Pat Hall crossed the finish line for a victory in the first official sailing race of the season as the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club met at Chemong on Sunday. Five dinghies covered the course.

Otto Glidden and George Summerville, in a sloop-rigged dinghy, finished in second place, with John Weddell and Ed. Cragg trailing third. Dinghies piloted by L. W. Scott and Claude Rogers completed the field.

A trophy is to be awarded at the close of the season on the basis of points scored at each of the series of races which last Sunday's event opened. Each race will be two laps over the three-mile course for a total distance of six miles.

The second official race will be run next Sunday morning.

the plate, but Bill's best was a high fly that Simmons caught behind second base. Jackson swung and missed the third strike, a low fast ball.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Americans—Cuyler raced into deep right, near the bullpen, to make a beautiful catch of Gehringer's drive. Manush rolled out, Frisch to Terry.

Babe Ruth took a called strike, fouled one into the dirt but finally walked as Hubbell took no chances and pitched everything inside to the Yankee veteran.

Gehring lined out to Cuyler.

No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Nationals—Hubbell raced to the club house after finishing his three-inning stunt with an allowance of only two singles, two bases on balls and fanning six. The Giants' southpaw was given a wild ovation. Hartnett was thrown out, Cronin to Gehrig.

Billy Herman, Cubs' infielder, batted for Hubbell and popped the first pitch to Cronin, who had a nice running catch. Frisch walked as Gomez, with the count two-and-two, took no chances with the Cardinal manager.

On the hit-and-run play, Pie Traynor bounced a single over second base. Frisch raced to third. Joe Medwick took a toe-hold and walloped a curve into the upper-left-field stands, scoring Frisch and Traynor ahead of him and giving the Nationals a four-run lead off the American League's premier pitcher.

Cuyler lined to Ruth.

Three runs, two hits, no errors. None left.

FOURTH INNING

Americans—Lon Warneke of the Cubs went to the box for the Nationals.

Fox was retired on a grounder, Simmons got only two bases on a drive that hit the leftfield wall on the fly.

Cronin slashed a single down the leftfield line, scoring Simmons with the first American run.

Dickey took a called third strike. Earl Averill, Cleveland outfielder, batted for Gomes.

Averill trippled to the bullpen in deep rightfield, scoring Cronin.

Warneke's control was shaky and he walked Gehringer. Manush lifted a high foul that Traynor grabbed near the coaching box off third.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, two left.

Nationals — Big Charley "Red" Ruffing, Yankee righthander, went to box for the Americans.

Berger lifted a high foul that Foxx barely caught.

Bill Terry fouled a half dozen balls before slashing a single to left.

The count reached two and three on Jackson, who also fouled off a flock of pitches before lifting a short fly to Averill, who had taken over centrefield while Simmons moved over to left, thereby eliminating Manush from the Americans lineup.

Hartnett grounded out, Foxx to Gehrig.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

FIFTH INNING

Americans—Ruth took two called strikes, protesting loudly. The count reached two and three, and it was Hartnett's turn to squawk. The Babe then walked on four balls.

Warneke pitched three straight balls to Gehrig, who then took a called strike, fouled the next pitch over the stands off first base and walked. Van Mungo, Brooklyn right-handed, was called to the rescue, and Dizzy Dean to the bullpen.

Foxx lashed the first pitch to him for a long single, scoring Ruth and sending Gehrig to third.

Simmons scratched a hit to Jackson, scoring Gehrig with the tying run. Jackson made the try for a force-out at second but Foxx was safe as Frisch had to leap high for the catch.

Cronin popped to Hartnett, who made a great running catch.

Mungo got himself in a hole by pitching three straight balls to Dickey, who walked on a fourth ball after taking two called strikes. The bases were filled with only one out. Averill, still batting, in last place, where he entered the game, slashed a double down the right field line, scoring Foxx and Simmons, while Dickey pulled up at third.

Gehringer was purposely passed, filling the bases again, as Ruffing came to bat. The count reached two and three on the big pitcher, who then cracked a single between Traynor and Jackson, scoring Dickey and Averill with the fifth and sixth runs of the inning.

Gehringer stopped at second, Ruth bounced out, Terry unassisted, advancing Gehringer to third and Ruffing to second. Gehrig fanned to end the big rally.

Six runs, four hits, no errors.

Nationals—Ben Chapman went to right field for the mAericans, replacing Ruth. The game being at the midway point, the scenes were shifted, with the umpires shifting assignments.

Frisch drove a single over Cronin's head and Martin galloped to third.

Traynor scratched a hit off Gehringer's glove, scoring Martin. The second baseman made a great stop but then booted the ball away. He was not charged with an error, however. Frisch halted at second.

Chuck Klein of the Cubs batted for Medwick and slashed a hit to right, scoring, Frisch. Traynor stopped at second. Mel Ott, Giant outfielder, batted for Cuyler.

Ruffing was taken out of the box and replaced by Mel Harder, young right hander of Cleveland Indians.

Ott lashed a line drive to Chapman, who droped the ball but recovered in time to force out Klein at second base, Cronin taking the ball for the put-out. Traynor dashed to third and Ott was on first.

Paul Waner of the Pirates batted for Berger.

With the count 2 and 3, Waner struck out but Traynor scored and Ott reached second safely, for a stolen base, on a close decision.

The play was scored as a double steal, with Traynor also getting credit for stealing home.

Terry walked and Arky Vaughan, Pirate shortstop, batted for Jackson. Vaughan forced Terry, Cronin to Gehringer.

Three runs, three hits, no errors, two left.

SIXTH INNING

Americans.—With Dean in the box for the Nationals, Klein was in left field, Paul Waner in centre, and Ott in right. Vaughan went to shortstop and Al Lopez behind the bat. Foxx fanned, but Simmons got to second when Frisch lost Al's Texas leaguer in short right.

Cronin clouted a double down the left field line, scoring Simmons.

Dickey walked, and Cochrane, Detroit manager and backstop, went in to run him. Dean was fast but wild, and heaved three straight balls to Averill, who then took two strikes and then swung at a high hard one for the third. Cronin was trapped off second and Lopez ran all the way to second in the run down, finally completing an unusual double play on his toss to Vaughan, who tagged out the Americans' manager.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

ALL PRESS LIES

Adolf Hitler because of his heroic acts. If anything in Germany changed, it was possibly this: That the German people are devoted with even greater love to the Fuehrer and to the political regime represented by him."

Goebbels devoted two-thirds of his speech to what he called erroneous statements from various reports published abroad, quoting liberally from French, English, Austrian and Russian newspapers, to show the German people they must not believe what they read in the foreign press.

He showed, for instance, that Vice-Chancellor Franz Von Papen was reported dead by some and as Hitler's successor by others at the same time.

His argument was that the "campaign of lies was miserably organized."

"We can only give good advice," he said, "to those who have inspired it, to keep in better contact among themselves."

Goebbels claimed that "one is nauseated as one gains a complete survey of the entire foreign press comment.

Press Comparisons.

"Even if sheets like the London Times declare that a mutineers' revolt is suppressed with gangster methods, and if one compares with that how dignifiedly, nobly and decently events abroad are treated in the German press, one can only say with perfect serenity, 'Ah, how much better human beings are we savages.'

"What has been done in reporting this situation has nothing to do with freedom of expression."

Curtains Catch Fire Firemen Are Called

The 8 year old daughter of B. Brady, 172 Adeline street, claimed that she had only been playing with a dead match when members of the Fire Department arrived hurriedly at that address this morning shortly after ten o'clock. The firemen thought differently, however, for what had been a set of curtains lay smouldering on the floor.

A serious fire might have resulted if it had not been for the prompt action of the little girl's mother when the curtains first began to blaze. She tore them from their hangings and smothered the flames.

A few minutes before the noon hour, the Department was called out again to a chimney fire at 244 Antrim street. No serious damage was caused by the blaze.

GRADING ON RAIL IS INAUGURATED

selected as the one plant in Canada where the new system might be best introduced. After the new method has been tried out here and proven, it will be attempted at the packing plan in Kitchener and later will be applied to all packing plants in the country.

A great deal of preliminary work had to be accomplished at the local plant before grading on the rail was started to-day. For the past three weeks Government inspectors have been carefully grading on rails all hogs received at the plant. After much research and tabulation of figures the Government and heads of the plant arrived at a system of prices that would be fair to the packer and also give fair returns to the farmer. Other experiments necessary if the new system is to be successful were carried out.

Five Grades

The government officials decided what grades will apply under the new code. There will be five grades based on type and quality of the hogs and each grade there will be five classifications as to weight.

A system of marking the hogs so that they will retain their identification through the various processes of packing through the plant was adopted. A metal disc is being placed in the ear of each hog.

Although grading on the rail has commenced at the plant it is still optional with the farmer whether he sells his hogs to the plant by live weight or graded on rails—which really means dressed weight. To-day the plant quoted prices of $8.50 for live weight and $12.25 for grading on rail.

Partial Payment

If the farmer sells his hogs to the plant graded on rail then he will be given a cheque immediately for 80 per cent of their value. A few days later when his hogs have been graded he will receive a cheque for the balance. When the hogs are purchased under the new grading system, the financial settlement is made direct with the farmers. In cases where hogs are trucked long distances the plant will pay the cost of trucking.

Hogs sold under the new system which weigh 180 to 225 pounds, will bring a premium of 75 cents per hog to the farmer.

Commenting to-day on the new system, G. S. Matthews, manager of the plant, told The Examiner, "The advantage in rail grading is in its absolute accuracy, while live grading was only 75 per cent accurate. Another advantage is that the hog is weighed to the exact pound, whereas when sold by live weight the weight was taken in 10-pound draughts."

Meet World Competition

Rail grading is now being done in all European countries and it has proved a definite improvement. Canada is introducing it in order to meet world competition and improve the breed of Canadian hogs.

While the experiment in grading is being carried on in the local plant, the company will pay a bonus for hogs graded on rail over those graded alive. To-day about a dozen farmers sold their hogs to the plant under the new system. It is hoped that within a few days all farmers who sell their hogs at the local plan off trucks or wagons will choose to sell them graded on rail.

Weddings

TRACY—LUCAS.

DOWNEYVILLE, June 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Veronica Lucas, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lucas, was united in marriage to William Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tracy, of Ops. Rev. Father McFadden performed the ceremony and afterwards said the nuptial mass. Miss Thelma Lucas played the wedding march and the Misses Fanny and Regina Costello sang during the mass. The bride's gown was white mousseline de soie with veil, white sandals and gloves, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Kathleen Lucas was her sister's bridesmaid and was gowned in pink chiffon with white hat, hose, shoes and gloves, and carried pink roses. Charles C. Lucas, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the immediate families at the residence of the bride's parents. Afterwards Mr. Tracy and his bride left on an extended wedding trip, and on their return will reside on the groom's farm in East Ops.

We all extend to the bride and groom many years of wedded bliss.

GRAHAM—WOOD.

HALL'S BRIDGE, July 10.—(Examiner Correspondence). — At 12 o'clock noon, on Monday, July 2, the Presbyterian Church at Hall's Bridge was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Helen Marguerite, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Wood, of Buckhorn, became the bride of Theodore Everett Graham, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Graham, the "The Elms" farm, 16th concession, Smith Township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Duncan Munro, of Bobcaygeon.

To the strains of the "Bridal Chorus," played by Miss Dorothy Anderson, of Bobcaygeon, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, looking very dainty in a bridal dress of white silk crepe with tulle veil and orange blossoms, and carrying an arm bouquet of crimson roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Nora Endicott, of Lindsay, wore a dress of yellow organdie and white picture hat, and carried a bouquet of blush pink roses.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Gordon Northey, of Smith, the ushers being Mr. Jack Breckenridge, of Norwood, and Mr. Ross Thomson, of Toronto. Whilst the register was being signed Mrs. William Ford, of Lindsay, sang "Oh Promise Me."

After the ceremony a reception and luncheon was held at the home of the bride's parents, to which thirty guests were invited, and after which the happy couple left on a motor trip to Muskoka, the bride travelling in a blue jacket frock with grey hat and accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Graham will reside at "The Elms."

The groom's gift to the bride was a wrist watch, to the bridesmaid and pianist silver and white necklaces, to the soloist a mesh purse and to the groomsman a tie-clasp.

ANSELL—VANDERVOORT.

MADOC, July 10. — (Examiner Correspondence). — On Saturday, July 7, at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, a very pretty ceremony was quietly performed when Miss Helene Leonore Vandervoort, daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Frank Vandervoort, of Madoc, was united in marriage to Mr. Fredrick Ansell, son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Ansell, of Montreal, Quebec. The bride, who was given by her father, was becomingly gowned in a hyacinth blue suit with white fur trimmings and accessories. She carried a beautiful nosegay of sweet peas and forget-me-nots. The wedding march was played by Mr. George N. Maybee.

Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Koffind, of Stirling, a very dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Maybee. The tables were tastefully decorated with pink and white around a centre bouquet of sweet peas and ferns, while the dining-room was decorated with rose peonies.

After the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Ansell left for a trip through the Kawartha Lakes, the bride wearing a navy blue ensemble. On their return they will reside in Madoc.

ORANGE LODGE ATTENDS CHURCH

Millbrook Lodge Parades to Grace Presbyterian Church.

FAREWELL SERMON

MILLBROOK, July 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Headed by the Durham Regimental Band of Orono, the members of the Orange Order of Millbrook and vicinity marched from the L.O.L. Hall to Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, the minister, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., preaching an appropriate sermon.

The church was filled to capacity for the service, practically the entire centre block of pews being occupied by the visiting Orangemen, with past county master, Brother J. H. Paul, acting as marshal. The choir sang Kipling's "Recessional," with Joe Thorndyke taking the tenor solo and Miss Grace Johnson, A.T.C.M., presided at the organ.

Preliminary to his sermon Rev. Mr. Williams extended a warm welcome to the visiting brethren on behalf of the congregation, the session and the minister, his text being taken from II. Chronicles 36:23, "Who is there among you of all His people? The Lord his God be with him, and let him go up." Vividly picturing Israel in exile for her sins, Cyrus and Daniel were shown as deliverers raised up by God, "and behold a greater Deliverer is here, the Lord Jesus Christ, who bids us arise and be doing, for Him and His Kingdom." A history of the Orange Order up to its actual founding at Longbow, Ireland, in 1795, was outlined, and in order the four great principles of Orangeism, and of Protestantism, which are one, were dealt with from the practical standpoint: (1) an open Bible and the right to read it; (2) liberty of thought and liberty of worship; (3) loyalty to the reigning sovereign and to the British constitution; (4) brotherly love. A strong plea was made for more homes in which God's Word is read and reverenced, for continued support of one tongue throughout Canada, a steadfast faith in the Saviour of the world, and courage to stand, with Daniel and Syrus as living examples of those who served the Lord.

Upon return to the lodge rooms the usual votes of thanks were passed, and the Regimental Band gave a concert from the Town Hall balcony that was enjoyed by a large gathering of citizens. Reeve P. Stinson made a brief address, expressing pride in the band as part of the local military organization and appreciation of the music supplied, and asked for a liberal response when the hat was passed to help defray the expenses of the musicians, under their leader, Lieutenant W. Tamblyn, in coming to the village.

United Church Notes.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Church was pleased to have their retiring pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, in the pulpit on Sunday morning, evening worship being withdrawn owing to the Orange brethren going to the sister church, Grace Presbyterian, at 7.30. Rev. Mr. Jones' last message to his people, delivered, as he said, under emotional difficulties after a six years' pastorate on the Millbrook charge, emphasized especially loyalty to Christ and growth in grace. Appreciative reference was made to the happy relationships which has existed between the minister, his wife and family during residence here, and an earnest plea advanced for a continuance of the same for the incoming pastor, Rev. A. L. Siscoe, who arrives from Cardinal this week. The service closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the special musical number of the morning was a duet by Gordon Jones and Beatrice McDowell, "Singing on Our Way."

The formal induction of Rev. Mr. Siscoe into the pastorate of the United Church circuit, Millbrook, will take place on Friday, July 13, at 8 p.m., visiting ministers including Rev. Mr. Kemp, Rev. Dr. McLean and Rev. A. E. Moorhouse. A social hour will follow to permit of acquaintance with the new pastor, his wife and family. The next event in St. Andrew's Church calendar will be the garden party at the home of W. A. O'Brian on Tuesday, July 17, with Cavan Dramatic Club supplying the program and the orchestra in attendance.

NAZI CHIEF WILL EXPLAIN FRIDAY

Calls Reichstag First Time Since January to Tell Cause of Executions.

ANSWER TO WORLD.

BERLIN, uly 10 (A.P.). — The Reichstag was convoked to-day for Friday for a speech by Chancellor Hitler on events which made the executions of June 30 necessary.

Chancellor Hitler, who since June 30, the date of climacteric events marking the beginning of the "second revolution" has kept silent, once more will use the forum of the so-called National Parliament to address the nation and the world.

His speech is calculated to answer innumerable questions that German citizens and foreigners have been asking in explanation of the executions of June 30.

The Reichstag has not met since January 30, this year, when Chancellor Hitler gave an exhaustive account of the first year of his stewardship.

It is part of Hitler's policy to call the Reichstag together only on the most important occasions when the attention of the entire world is focussed upon such a meeting, and then have the representatives of the people endorse his policies by loud acclaim.

The Reichstag.

The German Reichstag, Parliament of the Reich, abdicated on March 23, 1933, after passing an empowering act granting Chancellor Hitler's demand for four years of dictatorial power.

After that date the Nazi Party, headed by Hitler, was in supreme control of affairs in Germany.

Provisions were made, however, for safeguarding the institution of the Reichstag as "an organ of the Reich for the representation of the German people," under a measure called the "bill of the ills of the people and the state."

Under the terms of the bill, Government legislation is valid without reference to the Reichstag.

The government puts before it reports on policy. According to various official declarations, democratic sanction for government policy on any particular issue may be sought by popular referendum and a bill of July 14, 1933, gave the government the right of referring any intended measure to a direct move of the people.

TUFVERSON CASE TAKES NEW TURN

Poderjay in Statement Claims Woman Boarded Train for Montreal.

TO MEET MALE FRIEND

NEW YORK, July 1.0—(AP).—A statement by Ivan Poderjay that Agnes Tufverson, missing New York and Detroit attorney, had boarded a train for Montreal last December 21 in New York was received today by local officials through Vienna police.

The statement was part of a 14-page letter signed "Stampe", president of the Vienna police, and giving further results of investigation in the Austrian city.

Poderjay, the soldier of fortune who married Miss Tufverson shortly before she disappeared last December, is still being held in Vienna.

The latter made public by police contained, also: A denial by Suzanne Ferrand, French woman who was sharing Poderjay's apartment in Vienna, that Poderjay had told her he married Miss Tufverson bigamously as alleged.

Mme. Ferrand's statement that Poderjay had written her he was going to ask Miss Tufverson how muchs he would pay for a husband, and that he would set $1,000,000 as his price. A denial was made by Poderjay that he knew of Miss Tufverson's whereabouts.

Referring to Miss Tufverson's alleged entrainment for Montreal, Poderjay said, according to the report, that she had done this to meet a "former male friend" in the Canadian city.

The Vienna letter was dated June 20.

JAMES SHEEHY FIRST REPORTER OF EXAMINER

Now Publisher in Chicago — Joined Staff When Paper Became Daily.

LACROSSE PLAYER

Conducted Drygoods Store for Nine Years—Junior With John Hackett.

James J. Sheehy, the Daily Examiner's first reporter, for years a proprietor-publisher in Chicago, is home on a vacation which has become virtually an annual renewal of old friendships in the city of his birth and youth.

"The Examiner had been a weekly for a long time," Mr. Sheehy recalled today in a brief reminiscence, "but in 1885 the late Hon. J. R. Stratton decided to make it a daily. F. R. Yokome was the editor, and as I had been active in lacrosse and other sports 'J. R.' thought that I might be useful in getting sport and other news, as an assistant to Mr. Yokome. John Jamieson was in charge of advertisements, and William Menzies was still with the Review at that time."

Mr. Sheehy said he had been working as a junior with John Hackett, whose drygoods store was next to Rober Fair's' under its trade sign of the "Golden Lion."

"I started in the spring of 1885, forty-nine years ago, and stayed with Mr. Yokome and Mr. Stratton as The Examiner's reporter until September of that year. Then I went back into the drygoods business, conducted a store of my own for nine years and went to Chicago. And as an odd turn of events I finally wound up in the publishing business after all."

The Examiner was then located on the east side of George Street and further up towards Brock Street.

Mr. Sheehy is one of the survivors of the famous Peterborough Lacrosse Club of 1882 and thereabouts, champions in their day and winners of the Gildersleeve trophy. Others of that team who are still living are William Rudkins, R. H. Fortye, M. H. Halpin of the city, and Jim Coughlin of Toronto.

With a light step and other signs of good health and buoyancy Mr. Sheehy said that he was glad to get back to Peterborough for rest and quiet, and to meet friends of his youth.

HAVELOCK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE DONATE ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIP

Mrs. Huble Reports on the Annual Meeting at Hall's Bridge.

PLAN BAKING SALE.

HAVELOCK, July 10. (Examiner Correspondence)—The donation of a scholarship of three dollars for the Havelock pupil obtaining highest marks at the entrance examination, was among one of the most important matters dealt with by the Women's Institute, in session Monday afternoon, at the beautiful summer home of Mrs. John Armstrong at Trent River, when there was as usual a large attendance of the membership, and a number of visitors. This is the meeting always looked forward to with much pleasure by the Havelock branch, who appreciate to the fullest extent the hospitality of Mrs. Armstrong who annually entertains them.

A cheque from the Junior Institute for $10 to be used for any purpose the members wish, was received from Miss Buchanan treasurer of the Junior branch and will bed uly acqkowledged.

Plans for a sale of home baking to be held on Saturday, July 21st, were made, and Mesdames Wrightley, Rice, Huble, Hoard and Hoffmann, will be in charge of the same.

The presidednt reported having purchased a quantity of material to be used to make a layette for an expectant mother, the need having been drawn to the notice of the Institute by one of the local doctors.

A quilt which is on hand will be given to a family who recently lost all their household effects in a fire.

The matter of obtaining care for a young girl in the district who is losing her sight because of the need of properly fitted glasses, and whose parents are unable to procure them for her, was also discussed and the secretary was instructed to write an eye specialist regarding the probable cost of supplying them.

A letter from Mr. Putnam, read by the secretary advised that a new edition of Home and Country, the Institute publication, would shortly be available.. This number, it was explained, will contain much specific information of practical value to the homemaker. A copy of the May and June issue will be sent to each one of last year's members, and the new members joining up now will receive four copies of this valuable little paper and be entitled to attend all twelve meetings and enjoy all the privileges of membership in the Institute for the small fee of twenty-five cents per year. The paper is published every three months.

Annual Meet Report

A report of the district annual meeting held recently at Hall's Bridge was given by Mrs. Huble who expressed thanks to the members for the delightful trip given her, as substitute for the district director who was unable to attend the meeting.

One of the highlights of the district meeting had been the address of welcome extended by Mrs. Shearer of Hall's Bridge, which Mrs. Huble stated was positively the best she had ever heard at any of the district meetings which she has attended. The activity of the Apsley branch and the amount of good accomplished by this far-out Institute also drew warm commendation from the Havelock representative.

The Roll Call was "How I make my head save my heels" and drew many humorous responses.

Mrs. Armstrong then took charge and conducted an interesting contest called "The cook's guessing contest.

It consisted of a number of articles used in baking and cooking a small amount of each placed on a dish, numbered, the name of the ingredient to be placed opposite the correct number. Out of twenty-three articles only ten were properly placed, and six ladies had that number of correct answers. A tie breaker resulted in Mrs. Wrightly winning the prize, a handsome hand painted china tray.

A dainty lunch of sandwiches, cake and tea or lemonade was then served and a very pleasant afternoon brought to a close.

Raw Whiskey Aged In Three Minutes

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 10 (C.P.).—Raw whisky, aged and mellowed in three minutes by a new electrical process, was the goal claimed today by a Buffalo engineer after a demonstration before scientific observers.

The process, invented by Edward Butler, mechanical engineer, consists of an electric treatment of a raw distillate and ground oak pulp from the wood in which the liquor is usually aged. No other chemical ingredients are required and the inventor claims the process, by eliminating ageing steps which usually take months and years to complete, will revolutionize the distilling industry.

The demonstrations of the "ageing machine" were attended by Dr. Arthur B. Adams of Pittsburgh, head chemist of the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue for more than 20 years. In the process a raw distillate was put into the machine with the ground oak pulp, and thousands of volts of electricity shot through the mixture. After a sizzling and bubbling in the machine, the liquid changed to the amber shade of mellow whisky.

DOMINION MAY BE REQUESTED TO CUT QUOTA

British Government Favors Impost on Cattle Imports to United Kingdom.

HELP HOME PRODUCERS.

Canada Allowed to Export 25,000 Head of Cattle Under Ottawa Quota.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, July 10 (C.P. Cable).—A suggestion was current to-day that Canada might be asked to accept a 10 per cent. cut in the Ottawa quota under which she is entitled to export to the United Kingdog 25,000 cattle.

This proposal was reported as Walter Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, prepared to meet to-morrow representatives of the Dominions in a final discussion of the United Kingdom's plans regarding meat imports. Previously Canada was believed not to be vitally interested in the discussions which concern mainly Australia and New Zealand.

An authoritative source told the Canadian Press that British Government favors placing an impost of 2 cents a pound on foreign meat imports aid 1 cent on those from the Dominions. The proceeds of the tax would be used to help home producers of meat.

To this suggestion Argentina is vigorously opposed, and Mr. Elliott was said to have been persuaded the only alternative is a cut in the import quota. If this plan should be adopted, it was reported, Canada would be asked to cut her exports of cattle to the United Kingdom.

Oppose Movement.

The Dominions were described as strongly opposed to the suggestion, arguing that the home Government would be allowing the movement for intra-Imperial trade to be retarded at will by Argentina.

The total meat consumption of the United Kingdom is 35,000,000 hundredweight annually of which a little more than half is imported. Of the importations a little more than half come from Argentina. Canada contributes about one and one-half per cent. of the total importation.

One snag with which Mr Elliott was said to be confronted in his scheme to subsidize the British farmer is that some of the farmers are unloading large quantities of low-grade beef which the Ministry of Agriculture holds is not entitled to a subsidy.

It was said also that waste exists through the present system of disposing of meat through small local markets.

On these points, however, it was believed the Ministry has prepared proposals under which the meat industry in return for the subsidy would establish central killing and handling facilities. The Government has promised full details of the proposals before the House of Commons rises.

Mr. Elliott will meet the Dominions' representatives early to-morrow so that he may place their sentiments before the Cabinet during its morning meeting.

No Autumn Military Action For Germany

BERLIN, July 10.—(C.P.-Havas).—Autumn military operations of the German army, the Reichswehr will not take place this year, it was officially announced here to-day.

General Werner Von Blomberg, Reich minister of defence, in announcing that the usual manouevres would not take place, gave the drought in Germany as the reason for the decision.

He said that the drought, which has affected German agriculture seriously during the past weeks, had left the forests in such a condition that military operations could start serious forest fires.

The announcement means that for the next few months there will be a radical diminution of military display in Germany.

ARCHIE DEYELL GIVES CLEVER MOUND DISPLAY AS PETES TRIUMPH 2-1

Nips Ninth Inning Kingston Rally With Last Minute Throwout—Dumb Baseball On Part Of Foxton And St. Louis Gives Lee Clan The Winning Run.

RED DALLIN AND TOMMY FOLEY PLAY PROMINENT PARTS IN LEE VICTORY.

(Special to Examiner)

KINGSTON, Ont., July 10. — Peterborough is to-day boasting of undisputed leadership in the Central Ontario Baseball League. Behind the clever hurling of Archie Deyell, the Petes last night nosed out Kingston Ponies by the score of 2 to 1, in one of the best played and most exciting games of the season, before the biggest crowd of the year. A thrilling pitcher's duel, which saw Deyell wavering in the ninth when the judicious use of pinch-hitters by Coach Jimmy Arniel loaded up the sacks, almost lost the game for the Petes, but Deyell pulled himself together and retired Quinn for the final out to grab off a beautiful victory.

To "Red" Dallin, rookie outfielder, and Tommy Foley, veteran gardenman, goes the credit of driving in the winning runs for the Liftlockers. Though even the most biased Peterborough fan will freely admit the winning run was more or less a gift. "Dumb" baseball by both Foxton and St. Louis, in standing at the plate and allowing a throw from the outfield go past them untouched, allowed Batten to score which proved to be the winning run when the runner was easily trapped six feet from home.

Hurls Nice Ball

Deyell pitched beautiful ball for eight innings, allowing only three hits up to the ninth, two coming in the third when the Ponies scored their run and the other coming in the fifth. Foxton's double in the ninth was the only extra base hit off the Lee hurler.

St. Louis was not far behind the lanky Peterborough twirler, granting but a half dozen safe blows and having nine strikeouts, five of them coming in a row in the fifth and sixth. Deyell fanned six, walked two and hit two, while St. Louis issued only one free ticket.

The Petes stepped into the lead in the second inning when Whatley beat out a hit on a doubtful decision by Umpire Johnston at first. He stole second. Ash flied to Arniel in short left and Burton fouled to Smith. Dallin came through with a hard single over first to score Whatley but Deyell struck out.

Ponies were not long in tying up the score, getting what proved to be their only run in the third. Quinn led off with a clean single through second, the first hit off Deyell's delivery. St. Louis sacrificed and Arniel struck out. Scrutton then came through with a single to centre to score Quinn and Boyd ended with a roller to Konopka.

From then on it was a tight pitcher's battle, Peterborough not getting a man on base until the seventh, when Burton got a life on Smith's error and died on second.

Ponies had two good chances, when Smith was hit, to lead off the fourth and was left on second, and in the fifth when G. Arniel singled and advanced on Foley's wild throw, but the hit in the pinches was not forthcoming.

With two out in the eighth Batten drew a walk. Foley then shanked a double to right and Batten made for home. Scrutton made a beautiful peg home and St. Louis ran up to the plate. Instead of backing up the catcher, he stood beside him and the pair of them allowed the throw to go through them. Batten scoring when he would have been out by six feet had either made the catch. Murray ended by giving Joyce a tough chance.

The Ponies battled desperately to tie the score in the ninth and almost spelled the end of Deyell. Ada went in to bat for Boyd and lifted a long fly to Burton. Smith struck out and Foxton raised the drooping Ponies' spirits with a double to centre. Webber was sent in to run for the Kingston catcher. Joyce was purposely passed and Jamieson, batting for Stone, was hit on the arm. The bases were loaded and the fans yelled for Teddy Gallagher, but the veteran hurler had not received his amateur card yet and could not go in to bat for Quinn, who, after fouling off a couple, dumped a hit to Deyell, who tossed him out to end the game.

If your pulse doesn't beat a trifle faster when you see this picture you have lost your ticket into the turf's loyal order of horse-lovers. In a solid phalanx of sinew-training horseflesh, these fleet three-years-olds are thundering down the straight-away—coming right at you—in a race at Aqueduct. In the forefront is Broadsword, Gilbert up, the eventual winner. An artist studying composition could never pose such a symmetrical arrangement of horses, jockets, whips, hoofs and dusty clouds.

SENATORS WIN 10-FRAME GAME MONTREAL CITY

Royals' Chances of Regaining First Division Berth Are Dimmed.

WINGS GET VERDICT.

(By The Associated Press)

Largely due to Albany Senators' consistent playing over the last three weeks, the International League pennant race is rapidly rounding into a real battle for third and fourth place, with Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Royals in the thick of the strife.

The Senators, winners of 17 of their last 24 games, held fourth place to-day, only 4½ games back of third place Leafs, while the Royals were another 2½ games further down the standings in fifth position, but for Rochester Redwings' consistent playing there would be a contest for second place.

Senators Tighten Hold

Albany strengthened its hold on fourth place and assured itself of that position for at least the duration of current series by defeating the Royals, 4-3, in 10 innings yesterday. Del Bissonette, former Brooklyn first baseman, and Bill Brubaker were largely responsible for the victory. Each pounded out four hits.

Newark Bears did their part in making the battle for third and fourth place a little closer by defeating the Leafs, also by the score of 4—3. Toronto led 3-2 going into the eighth, but the Yankees farm hands rose up and cracked the offerings of "Whitey" Hilcher for two runs.

Win Third Straight

Rochester Redwings stayed within challenging distance of the Bears, winning their third straight game at the expense of Syracuse Chiefs. The score was 7-6, with the Winds scoring five of their runs in the seventh to break a two-all deadlock. The Chiefs came back with a four-run attack off Pete Appleton in the eighth, but Ike Smith put a stop to the uprising with Syracuse still one run short of a tie.

Buffalo Bisons continued their winning streak by defeating Baltimore Orioles, 6-3, for their sixth victory in their last eight games. George Milstead and Elliott kept the Orioles' 12 hits well scattered while the Bisons got to Lohrman for 13 blows.

"The Chief" Takes Over Mound Duty When Carl Casey Weakens.

BREAKS DUKE RALLY.

BELLEVILLE, July 10. — After hurling six hitless innings here last night, Carl Casey weakened slightly and was helped along by an error by Green to fill the sacks, but Jack ("Chief") Williams walked to the mound with none out and the bases populated and made a batter whiff another to force out the runner at the plate, and the last man to fly out to himself, and Belleville Nationals won a ball game from the Oshawa Dukes by a score of 6-1.

OLD RIVALRY IS RENEWED AS TERRY AND CRONIN MEET AGAIN

Major All-Stars Will Clash at New York Polo Grounds To-day at 12.30.

A SOUTHPAW BATTLE.

By ALLAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(A.P.)—In command of two picked squads of the greatest players in baseball, instead of mere pennant winners, Memphis Bill Terry and Frisco Joe Cronin to-day pick up the threads of personal rivalry again, with inter-league prestige and supremacy at stake in the national game's most glamorous show.

Each eager to win—Terry to prove the National Leaguers still are on the crest of a winning wave, and Cronin to demonstrate that he has the playing weapons to turn the tables on his 1933 world series conqueror—they called the roll of greats for the second annual all-star major league game, now become a mid-season institution of nation-wide interest.

Barring some sudden and unexpected switch of plans before game-time—12.30 p.m., E.S.T., at the Polo Grounds—it was to start off as a duel between the two greatest left-handers in baseball, Carl Owen Hubbell of the Giants, and Vernon (Goofy) Gomes of the Yankees, and wind up with a flock of fast-ball right-handers attempting to horse-collar the best hitters in either league.

Circuit Hitters Back.

As a tip-off on what there was in store for the flingers, the American League for the second straight year held the home run king, Jimmie Foxx, in reserve as a pinch-hitter or possible replacement for the celebrated iron man, Lou Gehrig, who hasn't missed a starting game during the regular season for 10 years and will keep his record intact this afternoon.

With the promise of fair weather and slightly rising temperature, uwards of 50,000 spectators were expected to jam the big National League park. The fans had the first crack at nominating the 20 players selected for each league's all-star parade. Their manifest interest has satisfied the managers the game serves the unique purpose, successfully, and their contribution to the gate receipts means a boon to the funds now accumulating for old ball players.

St. Peter's Easily Defeat Leafs 25-7

St. Peter's slaughtered Maple Leafs, 25 to 7, in a bantam baseball game at Riverside Park last evening. Bunched hits with a flock of walks and errors gave the Saints seventeen markers in the first two frames and they coasted through. Jack Condon twirled steady ball for the winners to hold his opponents to five hits and he received good support, whereas Copperthwaite and the other Leaf flingers who followed him had wobbly backing. None of them proved very effective. Conroy and Thomas hit two-baggers and Lynch got a triple. The teams:

St. Peter's: Girard, c; Conroy, cf; Thornton, 2b; Brown, 1b; Thomas, ss; Creighton, lf; Lucano, rf; Condon, p; Lynch, 3b.

SCOTTISH TIED BUT WIN ROUND

Take Series From Ulster to Advance in Dominion Cup Series.

SCORELESS BATTLE.

TORONTO, July 10.—Playing before the largest crowd to witness a soccer game in Toronto in several years, Toronto Scottish and Ulster United battled to a scoreless tie in the Ontario final of the Dominion championships series at Oakwood Stadium last night. Over 3,000 excited spectators saw Toronto Scottish emerge victors over their old rivals in the best two out of the three games arranged to complete the series. The winners won the first engagement by the score of 3 to 1, and tied Ulster with one goal each in the second tilt, finally taking the series with a win and two ties. Scottish will now engage the Northern Ontario finalists at Toronto in a two-game series on July 14 and 16.

Last night's encounter was probably the hardest fought of the three, there being little to choose between two well-balanced elevens, and while the Ulstermen had a slight advantage early in the first session it did not take the cup defenders long to make the game interesting as attack followed attack with very little advantage going either way. Every inch of the ground was disputed as the sides gave their best in one continual struggle for scores.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BRINTONS WIN 13-6 DECISION

Butcher on Mound for Fashion-Craft is Easy Mark for Carpetbaggers.

GIVES 14 WALKS.

Knocking off Fashion-Craft to the tune of 13-6, Brinton Carpets made it their eleventh straight last night at Central in a game replete with arguments. The contest was a long drawn out affair and had to be called at the end of the eighth on account of darkness.

Brintons began early to take a liking to the offerings of "Chuck" Butcher on the mound for the Clothiers and together with his generosity in allowing fourteen free tickets to first succeeded in piling up a total of thirteen runs on nine hits, climaxed by a four-run rally in the first of the eighth which netted them four runs and virtually put the game on ice.

"Lefty" Sturgeon started for the Carpetmen but was not as effective as usual and gave way to Abbott in the fourth who, although hit freely, managed to last the remainder of the game. Between them they allowed ten hits and walked nine while fanning five, one more than Butcher.

Smith, first-sacker for Brintons, collected one-third of his team's hits with three singles out of four times at bat. Currie connected for two out of three, one being a four-bagger. Delahaye for Fashion-Craft had two out of three while Russell and Gardner each had two for five, between them gathering six of their team's ten bingles.

The Carpetmen reeled off two twin killings, a Williamson-to-Dormer in the third and the other a Dormer-to-Smith in the seventh. Wiley made the only double-play for the Hand-Me-Downs unassisted in the fifth.

The teams:

Brintons: H. Dormer, 2b; Smith, 1b; Weir, lf; Calladine, c, ss; Dugan, c; Newson, 3b; Sturgeon, p, cf; Abbott, p; Williamson, cf; Currie, rf; Bradshaw, ss.

Fashion-Craft—Gardner, 3b; Russell, 2b; Delahaye, c; Gillespie, cf; Gainey, ss; Wiley, 3b; Butcher, p; Gray, lf; Naish, rf.

Score by innings:

Brintons	130	330	14	—	13	9	3
Fashion-Craft	112	000	11	—	6	10	7

Umpires—Batley at plate, Weir on bases.

Outside of the regular schedule games last night there does not seem to be much to write about. The schedule is rapidly drawing to a close, and it is just surprising how some skips are very keen and anxious to know if the other fellow is playing according to Hoyle—whoever he is.

There is a very important notice tacked up on the main door of the club house. It is well worth reading—by both lawn bowlers and tennis players. It is well written and right to the point, to say the least.

The nature of the special prize—namely four pounds of Sunshine Dairy butter—to be given away on Friday night, has not yet been determined—but Jimmy has gone into conference with his cabinet, and expects his decision by Thursday.

Up at Cannington last night, the Peterborough club was represented by two pairs. It was the occasion of Cannington's annual doubles tournament. Out of twenty entries "John" Penrose and Cecil Williamson were successful in taking away second price. Each brought home a Hudson Bay blanket as their reward. The other pair, J. H. Sedgewick and E. Sackville, were not quite so fortunate.

By C. J. P.

If the weather is anyway half-decent tonight, there will be an E.P.L. ball game dished up at six this p.m., or thereabouts, down at the home of the Peterborough Industrial Fair—all right, then, Exhibition Grounds to you and you. It's between Cogs and C.G.E. and should be a nifty number. The Electrics have got to turn back those climbing Clubmen pronto or "We are lost" the Capt. will be shouting. Yeah, it ought to be a nice ball game, and anyway you can't go very wrong for the sake of a dime. Don't blame us if you ball fans miss it and you hear later it was a wow—on the other hand don't sue us if you don't miss it and it leaves you colder than a banker's smile.

• • • • • •

Brintons made it eleven straight at Central last night by copping a 13-6 smirk over Fashion-Crafts, Butcher's generosity with free-base tickets and his teammates' sudden affliction of butter-fingers (we don't know the Latin name, but it's a bad disease) having the Clothiers on the ropes when darkness descended. There were more arguments around Central last eve than Reno ever heard, those scrappy Brintons being noted as fighters for every point.

Oshawa Dukes are here tomorrow (Wednesday) eve at 5.15 o'clock in Riverside to tackle the Petes. Our only hope is that we get a break in the weather as this tussle should sardine the customers in, it being in the nature of a natural in baseball. The Dukes beat us here, and then we go to Oshawa and do in like manner to them. And tomorrow's contest is anybody's. Bill Calladine will hurl for the Lee squad and probably Wills or Frink, the Motor City forksiders, will get a crack at the locals. This being the first twilighter and the Petes continuing their winning ways—well, try and keep your real ball fan away from this struggle!

• • • • • •

Archie Deyell hurled beautiful ball to turn back the Ponies, 2-1, in another grand pitching duel in Kingston last e'en. He and St. Louis were both going like a million smackers but the lanky local righthander got the nod. He kept the usually-hard hitting Limestone lads to four bingles and fanned six, getting great support also in the field. Batten jogged home with the winning run on Foley's double, both Foxton and St. Louis letting a good throw-in that might have beaten Ike go past them at the plate. It was a break but the breaks always seem to go to a good team.

• • • • • •

The last frame was a hectic one when Kingston loaded the bases but Deyell tossed out Quinn to bring back a victory. A huge and rabid Kingston crowd roared for the Petes' blood and also went after the umps hard. "Fiat" Walsh, their umpire, didn't have a suitable chest protector so he called the balls and strikes from back of the pitcher. In a close game, there was naturally plenty of squawking on some of his calls, but Walsh is rated as square an umpire as you'll find in the Province and he was quite impartial. It puts the Petes alone on top of the C.O.B.L. heap and proves how fine a road team they are. They think nothing of going into Kingston and knocking off the cocky Ponies, and they deserve credit for the way they've been grabbing wins in mighty close games lately.

• • • • • •

In Belleville last gloaming, Oshawa dropped another, 6-1, and the win shoved the Nats over them into third place, but there's still only a couple of games difference between the first--place team in this loop and the cellar occupant. Carl Casey returned to the front for the Quinte crew and pitched hitless ball for six cantos, with Williams going in then when the Dukes got rambunctious and putting the squelcher on 'em. Knox tossed a good game for the Motor Citizens but they bumped him a bit in the eighth to chalk up four sweethearts. If Oshawa beat us here to-morrow, the little old ball of yarn, known as the C.O.B.L., would be tangled up again worse than somewhat.

Local lacrossers, Kiwanis, travel to Campbellford this Thursday, and play Cobourg here this Saturday. At least that's the way the remainder of the schedule was drawn up at last night's' meeting in Cobourg and it will be lived up to, if at all possible. If Cobourg does come here Saturday, they'll play at 2.30 in Riverside. The Petes are on top of the loop now with three wins and no losses, while the Lakeshore lacrossers are right behind 'em with three wins and one loss. They rallied late in their game last night to take a 12-6 decision over Campbellford.

Ho, hum, two more one-sided gals' softball games last night. Down at Lang, the Sixth Liners were taking a 25-11 pasting at the hands of Keene, while in the Bowl C.G.E. lasses were smacking over Maple Leafs, 22 to 15. Neither game, we're told, was anything to long-distance the folks at home about—in fact, some pretty poor softball was dished up. In all other lines of sport, games improve about the middle of the season—this being true of Men's Softball League games, Church Loop tussles, baseball, etc.—but for some reason or other, the gals' games are getting no better fast. Probably, the teams aren't getting in enough practices between contests.

C.G.E. Girls Defeat Maple Leafs 22-15

C.G.E. Girls continued to climb in the first half of the Ladies' City and District Loop last night when the defeated the Maple Leafs at the Ashburnham Bowl, 22 to 15, in a postponed game.

Both teams used two pitchers, and the game was featured by heavy clouting in every frame, with Agnes Sturgeon, Leaf hurler, socking a home run. Newson started for the Electrics and coasted along fine until the sixth, when the Leafs pushed three across and added five more in the seventh. She gave way to Margaret Snowden in the eighth, who finished the game, allowing 2 counters. Genevieve Mann was the first Leaf pitcher, but the C.G.E. found her easy to hit, and Agnes Sturgeon went to the rubber in the sixth, and finished the game in good style.

Winnie Snowden, playing at short for the winners, staged a great play in the fifth when she ran into deep left field to snare a high fly while running backwards.

The teams:

CALLADINE HURL ON WEDNESDAY

Win Here Over Oshawa Dukes Will Give Them Nice Margin in Tight C.O.B.L. Race.

LEADING THE LOOP.

C.O.B.L. standing to date:

Team—	P	W	L	T
Petes	10	6	4	0
Kingston	9	4	4	1
Belleville	11	5	5	1
Oshawa	8	3	5	0

Bill Calladine will pitch for the Petes in tomorrow's (Wednesday) C.O.B.L. twilight game at 5.15 here against Oshawa. Since Deyell hurled and won his game last night in Kingston, Calladine will be given the task of turning back the Dukes at Riverside. The Petes are now in undisputed possession of first place in the league standing and another win here tomorrow will give them a nice margin in the tight race this season. Frink, Willis and Ogden are all possible starters on the Oshawa mound, with one of the first two southpaws likely to get the appointment.

The Dukes won their only Peterborough game by a 4-0 count more than two weeks ago, but since that time Knotty Lee's gang have been going like a house afire, particularly on the road, and they are liable to reverse the decision this time against the classy Motor City aggregation. The Petes have hit their stride, despite injuries which for a time made things look black, and seem to be headed places. They are winning some close ones and dishing up a great brand of senior baseball, and therefore deserve all kinds of support. A huge crowd is expected for this tilt, weather permitting.

KNOX SENIORS TIE PLAY-OFFS

Southenders Pull Out Close Victory 22-21 Over Mark Street Clan.

EXCITING FINISH.

Knox Seniors tied up their Church Softball League play-offs last night by pulling out a close 22-21 victory over Mark Street in a highly exciting game. Mel Hunter and Jack Ferguson started as hurlers but did not survive. Roy Hunter went in in the fourth when Knox got seven runs and Ferguson's wildness let him out in the sixth in favor of A. Wedlock, the Knox captain, being hit hard but fanning six in four frames. The hitters all had a big evening with B. Masters getting four hits, and ten players getting three apice. R. Charlton hit a homer and two doubles, Sager and R. Hunter a homer, double and single each, with both M. Hunter and Townsend getting two bingles apiece, including triples.

Darwin and McDonald covered plenty of ground in the field, with Mitchell and Morrison also going good. The game had an exciting finish when Mark Street pushed home three runs and had two on base with none out the last frame, but a strikeout and two neat catches by McDonald saved the day for Knox. The third and deciding game will be Thursday at the Oval.

Mark Street—C. Ferguson, 3b; Parsons, ss; Townsend, cf; M. Hunter, p, 1b; Brady, rf; Darwin, lf; R. Hunter, 1b; p; Sager, 2b; Mitchell, c.

HAMILTON SKIPS WIN THEIR GROUPS

E. Bickle and A. Archer of Moutain City, Sure of Getting Into O.L.B.A. Playoffs.

HAMILTON, July 10.—Eddie Bickle, treasurer of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, carrying the colors of Hamilton Victorias, and A. Archer, of the same club, were the lone skips assured of group championships as the 46th annual tournament of the O.L.B.A. reached the first day's conclusion at the Roselawn Bowling Club in Gage Park here last evening.

Each with four victories, they were assured of the initial victories of the tournament, which drew 33 rinks into action after being welcomed by J. F. Burnett, of Toronto, president of the association, and Mayor Herbert Wilton, of this city.

The group system was in vogue for the first time, with six groups being contested, and the winners of each group qualify, together with the next two high, to compete in the eliminations for the trophies.

Play was keen throughout the day and while some of the games were won by long margins, the majority were decidedly close.

Keene Maidens Win From 6th Line 25-11

Keene added another in the win column last night when they visited Lang and tumbled the Sixth Line Girls, in a heavy hitting battle, by the score of 25 to 11. Marilyn McCarthy's hurling was bad medicine for the homesters and seven of them went out swinging, while Lil Bowie who pitched for the losers, was hard hit. She used a slow ball that caused several of the Keene batters to pop to the infield, but when the latter players connected, the ball went for a ride. Jean Munroe, pitched the last two frames for Keene, throwing nice ball but she was not quite so effective as McCarthy. The teams:

Keene.—D. Cooks, c; M. Brown, 2b; G. McCarthy, cf; H. Nelson, ss; Mary McCarthy, lf; L. McCarthy, 3b; Irene Short, 1s; M. McCarthy, p; R. Gainor, rf; J. Nelson, rf; Isobel Short, rf.

Score by innings:—

George St. Juveniles Qualify For Finals

George Street Juveniles qualified for the Church Softball League finals with Knox by defeating St. James, 9-6, last night, thereby eliminating the Saints. Gunsolus pitched a fine game to fan seven and leave ten stranded. Ridley also twirled well and would have won most games the way he was going. McClelland, Stinson, Parnell, Piercy and Berwick all hit well. St. James had the tying runs on base at the windup. If the City Bantam Baseball League permits, Knox and George Street will play the first juvenile final game Wednesday at Central or Queen Mary. The teams:

St. James—Murduff, cf; Leether, ss; Berwick, 3b; Castle, c; Ridley, p; Leggett, 1b; McGoverin, lf; Wood, 2b; Lawson, rf; Piercy, rf.

BOSTON ARENA REMAINS UNDER OLD OWNERSHIP

BOSTON, July 10 (A.P.)—Expected transfer of control of the Boston Madison Square Garden failed to materialize yesterday when Col. John S. Hammond, chairman of the board of directors of the New York Madison Square Garden, the holding company, discussed the deal with representatives of the Boston and Maine Railroad and Henry W. Lapham, Boston financier.

Lapham, owner of the Boston Arena, heads one of the two Boston groups willing to take over the $2,000,000 sports property, which lost about $85,000 last year.

Just what blocked the transfer was not made known.

Another group in the market for the building, headed by Owner Charles F. Adams of the Boston National Hockey League club, had no part in the conference with Hammond.

Wrestling

MONTREAL, July 10 (C.P.).—No dark horse has shown up in the Canadian British Empire wrestling trials yet. In the preliminary bouts held here last night, favorites had little trouble advancing to the second round and what few upsets were scored were only of minor importance. Finals will be run off tonight, with the announcement of the seven members to make the trip to England under the flying colors of Canada being made by the selection committee immediately after the bouts.

Winners of the finals to-night will not necessarily make the trip to England, Dr. S. A. Lamb, chairman of the selection committee, said last night. Only those considered certain of giving a good account of themselves will wear the maple leaf.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

Chapter 44.

Pointer had been telephoning to the police at the places where his other houses were. None of them presented any such peculiarity. That half shut-up house, in which nevertheless, Lady Ida lived, intrigued the chief inspector. John Tait had scratched out the name of the owner before he went there this morning. He had not mentioned where he was going to any one. Why this double caution? And the secret entry into the house and apparent disappearance there of a man who might easily have made those marks on the pen top. Pointer had hoped to see Strange biting something, pencil or pen, as he stood waiting for Miss Dundas in her studio, but he had been disappointed. The chief inspector had with him, however, a piece of paper on which were several dark smudges. While waiting for Strange, he had substituted for the thick coconut fiber mat inside the door a very thin little rug that had lain in front of the divan, and under this he had put a sheet of white paper, with a blue carbon paper on top, which had been brought him with his outfit. These smudges showed the very approximate size of big shoes. They were useless for identification, for the soles that had stood on them had no marks, but they did give a very clear idea of length and breadth, point of toe, and size of heel' Armed with a duplicate, Pointer once more made his way to the house in Palace Green. He was making for the side door, where, after but a second's work, he let himself in. The lock was a good one, harder to pick than any Yale except for such an implement as Pointer carried in what looked like a fountain pen. It had also been well oiled, and much used, he fancied, from its ease of working and noiselessness. The same was true of the hinges which, as he carefully inspected them from the inside, showed bright marks of use.

Facing him, as he closed the door behind him without latching it, was an unswept passage that stretched to some equally black steps leading to a door into the house. All the same size, coming and going. The last made were entering the house. Compared with his blue prints they fitted exactly. So Strange was in the habit of using this passage constantly, and yet no one swept it or cleaned it. . . . the steps told the same tale of neglect and usage. The door had another Chubbs lock, black with lack of attention, yet showing a sort of bright star where many times a careless key had been thrust into the little slit. So many were the marks around it that Pointer deduced a hand quite unusually unsteady. Indeed, there was one that suggested a drunkard's random thrust Just as Strange's face had suggested drink. Very carefully he tried his tool. He expected bolts on the other side, and found that he was right. Top and bottom the door resisted pressure. He did not try further but turned his attention to the wall of the house. Half way round the unused part he found what he hoped to feel—warmth. This part of the house was heated. He located some pipes that looked like waste water and again he felt the unmistakable difference that meant that warm water had passed down one not long ago, from a bathroom, he judged. All the windows showed dark and without any hint of lights. He did not dare climb up. However agile and light on his feet, six-foot four weighs more than these staples were meant to support. He had learned quite enough to satisfy him, and caution was the greatest need here. With infinite care he let himself out and made his way swiftly to his car.

Ward-Thynne was at a kins-woman's ball. A message, and he joined Pointer in the latter's car.

"I rather expected to be arrested ——" the young man said cheerfully, "and stuffed myself with Westmacott facts until I could hardly get into my dress clothes."

"I'll take everything over that you've found out," Pointer assured him gratefully, and Westmacott's life was swiftly detailed to him. Finally Ward-Thynne reached his marriage. "Westmacott married Lady Blanche Bohun. Then came his tragedy. She died a year later, when her child was born, and the child—a boy—turned out to be an idiot. Mercifully, he too, died some years later, while undergoing treatment abroad, it's said, and Westmacott was free of an awful load. Since then he has been the target of more marriage aims than a prince of the blood royal. I told you about Miss Etta Naylor——" and the story continued. Pointer asked many questions.

When Ward-Thynne had poured out the last word that he knew about the absent millionaire, he was set down at the house where he had been picked up, and Pointer blessed him for his hard work.

"Should you find any gaps, apply to your own A. C. for the filling. Major Pelham is one of Westmacott's friends, though not so close a one as Tait was," and with that Ward-Thynne returned to his dancing.

Pointer drove on to the Yard, thinking hard. He saw, if not light, then at least something that might lead to the light.

Late though it was, the assistant commissioner and Superintendent Dartmoor were both still at the Yard. There were some very big affairs on just now. But they gave the chief inspector an immediate interview, and listened with absorbed attention to what he had to say.

Dartmoor, naturally, was most interested in the case as it concerned Lord Mills.

"I thought Tait might be the caller of the morning . . . if so, I wonder what lies back of it. . . ." He went on to tell the chief inspector that the keenest man at the task had been going through the affairs of all those companies on whose board both men figured, and had so far come on no trace of difficulty, let alone obscurity. "Solvent, all of them. Straightforward, too, is what he says, and he couldn't be two seconds in face of a crooked balance sheet and not smell a rat," Dartmoor said with one of his frequent double metaphors. "So Mr. Naylor thinks it's suicide, and that Tait intended to tell us all about it. Suicide for fear of cancer . . . I wonder! We've had a letter about Mills——" The superintendent turned more directly to Pointer. The assistant commissioner already knew about it. "From another friend. Enclosing a letter, Mills must have posted just before he shot himself. Oh, yes, the letter says he intends doing so. And is undoubtedly genuine. Mills gives no reason except that he's tired of life. Not worth the candle, he says. It's brief. Here it is." He drew it from some papers he had with him and passed it over.

It was, as he said, brief and firm enough. In it Mills wrote that he had decided to go out of life, as he disliked the thought of middle-age, let alone of the years still further ahead. It was a letter that told absolutely nothing of the man's real reasons.

Pointer handed it back without a comment. "Even Lady Mills can't go against that," Dartmoor went on. "Influenza effects is what she calls it and intends the coroner to call it. Why not? But it means, of course, that Brown is now at liberty, released without a stain upon his character."

Pointer was looking at some brief notes on the banking accounts of Tait and Lord Mills. Both showed certain similarities. Both had lately developed a habit of drawing out sums of 500 pounds followed by 50 pounds, and both were traced to money exchanges where the sums so drawn were changed into French thousand franc notes, untraceable therefore.

LAD'S BODY FOUND.

TORONTO.—The body of Dave McConnell, 14, was taken from the Turning basin here early to-day near the spot where his bicycle had previously been recovered.

Fears were aroused for his safety when he did not return home last night and following information from chums that he had been playing on the edge of the basin, a search was begun.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 11

The astrological forecast for this day is a rather important one, with many lively developments in employment, especially in those affairs relating to writings, publishing, promotion and also trade, commerce and kindred dealings. There is prospect of favors, increase or promotion at the hands of superiors or those in power as well as other profitable and progressive situations. An altogether eventful day may be looked for. Young people are especially favored.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active, progressive and profitable year, with much stirring in all directions. There may be advancement, preferment or favors from employers, and all pertaining to writings, letters or publicity should thrive. It is a time for pushing with enterprise.

A child born on this day should be versatile, with leanings toward commerce as well as intellectual occupations, and find high favor with employers.

JEWISH SCIENTIST SUCCEEDS IN MAKING BRAN DIGESTIBLE

Breaks Down Most Valuable Part of Wheat to Extract Its Food.

OF GREAT VALUE

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, June 29.—An epoch-making invention, which may well mean a revolutionary transformation of the habits and in the health of all mankind—Mussolini calls it the greatest scientific acquisition since the invention of electricity—has been made by a student in the agricultural department of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. The name of this young benefactor of mankind is Ephraim Rabinovitz. He is one of those heroic Hebraic chalutzin (pioneers) who are turning the Land of Israel once more into a garden spot "flowing with milk and honey." His invention has to do with something that concerns everyone of us most intimately and for which millions upon millions of men—many vainly alas—pray every day. It is an invention that has to do with our daily bread.

Ephraim Rabinovitz has succeeded in extracting the food value out of that part of the wheat which is known as bran and which was hitherto indigestible. By far the greater food value of the wheat berry is contained in the bran, which is full-charged with energizing and healthful elements. Up till now it was indigestible. By his invention young Rabinovitz has given man the full value of the wheat, something for which generations upon generations, for thousands of years have striven in vain. He has given the world a new bread, which is both 10 per cent of the wheat berry and 100 per cent digestible.

Bran Should Be Saved

While most of us prefer white bread and refining and milling processes have, in response to this demand, attained a point of perfection in turning out flour almost as white as snow, it remains a fact that the whiter the flour the less nourishing is the bread made of it. It has been scientifically attested that "in eating white bread we consume 70 per cent only of the wheat berry, this being the white flour derived in process of milling. The 30 per cent eliminated is mainly the husk or shell of the berry—the bran.' The bran is one of the richest parts of the grain, but we discard it, or, at best reserve it as food for animals.

Of course there is plenty of brown bread to be had in every country. But the more highly civilized man became, the more he insisted on white bread. You may call this a form of decadence, but it remains a fact nevertheless that the French people scarcely know what brown bread is. The peasant peoples of Europe, the Russians, for instance, and the Bulgar and the peoples inhabiting the Jugo-Slav kingdom eat preponderantly brown bread, that is bread with a heavy percentage of bran—roughage some of our bakers call it. Bulgarians have the record of longevity in the world. There are thousands of people in that country over a hundred years of age. Nowhere in the world do you see such magnificent specimens of humanity as in Albania, Montenegro, Croatia and Slovenia. If you don't believe this read the new book by Louis Adamic: "A Native Returns," which deals with those peoples and which is fascinating both American and England at present.

No Food Vaue

No matter how much bran is left in the flour, its operation is wholly functional. As food value bran is nil. For the simple reason that it is indigestible. The digestive juices of the human body are powerless to break up the husks of the berry. Yet within these husks there lie imprisoned the most precious nutritive elements of the wheat. The cells are richly charged with albuminoid matter, oil and those unqualifiable things named vitamines, which may perhaps be called the impregnation of the sunlight, the greatest health giver in the universe, and in fact the source of all life.

But we cannot get at these veritable treasures. At least we could not until Ephraim Rabinovitz made his discovery. This man has invented and patented an apparatus for breaking up the impregnable cells of the husk and liberating their contents for the use of mankind.

In the process perfected by Mr. Rabinovitz there is no flour extraction at all. The dough is composed of the whole grain. This is the revolutionary aspect of the invention. The dough is twice as nutritious as the best flour now on the market anywhere in the world.

Two countries are officially experimenting with Mr. Rabinovitz's invention: France and Italy. The military value of the new bread can easily be imagined especcially to countries like Italy and Gemany which can scarcely supply their own population with bread when cut off from the world-markets which may happen in wartime. But experiments have advanced to such a point that special mills are to be erected in Britain shortly for the manufacture of this real whole-wheat loaf. For, so far, no matter what names are given to the most perfect loaf, the best possible was never within reach until now.

MOVIES POLISH CODE OF MORALS

Industry Looks to Will Hayes to Lead it From Wilderness of Indecent Films.

REVIVE RULES OF 1930.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 10.—(A.P.)—The motion picture industry looked to-day to a forgotten code of morals and Will H. Hays to lead it out of the wilderness of asserted indecency in films.

Returning to Hollywood from New York, the president of the association of motion picture producers in a statement concerning the strong criticism heaped upon the movies by religious organizations, said: "Some of it may be justified, some may be entirely unwarranted —all of it is understood, none of it is resented."

Later, through a spokesman, Hays termed as "absurd" a suggestion he might resign from the job he has held since 1922 at a salary of $150,000 a year. He refused to comment upon the virtual demand of a leading member of the Interfaith Conference in New York that he give up his post.

In the heat of the attack upon its productions, Hollywood suddenly recalled that four years ago it had drawn upa code of morals, a re-reading of the almost forgotten code showed that had Hollywood adhered to the principles laid down there probably wolld have been no need to-day to spread oil on troubled waters.

Nude or semi-nude art does not necessarily make its use in films moral, the code specified. mong other things it shunned were presentations of illegal drug traffic, white slavery, profanity, improper dances, improper costumes, distorted history, the glorification of the criminal.

Harry Cohn of Columbia pledged his studio to "never again make a smutty picture." He said the studio had made one such production and realized little upon it financially. Other producers make no comment.

HEAVY POTATO LOSS BY BLIGHT

Thorough Spraying Gives Effective Control—Improves Quality.

USE BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

It has been demonstrated by experimental work conducted by the Division of Botany, Dominion Experimental Farms Branch, that approximately one-third of the potato crop may be lost yearly because of late blight and rot in the field. It has been further demonstrated that 50 to almost 100 per cent. of this loss can be prevented by thorough spraying and that the keeping quality of the sprayed potatoes is much improved.

The destructive disease appears in almost any potato field during late August or early September and is recognized by the appearance of dark, water-soaked spots on the leaves. In wet weather a fine grey mildew covers these areas on the under surface of the leaf. In reality this growth is made up of many branches bearing countless numbers of spores, which are, in fact, the seeds or fruiting bodies of a parasitic mould which feeds inside of the leaf in affected parts. This parasite is the late blight fungus and the affected area on the leaf is late blight. The spores, of course, spread the disease. On the tubers it appears as purplish to dark brown sunken areas, liable to cause a destructive rot in storage.

Method of Control.

Late blight may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture, making the applications at least five times for Irish Cobblers and six to eight times for Green Mountains, beginning when the plants are about six to eight inches high. The later applications are very important. The spray mixture generally recommended is composed of four pounds of bluestone (copper sulphate), four pounds of lime, and forty gallons of water. Lime may be of the hydroted form and should be of the hydrated form and should Stone lime is most satisfactory and should be thoroughly slaked. The most economical method is to prepare a stock solution of the bluestone and the lime in suitable containers. Casks of forty-gallon capacity are a convelient size. In the first cask place about thirty gallons of water, and dissolve is it eighty pounds of bluestone by suspendiig the chemical overnight, to save time in a sack just below the surface of the water. When the chemical is dissolved add sufficient water to make up to forty gallons. In the second cask place eighty pounds of the best stone lime and slake it by adding water gradually. When the process is complete add sufficient water to make up to 40 gallons. These casks contain two pounds of bluestone and lime, respectively per gallon. The casks should be covered to prevent evaporation and exclude dirt and other substances which may interfere with proper application of the spray mixture.

To prepare the mixture for spraying, first determine the capacity of the spray tank. Assuming this to be eighty gallons, pour into the tank seventy-two gallons of water and add four gallons of the thoroughly stirred bluestone solution (eight pounds of bluestone), and also four gallons of the well-stirred milk of lime (eight pounds of lime). The lime solution should be strained through cheesecloth or other suitable material or the strainer provided with the sprayer. The stock solutions of bluestone and lime should never be mixed before further diluting with water.

Turner, Speed Flier Barred From Race

DETROIT, July 10 (AP)—Col. Roscoe Turner, United States speed flyer, has been disqualified as a competitor in the International air race from London to Melbourne, Australia, he revealed here to-day.

He announced he had received notice from the Royal Aero Club of London, saying his entry had been technically disqualified.

He explained the technicality involved the fact he made the mistake of cabling the British air race officials that he would fly a Douglas twin motor low wing racer, while his entry bisnk designated a Boeing racer.

TRIO CAUGHT IN STORE ESCAPE LONE EMPLOYE

THESSALON, Ont., July 10 (CP) —Provincial and local police to-day were searching for three men who fled when disturbed as they were attempting to burgle J. A. Town's store about midnight. Harry Phillips, employed at the store, saw a light and went to investigate.

Finding three men who were loading goods from shelves into a car, he marshalled them out the front door, but his companion, Frank Chisholm, had gone round to the back door and when the burglars saw Phillips was alone and unarmed, they fled. The car was found to have been stolen from Telford Parkinson, Mayor of Orangeville.

NEW CHURCH CONSECRATED AT BONARLAW

Lord Bishop of Ontario, Right Rev. J. Lyons, D.D., officiates at Service.

ASSISTING CLERGY

BONARLAW, July 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Lord Bishop of Ontario, Right Rev. J. Lyons, D.D., assisted by fifteen clergymen consecrated the new church of St. Mark's at Bonarlaw. The congregation could not all gain admission although many extra seats were provided and about one hundred and twenty-five persons partook of Holy Communion.

The first part of the service was the consecration of the church after the Petition was read by the rector, Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne, and the reading of Psalm 24 by the congregation led by Rev. Canon R. W. Spence of Camden East. At the conclusion of this portion of the service, Archdeacon Dumbrille read "The Sentence of Consecration."

Petition was then made to the Bishop for dedication of the new memorial windows and the processional cross and choir vestments. Mr. W. J. Barlow, people's warden, made the request.

His Lordship dedicated these as requested and also the two altar lights.

The Communion service was taken by the Bishop with Rev. T. H. H. Hall and Rev. S. E. Morton, former rectors of St. Mark's Church, reading the epistle and gospel. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne of Tweed, and was very impressive. In addition to those assisting as above, Bishop's Chaplain, Rural Dean Rev. A. B. Caldwell, Rev. John Brownlee, Rev. G. G. Wright, Rev. A. E. Smith, Rev. A. S. McConnell, Rev. T. Floyd, Rev. R. N. Grant, and Rev. F. Beazer.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers sent by the ladies of the congregation and the altar flowers were a gift of the church wardens.

At the conclusion of the service lunch was served by the ladies in the basement of the church to about two hundred persons who took their plates to the rectory grounds adjoining the church and a very pleasant social hour was spent.

COUNCIL OFFERS ITS BEST WISHES

weeks when they were dismantled for repairs and rebuilding.

On Mr. Thompson's motion, seconded by Deputy-reeve McKeel, it was decided to allow Mr. Whitelaw a rebate of $10.

A bill from the Kingston General Hospital for treatment of three indigent patients was discussed by the council, but it was agreed that these cases were not chargeable to Campbellford as the patients were not residents of the town. The account was not accepted, on Mr. MacDonald's motion, seconded by Mr. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson requested that their names be withdrawn from the petition for a sewer on Queen street. This could not be complied with as the work had been advertised and tender called.

Two tenders were received last night for the job which is planned for two hundred feet, but no action was taken, on Reeve MacColl's motion, seconded by Mr. Long. It is understood that this project may be proceeded with later as unemployment relief work.

In regard to the license of the Daly Tea Company, it was stated that the company has two representatives in town, and therefore does not come under the Peddlers' By-law.

An Advertising Stunt.

A. Rappaport was given permission to build a portable stand ten feet square in front of the Hollywood Theatre on which he proposes to stage a boxing attraction during the four nights of the showing of the Baer-Carnera pictures, July 14 to 18. Two youths who have had some amateur experience in the mitt game will put on a few rounds merely for the purpose of attracting attention to the "big fight inside."

Councillor Thompson was inclined to oppose this request, remarking that it might stimulate pugnacity among local boys, but Mr. Rappaport was given permission to go ahead with his publicity feature, on a motion by Councillor A. D. Bennett, seconded by Reeve MacColl.

Mr. Thompson voted against the motion.

A letter from A. L. Killaly, Peterborough, superintendent of the Trent Canal, referred to the diving board and chute erected by Mr. Rappaport off the canal wall at the rear of his theatre.

Mr. Rappaport told the council the equipment had cost him $50, and he had built it as a convenience for swimmers, and also because it would attract those who were strong swimmers, and by that means secure protection for others. The Department had required him to pay a fee of ten dollars for permission to build the conveniences for swimmers.

The council's attitude was that it offered no objection to Mr. Rappaport's action, but at the same time assumed no responsibility in connection with the diving board and chute. This was the substance of the reply which Mayor Carr was instructed to forward to Mr. Killaly.

The by-law respecting the peddling of fruit and vegetables, passed in May, 1923, will be redrafted and brought up to date.

In regard to the erection and removal of street signs, it was stated that the council had no authority to issue permits for erection, but could restrict location of signs and issue orders for their removal.

New Stop Signs

Reeve MacColl's suggestion that the signs and indication marks for the parking of cars be repainted was left over to the August meeting, but the repair of several stop signs, together with a proposal that new signs be placed at Market and Ranney street, where a fatal accident recently occurred, was referred to the Road and Bridge Committee by Reeve MacColl's motion, seconded by Mr. Thompson.

FOWLER DEATH IS ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Investigates Death of Young Motor Cyclist on Lindsay Highway.

FATALLY INJURED.

LINDSAY, Ont., July 10 (Special to Examiner).—At the inquest set last night to enquire into the death of John George Fowler, the jury brought in the following verdict: "We the jury empanelled to enquire into the death of John George Fowler, find that he came to his death on Highway No. 7, about one mile east of Reaboro, in the Township of Ops, on Saturday evening, between 9 and 10 p.m., on June 30th, 1934, from the result of collision between a motorcycle driven by himself and a British American oil truck driven by Robert Meyers, and find that the death was accidental."

Coroner Dr. W. G. Collison presided, and Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson conducted the questining. Dr. G. N. Earle of Omemee told of being called to the scene of the accident and of examining the deceased and found that he had a fractured left instep, torn pelvis, fractured wrist and other injuries. Dr. Earle stated that these injuries were sure to be fatal, and that the death must have been almost instantaneous.

FARM HAND IS BADLY INJURED

Young Man is Kicked by Horse While Putting Team in Stable.

GLIDDON RESIGNS

LINDSAY, July 10.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Ivan Hadwin, aged 22 years, a farm hand employed by Everett Mark, of Mariposa Township, is in the Ross Hospital suffering from serious internal injuries. The youth was putting a team of horses in the stable, and after giving one of the animals a slap with the reigns, it kicked him with both feet in the left shoulder and side of the face. He was knocked unconscious, but later revived sufficiently to regain his feet. When walking a few steps he again became unconscious and was carried into the home. Dr. Hall, of Little Britain, was summoned and it was found that no bones were broken. His condition seemed favorable, but on Sunday his condition was considerably worse. He was rushed to the hospital and further examination disclosed serious internal injuries.

B. Strano, of Peterborough, through his solicitor, C. G. Frost, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident. A car driven by S. F. Cullen, of Bobcaygeon, was run into by Mr. Strano"s truck on Monday, July 2, on the Bobcaygeon road. A fine of $25.00 and costs, totalling in all $34.90, was imposed.

Gliddon Resigns.

Rupert Gliddon, of Peterborough, it is announced, has resigned as leader of the 45th Regiment Band. This organization did not receive a grant from the town this year, and the regiment has been obliged to assume the full expense of salary. Col. R. I. Moore, O.C. of the regiment, to-day paid a high tribute to Mr. Gliddon's services. He had brought the band up to a high state of efficiency and had made great personal sacrifices for the organization. His resignation has been received with regret by the officers of the regiment.

Wesley Dancey, of Mariposa, was acquitted on the charge of assauting a seventy-year-old woman resident of that township in a dispute over the rental of a garden plot from the plaintiff. The accused and his wife, who were the only witnesses, claimed that he did not strike the woman, but that she hit him with such force as to cause the bruises on her arm. The magistrate suggested that the parties interested get together and patch up their differences.

GANG LEAVES TRAIL OF STOLEN AUTOS

Thieves Operating in Lindsay Area Include Many Gas Stations.

LINDSAY, July 10.—The car thieves who broke into gas stations at Derryville, Lindsay, Cambray and other places and stole a Toronto car, abandoning it at Rosedale; stealing another car at Rosedale, and then again at Cambray, Bobcaygeon, Schomberg and Woodbridge, each time changing the license plates, Sunday stole the car belonging to the Mayor of Orangeville, and, it is suspected, doubled their tracks back to this locality. On Sunday, also, Rev. Mr. Johnston's car, at Fenelon Falls, was tampered with and the license plates stolen and exchanged for those of the Orangeville car. The thieves also broke into a gas station at Manilla, stealing a quantity of cigarettes, chewing gum, chocolate bars, etc.

21-Pound 'Lunge Is Taken In Bradley Bay

CAMPBELLFORD, July 10.—Fred Schrank of Akron, O., and the twenty-pound muskellunge he landed yesterday near Bradley Bay deserve mention in the piscatorial news from the district.

This fair sized fish—for after the 42-pounder up at Healey Falls anything around a mere twenty pounds is to be mentioned with no superlatives—was easy picking. Mr. Schrank was simply walking along the wall at Lock No. 8 near Bradley Bay, testing the alluring potency of a June bug bait, when the twenty-pounder, measuring forty inches, grabbed at it, and after the thrill of landing the musky the Ohio visitor's holiday was already a complete success, with a snapshot to prove it. The middle reaches of the Trent, on both sides of Campbellford, evidently is still well stocked with muskies.

Seven boats passed through the local locks yesterday.

Billie Redcliffe, three years old, suffered head injuries in a fall from the hayloft of the barn of his home Sunday evening. Dr. Stewart, who attended the little chap, reported his injuries as painful but not serious.

Within a week 140 tons of dead cockchafers were delivered to the authorities of Weinfeden, Switzerland, who are paying a bounty of six cents a pound in a campaign to rid the country of the insects.

NEW LIBERAL REGIME STARTS TODAY

LIQUOR, HYDRO COMMISSIONS ESTABLISHED

Lyon Heads Latter at $10,000—Roebuck, McQuestern Both Aid Unpaid.

$10,000 FOR ODETTE.

Necessity of Special Session Fading—No Date on Beer Sale.

TORONTO, July 11 (C.P.).—New Liquor and Hydro Commissions were established to-day by the Liberal Government as its first official acts since taking office. In both cases a substantial reduction is made in the salary cost of the Commissions.

Members of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission appointed are: T. Stewart Lyon, chairman at a salary of $10,000, and Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General, and Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, both of whom will serve without salary.

The new Liquor Board is a one-man organization, composed of I. G. Odette at a salary of $10,000 a year.

The new ministers were all smiles as they entered and emerged from the meeting. After it they had to go through a long ordeal before the newsreel cameras when Mr. Hepburn introduced each minister for the benefit of theatre-goers.

Session Thursday

The next cabinet session will be to-morrow when the question of unemployment relief will be taken up. In view of the possibility the federal government may eliminate or curtail its contribution to direct relief the new government will get to work at once finding out how Ontario may be affected and what action, if any, is necessary.

As soon as possible the government will launch its probe into the "tollgate" system which Mr. Hepburn during the election campaign, alleged existed in connection with the sale of liquor to the Liquor Control Board. Arthur Slaght, K.C. who has been named as the man to conduct the probe was a visitor at the Parliament Buildings to-day, and was present at part of the cabinet meeting.

Mr. Odette, the prospective liquor commissioner, had prepared a memorandum on liquor admin-

Warship Likely to Visit Scene No Matter What Negotiations Bring.

LONDON, July 11 A.P.). — The Foreign Office announced to-day that a warship may be sent to the Norwegian fishing grounds, locale of a controversy with Norway over alleged interference with British trawlers.

The British Government recently sent a formal protest to Norway concerning what they called interference by Norwegian naval authorities with British boats.

A delegation from the British Trawlers' Association visited Anthony Eden, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, to-day, and Eden told them "in any event an early visit of a British warship to the fishing grounds will be considered."

Eden's statement followed upon formal requests from the Trawlers' Association for naval protection and for satisfactory adjustment of present conditions.

The Foreign Office announcement said the British Government was considering sending a warship to the scene, no matter what the decision might be reached in the meantime between the two governments, or what might develop in the way of negotiations.

Thunderstorm Plays Havoc Over Ontario

(By The Canadian Press)

One of the most severe electrical storms of the year swept an erratic course over Ontario to-day, causing minor damage at some points and for a time disrupting Hydro services. Most extensive damage was caused at Sarnia, where a Canadian National Railway coal chute was struck by lightning and burned with 300 tons of coal. An employee was momentarily stunned.

Heavy rainfall was recorded at Kitchener, with crops being greatly benefitted. No damage was reported. Fire at the home of Miss A. Whelihan at St. Mary's was believed caused by lightning, but again crops in the area were helped.

The Niagara peninsula missed the downpour. St. Catharines reporting no rain. Only light showers fell in the Brantford area.

At Toronto, the storm was very severe and the rainfall heavy. Some street cars were temporarily put out of action and streets flooded.

BEAUTY QUEEN'S CAMPUS DEATH REAL MYSTERY

Professor's Daughter Introduced to Fraternity Cook by Medical Student as Wife.

STAY ALL NIGHT.

Youth Disappears After Calling Doctor—No Marks Violence on Victim.

NORMAN, Okla., July 11 (A.P.)—A campus death mystery with a beauty queen the victim and a pharmacy student and a fraternity house cook in leading roles baffled authorities here to-day.

Dead from undetermined causes was Marian Mills, 20-year-old daughter of Elbert M. Mills, an associated professor at the University of Oklahoma.

Questioned about the circumstances under which the girl's body was found in her home was Mrs. Hazel Brown, cook for a campus fraternity house.

The girl's companion during an overnight stay at the home of Mrs. Brown, Neal Meyers, El Reno pharmacy student, is being sought. He disappeared after telephoning a physician to come to the house.

"The circumstances are suspicious. It looks like murder," said County Attorney Paul Updegraff.

Cause Death Unknown

Dr. E. F. Stephens, summoned to the house, said his examination failed to disclose the cause of death. He found the girl, dead, fully clothed across a bed when he arrived at the Brown home late yesterday afternoon. There were no marks of

Gone Nudist

LEXINGTON, N.C., July 11.—C.P.)—Presumably, Ralph Davis was a nudist to-day—but not by choice.

TORNADO RAGES OVER ILLINOIS

Dozen Buildings in Jacksonville Razed—Circus is Hard Hit.

$500,000 DAMAGE.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 11. — (A.P.).—A tornado struck here late last night, injuring at least seven persons, one seriously, and causing $500,000 damage to property.

For 40 minutes a high wind swept this vicinity, unroofing 12 buildings, toppling two homes, tearing out bricks and masonry and smashing in windows.

Originating 15 miles north of here, the wind swept a narrow path southward, destroying lights and communication with the exception of a single wireless outlet. It was accompanied by a torrential rain and hail.

Several hundred persons had just left the Sam B. Dill circus, playing in the north-east part of the city when the wind caught the big tent, whipping it over. The circus suffered between $30,000 and $40,000 damage.

Nixon Collects

TORONTO, July 11 (C.P.)—Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretarry in the Ontario government of Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn, will sport his new pearl grey "topper" in the next session of the Legislature as the result of a bet two years ago.

Back in 1932 Mr. Nixon accepted the bet of then Premier George S. Henry, the Premier wagering the Conservatives would win the next election.

Mr. Nixon "collected" his bet yesterday. It was a size too large but the Provincial Secretary magnanimously poohpoohed any ulteior motive by Mr. Henry and stuffed strips of paper unde the lining to make the hat fit.

WHEAT FUTURES SHARP UPTURN

U. S. Wheat Crop Will Be Smallest in 30 Years.

PRICES UP SIX CENTS.

WINNIPEG, July 11 (C.P.). — Wheat futures turned on the heat to-day and in a wild orgy of bullish enthusiasm bounded up the price ladder for gains of 6¾c to 6¾c, bringing back to the Winnipeg Grain Exchange the top levels of June 1 last.

The smashing price gains went hand in hand with the announcement from Washington yesterday that spring and winter wheat crops of the Union would be the smallest in 30 years; reports of large European crop losses from drought, and the need of further rain in Western Canada.

Closing figures left wheat futures at the day's top levels. July option ended at 83c, October at 84½c, and December at 85¾c.

Wide upturns at Chicago and Liverpool and export sales of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were also factors in luring speculative purchasers into the market Chicago wheat sky-rocketed the five-cent limit and the English market showed gains of 2d.

Volume of trade was the largest in weeks as traders yelled across the pit in wild excitement executing fistfulls of purchasing orders.

Coarse grains followed wheat upwards and cash grain spreads reflected the export business with

Three Brothers Sentenced For Murder

Here are shown the three Indians convicted of murdering Indian Department Constable F. H. Gisborne at Canford Reserve, near Merritt, B.C. They were sentenced by Mr. Justice Denis Murphy, at Vernon, to hang on October 28. Gisborne and British Columbia Police Constable Percy Carr were slain on May 23 when they went to apprehend Eneas George in connection with the stabbing of his wife. According to the evidence, the battered bodies of both men were thrown into the Nicola river, but onlyi that of Gisborne was recovered. Those in the pictures are: (1) Eneas George; (2) Alex George; (3) Richardson George. The murder was one of the most brutal in the criminal history of the province. Gisborne's body was found to have been terribly battered.

INDIAN BROTHERS TO HANG FOR MURDER OF CONSTABLES

Justice Moves Swiftly in Most Brutal Murder in British Columbia.

HANG OCTOBER 26

(By Percy C. Richards—C.P. Canadian Correspondent).

VICTORIA, B.C., July 11.—That British justice moves quickly but surely has been evidenced again in the conviction of three Indians, charged with the muder of Constable F. H. Gisborne, of the Dominion Indian Department at the Canford reserve, near Merritt, B.C., and their sentencing to be hanged on October 26.

Gisborne and Constable Percy Carr of the British Columbia provincial police were slain on May 23, and their bodies believed thrown in the Nicola River. The body of Gisborne was recovered, and was revealed in a terribly battered state, indicating the brutality of the murder. So far the body of Carr has not been found.

Police immediately investigated the case, trailed the Indians through the interior and brought them to the nearest town, Vernon, where they were tried before Mr. Justice Denis Murphy, found guilty, and sentenced to hang in little more than a month.

According to the evidence, Gisborne and Carr were slain when they went to get Eneas George, in connection with the stabbing of his wife. Eneas and his brothers, Richardson and Alexander, according to the evidence, attacked the officers. Gisborne was battered to death and Carr was still groaning from a severe wound when tossed into the river.

Unless the case is appealed and won, or clemency is shown the Indian mother-in-law of Eneas will have to take care of the ten children left behind by him and his brother, Richardson.

The case has been the greatest crime sensation in British Columbia in several years. Adding to the interest in the case was the fact that Hon. Gordon Sloan, attorney-general, conducted the prosecution, which is the first time an attorney-general has conducted a case in court here for many years.

$30,000 Blaze Hits Chatham Building

CHATHAM, Ont., July 11 (C.P.). —Authorities to-day placed at $30,000 the monetary loss suffered in a blaze that swept through the upper part of the McKeough Building, in the heart of the downtown business section last night, driving tenants of a dozen neighboring flats to the street with whatever belongings they could carry.

The flames, of unknown origin, raged for an hour and a half before brought under control by firemen, aided by volunteers, playing nine lines of hose on the building. Water and smoke was blamed for most of the damage to lower sections of the building.

Most of the damage was incurred by tenants of the McKeough Block, though owners of neighboring stores suffered from smoke damage to their stocks. No one was injured.

THOUSANDS ARE REJUVENATED BY NEW GLAND TRANSPLANTATION

Russian Doctor in France Obtains Marvellous Results From Grafting.

SAVING AFRICANS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, June 30.—Presenting Doctor Sergei Voronoff, tall, of distinguished appearance, an excellent linguist, his French just tinged enough with that melodious Russian accent to give it piquancy, withal a map of pleasant good humor, the last an almost invariable attribute. I find, of people with a cosmopolitan background and culture. Somehow Dr. Voronoff made me think of his friend, that other trail-blazing scientist, albeit in another domain, the great Sigmund Freud, as he sat there before me puffing away reflectively at a long fragrant cigar. That's the way Freud smokes, I remembered suddenly—the same restful, tranquil manner, the same long draws. Curious, isn't it? How a smoke during an interview has the effect of putting men at ease.

Deadly Tsetse Fly

But this isn't interviewing Dr. Voronoff. When I called the doctor had just returned from Africa where he is carrying on experimentations on behalf of the French government. Our conversation naturally began with the subject of so-called dark continent. Africa is much in the minds of men these days. That immense world, an empire in itself, is darker today than ever before. I am not speaking of the color of man's skin, of course. Awful, horrible things are going on there, things that make you utterly disgusted with civilization. Andre Gide, the master of modern French literature, has been over there investigating so have Batouala. Pierre MacOrlan, Andre Malraux, the discoverer of the Queen of Sheba's capital and others. The things they report—why they simply cannot be repeated in detail—so utterly putrid and corrupt.

The tsetse fly, which brings sleeping sickness, a disease of which more than twenty million people have died in the last few years according to conservative estimates, that fly is by no means the worst enemy of the black man. Some day, soon, I hope, probably later in the year, I will tell you of the human enemies of the natives when I go to see with my own eyes. Dr. Voronoff was speaking of the fly.

Are Poorly Fed

"The natives easily fall victim to the sleeping sickness because of their physiological misery," he said. Physiological misery is a polite way of saying hunger. "The black mothers have insufficient and poor milk, with the result that infant mortality is something frightful all over For years the population has been stationary in some regions, going back rapidly in others. Cannibalism is on the increase again, precisely because of hunger. Men eat human beings, eat the dead, because there is no other meat."

Dr. Voronoff is busy introducing a new type of cattle. Working on whatever indigenous stocks there are left, he is trying to fortify the bulls, build up their size, augment their energy, their muscular forces and their reproductive capacities, for that is one way of saving Africa from depopulation.

How is this done? "The grafting of the pituitary gland influences the growth of the bones," he said, "because it supplies the young animals with a surplus of the internal secretion from that gland and it also heightens their stature. The grafting of the thyroid and testicular glands, done at the same time, contribute to increased strength. This operation gives new energy, extends the endurance of the animals, extends their capacity of procreation and makes them in general more useful and of longer usefulness to man."

Where is the material for grafting obtained? "That's easily found," he said "we take it from the slaughtered beasts. I have no doubt that we will be able to make it artificially in time to come."

Work Is Successful

At the invitation of the French governemnt, Dr. Voronoff has undertaken several extensive voyages through the interior of Africa, West Africa, Senegal, the West Soudan, French Guinea, etc., to make a study of the condition of indigenous and imported cattle stocks, sheep, goats, etc. The experiments, he carried out, have been eminently successful. He has taught his method of grafting to hundreds of veterinary surgeons. The sum total of his work in animals, according to official government reports, is highly satisfactory. From an economic and social point of view without compeer.

"But ,Doctor," I said, "how did you come to the point of grafting new glands, or rather monkey-glands on human beings?"

"In 1919 I made my first experiment on human beings," he replied. "At that time I had behind me one hunderd and twenty successful graftings on animals. I was then director of the laboratory of experimental surgery of the College de France. It was my duty to make an advance in science. I was not a medical professor. A professor of medicine has for his task to teach acquired medical science to his pupils. At the College de France our duty is research, advancing knowledge by experiment."

"Since you experimented on animals, you must have had your tussles with the anti-vivisectionists?" I interjected. "Of course, of course," he came back smilingly. "They have tender hearts, messieurs les antivivisecteurs, for the animals in our laboratories. But what are we to do, must we experiment on human beings to discover new medical processes which may save lives, save us from infirmities or bring us back from grave maladies? Without experimentations no progress is possible in medicine. So we have to choose: man or beast? I chose animals. I know some who choose to experiment on human beings. I remember a famous surgeon. He is dead now. They have just erected a statue to his memory in Paris. He fully deserved it. He was a great operator and an innovator us students a lessons in a hospital discovered a procedure to take away enormous abdominal tumors in women without opening the abdomen, but by withdrawing them through the natural way, as if he has to do with a confinement case.

Lost First 22 Cases

"Well," went on Dr. Voronoff, "one day that master-surgeon gave us students a lesson in a hospital ward on the subject of his new operative technique. He was happy and proud to show us the large number of women who had been saved by his new method, but he suddenly interrupted his lesson by saying: "I am not speaking of my first twenty-two operations. They all died. I am showing you, gentlemen, some whom I have saved'..

"I admired that master," said Dr. Voronoff, "his coolness, his daring, but I also had a feeling of deep anguish when I thought of the 22 poor women who had to be sacrificed to save the lives of others. That's why later in life I chose to experiment on beasts rather than humans. Fortunately in my domain I do not need to sacrifice animals. Nor do I even hurt them."

I asked the doctor to tell me of his first gland transfer on humans.

"That was in 1913," he said. "I was considering a possibility of remedying the condition of children who had no thyroid gland. These children have a normal brain, still they are backward, often idiotic, because the brain cells need the secretion of the thyroid gland in order that thoughts may result. At the same time they are dreamy, half-asleep most of the time. They are stunted in their growth pitiful creatures, close to the animal state, an affliction to the families in which they are born.

Boy Showed Improvement

"It was one of these children that I treated in 1913. He was a boy of fifteen years of age. In the presence of nineteen scientists I grafted in his neck the thyroid gland of a chimpanzee. I followed the results carefully for two years. In he course of time, very little the fixed three months, the condition of that child improved. He began to grow. His face lost that yellow, earthly color. His face grew more oval. His movements, first so apathic, became lively. But, above all, his intelligence progressed very rapidly. After 14 months he went to school. I saw him the other day for a moment, a fine, healthy, intelligent young man, studying for an agricultural engineer at the university."

"There was quite an outcry at the time when you began to experiment with monkey-glands ,especially from the religious side," I said.

"Yes, yes, but I paid no attention," he came back. "If we were to pay attention to obscurantists, who say a child must remain idiotic because God made it so to punish or try the parents ,or crippled, or blind or whatever the case might be, well...." he shrugged his shoulders.

'I went to the monkeys because they are related to man. If I had to do with rabbits, I'd go to the hares, or if I had to do with horses, I'd go to donkeys. I can't do anything with a dog's thyroid gland on a human being, but with a chimpanzee's I can and have done it now hundreds and hundreds of times.

More Women Apply

"There are thousands of old men, now walking around, whose cases have been authenticated by responsible scientific bodies. They have been rejuvenated. They have had the beneficient effect of a gland-transplantation. It happens that an old man comes to me and that I see that his glands have been completely atrophied, that they have lost all vitality. I cannot restore that vitality. The man may benefit in general from my treatment, but I am not a purveyor of aphrodisiacs.'

"What about women?" I asked. "Do you not get far more women patients than men?"

"I do. Especially women around the danger age ,for the menopause (change of life) marks the beginning of old age for women. The eyes lose their sparkle, ,the body grows heavier, movements no longer have that juvenile grace, the muscles of the face relax and therewith ,of course, come wrinkles. Wiser and more coquetish than men, women prefer to remain young. To these women an ovarian grafting brings a transformation which is sometimes marvelous. Again the monkeys supply the materials. I use the ovaries of the female chimpanzee.

"My first grafting on a woman dates from 1924. Since that time thousands have been rejuvenated in my clinic. She was 64 years old and had been a widow for twenty years. She had a son, who was blind ,thirty years old, from whom she could not separate herself. To make a living she did literary work, translations, articles for magazines, etc. That way the two of them lived. But she grew older and she also grew weaker. Her income decreased rapidly. She was on the verge of destitution when she came to see me and pleaded with me to give her back her health and youth if possible, else she would have to kill her son and commit suicide.

Regained Her Youth

"I decided to help her. I grafted the ovaries of a female chimpanzee on her. That was June, 1924. I saw her again six months later Her body had lost that heaviness. The wrinkles on her face had almost disappeared, certainly as a result of the better tonicity of the muscles. But what overjoyed that good woman most of all was the way she could climb the stairs to her sixth storey apartment, work ten or twelve hours a day and earn her living. She is still working full force today—and now it's ten years ago since I treated her. I am very thankful to her because she gave me a chance to see the effect of a transplanted young ovary on the body of an aged woman."

"There are now scores of experts engaged in grafting glands, not only in Paris, but all over the world," he added.

"Doctor," I said, "I have one more question to ask today. It is this: Most women you treat, by far the greatest majority are rich women, are they not. The process is costly. You have the enormous expense of keeping your monkey-farm near Mentone. Will it ever be possible to extend your beneficient work to less wealthy people, to women of the working class. For they too are women and just as much entitled to live young and happily as the rich?"

"Well," he said, "a tremendous amount of research is being done in Russia in this direction. Other methods are applied there with remarkable results.'

"Russia, Russia, always Russia doing things? What about the women of France, and England and America and Canada? How long must they wait?"

"Don't know," he came back. "Depends on political conditions!"

Fashion Service

For today's sports rig light navy and white linen is used, which incidentally is much favored this season. It's a youthful choice.

The wee sketchlet shows prints can be smart, too. For instance, red and white plaided seersucker is snappy.

Piques, shirting cotton, shirting silks, etc., are very attractive for it.

The skirt buttons from waist to hem and is easily removed for hiking or tennis. It is worn with the skirt for spectator sports or golf.

Style No. 2757 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material for skirt and shorts; 1½ yards of 39-inch contrasting for blouse and trimming for shorts.

MUSICIAN STRIKE FINALLY ENDED

will be reabsorbed into Commisison programs as soon as possible.

Chairman's Statement.

Foloiwing the conference, the Commission chairman issued the following statement, which had the concurrence of the Federation president:

"Differences between the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission and the Canadian unions in affiliation with the Ame rican Federation of Musicians, were finally ended to-day and the foundations laid for friendly and candid relations in the future. This means the end of the musicians' strike which began at Montreal on June 10 and which was extended throughout Canada at midnight on June 15. Solutions of an amicable character were arrived at after lengthy discussions in the offices of the Commission at Otatwa, which began Tuesday afternoon. They were attended by Joseph N. Weber, the veteran president of the American Federation of musicians, who came from New York attended by Bert Henderson, Canadian representative in the president's office of the A.F.M. Others present were Walter Murdock, chairman of the Radio committee of the unions affected and president of the Toronto Musical Protective Association, and union representatives from Montreal, Ottawa and Hamilton.

Always Paid Union Wages.

"Mr. Weber's attitude was most conciliatory, and after initial discussions the meeting settled down to the consideration of wages. The chairman made it clear that it had always been the policy of the commission to pay the union scale and that this policy would be continued. It was also made clear that the commission, while it had no desire to destroy the unions affected or to raise up rival unions in opposition to them, as an agency of the Crown could not deal exclusively with any one organization or group of individuals. Assurances were given by the commission that there would be no attempt to penalize musicians who had gone on strike. The commission requested that in future should any differences arise friendly discussion should take place before action is taken. This was readily agreed to. The commission agreed to gradually restore to the air the striking musicians as need for their services might arise."

CHEERFUL NEWS.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 11 (C.P.). — Cheering news the 10 per cent. reduction in salaries and emoluments of postmasters likely would be restored soon put delegates to the Alberta branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association in good humor to-day. During the sessions yesterday, C. D. Griffiths, Estevan, Sask., secretary of the Dominion Association, forecast the 10 per cent. reduction would be restored.

O.M.E. Executive To Meet In Few Days

TORONTO, July 11 C.P.). — A meeting of the executive committee of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association will be held in a few days, it was announced to-day by C. A. Maguire, president. The meeting will decide what action will be taken to carry outu the instructions of the June convention to send a deputation from the association should Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn take any drastic action regarding F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Commission.

Ft. Frances Notables Billed For Death?

FORT FRANCES, Ont., July 11 (CP)—An anonymous letter to-day was in possession of Mayor Morrison, disclosing a plot to kill the "higher men."

Just what ought to be done about the letter has not yet been decided. Poorly written, the letter read:

"I heard in town a bunch of men making meeting every night after 9 o'clock. They want to kill the higher men in town like the mayor, lawyers, priests, rich men, of all those sort. The names are well marked up who want to kill. I don't want anybody to know my name, because then I'd have bad luck. This is an honest man sending in this warning."

BEAUTY QUEEN'S CAMPUS DEATH

violence; no sign of heart disease.

Chosen in 1930 by Frederick March, movie star, as the university's "most beautiful" girl, Miss Mills also was elected "most popular." Monday night, Mrs. Brown said, Myers introduced her as his wife and asked to spend the night, which they did, the girl sleeping with her, the young man in another room. When Mrs. Brown left the apartment early to-day Miss Mills and Myers remained.

Sheriff Jennnings said he had ordered Myers arrest. He said when the doctor, called by Myers, arrived, he discovered the girl's body stretched across the bed. The room was not disarranged and no bottles or vials of any kind were found.

"There had been no struggle," Jennings said. "She either died by poison or strangulation, and the latter theory seems out."

The Cook's Story

NORMAN, Okla., July 11 (AP)—Belief that Marian Mills, 20-year-old campus Beauty Queen at the University of Oklahoma, died as the result of an attempt to prevent motherhood, was expressed to-day by County Attorney Paul Updegraff.

He said he based his theory, pending a post mortem report, upon the story of Mrs. Hazel Brown, cook for the Delta Upsilon Fraternity, in whose apartment the girl's body was found yesterday afternoon, shortly after Neal Myers, a pharmacy student, had summoned a physician and then disappeared.

Mrs. Brown, said Updegraff, admitted that Miss Mills, the daughter of Elbert M. Mills, an associate Professor at the University, had been taking a "quack" medical preparation.

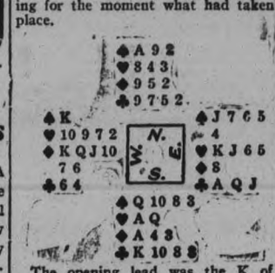
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A QUEER MISTAKE.

Strange errors creep into the game at times. One of the queerest mistakes happened the other evening to a Knickerbocker Whist club bidder. As South was about to make his opening bid, East looked at his watch and remarked: "I hope this is rubber game. I have to catch a train." South answered: "I have, too." Then without a pause he bid "No trumps." Thinking that South had said: "I have 2-no trumps," North hesitatingly bid 3-no trumps on his ace ending bidding. Of course the declarer felt stunned when dummy was spread, remarking: "Some bid," without any of the players realizing for the moment what had taken place.



The opening lead was the K of diamonds. Being allowed to hold the trick, West led the 10 of the same suit. When East showed out, the declarer won with his ace. Probably the situation was not pleasing to him. With the A-Q-J of clubs missing, and the K of hearts unlocated, it must have been uncomfortable to think of West's 4 established diamonds, but not a word came from the declarer.

South led his lowest spade. Dummy's ace picked up the lone K at second hand. Re-entry had to be made in dummy with clubs. The 2 of clubs was led. As East was certain of 2 tricks in that suit, he won with his ace, then led his 5 of hearts, which the Q took' South led his good K of clubs, followed by the 10. East again was in. As West had played the 9 of hearts on East's first lead of that suit, to show the only possibly re-entry to West's hand, East led his top heart. South's ace won the trick. West echoed with his 7, but East was out of winning cards by that time'

The rest was easy for the declarer. Dummy overtook the 8 of clubs with the 9. Dummy led the 9 of spades. It was useless for East to cover with the J, as every higher card was out against him. The 9 held. The 2 of spades followed at the eleventh trick. South overtook with his 8, and led the Q, giving him his ninth trick and game.

West, fortunately for him, had saved the good diamond. He won the thirteenth trick with it. Two diamond tricks and 2 club tricks were all that the defenders won on an error by North. Anyway, East and South did not miss their trains.

Girl Killer Makes Her Fourth Escape

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 11. — (A.P.).—Helen Spence Eaton, pretty Arkansas girl who has killed two men, was a fugitive to-day from the State Farm for Women for the fourth time within a year.

The quiet and carefree prisoner was serving a 10-year sentence for her second killing when she escaped by feigning illness. She took a guard's pistol in her flight yesterday and officials fear trouble in returning her this time.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

When you are dressing in a hurry, one of the petty annoyances is to have one end of a drawstring in lingerie slip until it is just beyond reach in the folds of the hem. It may be so little beyond reach that it seems a mistake to pull it by the other end until it is all out, and then threaded to a bodkin, to run it all the way through the hem again. There may not be time for this, yet unless some way out is discovered, the process is inevitable. Two ways of prevention or of remedy are suggested today.

* * * * * * *

The first is preventive. Before wearing the garment take a needle and thread and, after seeing that ends of the drawstring are even where they come through the opening, take a few stitches in the middle of the back to secure the drawstring to the hem. This wil not interfere with the pull or release of the ribbon, nor will the stiches show, if taken on the inside. The drawstring cannot have an end lost long enough to extend a few inches beyond the garment even when stretched. Knit lingerie stretches a good deal. So be sure the drawstring is long enough.

* * * * * * *

The second way is a remedy. After the tip is lost in the hem, and the drawstring refuses to be coaxed out, use cuticle scissors to catch it. Run the slender points of the scissors through the opening in the hem, catch the end of the ribbon with the slightly opened blades, and very gently withdraw the clossed scissors. This takes but a jiffy, and saves time and annoyance, for the end of the ribbon comes out immediately. If one has a pair of wee tweezers conveniently at hand, they are even better to use than the cuticle scissors, but the latter are among the toilet table accessories when the little tweezers may not be.

BE BEAUTIFUL

"Dear Miss Glad: Although my hands are very nicely shaped, they aren't as soft or as white as I'd like them to be. A friend advised me to rub glycerine on them frequently, in order to whiten them. Do you think this practice would benefit my hands?

PATSY."

Glycerine is an excellent cosmetic preparation, but I would not advise you to use it on your hands in an undiluted form. It is not a fat, but a triatomic alcohol that avidly absorbs water. It is very strong, and if you use it alone, it may dry and burn your skin. However, when it is ameliorated with rosewater, boric acid, almond oil, benzoin or flower oils, glycerine forms a most effective skin lotion. A half and half mixture of glycerine and rosewater constitutes an excellent lotion for whitening and softening the skin of the hands.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've just obtained a copy of that excellent 'New Figure' booklet of yours, as I wish to reduce my weight. I'm very much encouraged, you see, as my sister followed the reducing course in your booklet, and lost exactly 30 pounds. However, I'm wondering whether that preliminary three-day liquid diet is very important, or whether I could omit it. MARION."

That preliminary three-day liquid diet is indeed important, and although you can, if you wish, omit it, I would not advise you to do so. It isn't the two or three pound weight loss that usually results that is important. The value of this dieting lies in the stomach shrinkage to normal that ensues, and the removal of a great deal of waste material from the body. The alimentary canal becomes completely cleansed in preparation for the new diet system.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've always had rather thick, glossy hair, that waved easily when properly set with a lotion. Lately, however, my hair seems to have become dry and harsh to the touch. Can you possibly tell me what may have caused this, and how I can correct the condition? GWENNIE."

The harshness of your hair may result from several things. First, your shampoo may be too alkaline. Forego the "strong" shampoo, and use only a mild, bland liquid soap. Second, you may be drying your hair with too intense heat. Remove most of the moisture from your hair before applying any heat. Then use only a mildly warm air current. Third, you may be using curling fluids that are too drying. Hot castor or olive oil shampoos, as described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, should prove most effective.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

If, for any reason, you cannot be sure that the fresh milk you are obtaining for your baby, your children, and the rest of your family, is wholesome and clean, there is a way out. The reasons you cannot be sure could be lack of adequate refrigeration—in camp or on tour—or distance from good dairies, because there are great areas of the United States and Canada where the amount of milk produced is far under the 90 gallon per capita, which is average.

The way out is to use one of the processed milks. For instance, evaporated milk. This is good, clean, whole milk, which is bought by the manufacturers from inspected dairies and put through a process of preparation for nationwide distribution. Evaporated milk is simply good milk that has lost some of its water—and no other ingredient—by evaporation.

In the process of preparing evaporated milk, the raw milk is heated under a vacuum, which lowers the boiling point; just as attempting to boil milk in high altitudes lowers the boiling point. Boiling the milk at this pressure gives it less of a carmelized taste than it has when it is boiled down in an open pan on the kitchen stove.

It also removes 60 per cent. of the water. It is then canned and sealed under sterile conditions and will keep a long time.

Evaporated milk is just the same as fresh milk, except for the removal of water. All that is needed to make it the same is to add the water removed in the processing.

A, fat globules of grade Jersey milk; B, globules in human milk; C, cow's milk homogenized at 185 degrees F'

As a matter of fact, it is not exactly the same, but, in many respects, better. In the first place, in the plants where evaporated milk is made, a very careful analysis of the milk used is carried out before it is accepted' In the process it is also homogenized so that the fat globules are made smaller and they remain in suspension in the milk. do not rise to the surface as cream. This makes evaporated milk more like mother's milk than raw cow's milk. The curd of evaporated milk is more like mother's milk than is cow's milk.

In infant feeding, many physicians prefer evaporated milk to fresh milk. The taste of it usually is preferred by babies and children, and it is more easily digested'

Most important of all is that evaporated milk is clean and free from germs, which so often contaminate raw milk'

Its cost is about the same.

BUYING MORE.

Another proof of returning prosperity in Canadian business is the fact, as shown in a recent bulletin of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, that the retail sales index for May shows the largest gain registered in six years.

The index for May is an increase over the April figure of 11 per cent. and reflected the largest volume of sales in May since 1931.

As the Ottawa Journal points out, this is the best and surest sign of improvement because it shows that money is beginning to follow workers to work.

The lack of purchasing power on the part of many thousands of people who formerly were good customers of the retail stores of the country has been one of the most crippling factors during the depression period, because with buying reduced to a fraction of its old volume goods remained on store shelves instead of being sold over the counter and thus creating new orders for factories to fill.

With unemployment decreasing, the greater buying power of the country is being reflected in increased retail sales, and as this trend continues more and more workers should get jobs and thus further bolster up the purchasing power of the public.

Certainly this marked increase in the retail sales index is decidedly significant and should create general satisfaction among all who appreciate its importance.

THOSE SALARY SLASHES.

There is not the slightest doubt of the popularity of Premier-elect Hepburn's decision that the salaries of himself and his Ministers are to be reduced by $2,000 a year.

The moral effect of this action will be pronounced because most people feel that economy, like charity, should begin at home, and they will be satisfied that the new administration, having demonstrated that its own leaders are willing to accept equality of sacrifice, will have a much better chance to use the pruning knife effectively upon other items of governmental expenditure.

A $2,000 slash in Cabinet salaries is a sign that the Hepburn Government-to-be means business, and it will be generally welcome on that account, inasmuch as the majority of the electors of the province are looking to the new regime in Ontario to bring about a marked reduction in public expenditures and to afford a considerable measure of relief to hard-pressed taxpayers.

Viewed against the background of governmental overhead, the amount that will be saved by reduction in Cabinet salaries and the scrapping of Cabinet automobiles may not appear very large, but the moral result of these economies will be decidedly important.

The public generally will view them as evidence that the taxpayer is really going to get a new deal in the matter of expenditures, and if they are followed up, as promised, by similar slashes in other fields of government expenditure, the new Premier and his associates will have done much to establish themselves in public favor.

A SUMMER SCHOOL.

The school of leisure and recreation leadership launched several years ago by the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. is to be held again at Y.M.C.A. Park, Lake Couchiching, a few miles from Orillia, and it is expected that in view of the increased interest in spare time recreations this year's camp will attract an unusually large attendance.

The feeling that a more creative use of leisure time is necessary both to national and personal welfare has led to the establishment of this very unusual training camp.

There are courses in physical education, tennis instruction, social recreations, expressional arts and crafts, leather craft, sketching, painting, block printing and a series of lectures on the principles of recreation leadership, making it an ideal training not only for professional and volunteer organizers and leaders but to individual men and women who wish to improve their own capacities for the enjoyment and enrichment of life.

Very low tuition fees put the camp within general reach, and in addition, with the co-operation of the Ontario Government, a scholarship fund intended to assist a limited number of young men and women in Ontario who as volunteer workers have demonstrated a capacity for leadership and who are financially unable to pay their way has been created.

This information is given by The Examiner for the benefit of local leaders who might desire to attend, and of those others who might be eligible for this scholarship subsidy, for which applications must be made before July 26th.

CAN THERE BE OVER-PRODUCTION OF GOLD?

The most interesting question of the likely duration of the present interest rates is discussed in a most gripping style in the July review of Harrison and Co., Limited.

The writer deals specifically with the present gold boom and its possible effect on the level of the interest rate of high-grade bonds, should it prove to be the case that an over-production of gold has developed.

The contention is advanced that all booms lead to over-production, and in proof of that statement attention is called to the American railway boom in the middle of the last century, the copper and coffee booms at the beginning of this century, and the rubber boom, the wheat boom and the pulp and paper boom of more recent years.

Speaking of the gold situation, it is pointed out that the United States has established a market for gold at $35 an ounce, as against the price of $20.67 prevailing a year ago, and that this added incentive to an already well stimulated enterprise has produced perfect conditions for a gold production boom.

Already, because of the higher prices, much of the gold formerly used for art and ornamental purposes has been sold and is resting in the coffers of central banks.

From these sources and from increased production gold holdings of important countries have been increased.

"Can there be over-production of gold?" asks the writer, and then proceeds to answer his own question by showing that, because of the war, debts and credits have been enormously expanded, and as a result gold has disappeared in all countries as a medium of currency, but is sought by all as a basis for credit. Until the basis of credit (gold) has been accumulated to such an extent that the debt burden of the world, including a readjustment of the hundreds of millions now in default, is no longer onerous, there can be no over-production of gold, and as long as the production of gold is increasing and debt burdens not being increased, interest rates must continue to fall.

GERMANY'S LESSON FOR CANADIANS.

The appalling news from Germany over the week-end did not interfere with the holiday happiness of the average Canadian. Germany seems so far away. And our news reactions have become jaded by excessive stimulation in the post-war period. Even if the French Revolution were to be fought out all over again it would arouse the man on the street in Canada to little more than passing interest. For that matter it might not even get the largest headline in the newspapers. In Toronto this week the affairs of a provincial premier were more important to one morning paper and the reform of penitentiaries more important to the other than the determined butchery of Herr Hitler.

Yet what is going on in Germany is a matter of transcendent importance. It is the inevitable result of casting out personal liberty from the state. A large part of Europe has returned to political absolutism and has rejected democracy, which it never gave a thorough trial.

* * * *

The propagandists in Canada for new economic "isms" may not know it, but they are trying to undermine personal liberty here as it has been undermined in Europe. Those who preach Fascism or Communism, or any of the other forms of government, in which the individual is ruthlessly subjugated to the state, often see the advantages of a directed economic solidarity, of state-planned economy, without realizing the price that must be paid for it. Yet the new conception of the totalitarian state provides no room for personal liberty, for criticism, for weighing policies, even for counting noses. Those who rule the state must rule it by themselves and according to their own wishes. Power must protect power. Tyrants cannot share their despotism and they must be as ruthless as a Lenin, Mussolini or Hitler if they are to continue to rule.

It is not the people who rule in such a state; it is not the state that rules; it is the small group that has seized power and that must hold it by fire and sword.

Canadians will prefer their personal liberty to economic experimentation ot such a price. We may well consider the preachers of Communism and Fascism as enemies of our freedom. And we may well think of Germany's bloody week-end as not unrelated to our own daily lives.—Financial Post.

HONORING THE PIONEERS.

After many years of neglect, the pioneers of this section of Ontario seem to be coming into their own.

At Morrisburg recently there was dedicated a memorial to the United Empire Loyalists who established the Lutheran congregation at that place. At the Union cemetery in Lansdowne Township a tablet in memory of the pioneer settlers of that district has been unveiled. At Cornwall the pioneers who rest in Trinity churchyard are being commemorated. Other communities are following suit. But Brockville, which has just as much reason to value its pioneer residents and to experience a thrill of pride as their accomplishments are reviewed, continues to do nothing to mark their memory or publicly to recognize their services.

A stranger visiting this town and passing along its streets can have no knowledge of its history. He may feel that it possesses one, but there is nothing whatever to show that its inhabitants are proud of it except that one tablet which was placed on the Recorder and Times building to mark the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of this newspaper.

And yet this community has every reason to be grateful for its pioneers and to perpetuate its history. Originally peopled by the United Empire Loyalists who laid the foundations of the prosperity which it now enjoys, Brockville has contributed to the public life of this country a large number of eminent figures, and it has been the starting point of different institutions and organizations which are now widely established.

Is it too much to hope that eventually there may be established a fund which would have as its object the marking in a suitable manner of the historic points throughout this town and the surrounding district—the sites upon which statesmen were born and upon which institutions were established, the spot where the first house in the community was erected, the site of the first mill, and so on? Or is it too much to ask of this community, owing so much to its pioneers, to place upon permanent record in one form or another a sense of the debt which it owes to them? —Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

"Going down" are Cabinet salaries in Ontario, and the new Ministers will have to try to look as if they liked it.

The Toronto recount shows that more care should be taken in the selection of election officials. The work of deputy returning officers in that riding was slovenly, to say the least.

If muskies bigger than that 61-inch long fish caught in the Trent the other day are hooked this district will soon have its own sea serpent stories to circulate.

The Stevens Inquiry Committee will continue its sessions at Ottawa instead of visiting the Maritimes, a decision that will keep the capital before newspaper readers.

A Baltimore barber has declared war on radio crooners, armed with a boy scout knife. He is to be tried for assault and probably will plead extreme provocation.

The United States manufactured eight billion less cigarettes last year than it did in 1931. This decrease must be due to the girl's return to the style of rolling their own.—Decatur Herald.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK

The province of New Brunswick first formed part of Acadia, under French rule, but later was incorporated in the newly formed province of Nova Scotia. Still later, in 1784, to be exact, it was separated from Nova Scotia and given the name of New Brunswick.

The first suggestion for a name for the new province was New Ireland, owing to the prevalence of Irish immigrants among the settlers. In a letter written by Ward Chipman to Edward Winslow on July 9, 1784, he mentions the name New Brunswick, adding in brackets "the name of our new province."

It is understood, of course, that New Brunswick was named for the then reigning house of Brunswick.

(By Marshall Maslin.)

A SIGH FOR THE STEAM ENGINE.

Somehow or other I can't get so excited about those noiseless, streamlined trains that the railroad people are making such a hullabaloo about. . . . I saw one the other day and I opened my mouth and oh'd and ah'd and praised it just as everybody else did. . . . But I wasn't entirely honest. Because, I thought I admired it with my brain, my heart didn't like it at all. . . . And I felt as if I ought to go over to another track and pat one of the snorting old-fashioned engines on its massive sides and say: "There, there, old fellow, don't feel bad about it. The kids in all the little towns of the country won't turn you down for this sleek, modern contraption."

But perhaps I was mistaken. The kids in the small towns will flock to the new train today just as we flocked to everything new when we were kids. . . . But all the old boys who remember the glamor of the old trains will accept this new train—the old fogies—with a wistful sigh for those days when the railroad part of town was the most romantic corner of the earth' . . . Silence, to be sure, is a soothing thing, but thunder can be romantic, too, and the rails was romance snorting and incarnate to many a small boy. . . . The distant scream of the whistle down the crossroads, the dangle of the bell, the short blasts as it came into town, the reluctant stopping at the station, the puffs of steam, the glow of the fire box in the gathering night, the great clouds of black smoke that leaped from the stack and turned and twisted in the wind, and the piercing white eye of the mighty animal—all these make an unforgettable memory.

A small boy remembers that mighty man, the engineer, with his mustache and his steady eye, seated so imperially in his cab; he remembers the grimy fireman and the daring brakeman getting off backwards and giving those mystic signals with lantern and hand; he remembers the marvelous caboose, and he remembers how often he used to stand at the crossroads when the train went thundering past out of the unknown into the unknown, and wish that he were going too' . . . And remembering all this that lived in the past and still lives so excitingly today, how can he turn his heart enthusiastically to these silent, swift and economical, but unromantic, trains of tomorrow?

Remembrance Day Is Held At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—Sunday was Remembrance day in Lakefield, and while the ceremony was really sponsored by Lakfield Lodge I.O.O.F., it was shared by the whole community, a wider community than merely that of Lakefield, but as a big event for this part of the county.

Bro. R. J. Webster was the efficient marshal of the procession.

The parade started from the lodge room at 2 oclock and with the Citizens' Band leading a large delegation of brethren each carrying a bouquet of beautiful blooms, marched out and going east on Albert street to Regent street, where the parade turned north to Queen street and then south to the cenotaph, where the parade halted and a brief service was held and a beautiful wreath deposited. The band played the familiar hymn, as appropriate to-day as in war time, "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past," and the parade re-formed and proceeded west on Bridge street to Davis' paint shop, where they took cars for the remainder of the journed as far as Fred Boyce's and there the parade marched into the cemetery where hundreds had already gathered and when ten graves were decorated and a service held, with Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., the special speaker. Mr. Archer's very appropriate address was a high spot in the ceremony which was one of the best ever held, and by far the largest.

Graves decorated were those of Brothers Fred Anderson, William Curry, William Hamilton, J. Jory, J. E. Kelley, George McWilliams, C. O. Northey, Milton Nelson, Melville Pammett and Gordon Roseborough.

On May 24th the grave of Brother Andrew Young was decorated by the lodge at the Decoration Day ceremonies of the Peterborough lodge.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 86c to 91c; oats, 38c to 40c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 68c to 72c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Cheese prices declined, while other produce was steady on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

On the cheese market Ontario colored was quoted at 10½c a pound, down ¾c a pound, while Quebec cheese was 9¾c to 9¾c a pound, off ¾c a pound. Receipts were 2,492 boxes.

The butter market held steady, being 19c to 19¼c a pound for fresh No. 1 in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers commonded a price of 20c to 21c a pound for solids, and 21c to 22c a pound for prints. Arrivals were 506 boxes.

Eggs were unchanged in price, graded shipments in carlots or less being 20c a dozen for A large, 19c for A medium, 19c for B and 18c for C. Receipts totalled 620 cases.

Potatoes maintained their former levels, New Brunswick Mountains being quoted at 80c to 85c per 80-pound bag; Quebec whites, 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains $1 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag. New Canadian potatoes brought $1.50 to $1.75 per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Better general buying associated with correct forecasts, the Government crop report would prove bullish helped decidedly to lift prices of grain futures yesterday.

A striking feature of the official crop figures issued after the close of trading was that the United States 1934 estimated total yield of wheat aggregated only 483,662,000 bushels, compared with July 1 private estimates averaging 516,000,000 bushels.

Announcement that the Washington administration would continue its wheat acreage curtailment program, if other exporting nations would cut production, did much to stimulate yesterday's price gains. Furthermore, the movement of new wheat in domestic winter crop territory fell off to a material extent, and there were less optimistic reports current regarding the spring wheat outlook both sides of the Canadian border.

Wheat closed unsettled at a moderate reaction from the day's top, but ⅝c to 1¼c above Monday's finish; corn, ⅝c to ¼c up, oats varying from ⅝c decline to ⅜c gain, and provisions showing a rise of 7 to 15 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 11. — Grains moved up strongly on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday reflecting firmness in outside markets and continuation of unfavorable crop reports from Europe. At the close, wheat futures prices were ½ to ¾ cent higher, July at 76⅝c, October 78c, and December 79¼c.

Unexpected strength at Liverpool, upswings at Chicago, and a moderate export business, combined to boost values. Some good buying for seaboard houses also was a strengthening factor in the trade.

Offerings Are Light.

Lightness of offerings aided the market in retaining the gains. Sales of Canadian wheat for overseas shipment approximated 300,000 bushels for both Atlantic and Pacific shipment. Liverpool ended ¼d higher.

Adverse reports of European conditions continued and high temperatures prevailed over spring wheat areas in the United States and in Canada.

Trading in cash grains was fairly active and coarse grains futures moved upward, chiefly in response to the advance in wheat prices.

SMALL ARMS SCHOOL AWARDED DOMINION CHALLENGE SHIELD

Sergeant - Major Churcher Wins Queen Mary Prize Event With Score of 180 Out of 200.

CANADIAN SCORES.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 10 (C.P. Cable). — The Small Arms School to-day was awarded the Canada Challenge Shield as the National Rifle Association's two-weeks' meet entered its second day. The competition, a four-man team event for those serving in His Majesty's forces, was fired yesterday concurrently with the Queen Mary's prize event of four practices.

The statisticians to-day announced Sergeant-Major Churcher of the Small Arms School had won the Queen Mary with a score of 180 out of 200. At the same time they announced C.-Q.-M.-S. Alec Parnell of the Montreal Black Watch had scored 152 in the event, completing the fourth practice, snapshooting, with a score of 31 out of 50.

That score put Parnell second among the Canadians taking part, next to Lieut. S. Johnson of the Cadet Service, Wayne, Alta., whose score was announced last night as 156. The Canadians, however, were not in the running in the event. Two others finished, Corporal H. L. Taylor of the Royal Canadian Force, Vancouver, with 120, and Lieut. H. W. Steeves of Moncton with 78.

A number of Canadians fired also in the B.S.A. event, a 600-yard competition. Lieut. Johnson was three under perfect with 32, and other Canadian scores were: Parnell and Lieut. Dow, 31; Hamilton and Trainor, 30; mslie, Beaumont, and Lieut. McLeod, 29; Capt. Lucas, 26; Taylor and Borland, 21.

It was slightly cooler to-day when shooting started, but it appeared likely the heat would become intense as the day wore on.

Light Hay Yield In Bailieboro District

BAILIEBORO, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Farmers of the district are now busily engaged in cutting and hauling their hay crops. The hay is generally very light and the acreage, owing to the crop having been killed during the severe winter, is very small.

In many instances farmers have endeavored to substitute for hay by sowing millet and oats, but this season the haying period will be brief.

Spring crops in the immediate locality are looking promising, and unless a serious heat wave or continued dry weather hinders the progress of oats, barley, spring wheat and roots, it is believed that these crops will yield a good crop. During the past three weeks rains have been falling at convenient intervals and keeping the crops refreshed.

The pea louse has effected many crops of peas, and there is grave doubts held for large yields from this chance crop.

ROYALTY HOLDS DRAWING ROOM

Famous Holyrood Palace Setting is Like Pageant of Scottish History.

NOTABLES PRESENTED.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, July 11 (C.P. Cable)—The King and Queen Tuesday held an afternoon drawing room at Holyrood Palace in a setting that was like a pageant of Scottish history.

At the throne room in which their majesties received the King's bodyguard for Scotland ,the Royal Company of Archers under command of its captain general, the Duke of Buccleuch, stood on guard with uniforms of green with silver-barbed arrows in their quivers. The band of the famous Black Watch played in the gallery.

Lord Dunmore who attended their Majesties called name after name famous in the annals of Scotland at the presentations. Men in their tartan plaids and kilts with jewelled dirks and women in soft-hued gowns made obeisance to the sovereign and his consort.

The King wore the scarlet and gold uniform of the Scots Greys and the Queen was dressed in pale pink and silver pastel lace over an underdress of silver woven lace. The soft sheen of the silver shimmered delicately through the lace as Her Majesty moved. Across the dress was the ribbon of the Order of the Garter. Her Majesty's diamonds included the famous Kihinoor stone.

Holding of drawing rooms is confined to their Majesties' visits to Scotland. Drawing rooms at Buckingham Palace in London were discontinued after Queen Victoria's reign as King Edward and Queen Alexandra preferred to institute evening courts.

ORANGEMEN AT LAKEFIELD CHURCH

Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., Delivers Splendid Address to Fraternal Brethren.

LAKEFIELD, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — The annual church parade of the Orange Order was held on Sunday evening from the lodge room to the Lakefield United Church, a halt being made at the Cenotaph for the depositing of a wreath with an appropriate ceremony and as the members stood at reverent attention, the Citizens' Band, which headed the parade, played "Faith of Our Fathers."

Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., pastor of the church, welcomed the Orange Order, men's, ladies' and juvenile lodges, and preached a most excellent sermon on the value of fraternal organization in a community and the stirring events which led to the establishment of the Orange order and its value.

The lodges represented in the parade were Beresford Lodge No. 122, Juvenile Lodge, and the Northern Light Lodge, No. 831. The latter had the largest representation. Bro. A. J. Young was the efficient marshal of the parade.

Sixty-five pupils wrote on the Entrance Examination in Lakefield centre last week, of which fifteen were local pupils and the remainder from the district adjacent to the village. Mr. J. F. Harvey and Miss E. Dewart were the presiding officers. Fifteen local pupils got their entrance by recommendation.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

WHEN DETROIT BECAME AMERICAN.

On this date, in 1796, the British evacuated Detroit which they held from November 19, 1760, in accordance with the Jay Treaty. At the first session of the parliament of Upper Canada in 1792, the province was divided into districts, the Western District consisting of not only the present counties of Kent, Essex and Lambton, but all the territory that lay to the north up to the boundary line of Hudson Bay, south to the Ohio and west to the Mississippi . . . In 1793 it was ordered that the courts of quarter sessions for the Western District should be held at Detroit. This continued until 1796 when the court was removed to Sandwich by virtue of the "Exodus Act," passed June 3, 1796; and it is interesting to note that the books of all land titles prior to the change remained at Sandwich until about 1870, when they were transferred to the registry office at Detroit.

Those residents of Detroit who preferred to remain British crossed to Sandwich and Amherstburg, the present site of the city of Windsor being "The Ferry" because it was there that the river was crossed to and from Detroit. If Simcoe had had his way Windsor would have had a fort, but he was overruled and the troops went to Fort Malden(Amherstburg) and the ships to Chatham.

Detroit was again British from that August day in 1812 when it was captured by General Issac Brock and his raw militia and remained British until it was handed back by virtue of the treaty of peace in 1814.

One curious thing about Detroit, which is not known to many people in other parts of Canada, is that it lies north of Windsor and accordingly people in Detroit who want to go to Windsor have to travel south!

CHICAGO, July 11 (A.P.).—When Samuel Insull poured dwindling millions into the gap as bankruptcy approached, Floyd Thompson, his attorney, argued to-day, he was doing no more than Uncle Sam himself is now doing to speed recovery.

Counsel for the former utility leader asked Judge James H. Wilkerson to dismiss Insull on grounds that the indictment charging him with violation of the Bankruptcy Act was vague and indefinite.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, July 11 (CP).—Good quality cattle were moving readily on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon but common kinds, which made up the bulk of Tuesday's 1,000-head holdover sold slowly. Prices on all grades were steady. Calves, sheep and lambs all sold unchanged, while hogs firmed to yesterday's advance.

PETERBORO' FOX SUPPLIES ASK REVISION IN TARIFF SCHEDULE

Seek to Have Item Amended to Include Meat Grinders.

CHANGE CLASSIFICATION.

OTTAWA, July 11 (C.P.)—An application by the Peterborough Fox Supplies of Peterborough, Ont., to have tariff item 409F amended in wording to cover meat grinders and bonecutters used in the fox breeding industry, was heard before the tariff board to-day.

The applicants were represented by P. F. Jackson, while H. W. Maxwell of Maxwell's Ltd., St. Mary's, Ont., opposed the request.

Mr. Jackson drew attention to what he termed the injustice done the fur farmers of Canada by the increase in duty since 1930 on meat grinders and bone cutters from 20 per cent to 35 per cent, which with sales tax and excise made a tariff barrier which it is practically impossible for the importer under present conditions to pay. This added charge has eventually fallen on the consumer.

These articles, Mr. Jackson said, now come in under item 427 covering machinery composed wholly or in part of N.O.P. at 15 per cent, 27½ per cent and 35 per cent, and are subject to sales tax. He asked that they be classified under 409F, which would admit the importation at free, 15 per cent and 25 per cent as fodder or feed cutters.

CRICKET MATCH DECLARED DRAW

Cambridge Failed to Finish Second Innings Against Oxford.

CLOSING SCORES.

LONDON, July 11.—(C. P. Cable.)—The three day cricket match between Oxford and Cambridge Universities was declared a draw to-day as Cambridge failed to finish its second innings. Oxford scored 415 and 182, Cambridge 400 and 94 for three.

The Australians went to Chesterfield from Manchester, where their third test match with England ended yesterday in a draw and started a game against Derbyshire. The score at the end of the day's play was: Derbyshire 145 (Storr, 40, Ebeling five for 28); Australia 122 for four (Bradman 49 not out).

Closing scores of other first class games started to-day were:

Players 608 for seven (Sandham 65, Gregory 51, Arnold 125, Squires 119, Duckfield 106, Wellard 91) against gentlemen at the Oval.

Kent 188 (Ashdown 59, Smith five for 68; Middlesex 202 for three (Price 65, Hendren 58 not out) at Folkestone.

Sussex 287 for seven (J. Langridge 109, H. Parks 77) against Northamptonshire at Hove.

Nottinghamshire 181 (Sinfield eight for 57); Gloucestershire 188 for two (Barnett 53, Hammond 91, not out) at Gloucester.

WHEAT FUTURES SHARP UPTURN

Straining feverishly against arbitrary high price restraints, wheat and corn worked themselves to a standstill late to-day, reaching a point where all offerings ceased.

Maximum prices that trade rules would tolerate for to-day were reached and maintained owing to what was generally regarded as the most sensational government crop loss report ever issued from Washington. For a while oats, rye and barley afforded a refuge for traders who were stopped in wheat and corn, but finally every grain in the list was up to the utmost limit possible until tomorrow.

Wheat and all other grains closed strong, wheat up 5 cents, corn 4 cents and oats 2 cents, September new wheat 93¾. Provisions closed unchanged to 17 cents higher.

Ontario Brewers Reduce Beer Price

TORONTO, July 11 (C.P.)—Ontario brewers have decided to reduce prices of beer by 10 cents per case of one dozen quarts or two dozen pints, and five cents on half dozen quarts and 12 pint lots, it was announced here to-day.

"This reduction was made after consulting and obtaining the approval of E. G. Odette new director of the Liquor Control Board," the brewers warehousing company stated. The reductions will be effective to-morrow.

The recent reduction in excise duties on malt was given as the reductions.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Paine Webber: "The continued small volume and narrow price ranges merely tend to confirm the belief that prices are in a buying zone, out of which an uptrend will soon develop."

Sutro Bros.: "In view of the favorable longer term prospects, we would be inclined to utilize any periods of weakness to add to holdings of desireable stocks."

Standard Facts and Forecasts:—"Gains in the livlier trading list showed the inclination of the market to respond to increased volume. The advance was timely, since a new note of discouragement and doubt was becoming apparent. It is impossible to form an accurate estimate of autumn business at this stage of the summer market, but persistent dullness in stocks had begun to conjure up the question whether, if stocks reflect business trends, the autumn rise is not likely to be disappointing. Recovery in steel operations from 23 per cent. last week to an estimated 27.5 per cent. fell below expectations. There is no reason to add to committments until there is better evidence of an upward trend developing."

New York, July 11:

Extremely quiet stock markets are not sick ones, they are usually convalescent. In fact past records show that on a number of occasions a period of quiet trading has preceded an extended advance. The present market is a quiet one primarily because holders of stocks do not want to sell and at the same time, buyers have yet to find a reason or excuse to justify buying.

The sugar stocks have been strong. The steel stocks appear to have discounted the sharp fall in business.

Prevailing indications are that coal companies will report good earnings for the second quarter.

It would not be at all surprising if Cons. Gas were to rally 3 or 4 points since the stock acts as though it were over-sold.

Chicago, July 11:

The country's wheat crop this year will be the smallest in 28 years and for the second year since 1890 the yield will fail below domestic consumption according to the crop forecast made public last night' The first reaction to the government's figures made public was one of amazement. So entirely unprepared for the bullish figures were many of the traders that they were unwilling to believe the government statistics when they were posted on the board in the trading room.

istration which was submitted to the cabinet by Mr. Hepburn and considered. Mr. Odette did not attend.

No time will be lost in getting the new beer and wine act in operation but the Premier declined to name a date for the proclamation of the act. Mr. Odette's memorandum in part dealt with preparations for the open sale of beer and wine.

Special Session Unlikely.

Prospects of a special session of the Ontario Legislature have practically faded out. A few weeks ago Premier Mitchell Hepburn said if the Dominion Government cut off its contribution to the provinces for direct unemployment relief, a special session would be called to take whatever action was necessary.

Since then word has come from Ottawa that the Dominion will likely seek a modification of the present relief agreement without completely eliminating its contribution to direct relief. In any case if it were simply a question of appropriating more money to make up the difference in Ontario's relief bill the new government has power and is now disposed to provide it by Order-in-Council rather than call the Legislature together.

Unemployment will be the main topic at to-morrow's meeting of the Cabinet. Before any decision is reached the Government will look into Ontario's unemployment situation and find out what relief costs are likely to be and how far employment in Ontario may be aided by the public works program shortly to be launched by the Federal Government.

Resignations Received

TORONTO, July 11 (C.P.)—Resignations of A. R. Stapells as head of the Minimum Wage Board and Hon. George S. Henry as member of the Niagara Parks Board were announced by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day following his first cabinet meeting. "We have received these resignations to-day and have accepted them," he said.

Heenan Resigns

OTTAWA, July 11 (C.P.) — The resignation of Hon. Peter Heenan, who yesterday became Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, was received to-day by the speaker of the House of Commons. Since 1925 he has been Federal member for Kenora-Rainy River in Northern Ontario and from 1926 until 1930 Minister of Labor in the King Government.

The resignaton will necessitate a by-election in Kenora-Rainy River. Mr. Heenan's resignation creates the fifth vacancy in the House of Commons, of which three were caused by death and two by resignation. Deceased members whose seats have not yet been filled were Hon. E. B. Ryckman (Cons. Toronto East), Col. T. H. Lennox (Cons. York North), Dr. William Spankie (Cons. Frontenac Addington).

Resignations were Hon. Mitchell Hepburn (Lib. Elgin West) and Mr. Heenan.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP).—Selling in the alcohols dampened enthusiasm for the general run of stocks today. A number of specialties, however, showed independent strength. National Lead soared more than 7 points to a new 1934 high.

General Motors, U.S. Steel and New York Central were steady. Consolidated Gass dipped a fraction while National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol and Schenley Distillers lost 1 to 2 points. Transfers approximated 625,000 shares.

Shares of Dome, McIntyre and International Nickel were unchanged to a trifle higher. On the curb, Lake Shore added a minor fraction. Dominion Government Bonds were steady.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, July 11 (CP)—With most of the early gains held, issues on the Montreal Stock Exchange followed an irregular course and prices were mixed at the close today. Trading was more active than for some days past.

Canadian Pacific Railway gained 5-8 at 14 1-8. International Nickel advanced 1-4 at 26 1-8, while Massey Harris was up 1-8 at 4 1-8. Dominion Steel and Coal "B", one of the most active stocks in today's trading, was up 1-4 at 4 3-4. Steel of Canada preferred advanced a point at 39.

Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" declined 1-4 at 7 7-8. Dominion Bridge was off 1-4 at 32 1-2. Shawinigan Power declined 1-4 at 20 1-4. Consolidated Smelters engaged in one of the widest movements of the day, selling for 149, down 2 1-2.

MINING MARKET.

TORONTO, July 11.—Nothing outside of the gold group showed any pep today on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange, and while the high-priced shares were slightly more active than usual, the bulk of the trade was in the secondary golds including God's Lake, Gunnar Gold, Greene Stabell, Granada, Read Authier, Siscoe and Pickle Crow. Silver shares were quiet and slightly weak and base metal shares just holding.

Profit-taking in Pickle Crow and Little Long Lac carried these issues back about 10 to 15 cents each, but they firmed again before the close though the entire recession was not made up.

The big golds remained steady all day and at the close price changes were under 25 cents. Noranda, Sherritt, and Sudbury Basin were down a little each.

BREWERY GROUP CLOSES HIGHER

Interest Centres on Brewery Group—Account for Half Turnover.

TONE IRREGULAR.

TORONTO, July 11 (CP).—Interest centered in the brewery group today on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange, these issues accounting for half the entire turnover and all closed higher. Confidence that sale of beer by the glass will come shortly on the move of the new Ontario Government provided the incentive. The tone over the board was irregular, implement, steel and miscellaneous shares holding up against losses in liquor, oil and food issues.

The brewery issues saved the market from degenerating into a state of torpidity, the expectation that the new government would make good the Henry Government's beer-by-the-glass measure, bring in heavy trading in Brewing Corporation, Canada Bud and Canada Malting at prices ranging up to half a point over Tuesday's close.

Distillery shares were soft, due to the slump of the liquor group on the New York board. Distillers Seagrams touched 13 1-2, its low point for a year, and Walkers Common was down about a point.

Definite weakness in the liquor group on the New York board, caused Walkers Common and Distillers Seagrams to slip, the former to 32 1-2 and the latter to 13 1-2. Both partly recovered but Walkers was off 3-4 and Distillers Seagrams 3-8 at the close. Nickel gained 3-8 and Brazilian 1-8.

Brewing Corporation Pfd. was strongly buoyant, rising 3 points to 31 1-2, and Brewing Corporation 5-8 to 9 1-4. Canada Bud and Canada Malting added 3-8 to 1-2 each.

Falls From Roof Woman Badly Hurt

When she slipped off the veranda roof at her home this morning, Mrs. E. Weese, 584 Water street, suffered a severe scalp injury and strain to her back. Mrs. Weese was washing windows when she lost her balance and fell. Dr. T. G. Loudon is attending her and to permit a closer examination of her injuries she may be removed to hospital. Her condition is considered serious.

LAWN SOCIAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Splendid Support is Given Anual Sacred Heart Social.

The annual lawn social at the Church of the Sacred Heart yesterday afternoon and evening was one of the most largely attended in all the twenty-five years since the church was built and the first social held. Perfect weather supplemented all the preparations by the congregation for the entertainment of the host of visitors. Hundreds of people enjoyed the supper, which was a feature of the social, and various booths were active all evening. Music was supplied by the 57th Rangers Band. Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, was delighted with the splendid support received from the public generally in this year's social, which coincides with a period of unusually heavy needs in the parish as a result of the depression.

Correspondents, Angered by Goebbles' Attack May Enter Protests.

(By Walter Brockmann, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, July 11 (AP)—Germany threatened to-day to expel foreign correspondents whose accounts of the bloody "second revolution" aroused Nazi ire.

Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, The Volkische Beobachter, editorially underscored a warning given the journalists by Paul Joseph Goebbels, sharp-tongued Minister of Propaganda, in an address last night.

"We wish to emphasize the minister's frank warning that 'The German Government is no longer inclined to tolerate foreign correspondents inciting nations against each other'," said the newspaper.

Germany otherwise was comparatively quiet, following days of bullets and then of oratory.

It awaited an account of his stewardship from the lips of "Der Fuehrer," Hitler himself, who has called the puppet Reichstag to meet Friday night. Hitler is expected to explain his ruthless suppression of the "Roehm Revolt" of June 30.

Foreign correspondents, many of them angered by Goebbels' bitter attaoks, considered the possibility of making formal remonstrances. They pointed to the difficulty of getting confirmation of reports and rumors.

Details Refused

"There would be no inconsistency in our reports," said one veteran correspondent, "if definite confirmation or denial were possible at all times. It has been my experience to be asked 'What business is it of yours?' when I endeavored to confirm certain reports."

Goebbels struck particularly at French, Russian and English reports of the "purging." He did not mention the press of the United States or Canada.

The Foreign Press Association was called into extraordinary session to-day to consider as a matter of professional honor Goebbels' attack.

In view of Hitler's habitual attacks upon "foreign atrocity mongers," it was believed the Chancellor would elaborate upon Goebbels' utterances in his speech to the Reichstag.

The Reichstag, 100 per cent Nazi, gave over all powers to Hitler and his cabinet for four years in March, 1933, and since has been called into session only to hear important pronouncements of policy.

The latest meeting, held Dec. 12, 1933, lasted exactly seven minutes.

Church issues also may be discussed by Hitler.

GOING AHEAD.

PARIS, July 11 (A.P.). — Adolph Hitler is quoted by the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune as saying Germany "will turn neither to the left nor the right, but will follow the course it has pursued in the past—which means going forward in a straight line."

The newspaper published an interview by Dr. Alfred J. Pearson, former United States Minister to Poland, with Hitler last week, after the purging of Nazi ranks.

Hitler was quoted as saying of plotters against the Government:

"There was only one thing to do, and that was to put them out of the way where they can do no harm. Our action saved the German people from the tragedy of a civil war which would have caused confusion not only in Germany, but throughout Europe."

The Chancellor was reported to have said he was "partly amused and not a little chagrined" by outside criticism of his action, asserting there was virtually none of Austria in February when "hundreds and hundreds of persons were killed because of an attempted insurrection."

One Case Disposed Of At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — The eleventh division court of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, at which Judge O'Connor presided yesterday morning, had but one case, that of a "judgment summons," with Alexander N. A. MacColl acting for plaintiff, and which was quickly disposed of, much to the delight of officials and clerks, as the temperature in the court-room hovered around 90.

FAMILY SUSCEPTIBILITY IS FOUND IN PARALYSIS

BOSTON, July 11 (AP)—Dr. W. Lloyd Yacock, Director of Research for the Harvard University Infantile Paralysis Commission, perhaps the leading organization of its kind in the United States, to-day announced he had found presumptive evidence of family susceptibility to the disease.

Dr. Aycock, who has spent years in study of the disease, said inherited susceptibility was a hitherto unsuspected possibility. While he made it plain that his conclusions did not point the way to anything resembling a "cure," he did believe hat they provided one more element of truth to help science's perennial fight against poliomyelitis.

Twenty per cent of the cases brought to the commission's Boston clinic had a family history of the disease, he said, while three isolated Vermon communities, where an intensive study has been conducted over many years, showed 51 per cent of the patients had such a history.

The Rev. Father C. J. Phelan performed the ceremony. After an extended honeymoon to Montreal and other eastern points, the couple will take up residence near Rochester, N.Y.

DIRECT RELIEF GOES UNDECIDED

Federal Contribution to Province Set to Cease July 15, May Go On.

40,000,000 PROGRAM.

OTTAWA, July 11 (C.P.) — The question of direct unemployment relief will probably be dealt with by the Dominion Cabinet later this week. While it was proposed to discontinue federal contribution to the provinces for direct relief by July 15, it now seems doubtful if this will be done. The proposal has already been the subject of protest from various sources, and it is understood that some form of continued assistance in needy localities will be connsidered.

With the adoption of a program of public works which will involve an expenditure of nearly $40,000,000, the Dominion Government felt that a long step had been taken toward providing employment for those who have been on relief. This program, together with what has been regarded as a general improvement in conditions, is intended to substitute a condition of healthy employment for one of dependency on government assistance.

While the Dominion Cabinet met yesterday, unemployment relief was not taken up. The fact that only a bare quorum of ministers was available is said to have been the reason for postponing consideration of this important matter until later. Following the long and busy session of parliament just ended, several members of the government have been out of town.

New Split Appears In Textiles Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—Fresh labor troubles cropped out to-day in the textiles and steel industries in the United States as the government strove to settle the long strike of pacific Coast maritime workers.

Two other disputes ended. Peace returned to Seabrook Farms, near Bridgeton, N.J., scene of a series of disorders. The striking employees accepted a settlement and returned to work. Tugmen at Toledo, on strike since June 1, went back to work pending arbitration of their grievances.

The steel industry's third largest company—Republic—announced the end of its relations with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers because of what it termed the union's "radical element."

Leaders of the union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, withheld comment.

BALL PLAYERS ON VACATION.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence.) —Among the many visitors at Crow River Bridge over the week-end, the two outstanding (in the eyes of all the small boys at camp) were Harry Rice, third baseman, and Al. Hollingsworth, pitcher, of the Maple Leaf Ball Club, Toronto. These two "big boys" seemed to be enjoying themselves and had a little luck fishing, too.

GOOD YIELD IN HAY CROP

Menie District Farmers Surprised With Plentiful Yield This Season.

HAY COMBINATIONS

BURNBRAE, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The majority of district farmers are getting a joyful surprise as they proceed with haying operations to find that the yield is much better than anticipated. At least one man in the Menie district reports first year seeding so heavy that it was necessary to throw back the swath before each round. There are, unfortunately, a number who were forced to pasture all, or nearly all, of their available hay ground, and these chaps will have to rely on purchased fodder or substitute crops.

More combinations of substitute hay and pasture crops are being tried here than ever before. Millet was a favorite until the seed supply failed. A few fields of peas and oats for hay were sown early. Oats and sweet clover, also oats and buckwheat, for pasture are common. A fair acreage of buckwheat for crop and undoubtedly the largest corn acreage in local history are features of the 1934 Burnbrae farm program. And the corn is doing exceptionally well, likewise mangels and turnips, of which the acreage is also larger than usual.

Potatoes and garden vegetables are showing their appreciation of the showers by rapid growth. Mr. Clarence Ibey, a new resident on the Eighth concession, reports the sale of a considerable quantity of green beans to Campbellford stores on July 8—certainly a record for this district.

Berries are good where the patches survived the winter, and will take the place of the apples, of which there are practically none. Those depending on orchards for a livelihood will certainly get a good look at the wolf before another year rolls around.

While there are practically no fields of fall grain in this district, the spring grains are about the best ever noted. The straw is not so heavy as in some years, but the weather has been very favorable of late and rapid filling of the heads is apparent.

Cheesemakers all over the district report small makes and a lessened flow of milk, partly due to pasture conditions being poor early in the season, and partly to the inroads of the creameries in the factory districts. Higher prices for cheese in the immediate future is the only salvation for the industry as the expense of manufacturing is becoming unbearable in the smaller plants.

Magistrate's Court

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, July 11. (Examiner Correspondence). — Campbellford's police magistrate, Major J. M. Bygott, is a most considerate man. In looking over the docket, he found that he had no less than seven cases to try—all booked to appear on Tuesday—and strange to say all were charged with infractions of the Motor Vehicles Act, two of the number not even having time to slow down at stop signs, so feeling that they must be very busy men, he decided to hold a "sun-set" court which was timed for 8 p.m., and quickly disposed of, with results as follows, in order of appearance: Harlem McMullen and Owen Hendy—No tail lamps; charges laid by County Constable Frank Atkinson of Brighton; pleaded guilty; $5 and costs. Samuel Bertrand, Thomas Gall Allan Ferguson—the latter two of Warkworth—no drivers' license— $10 and costs. George Seguire, failing to obey stop sign at Bridge and Front, $2 and costs—all pleaded guilty. Claude Fairman, accused of disobeying stop sign, pleaded not guilty, and his case was adjourned until Monday next, when witnesses will be called. Information on last five cases was laid by Chief of Police George Hardy.

DOLLFUSS OPENS STRONGER DRIVE

acts of terrorism have kept the Government nervous for months. Austrian Nazis were blamed by Dollfuss supporters. They are bitter foes because of the Chancellor's unrelenting opposition to a union with Germany.

In remaking the government, Dollfuss crippled the power of the Fascist Heimwehr, or Home Guard, which gained government favor by yeoman work during the bloody Socialist revolution in February, although previously no great lover of Dollfuss.

Fey Surrenders Power.

The Heimwehr leader, Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, Vice Chancellor, and Major Emil Fey, Minister of Public Security, will remain in the Government, but Fey will surrender power.

Fey formerly was Vice-Chancellor and Minister of Security. It was frequently rumored the "iron man" would succeed Dollfuss before the February civil war.

On May Day Fey surrendered the Vice-Chancellorship to make room in the official family for Von Starhemberg, head man of the Heimwehr, and now he gives up his position as Minister of Security to Dollfuss.

Fey appears on the new list merely as "Federal Minister," but will head a special commission on public security.

Dollfuss already held the Foreign and Agriculture portfolios, although undersecretaries were to a large extent responsible for administration of the departments.

Public Backs Salaries.

Friction between the army and the Heimwehr was climaxed by disturbances at Graz June 27. The public openly demonstrated sympathy for the soldiers against the Heimwehr, whose position since the revolution has been somewhat similar to that of the Nazi storm troops in Germany.

Prince Schonberg-Hartenstein, who was the only high ranking army man in the Cabinet, drops out altogether, having declined to accept a portfolio in the new Cabinet after surrendering the Ministry of Defence to Dollfuss.

The communique said he refused for "private reasons." But the action of this aristocrat and great war general renewed attention to the clashes between the army and the Heimwehr.

DISARMAMENT HOPES REVIVE OVER EUROPE

Barthou Insists France Aims Only at System of Mutual Peace.

BY ASSISTANCE PACTS.

Britain Intimates She Will Not Block Soviets Entering League.

LONDON, Eng., July 11. (AP)—Leaders of disarament began laying plans to-day for a resurrection of the "real disarmament spirit" at Geneva. Heartening signs were on the horizon, doing much to dissipate months of accumulated gloom.

The possibility of the success of regional pacts as a part of the disarmament scheme loomed large in international circles, following the visit here of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister.

Barthou was at pains to insist France is not planning alliances to encircle Germany. Her purpose is to lay the groudwork of a general European system of organized peace by a series of mutual assistance pacts, he said.

Germany Encouraged

A pathway for Germany's return to the League was believed much smoother since French plans include this, and in addition Russia's entry into the League—a necessary part of any eastern security pact—seems more likely than ever.

Great Britain not only is not opposed to the idea of continental pacts but also would not block the Soviet's admission to Geneva, a fact which highly pleased Barthou.

Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, Barthou and others feel there is a good chance for the disarmament bureau to reach an agreement at fall meetings announced yesterday by Henderson.

But the French have not yet given up their idea of trying to get the powers to link all disarmament with the 1935 Naval Conference, probably to be held here. Francois Pietri, French minister of the navy, it was understood, will appeal again for such a general arms conference, pointing out as d. Barthou that the French believe the navy cannot be separated from land and air arms in disarmament discussions.

M. Barthou left for Paris yesterday.

Berlin Views

BERLIN, July 11 (CP-Havas).—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung to-day viewed the success of the mission to London of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, as a result of the following three factors:

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was absent.

Those who conducted the British side of the negotiations belonged almost entirely to the "Francophile group."

The British press was conducting "crisis propaganda" with regard to Germany.

The Berliner Tageblatt commented editorially: "M. Barthou brought back, not carte blanche, but permission to experiment."

FAMOUS DIVER VOWS SILENCE

Charles Courtney Refuses to Talk of Cruiser Hampshire for 2 Years.

KITCHENER'S DEATH SHIP.

LONDON, July 11. (A.P.) — His lips sealed for two years about the sunken British cruiser Hampshire and the $10,000,000 golden treasure possibly hidden in the wreck, Chas. Courtney, New York's deep sea locksmith, sailed for home to-day on the Leviathan.

Courtney arrived in London on Monday after a mysterious trip through Europe, including a visit to Moscow and Leningrad.

He says the Hampshire is not a closed book, just a closed chapter, both his backers and the British Admiralty having asked him to "pipe down." He took a vow to keep mum about the matter for two years.

The cruiser Hampshire was the vessel on Which Lord Kitchener went to his death during the world war in the North Sea. The vessel struck a German mine.

Courtney, on the basis of a story that £2,000,000 pounds sterling was taken from the Bank of England for shipment to Russia the day before the Hampshire sailed, went to England on a mission described as a deep-sea treasure hunt.

In 1933 he donned a diver's suit, and found the hulk of the Hampshire, but after repeated attempts to blow the ship's strong boxes, he gave up the search. An undertow had caught him and seriously injured him in the midst of one of his attempts.

On a second trip to England he interviewed the British Admiralty officials but failed to convince them that he held the secret of the supposedly missing treasure. The admiralty informed him that no permission for salvage operations had been given to anybody.

CAR BADLY WRECKED

A motor car, owned by Fire Chief George Gimblett and driven by Alvin Robertson, 304 King street, was badly wrecked at 11.40 last night at the corner of McDonnell and Reid streets in a collision with another car, driven by Edward Nowles, 2644 Hokum street, Detroit.

It was reported that Robertson was driving on Reid street, but that Nowles was proceeding east on McDonnell street and did not come to a stop at the stop sign. The Gimblett car was turned over by the force of the collision, its four fenders were wrecked, its rear wheels were smashed, all glass broken, top caved in, and body badly damaged. The Nowles' car was damaged along the front. Charges may follow the accident.

Netherland Prince Is Borne To Grave

THE HAGUE, July 11. (AP)—Henry, Prince Consort of the Netherlands, was buried to-day with impressive rites that drew a throng of mourning Hollanders estimated at 300,000 to line the route of the funeral procession.

The bereaved Queen Wilhelmina and the Princess Juliana, wearing white, accompanied a routine of mourning that wound its way to Delft, past the bowed heads of thousands.

Eight black horses drew a white hearse bearing the royal coffin of white oak surmounted by two swords. A military vanguard led the procession.

The Queen and Princess, widow and daughter of the Prince who died last week of heart disease, remained at the palace until the procession passed, then joined it and drove five miles to Delft in closed motor cars.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

LONDON, July 11 (C.P. Cable)—The government to-day announced plans to spend $15,000,000 in an emergency measure to help the British cattle industry.

Payment will be made in the form of subsidies at the rate of $1.26 per hundredweight live cattle and $1.43 for dead cattle on certain classes of fat animals slaughtered in the United Kingdom between Sept. 1 this year and March 31, 1935.

Outlining the government cattle policy in the House of Commons Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, announced a bill would be introduced which the government would ask the house to pass before the end of the session.

The proposed assistance, he said, would be in the forrm of an advance to the cattle fund and would be repayable to the exchequer. He said three possible courses were open to the government:

(1) Further regulation of imports by means of quantitative regulation.

(2) Further along the lines of the 1932 wheat act involving imposition of an import levy from the proceeds of which the home producer would be assisted without regullation of imports.

(3) Introduction of some form of supply regulation with a levy on imports and payment to producers.

Levy Best Solution.

The Government, the Minister said, was of the opinion regulation of marketing with imposition of a levy would be the best long-term solution of the problem and one which would strike best a balance between consumer and producer.

The government, he said, hoped, therefore, to establish as part of its long term policy a fund into which would be paid proceeds of such a levy and from woich such payments would be made to producers of livestock in the United Kingdom as might be justified by the market situation.

Mr. Elliott's announcement followed a meeting between representatives of the United Kingdom and the Dominions at which the meat import question was discussed. A communique at the end of the meeting said the "position was fully discussed."

The Minister made no mention of a report yesterday that Canada might be asked to cut her cattle exports to the United Kingdom 10 per cent.

Permanent Board.

The Minister said the fund would be administered by a permanent commission whose essential function would be to co-operate with producing, marketing, and slaughtering interests with a view to greater economy and efficiency which the Government considered essential to permanent prosperity in the live stock industry.

He explained discussions with the Dominions and Argentina had been opened, but that in the absence of their consent to the Government's policy the only action open to the Government, so far as meat imports were concerned, was by further regulation of supply.

In view of the serious problems such action would present to the Dominions, however, he said, the Goveriment would afford time for further examination of the isituation.

Sir Herbert Samuel, Opposition Liberal Leader, asked in what manner the $15,000,000 advance ot the cattle fund could be recovered by the exchequer.

Mr. Elliott answered that terms of the advance would be contained in the regulations connected with the scheme.

Another questioner asked if regulation of supply meant regulation of the amount of cattle produced.

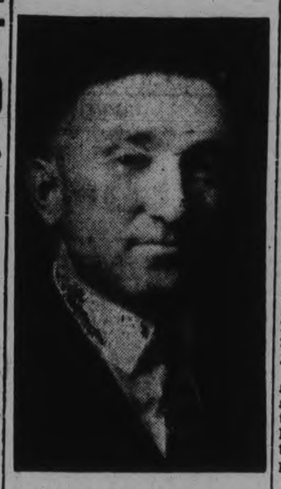
Mr. Elliott suggested issue of the regulation should be awaited for such information.

James Maxton, Clydeside Laborite, asked: "Would the Minister give us the Government's complete policy on all doles in contemplation for capitalistic industries in this coutry?"

Aother Laborite asked if the regulation of supply would apply to the Irish Free State.

Mr. Elliot told him: "It would apply to all imports of live stock from whatever source."

Passes Exams.



Congratulations are being extended to E. L. Sackville, branch manager of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company for Central Ontario, upon his passing successfully the final year's examination leading to the degree of chartered life underwriter. The course of study is sponsored by the Dominion Life Underwriters' Association and is taken through the extension department of the University of Toronto.

Mr. Sackville has had charge of his company's operations in Central Ontario since January, 1925. During that time this branch has had the singular distinction of winning the president's trophy which goes to the branch showing the best all-round development for the year, and also the cash collection trophy, emblematic of the highest percentage of first-year business paid in cash. The following year the branch again won the cash collection trophy, and stood second among the company's agencies for the president's trophy.

Mr. Sackville is a past president of the local Life Underwriters' Association, of which he has always been an ardent supporter.

Tariffs Dissatisfy N. Zealand Farmers

WELLINGTON, N.S., July 11 (C.P. Cable via Reuters). — President Polson of the New Zealand Farmers' Union said to-day the Dominion's farmers were not altogether satisfied with tariff adjustments revealed in a new schedule of rates brought down yesterday in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Polson said the adjustments, many of them approved last night, disclosed nothing worth while in the way of reducing farmers' costs. He added that news from the United Kingdom regarding possibilities of quotas on imports of meat from the Dominions to the British market had resulted in New Zealand producers looking more than ever toward the country's Ottawa trade pact with the United Kingdom as a sheet anchor.

Fear Of Famine Is Widespread In China

SHANGHAI, July 11. (A.P.) — China's age-old enemies, flood, famine, drought, locusts, heat and cholera again are taking their toll as the hottest summer of more than 60 years sears the country.

In the lower Yangtze valley and the coastal provinces extreme temperatures, drought and locusts have threatened food supplies and caused death, suffering and financial losses.

Further westward, floods and cholera are added to a list of natural calamities besieging western China. Crops in numerous provinces are perishing from flood or heat while food prices are skyrocketing. The fear of famine is widespread.

The price of rice, China's staple food, jumped 50 percent within a few days.

MISSISSIPPI DRY

JACKSON, Miss., July 11 (AP)—Mississippi held its place among the Dry States to-day by a vote of approximately 2 to 1.

Incomplete, unofficial returns from yesterday's prohibition referendum showed defeat of the Hard Liquor Bill by a vote of 47,275 to 25,246 in 656 of the 1,596 precincts of the state. The Wets conceded defeat.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH APPEAL 1934 ASSESSMENT AT MOUNT

Judge Ruddy Reserves Judgment in North Monaghan Appeal.

EXEMPTION SOUGHT.

An appeal by the Sisters of St. Joseph from the decision of the Court of Revision of North Monaghan Township, confirming the 1934 assessment of the property of Mount St. Joseph in the municipality, was heard by Judge Ruddy here this morning. His Honor announced that he would reserve judgment.

The land and buildings are assessed at $28,800, and exemption is sought on the ground that the entire property is a seminary of learning. The amount of taxes on this assessment was said to be approximately $1,400.

John R. Corkery presented the appeal on behalf of the Sisters of St. Joseph; and E. P. Brown of Toronto, solicitor of the Toronto Board of Education, was counsel for the Township.

Bert Sanderson, township assessor, explained that he had assessed the land, comprising 44 acres, at $15,000, and the buildings at $12,500 on the main group, with additional assessment of $800 and $500 respectively on two houses, one of which is occupied by the engineer in charge of the boiler house, and the other by an occasional assistant who helps in seasonal farm work on the property. Exemption was not sought in this latter instance.

Mr. Sanderson said he had placed the assessment on the land and also on the living quarters of the Mother House, which he did not think were used for educational purposes. This section included the kitchen, dining room, halls and sleeping apartments. The exempted part comprised the chapel, class rooms and assembly rooms.

"I don't see how you can divide it up like that," Judge Ruddy observed. "If you took one part away, the rest wouldn't be much good."

Mr. Sanderson said that his assessment of the township was generally at about two-thirds of the actual value. He estimated that the part of the property exempted, such as the new chapel and class rooms and assembly rooms, represened an assessment of $130,000.

Mother Superior Heard

Mother Irene, who is in charge of the administration of Mount St. Joseph, explained that the purposes of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph were religious, educational and charitable.

"Our primary work is teaching up to the Entrance, and in some cases to Upper School work," Mother Irene said. "We also take care of the aged poor and orphans at various places throughout the province. In Peterborough, for example, we have the House of Providence for the aged, and St. Vincent's Orphanage for orphan boys. And we have an orphanage for girls at Cobourg. We also have four hospitals in Ontario: in Peterborough, Porth Arthur, North Bay and Parry Sound.

The young ladies join our community, receive extensive training during their novitiate, and after they take their final vows they go out from the Mother House to engage in the work of education, nursing, and in taking care of the aged and orphans. That is why we need assembly and class rooms at the Mother House."

Mother Irene stated that the institution included living quarters, sewing rooms, library, offices, recreation rooms for the novices, dining room, and two kitchens, one of which was especially for the teaching of domestic science to the novices, who in turn engaged in the teaching of this subject.

"The young ladies who join the community do so for the purpose of working for others in educational, charitable and religious affairs. After the period of their novitiate and training they take final vows. There are ninety Sisters resident at the Mount. Fifty-two of them are novices in training, twenty-six are teachers in the Separate Schools of the city, five are occupied in teaching the novices, three or four teach sewing, five are engaged in administrative work. The novices are also taught vocal and instrumental music, and their training also includes the improvement of their education in further preparation for the work they are to do when their novitiate is completed.

The school teachers are paid a salary of $450 a year. This money is paid to the community by the Separate School Board. The Sisters are personally paid no money. They receive only their clothing, their home residence and board. The Mother House also receives any surplus from teachers outside of Peterborough after their own actual expenses have been met. This is needed to meet the cost of preparing Sisters at the Mount for all such work as taking care of the aged and orphans, nursing, and also for their preparations as teachers."

Mother Irene said that the products of the farm were used at the Mount. None of the produce was disposed of outside the institution. Occasionally there was some surplus milk which was sent to the Orphanage, but was a negligible quantity.

Bruce Johnston, clerk of the township, said that this was the first time the Mount had asked for exemption from taxes.

Mr. Corkery argued in the conclusion of the hearing that the appeal was very similar to a case which had been determined in Ottawa in which Mr. Justice Mederdith had given judgment in favor of the Gray Nuns. Mr. Corkery read the Act, and said the Mount was maintained for educational, religious and charitable purposes. The appeal was based solely, however, on the ground that the Mount was a seminary of learning.

Sarnia Coal Chute Fired By Lightning

SARNIA, Ont., July 11.—(C.P.)—A railway coal chute and 300 tons of coal in the tunnel yards of Canadian National Railways here were destroyed by fire early to-day after the frame tower had been struck by lightning during a terrific electrical storm.

No official estimate of the damage was made but it will exceed $1,000. City firemen were called, but were unable to save the chute or coal. No one was injured, but Jack Mumford, coal chute operator, who was in the sand house adjoining the chute eating his lunch, was momentarily stunned by the lightning bolt. When he recovered his composure, the chute was in flames and he heeded the warning of Charles McGuire, a fellow employe, and fled to a safe place.

744 DETROIT MOTORISTS GET SUMMONSES IN DAY

DETROIT, July 11 (AP)—Police, in a campaign to halt traffic fatalities, served 744 motorists with violation tickets up to midnight Tuesday, and plans were under consideration for the impounding of license plates of reckless drivers or flagrant traffic law violators.

Most of those ticketed Tuesday were stopped for driving more than 15 miles an hour in the business sections and 20 miles an hour in residential areas.

Traffic accidents since Jan. 1 have claimed 215 lives, in Detroit streets.

An exhibition devoted entirely to aerial photographs was held recently in London.

Hitler To Announce Return To League

BERLIN, July 11 (C.P.-Havas).—Chancellor Adolf Hitler will announce the return of Germany to the League of Nations when he addresses the special session of the Reichstag on its meeting Friday night, it was learned here to-day on good authority.

The return of Germany to the League was again in prominence as a possibility as a result of the Hitler-Mussolini talks at Venice recently, when the Duce was reported to have urged that the Reich return to Geneva.

Only two days ago in London during his talks with British Government leaders on consolidation of peace in Europe, French Foreign Minister Barthou was reported to have reiterated the possibility of Germany's return to the League.

It had originally been expected that Hitler's convocation of the Reichstag was for the purpose of officially informing that body of his measures to crush the revolt within Nazi ranks on June 30.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

CROFTER accounted for the feature event at Fort Erie on Monday finishing ahead of such good ones as Spey Crest and Shady Well. The old saying of horses for courses and courses for horses again held good when Upset Lad won the other day at Fort Erie. He always wins at this track and very seldom any other. . . . Charlie Ralls is riding with great success around Montreal this summer.

Irish Kid from the Seagram stable has a high turn of early speed but lately has developed a tendency to stop on the back stretch. But one of these days he will forget to slow the pace and the pay-off will be like the figures on a boxcar. Syndic has not done a thing so far this season but it won't be long now. His last race showed he is rounding into form. Flying Sailor down at Rockingham Park is like money in the bank. He is in perfect shape at the present time and all he needs is a good snug ride and he will take the best of them into camp. Another at the same place looks like a sure thing is The Pelican. When he has his running shoes on he will not take dust from any sprinter.

Arthur Brent won apurse the other day with Timon and has taken over Soil Gills from Willie Morrissey and will win a race with him right smartly and take a tip from us, Art's specialty is long shots. Lace Shawl who finished second on Monday looks like money in the bank in his next start. It has taken Wacket longer than usual to hit his winning form this year. This is probably due to the fact that he is not getting any younger but he is sound as a dollar and it will only be matter of time until he will be led into the winners' circle.

WE SUPPOSE you notice where our good friend Boocap clicked at Rockingham on Saturday for over thirteen dollars. If you missed him in his first time out, then take him his next start as he always wins two or three in a row . . . . We have not heard anything lately of the contemplated comeback of Sun Beau, the greatest money winning horse of all time. Guess the report was just another fairy tale, as we pointed out at the time. He is now nine years old and has been out of training for five years and it is very doubtful if he could compete with Equipoise and Cavalcade and the younger handicap division.

Sensational Race As Girls Vie In 100-Yard Dash At London

Here is the finish of the 100-yard dash at the girls' British Empre Games team trals. Looked upon as one of the two feature races of the meet held at London, Ont., the race provided sensational thrills, as the girls dashed to the wire only a few feet apart. The victor proved to be Audrey Deamley of Hamilton, who is seen at the extreme right. She is only a foot or so ahead of Peggy Matheson of Toronto, who is seen at extreme left. Only a few feet behind followed Betty White, Hamilton, Mildred Frizzell, Toronto, and Mary Fizzell, Vancouver, in the order named. Miss Dearnely's time of 11.2 was two-fifths of a minute slower than the world's record.

CLUBMEN CINCH E.P.L. VICTORY IN LAST FRAME

Billingsley Keeps Seven Hits Well Scattered Except in 5th Inning.

C.G.E. OUTHIT 10-7.

Mein Leads Hitters With Double and Two Singles in Three Times Up.

Cogs ran their unbeaten string of E.P.L. games to eight by knocking off C.G.E., 8 to 5, before a small crowd at the Exhibition Grounds last night. Receiving better pitching and hits at opportune times, the classy Clubmen proved too much for the Electrics in a good ball game ,though C.G.E. had them tied il the fifth and were trailing by just one run in the second-last frame. The winners had enough punch left to settle it in the final stanza.

Lefty Billingsley slow-balled C.G.E. into subjection, going along steady to fan four and keep seven hits scattered except for three in the fifth. He gave one walk. Cogs' support was shaky in spots. Armour started for the Electrics but was shelled out in the fourth with a total of four counters in. He had been nicked for five hits and three walks till then. McGillen finished in good style, spreading five hits apart—but for three in the seventh—and fanning two. C.G.E. kicked in with several costly misplays.

Mein led the hitters with a double and two single in three appearances. Billingsley got two doubles in four, and Vannest two singles in four times up. For C.G.E. ,Hatton led with a triple and single in three, while Saunders got a two-bagger. Johnston, Barry, Wilson and Padgett all turned in some nice defensive playing, the latter featuring with a smart one-handed stab of a high line drive. The game was marked with two double-plays.

How They Scored.

Cogs got one in the first. Wilson walking and racing home on Billingsleys double. They added one the next time up on Padgett's walk, a steal and Mein's two-baser. Two tallied for them in the fourth on singles by Moore, Vannest and Mein, with a miscue. They ran in two more in the sixth on a walk, two errors, an out and Mein's hit. They counted their last two in the seventh on hits by Rooke, Cadd and Vannest with an out and a pilfered sack.

C.G.E.'s first one came in the fourth ,Mowry walking and tearing right around on Hatton's triple to deep right. They tied the count with three in the fifth on an error, out, singles by Huggins and Mowry and Saunders' double. The final marker was notched in the sixth when Hatton beat out a bunt, stole second and kept on to third on a bad peg, to jog home later on Corbett's bingle.

BISONS BEAT ORIOLES.

(By the Associated Press).

Ray Schalk's Buffalo Bisons are in the midst of their first real winning streak of the season, and the other seven clubs of the International League, recalling the Bisons' closing dash a year ago, are beginning to get disturbed about it.

An 8-4 victory over last-place Baltimore Orioles last night sent the Bisons' record for their last nine games to seven triumphe and two defeats. They still are in sixth place, but not too far away from the leaders that it would be impossible for them to repeat their 1933 feat when they just managed to push their way into the playoffs and then won the League championship and the right to play the American Association winners in the Little World Series.

Make 12 Hits in All.

Buffalo hit George Granger hard, especially in the fifth and sixth innings, in rolling to their victory over the Orioles last night. They made 12 hits all told. Southpaw Charley Perkins getting three safeties in a row.

Perkins allowed only four hits in the first six innings but his wildness caused his removal in the seventh after he had walked a total of seven men.

John Berly's six-hit pitching enabled Rochester to whip Syracuse 5-1 and clip another game off Newark's first place lead. Bobby Coombs was nicked for nine hits by the Red Wings and was given poor support by his Syracuse mates.

Cut Newark's Lead.

Newark's advantage over Rochester fell to 3½ games as the Bears surrendered a 4-3 decision to Toronto in an evenly fought night game in the Canadian city. George McQuinn's single with Gene Schott on second base in the second extra inning, broke up the game. Schott blanked the Bears until the ninth when Fred Muller's home run with one on tied the score at 2-all. Each scored one run in the 10th, Newark on Glenn's single, driving Hill in from second, and Toronto on Morrissey's double and Manaker Ike Boone's single.

Montreal overcame Albany Senators' 4-4 in another "owl" game, although Cy Blanton held the Royals to three hits. Albany nicked Ray Fritz for eight and apparently had the game won until Montreal's three-run rally in the eighth. The victory pulled the Royals to within a game and a half of the fourth place Senators.

SMELTERS BEAT CALEDONIANS CUP SEMI-FINAL

Brown Opens Scoring, Lovat Equalizes, J. Hart Tallied Twice.

DELORO 3, SCOTS 1.

Deloro went into the final of the Injured Players' Cup, last night, when they defeated the Caledonians by the score of three to one, before a good attendance of spectators, on King Edward Park. They meet the Canada Packers next Tuesday night.

Goal In Two Minutes

The selection of the goals fell in favor of Deloro, and they decided to play with the sun at their backs. From the kick-off, Brooks tore in on the Caledonian full backs that were not properly settled to combat the sudden attack. A scrimmage ensued, thereby gathering all the players in front of the custodian who had no chance to stop the shot from the foot of Brown, at close range. Barson endeavored to hold the opposing forwards to outside of the shooting zone, but Deloro attack reverted to the close combination to pepper Tice's charge. A break-away by Gore caused some anxiety to the Deloro goal-keeper when the Scot's left winger placed a perfect shot into the top corner of the upright. Hart, Deloro custodian, grasping the ball in the nick of time to clear. The visitors again took up the attack seriously to find themselves too anxious in front of goal. Brooks particularly missing many scoring opportunities when right in below the cross-bar. Bradley, at centre half for Deloro, intercepted dangerous raids by the Scots' forwards to send his front rank away into the locals' goal area, where shooting performances were off the mark. Time and again, Clark and Lovatt would outwit the full backs to test out Hart, custodian with high shots that were to his desire. They immediately bombarded the Scots' goalie with all kinds of shots; while Green and Denisen tackled fearlessly to keep the score at the one-goal lead at the interval." Deloro, 1; Caledonians, 0.

Lovatt Equalizes

On resuming, both attacks tried hard to break through the half back divisions to get within shooting distance, but the superb work of Green robbed Brown and Brooks of any opening presented inside the goal area. Clark kept up his steady wing play to harass the visitors around their goal and from a faulty clearance of W. Hart, now in goal; permitted Lovatt to bulge the twine behind him. On an even basis again, the players renewed their energy more than ever. Bradley moving up closely to his forwards so that any loose play near goal would bring his team success. He carried the ball inside the goal territory to draw out the defence, then slipped the sphere back to Brown who, in turn, let Bradley drive hard for goal. Green stopped his intentions, but not sufficient to prevent Hart, lying nearby, kicking the ball into the net. A few minutes later, Hart made the count three to one, which evidently took all the life of the Scots. Towards the end, Clark carried the attack all on his own, and finished with shots that were blocked in front of goal. Deloro, 3; Caledonians, 1.

Goal scorers.—Deloro, J. Hart (2), and Brown. Caledonians—Lovatt.

Deloro—W. Hart, goal; T. Cousins and G. Stewart, full backs; P. Grey, E. Bradley and J. Sproul, halves; S. Smith, E. Smith, G. Brooks, W. Brown, and T. Hart, forwards.

HUBBELL MAKES STAR BATSMEN LOOK HELPLESS

Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin Victims of Oklahoma Screw Ball Artist.

STEALS THE SHOW.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Back in the trenches for pennant warfare to-day after giving nearly 50,000 howling fans the greatest combined one-day baseball and vaudeville show in the history of the sport, American Leaguers can thank their lucky stars that Carl Owen Hubbell, the Oklahoma master of the "screw ball" and ace of National League pitchers, hurled no more than three of the nine spectacular innings in the now historic battle of the Polo Grounds.

Victims of Ace Hurler

Hubbell's dazzling performance in blanking the Americans for the first three frames and striking out five of the game's greatest batsmen in succession — Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin — absolutely stole the second annual all-star show yesterday. This highly dramatic achievement in the full glare of the spotlight not only set Hubbell apart for the day as the star of stars but thoroughly over-shadowed the subsequent proceedings, during which the Americans wiped out a four-run deficit by shellacking Lon Warneke and Van Mungo, took the lead with a six-run outburst in the fifth inning and then coasted to a 9-7 win over the Nationals behind the effective relief pitching of young Melvin Leroy Harder of Cleveland Indians. Harder held the Nationals to one hit in the last five innings.

Second Straight Win

It was the second successive triumph for the Americans in this brilliant pageantry, with Al Simmons and Earl Averill taking the clouting honors that went to Ruth a year ago in the first all-star game at Chicago.

Hubbell turned in his best work just when it appeared the Americans might break the left-handed spell he had held over them.

YANKEES BEGIN SECOND TRIP AGAINST THE CLEVELAND REDS

Detroit Entertains Senators in Only Other American League Tussle.

FULL NATIONAL BILL.

(By The Associated Press)

Major league baseball returns to normality to-day after a two-day layoff while the All-Star debate was being concluded to the fans' delight if not to the National League's entire satisfaction.

All eight clubs will swing back into the National League pennant fight, but only two games were booked for the American. New York Yankees, setting the American League pace, a half game in front of Detroit Tigers, were to begin their second Western trip against Cleveland Indians, while Detroit entertained the fifth-place Washington Senators.

In the older circuit, the league-leading New York Giants, two games in front of Chicago Cubs, took their stand at the Polo Grounds against Pittsburgh, in fourth place, and 7½ games out of first place. Chicago tackled the Braves at Boston. St. Louis Cardinals, trailing the Cubs by two games in third place, began a series with the Phillies, while Brooklyn entertained Cincinnati Reds.

Earl Averill, Indians—Drove in three runs and scored one on triple and double.

Joe Medwick, Cardinals—Drove ball into stands with two on to give Nationals early 4-0 lead.

Mel Harder, Indians—Pitched one-hit ball in last five innings to protect Americans' advantage.

Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Contributed best fielding play of game, a dazzing catch of Averil's fly in the ninth.

Al Simmons, Whitesox—Solved National pitching for two doubles and single, scored three runs and drove in one.

Joe Cronin, Senators—Fielding sensationally, accepting ten chances without an error.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

In all the thousands of golfers whom I've watched I've yet to see one who gave the proper attention to the angle of the left wrist in the starting position.

When taking the starting position most players fuss about the angle of the clubface the position of their feet, their hands or head, but seldom do they think about the relation of the club shaft to the left arm.

This relationship determines the angle of the left wrist.

The shaft should be pointing slightly toward the right from the fully extended left arm. This affords the proper bend of the left wrist when the left hand is turned over so that only the back of it can be seen.

This wrist angle in turn places the club and arms in the right position to make the correct backswing.

In the popular advice to "hit through the ball" we have another misleading tip.

Its true that you have the feeling of hitting through the ball in a good shot, but any conscious effort to hit or even swing through the little white pill is bound to interrupt your swing.

In order to bring about the feeling of hitting through you must, after making somthing like the proper backswing, think about swinging downward.

Concentrating on swinging almost directly downward will bring the desired result.

If writers of golf instructions were forced to play according to their writings there'd be less misinformation about the game.

BOARD PLAYS FEATURE PART IN LEAGUE WIN

Orphans' First Sacker Drives in Three Runs With Triple and a Double.

A CLOSE FINISH.

Behind the splendid pitching of Frankie Shine, the Orphans managed to nose out a 6-5 victory over Johnston Tiremen last night at Central School grounds. Both teams went along scoreless until the third inning when they each tallied twice. runless again in 4th, and in the fifth they tallied three times and finally the Orphans pushed over the deciding run in the seventh while holding their opponents scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Shine hurled for the winners and did a swell job, allowing only five runs and eleven hits to be chalked up against him, striking out seven and walking two. His support was anything but air-tight and but for this would have won by a much larger margin. Parsons started to do the elbowing for the Deck men but could not seem to locate the plate and gave way to Elliott in the fourth and while the latter pitched nice ball he weakened in the pinches and was forced to absorb the defeat.

Max Board, first sacker for the Harrison-Scales crew, almost won the game single-handed, driving in three of his teams six runs with a triple and a double and scoring one more himself as the result of an error, for his team's fourth run. Heffernan drove in the remaining two runs with a single and a double.

Dorrington and Montgomery were the only two Johnston players able to solve Shine's delivery both having two safe bingles apiece along with Stanger who also managed to secure two hits out of five times at bat.

Each team was guilty of three errors, Orphans outfield being shaky several times with men on bases allowing two unearned runs to score while the Tiremen's infield was none too steady on different occasons. The game, however, was fast and exciting and the issue was in doubt till the final out was made in the ninth inning.

The teams:

Orphans: Jones, cf, lf; Wilshaw, 2b; Weese, 3b; Fleming, ss; Miller, lf, cf; Board, 1b; Heffernan, rf; Walsh, c; Shine, p.

Phil Edwards Enters Empire Games Trials

Shortly after this sheet hits the main drag, a senior ball game will be commencing—always, of course, weather permitting—at Riverside Park. It's between the honorable Dukes of Oshawa (the Dukes des Chev) and even the more honorable Petes of Peterborough, and it's due to get under way along about 5.15, which is forty-five minutes to six o'clock. 'Willie' Calladine is slated to fling 'em in for the Petes but we don't know what hurler the ex-Ulsterman have in mind. It promises to be a nifty number and there have been few breach-of-promise ball games in the C.O.B.L. this year. The Petes are liable to win this one just to break the monotony and show they can cop 'em at home as well as on the road.

• • • • • • •

Cogs continued their winning ways in the E.P.L. yester e'en when they 8-5'd C.G.E. at the Exhibition Grounds. The gallant Electrics tried everything but hypnotism, but they couldn't stop those Clubmen. The latter seemed to have that punch and could step in there when necessary and pound out a few hits and a few runs. Lefty Billingsley pushed his molasses ball (slower'n 'lasses in January) by four of them and had 'em breaking their backs most of the way to ground out or pop up. Armour and McGillen toiled for C.G.E. but were nicked for some timely wallops. The fielding on both sides was just so-so.

• • • • • • •

The lanky Cog forksider kept in practice by tricking two runners off first with his two-faced stance and motion while twirling. Should be a law aganst it. Padgett zoomed up once to pluck a lovely screaming liner out of the stratosphere with one duke, thereby robbing somebody or other of a hit. Shocky Mein crashed out three hits for a perfect night. Huggins got cut over the eye by a pitched ball and had to retire. Hatton tried hard to win the game single-handed with some nice hitting and base-running. Yeah, that seems to be about all. Oh, yes, there were a few fans there, too.

• • • • • • •

We didn't see it, but Operative 17 tells us that there was a lulu of a men's softball fixture at Central. Always our luck, we mess around with the screwy softball tilts and miss the nifty ones. The poor little homeless Orphans came to town and saw the sights and went home again with a 6-5 victory over Johnston's Tires, and they say Bert Deck didn't like it a bit. Shine did some lovely pitching again, while Parsons and Elliott must have done pretty well too, by the score. It was a very even number, one run difference, one hit more for the losers, the same number of errors, two runs for both sides in the third and three for both crews in the fifth. But Orphans didn't play fair and snuck over one more in the seventh. The Waifs got around the sacks fast when they got on—apparently feeling that yesterday wasn't tag day for the orphans (ouch!).

The Lindsay Softball League is going to curl up one of these days unless something is done to inject more interest. It got to be a one-sided race, and then the players began losing interest. And the other eve, at a scheduled game, not enough players of one side turned up to field a team. They finally picked a bunch out of the spectators but the tussle was so rotten that the umps called it in disgust. The fans are sore about it. Too bad if softball goes the way of hockey and baseball in a burg that was once considered a fine sporting town. They used to get so hot there that they chased winning opponents out of town with bricks!

• • • • • • •

That money-box they use at men's softball games here is as hard to crack as a ballot box at an election. Now, we find out that instead of eight bucks and something—as we heard at first—$10.60 was raised at the benefit game last week at Central. That was the sum found when the young safe was tapped the other day. Not a bad sum for softball. The same two all-star teams that put up such a fine battle in the name of sweet charity will meet again up there Saturday eve, again in a benefit game for injured players. Money raised goes toward doctor bills. Players who were named for that other fixture are again asked to be on hand, and fans are advised to be on deck and see two classy squads tangle. z

There was heavy interest around here yesterday over that all-star Big League ball game between the Nationals and Americans. It ended in a 9-7 win for the A's, the team that won it 4-2 last year before a crowd that paid $42,000. Yesterday's crowd realized $52,982. We were pulling for the Nats to cop it and felt quite peeved when they took Carl Hubbell out. The Giants' star southpaw—best one in the majors—stood the pick of the American League, including such dudes as Ruth Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons, Cronin and Gomez, on their ears, fanning six of them in three frames he worked. Once Carl left, the big bats of the Amerks got busy and finally won out in a slow exhibition of baseball.

EASTERN TENNIS REACHES EIGHTS

Favorites Advance in Men's Singles Play on Ottawa Courts.

OTTAWA, July 11 (C.P.)—The men's singles event in the Eastern Canadian tennis championships was reduced to the eights yesterday afternoon with Montreal, Toronto, Kingston and Jamaica players occupying the chosen places. Donald Leahong and Harry Dayes, the two Jamaican players, won by the straight set route, Leahong showing great form and splendid control. Marcel Rainville of Montreal and Ross Wilson of Toronto outstanding Canadian players, were forced to three sets before advancing. Wilson got away to a slow and unimpressive start in his match with Eddie O'Hara, but as the match progressed the former McGill student came back to his form and ran out the second and third sets at 6—1 and 6—4.

Edgar Murphy, well-known hockey star, proved a stumbling block for Marcel Rainville, Canada's second ranking player, the French-Canadien net star taking the first set only to have the rangy Murphy run out the next set at 6—1, by deep well placed drives and strong service. The third set was all Rainville, Murphy netting and outing at critical moments.

Frenchmen are growing taller, according to military statistics just issued, the 1934 class being one and one-half inches taller and two and one-half pounds heavier than former averages.

SEYMOUR WEST SOFTBALL CLAN LEADS LEAGUE

Menie Drops to Cellar Position by Reason of 13-12 Defeat on Saturday.

4TH STRAIGHT WIN.

BURNBRAE, July 11. (Examiner Correspondence)—Grabbing off the odd run in twenty-five, Seymour West took Saturday evening's game from Menie to perch safely on the top rung with a record of four consecutive victories, while Menie are relegated to the cellar with the same number of consecutive losses.

This was anybody's fixture, the score wavering first one way and then the other—like a shadow in a storm.

Craighead looked best in the infield for the losers with K. Oddie also making some nice catches. Doug. Milne juled two wonderful efforts in centre to rob McCook of extra base blows. Eagleson was pitching a fine brand of ball but did not get the support in the pinches. Hutcheon, the slugging outfielder of the Menie gang was sorely missed from the line-up.

Anderson pitched a good game for the winners with seven strike-outs and only two free tickets. His teammates chipped in with several errors but only in the third and sixth did these do any harm. McCook looked best in the outfield while Hooper played a nice game at short.

McCulloch led the winners at bat with four singles and three runs. Hoard, usualy the heavy hitter, secured one homer.

Jeffs counted a trio for the losers, with K. Oddie leading the hitters with three safe blows.

Line-ups:

Menie—Eagleson, p; Jeffs, c; Craighead, 1b; R. Oddie, 2b; Rannie, 3b; K. Oddie, ss; Parr, lf; Milne, cf; Wallace rf.

West Seymour — Anderson, p; Holmes, c; Chadwick, 1b; McCulloch, 2b; Hoard, 3b; Hooper, ss; Sarginson, lf; Nicholas, cf; McCook, rf.

HAMILTON RINK WINS O.B.A. CUP

Defeats C. V. Charters of Brampton in Final by Score of 18 to 11.

EARLY LEAD COUNTS.

HAMILTON, July 11. — Running his string of victories straight through the premier round of the 46th annual tournament of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, Eddie Bickle of Hamilton Victorias stepped his rink to victory in the first event of the annual battle at the Roselawn greens here yesterday evening.

Bickle led his quartet to an 18 to 11 triumph over the Templeton four skipped by C. V. Charters, running in a large margin on the second and third ends, when he scored big ends to make the game easy.

The victory came after the Victoria four had steamed through all opposition in their group and then had defeated H. G. Salisbury's Toronto St. Matthews by 19 to 13 in the semi-final.

The Brampton rink was never able to overcome the local four's early lead, scoring on but eight ends, while the Victoria squad counted a big seven on the fourth to clinch the verdict.

In the Ames Trophy, secondary event, Hamilton Fernleighs skipped by Hughie McKellar, lost a 10 to 7 verdict to A. Archer, of Hamilton Victorias, while H. G. Salisbury won by 19 to 11 from A. J. Stringer of Balmy Beach, to reach a place in the finals, which will be decided to-day.

The third round of the doubles for the Del Marr Trophy was reached last night, and the first round of the Butt Trophy, for singles was completed. The two secondary rink events and the singles and doubles will be completed to-day.

450 Small Industries To Have One Big Code

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP).—One big code for 450 small industries is expected to emerge from N.R.A.'s hopper momentarily.

This code, carrying the recovery unit another long stride on the road to simplification, will touch only such basic standards as wages, hours and prohibition of child labor. It wil not contain price fixing.

General Hugh S. Johnson, who disclosed yesterday he wants to turn his N.R.A. job over to a commissions and step back into private life as soon as President Roosevelt feels he can spare him, hoped to promulgate the new code before leaving to-day on a combination vacation-speaking tour westward.

His office sent out yord that President Roosevelt had wirelessed General Johnson telling him to speak as often as he wished and wherever he desired. This was considered an answer to published reports that President Roosevelt had curtailed the speaking tour.

Whatever road N.R.A. may take in the future, General Johnson made it plain the government will keep its veto power over code organizations if he has his way.

"And Brown remembers that his master, Lord Mills, was distinctly worried round about each of these times. Quite unlike himself, he says . . . pretty clearly blackmail, I fancy, with Miss Dundas holding the threads in the middle as Mrs. de Souza's companion. Can't find out anything about the lady. Says she was a Miss Edwards. Says father was a curate in Huddersfield. Well, there was an Edwards there, a curate, around the right time ago, had a large family too, but beyond that . . ." Dartmoor gave a faint frown.

"At any rate," the assistant commissioner put in, "we know that both these women were known to both the men. It looks as though Tait had been having a sort of secret conference with Lord Mills, perhaps on some way to escape the clutches of the two harpies Mills shoots himself . . ."

"And Tait apparently is poisoned by Signora Ricci, old Compieri's daughter," the superintendent finished. "I've looked him up for you," he went on to Pointer. "He was pensioned off. Rather in a hurry. Did good work but had the temper of the devil, and a way of getting even with those who vexed him that we didn't like. Looks as if you had a straight run there. Though, of course, you're right to round up all the other possibilities too—as you always do."

"How did she spend this morning, by the way?" Pelham asked.

"She was out shopping for an unusually long time. Owing to not finding a tender enough chicken for their own dinner, she told her daughters on her return."

"Of course, that's the sort of explanation she might be expected to give," Pelham said.

"So she remarked to the man I sent to question them," Pointer agreed grimly.

"Did she seem worked up at all on her return?" The assistant commissioner wondered.

"Very much so. Her husband hinted that that was due to her having tried to follow him and failed, but, of course, Mrs. Ricci insists now that it was only the excitement of having poisoned Mr. Tait."

Pelham laughed outright. Pointer gave rather a one-sided smile as he went on:

"That poisoned boutonniere is also connected with Lady Ida Westmacott. I think there's some odd story there. That divided house . . ."

Pointer looked at Major Pelham, who in his turn stared back at him thoughtfully.

"What does that house suggest to you?" the assistant commissioner asked finally.

"Well, I was wondering whether Mr. Westmacott's son was really dead. That part seemed to me a bit vague, and all Mr. Ward-Thynne could tell me came to a rumor of his death on Westmacott's yacht in the Mediterranean while under his aunt Lady Ida's, care. He thinks there was a funeral at sea. . . Now Mrs. de Souza's villa was in Capri. I wondered whether, by any chance, Lord Westmacott's idiot son wasn't really dead, but is being kept in the one half of the quiet house here in town?"

There was a short pause, then the assistant commissioner said:

"You're right in your guess. I've just told the superintendent, and was going to tell you. Only four people besides Westmacott up till now, have known it, barring the lunacy commissioners. Lady Ida, Tait, Miss Etta Naylor, and myself. I was told it in my official capacity. And Tait didn't know that Etta Naylor knew. By her request. Horrible story for poor Westmacott. One of the best of fellows. Luckily he's a deeply religious man and bears it like a stained-glass window saint. But it's pretty ghastly just the same. That's why he doesn't marry. He as good as told me the night before he left England that, however deeply his heart was engaged, his conscience wouldn't let him marry once he had to give up all hope of his son ever being cured.

"They say he's just like an animal. Good-natured enough, but spends his time biting and scratching at wooden balls. Terrible. For years Westmacott refused to believe it was hopeless. There was one specialist in particular—he himself was so certain that his gland treatment would do the trick that Westmacott accepted the promised cure as a certainty. That was around the time when he hoped to marry Miss Naylor. But nothing came of it—the cure. And then even Westmacott realized that there was no hope.

"Westmacott had to get out of England. Away from the woman he loved, and from the son he couldn't save. But evidently he left his old valet to look after the son. Apparently this fellow, Strange, is some sort of attendant under him. Lady Ida, too, sees to it that he is well cared for. The boy was always deeply attached to her. And she's awfully good to him, Westmacott told me. But, even so, he has Tait, who was a special pal of his, look in on him every few months if he's in England."

"So that's why Mr. Tait erased the name from his engagement book, and wouldn't explain where he'd been . . . and probably had been to see him when his dog died, and was still under the influence of the sight . . ." Pointer was thinking aloud.

Pelham nodded.

"Shocking story. I hope to God we can keep it dark."

"What does the son look like, sir?"

Pelham had no notion. He said that even the lunacy commissioner only saw bright eyes gleaming from a heap of straw.

"Was he supposed to be like his father or his mother as a child?"

"And what was she like, sir?"

Pelham's wonderful memory did not fail him. "Like a gypsy. Blue-black hair, blue-black eyes. Thin hawk face. Scarlet, thin lips, and magnificent teeth."

"And his age now, sir?"

Pelham thought back. "Let us see. Westmacott was barely 21 when he married. I suppose the boy would be around 22 or 23."

Pelham glanced at the clock. Even for the Yard it was late.

His two subordinates rose. Outside, the superintendent had one more word.

"The A. C. wouldn't forgive it if Mr. Westmacott's story were dragged into this case needlessly." Pointer was quite aware of that, but neither would Pointer have forgiven himself if he had made such a dreadful blunder which, to him, was of vastly more importance. He didn't have to live with an irate superior, whereas he had probably quite a number of years yet to live with Alfred Pointer, and his standards. But he only said he would make very sure of each step.

"You're evidently going on the plan of excluding first all the innocents," Dartmoor said approvingly. "That let's you settle down finally to the guilty residue, which you can rout out of their holes then with double energy," and they parted on that fine mixed metaphor.

Again Lady Ida was in, when, early next morning, Pointer sent in his official card. She was dressed as though to go out, but she sat down again and a pair of resolute, watchful eyes fastened themselves on him.

"Lady Ida," he began at once, "as you know, a man in whom the police are very much interested, was seen to enter the side door of this house, a door which I have since learned connects directly with the so-called unused part of this house, the part where Mr. George Westmacott is kept. He may be in danger. Would you permit me to have a look at him—now—to convince myself that all is well?"

"Certainly not, chief inspector. I refuse absolutely." She spoke firmly.

"I can get a commissioner in lunacy to accompany me. I can also get the necessary authority from the home secretary—if need be." Steel showed in Pointer's tone and eye. "If his attendant could be with me to verify the fact that it really is Mr. George Westmacott, I should be quite satisfied not to make either application. Apart from the man seen entering, a very dangerous little snake is said to have escaped in this neighborhood last night."

For Thursday, July 12.

A fairly lively day, with much commotion or stirring about, it presaged by the planetary aspects. However, there are menacing conditions, with some anxieties or perplexities regarding change, travel or strangers, with whom it may be well to be alert as to deception or other cross-purposes. The feminine influences seems to be particularly dangerous in this connection. With precaution, new undertakings should be active and meet a degree of success.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves engulfed in a stirring year, with much doing in connection with new ventures or in strange associations. With these, however, it is admonished to be wary as to deception or misrepresentation, although the feminine element is most menacing in this respect. With precaution affairs should prove flourishing and eventful.

A child born on this day may be clever, enterprising, but restless and fond of frequent change. It may find itself subject to feminine wiles or intrigue, or be itself fickle and given to flirtation.

Dartmoor looked over Pointer's shoulder and nodded.

"And Brown remembers that his master, Lord Mills, was distinctly worried round about each of these times. Dartmoor gave a faint frown.

"At any rate," the assistant commissioner put in, "we know that both these women were known to both the men. It looks as though Tait had been having a sort of secret conference with Lord Mills, perhaps on some way to escape the clutches of the two harpies Mills shoots himself . . ."

"And Tait apparently is poisoned by Signora Ricci, old Compieri's daughter," the superintendent finished. "I've looked him up for you," he went on to Pointer. "He was pensioned off. Suggestions

JOLIET, Ill., July 11 (C.P.).—Warden Frank D. Whipp of the Illinois State Penitentiary has announced receipt of a letter from one of the convicts, giving suggestions as to how life for the prisoners might be made a little more pleasant. Among other things the writer suggested a swimming pool and decorated walls, adding:

"There is also a crying need for more intelligent guards. If you would require the guards to pass an intelligence test, it would raise the intellectual plane of the institutions."

T. STEWART LYON MADE CHAIRMAN OF HYDRO BOARD

Roebuck, New Attorney General, To Be Member Commission Without Salary.

COOKE MUST RESIGN.

Hepburn States Own Salary Cut Starts Now—Law Must be Changed.

TORONTO, July 11.—(C.P.)—T. Stewart Lyon of Toronto ,will be the new chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Premier Mitchell Hepburn announced to-day. The appointment will be made at once—at the first Cabinet Council of the new Liberal Government, which started this morning with all members present. In confirming his intention to appoint Mr. Lyon, Mr. Hepburn also said Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney General, will be a member of the Commission without salary.

The new Premier also confirmed the report E. G. Odette of Tilbury, would take charge of the Liquor Control machinery. He will be a one-man commission and general manager rolled in one, replacing the present two commissioners and the general manager. Mr .Odette has prepared a memorandum on liquor act administration which the Cabinet will consider to-day.

On this a decision will be reached as to the date at which the new law providing for freer sale of beer and wine will be brought into effect.

If the resignation of Hon. J. R. Cooke as chairman of the Hydro Commission, has not been acted upon by the Henry government, it wil lbe accepted promptly by the new administration, the Premier declared.

"That goes for Gaby and Maguire too," he added. He referred to C. A. Maguire, member of the Commission, and F. A. Gaby, chief engineer.

Salary Reductions.

Amplifying his previous announcement of a $2,000 reduction in the salaries of himself and members of his cabinet, Mr. Hepburn said this could only be effected by a change in the law after the Legislature meets, as the salaries are fixed by statute.

Cheques will still be issued on the basis of the present salaries and it was up to the ministers themselves to decide whether they would voluntarily accept the cut from the date of their accession to office. For his own part, Mr. Hepburn said, "the reduction starts right now."

Asked if there was any doubt other ministers would follow his example in cutting their salaries at the rate of $2,000 a year for the next six months he declined to express an opinion.

COSMIC RAY TELESCOPE TO ACCOMPANY BALLOON

PHILADELPHIA, July 11 (A.P.)—Cosmic ray secrets will be sought in the stratosphere by "telescopes" resembling tin boxes filled with clusters of salt water taffy sticks.

Taffy-like in their covering of wax and the way they are calculated to stick to cosmic rays until those elusive beams punch a scientific time clock, the delicate instruments are part of the cargo of the stratosphere hop for which Major William E. Kepner and Captain Albert W. Stevens await favorable weather in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Built in the Bartol Research Laboratories of Philadelphia's Franklin Institute, the cosmic-ray "telescopes" are less than a foot square, but from them Science hopes to learn much about the rays' behavior and perhaps even solve the moot question of just what the rays are and whence they come.

SCHOOL TEACHER IS GIVEN HONOR

Presentation Made Miss Wilma Humphries at Annual Picnic.

The pupils and teacher of S. S. No. 12, Asphodel (Birdsall School) and community, held their eighth annual picnic on Friday afternoon at Birdsall's beach.

The early part of the afternoon was spent in bathing; then came the many races in which all participated. This was followed by a game of softball until the supper was prepared'

Previous to the supper an address was read by Rachel Elmhurst, to Miss Wilma Humphries, their teacher, who, on behalf of the pupils and friends of the community expressed their regrets at her resignation from their school. A handsome cedar chest, containing bedroom furnishings, was then presented by two pupils, Allan Oakley and Murray Thomas.

Miss Humphries thanked them for their gift and assured them that it would always carry happy memories of the years spent in their school'

She also thanked the parents and the various trustees who had held office during the past eight years, for their co-operation.

Pupils, parents and friends then gathered around the lovely picnic supper which was heartily enjoyed by all.

to register vital statistics, and to direct the frontier guards.

Ordinary cases investigated by the Ogpu are to be sent to the regular courts. Cases connected with state safety will go to the Supreme Court of the union, and cases involving treason and espionage will be transferred to the war collegium of the Supreme Court.

Appeals may be made to the Supreme Court of the Union, then to a reviewing body composed of the chairman and two other members of the Supreme Court, and finally to the Central Executive Committee.

A special body is to be formed to administer deportation, exile and labor camps.

The Soviet press paid tribute to the Ogpu for having suppressed a counter-revolution under the leadership of the late Felix Dzerhinski and the late Viacheslaff Menzhenski.

The newspaper Pravda said that transference of all functions of justice to the regular court system "does not mean the fight has been abolished against enemies of the Government."

Fatal accidents in homes in Britain in the last 12 months totaled 7600, the contributing causes including high windows and cupboards, stairs without handrails, and open kitchen fires.

HON. ARTHUR WENTWORTH ROEBUCK, K.C., is a descendant of notable ancestors. Mr. Roebuck was born in Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 28, 1678, and raised on a farm in Wentworth County, from which he received his second name. After attending Arthur High School and Harboard Collegiate in Toronto and graduating from Osgoode Hall, he entered the newspaper field, and, later became owner and editor of the Temiskaming Herald and Cobalt Citizen. He returned to the legal practice, however, and was called to the Bar in 1917. Since then he has served on several important Government Commissions. He was a Liberal candidate in the Provincial riding of Timiskaming in 1911 and 1914, and the Dominion elections of 1917. He polled the largest vote of any successful Liberal candidate in Toronto ridings. Mr. Roebuck is a grand-nephew of Hon. John Arthur Roebuck, M.P., and descendant of Dr. John Roebuck, scientist, and founder of Carron Iron Works in Scotland.

During a long and varied career, he served as newspaperman, advertising executive, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, Commissioner of Agriculture for Canada, livestock breeder, and published farm and livestock literature. During the Church Union controversy, Mr. McQuesten, a continuing Presbyterian, acted for the latter group in committee discussions at Toronto. He served the City of Hamilton in many capacities, including membership of Board of Parks Management. More than any one else he has striven for, and ultimately obtained, the beautiful parks for which Hamilton is justly noted. Mr. McQuesten was one of the prime movers, also, of the northwestern development scheme, which resulted in the approach to Hamilton from Toronto being beautified. 20 Pigs Graded As Culls Sold For $12.22 Reductions Of $11.54 Made—Net Owner 68c

CORTLAND, Ill., July 10, (AP) Mrs. A. Mosback's 20 pigs went to market and netted her the grand total of 68 cents—a little more than three cents each for the 1,630 pounds of pork she devoted the time and energy to raise.

The pigs actually sold for $12.22, but reductions of $11.54 had to be made.

Here's why, as explained yesterday by the Chicago Producers' Commission Association:

Although the pigs were classed as culls, and sold for as high as 75 cents per 100 pounds when the drought was at its height, the packing company had to pay the government $2.25 per 100 pounds—exactly three times what it allowed Mrs. Msback—as processing tax.

The stockyards took $2.80 more—14 cents a pig—for use of its pens, scales and runways, and it charged 55 cents more for the corn they ate.

The insurance company got $1.50 for insuring them against injury enroute and five cents more to insure them against fire. The truck company took $3.67 for hauling the pigs and the commission house $3 for selling them. The meat board got seven cents.

That left 69 cents—for Mrs. Mosback.

S.S. 2 ALNWICK HOLDS PICNIC

Teachers Misses K. and H. Barrie Sponsor Delightful Program.

RACES AND BALL.

ROSENEATH, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence) — The first picnic of the season was held on Friday afternoon, when the Misses K. and H. Barrie of S.S. No. 2 took their pupils to Col. Birdsall's Grove on the north shore of Rice Lake. A bus was chartered from Westwood, conveying about 45 children and Miss H. Barrie, the junior teacher. Many parents and friends co-operated with the teachers to convey the remainder of pupils and also to participate in the outing.

The teachers were responsible for all games, races and program and each child received something, either a prize, an orange or candy. Many pleasing comments were secretly spoken of among the older people and the most pleasing was to learn they both are engaged for another term.

Race Results

A program of races was run off as follows:

Girls, 6 to 8, inclusive — Olive Sherwin, Jean Braithwaite.

Boys, 6 to 8—Gordon Pacey, Lloyd Spiers.

Beginners—Perry Brisbin, Valetta Thackeray.

Girls, 9, 10 and 11—Mavis Tucker, Gwendolyn Varcoe.

Boys, 9 to 10—Vernal Linton, Oral George.

Boys, 11 to 14—Laverne Towns, Jimmy Robins.

Girls, 12 to 14—Dorothy Tucker, Edith Covert.

Senior girls—Olive Linton, Marion Towns.

Tiny Tots—Trevor Mouncey, Audrey Prettie.. In this race the contestants received an all day sucker.

Wheelbarrow race — Jack Pacey and Laverne Towns, Jimmy Robins and Oral George.

Sack race—Laverne Towns, Albert Pacey.

Peanut race—Vivian Pringle and Golda Thackeray (tied).

Boot and shoe race for IV and V class—Fern Blodgett, Audrey Mouncey.

Potato race, girls, 8 years and under—Doreen Nichol, Golda Thackeray.

Three-legged race, girls—Dorothy Tucker and Edith Covert, Audrey Mouncey and Kathleen Brisbin.

Needle and thread race—Kathleen Brisbin and Lavigne McMillan.

Blindfold race, boys—Lloyd Spiers and Neil Adams.

Backward race, boys, primary and first class—Gordon Pacey, Johnny Pacey.

An exciting scramble for peanuts was held for beginners, primary and Tiny Tots which was very amusing and also closed the races.

This was followed by a mothers' race with Mrs. Delbert Brisbin first and Mrs. Clarence Thackeray second.

Young men's race—Earl Radley, Allan Pacey.

Young ladies' race—Helen Barrie, Mary Barrie, Joy Morrison.

The last race was held by the fathers with Rupert Nichol first and C. W. Varcoe 2nd. The prize consisted of one peanut and one half stick of gum along with loud applause from the gathering.

At the conclusion of the races, children and grown-ups were treated to ice cream.

A game of baseball was played by the men and boys while the supper was being laid. The senior girls and a few friends assisted the teachers. A vote of thanks, three cheers and a tiger were showered on the teachers who had planned and carried out so successfully the afternoon's entertainment.

Millin McMillan and Reg Crego along with the trustees C. W. Varcoe and R. B. Nichol assisted in running off the races.

YOUNGS POINT

Master Harold Kidd last week celebrated his eighth birthday and for the occasion had a party of ten of his chums and playmates. After playing games and enjoying the afternoon all sat down to a table beautifully decorated in blue and orange, and in the centre was a large birthday cake, and candles. Those present were Dorothy Northey, Ivan Dunford, Margaret and Addie McNaughton, Eileen Wilson, Alvin and Bobby Harold, Glendon Dunford and Roger Wilson.

FRUIT TREES BADLY DAMAGED BY FROST

Feared Over Fifty Per Cent. of Winter Apple Trees Will Not Bear Fruit Again.

BAILIEBORO, July 11. — (Examiner Correspondence.) — The effects of last winter's severe frosts are now plainly visible on the fruit orchards of this district. It is found by farmers that over fifty per cent. of ther winter apple trees have suffered to the extent that they will not again bear fruit. Earlier varieties such as Baxters, snows, Mackintosh reds and harvest apples appear to be damaged very little and there are many good trees of Duchess apples in the locality, but the Spy apple, russet and other winter apples are damaged to a great extent. Fruit men claim that the reason the later varieties suffered to such an extent was due to the extreme weather effecting the trees before the sap had an opportunity to go down last fall. The sap had already gone down in the early apple trees and therefore they were protected.

The majority of fruit orchards still have leaves on, but the leaves are small and even now many branches can be noticed drying up and dying. The bloom which appeared in the spring dropped from the trees without bearing fruit, and this season apples will be very scarce locally.

Small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries and cherries are also very scarce and these delicate fruits will be greatly missed from the tables of the local homes.

Obituary

ROBERT CARTER

LAKEFIELD, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Robert Carter was held on Friday afternoon from his late residence, Water street, with Rev. W. B. Walker officiating and a large number of friends and neighbors present and the members of Beresford Lodge, L.O.L. attending in a body.

Mr. Walker took as his text, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," and spoke words of comfort and hope to the bereaved widow and friends.

The pall-bearers were all members of Beresford Lodge, and were Brothers Richard H. Alford, W. J. Charlton, John Blakeley, Sidney Hunter, Ricard White, Robert J. Webster. Interment was made in Lakefield Cemetery.

The late Mr. Carter was born in England, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Carter, but most of his life was spent in Lakefield where he followed the trade of painter and decorator for many years, only giving up when advancing years made it no longer possible to continue his work. He was 80 years of age, but was very active and had a hearty appreciation of life and had a great interest in the affairs of his community. In spite of his four score years he was a member of the choir of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church and until the Sunday previous to his death was in his place, singing the hymns and Psalms which he dearly loved.

For the first time in many years he will be missing for the "Walk" on the Twifth of July, for Mr. Carter was an ardent Orangeman and also a member of the Royal Black Preceptory and he will be missed at the meetings of the Lodge and at their parades. The attendance of Orangemen at the funeral was large and bore testimony to the regard in which his comrades held him.

He was a faithful member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and was very much esteemed by his whole community.

He was married fifty years ago to Isabella McWilliams, who survives him, and many of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carter will recall their golden wedding reception held in February, 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter's only child, a son, Roland Carter, was killed in France in the Great War. Roland Carter was also one of the members of Lakefields' contingent to the South African War. Besides Mrs. Carter, the late Robert Carter is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ray of Toronto, and a brother, John, in the West, and a half brother, Edwin C. Carter, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

MRS. ARTHUR McMAHON.

MILLBROOK, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred on Thursday, July 5, after a lingering illness, of Ellen Jane Gray, daughter of the late Roderick and Jane Gray and beloved wife of Arthur McMahon, in her seventy-third year.

De ceased was born in Manvers Township in 1861 and was married to Arthur McMahon, who survives her, and is himself in serious ill-health, fifty-eight years ago. They then came to their home in Cavan where they have lived ever since, and where their family of eleven children were born and brought up. Eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. McMahon celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with their family about them and a number of other relatives and intimate friends.

Besides the bereaved husband, the immediate surviving relatives include six daughters: Mrs. William Bristow, Carmel; Mrs. Thomas Bristow, Campbellcroft; Mrs. William H. Armstrong, Millbrook; Mrs. Joseph Reynolds, Mrs. George Cunningham and Mrs. Delora Johnston, all of Peterborough. Also four sons: Wesley, of Waitville, Sask.; Hilliard, of Bailieboro; Lloyd, of Millbrook, and Cecil, at home. One daughter, Mrs. William Lunn, predeceased her mother, her death occurring six years ago, since which time her only son, Earl, has been a member of the family circle and with them mourns the loss of a dear mother and grandmother. One sister, Mrs. Joseph Killingbeck, of Peterborough, also survives, and six brothers: Henry Gray, of Winnegar, Mich.; Ormond Gray, of Parry Sound; Stanley Gray, of Sault Ste. Marie; Robert Gray, of Pontypool; William and McLeod Gray, of Peterborough.

The funeral took place on Saturday at * p.m. from the family homestead, Zion Line, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., had charge of the service. The many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which Mrs. McMahon was held in the community. She was ever an inspiration to all her friends with her never-failing cheerfulness and her many and varied interests. The pall-bearers were six grandsons: Nyle and Arthur Bristow, of Campbellcroft; Arnold and Vertle Reynolds, of Peterborough; Leslie and Hilliard Bristow, of Millbrook.

Interment was in the family burial plot at St. Paul's Cemetery, Fourth line, Cavan.

BETHANY.

Mrs. Sid. Armstrong was a recent visitor with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Edwin Veale, of St. Catharines, is the guest of her parents and will attend the wedding on Saturday at St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Mrs. Foster was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke on Sunday and attended the services at Ballyduff Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke and daughter, Ruth, Mrs. Ingram and Miss Vaneta and Ella Grandy, of Millbrook, were guests at the Thorndyke-Wright wedding on Saturday.

Hepburn Proclaims New Beer Act

GOES IN EFFECT SOON AS ODETTE CAN GET READY

Granting of Licenses, Procuring of Supplies, Making Regulations Yet to Do.

WORK SPEEDED.

Premier Starts Clean-out — Will Save $17,000 on Officials in Own Office.

TORONTO, July 12—(CP)—Beer and wine moved a step closer to open sale in Ontario today when the new Liberal Government proclaimed the amendments to the Liquor Control Act passed at the last session of the Legislature. At its second day in office the Government took the necessary step to put the law enacted by the previous Conservative administration in effect.

The necessary preparations for the sale, such as the granting of licenses, the procuring of supplies and the making of regulations to govern the control of the sale of beer and wine have yet to be made. But by proclaiming the Act the Government provides E. G. Odette the new one-man liquor commission with full authority to go ahead with details.

Mr. Odette did not attend today's Cabinet meeting although a memorandum he had previously prepared was considered further. He was busy at the offices of the Liquor Control Board, familiarizing himself with the staff and mapping his plans for the sale of beer and wine.

The Act provides for the sale of beer by the glass and by the bottle in licensed beverage rooms and for sale of beer and wine with meals in hotel dining rooms and restaurants which may obtain licenses.

No Celebrations

All possible steps to expedite the opening of the licensed premises for the sale of beer and wine will be taken but the length of time depends on the speed with which the Liquor Commissioner can complete his plans. He stated yesterday he would go carefully and would tolerate no hectic celebrations and no all-night parties to welcome the return of John Barleycorn to open public use.

The Order-in-Council proclaiming the Act was passed at a two-hour session and the assent of Lieuten-

HORSE IS KILLED BARN DESTROYED

Lightning Bolt Struck Barn of Patrick Perdue at King's Wharf.

HEAVY HAIL STORM.

DOWNEYVILLE, July 12. (Examiner Correspondence—The barn of patrick Perdue, King's Wharf, was struck by lightning about 12 o'clock last night during the height of the first electrical storm that swept this district. The barn was not much damaged, but a valuable horse, standing at the stable door, was struck by the bolt and killed. It is thought that the lightning ran along the eave trough to the ground, striking he horse. The animal's head was almost severed.

At East Emily the barn of William Perdue, uncle of Patrick, was struck and burned. The barn was an old log structure.

Much hail fell here during the storm

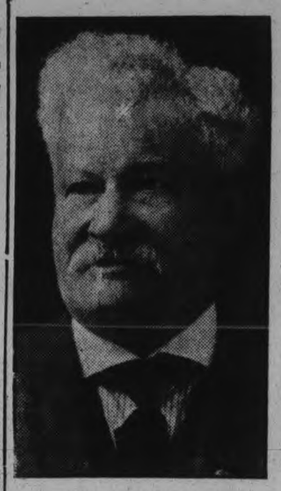
Fenelon Barn Destroyed

LINDSAY, July 12.—Shortly after midnight this morning, during the progress of the severe electrical storm, lightning destroyed the barn on the farm of Peter Wilson who resides on the border of the village of Cambray, in the township of Fenelon. A number of horses were rescued with difficulty, but a threshing machine and farm implements were destroyed, together with a quantity of grain and fodder.

The work of the villagers and neighbors saved the house, which was quite close to the barn, from destruction.

The insurance carried will not nearly cover the loss, which is placed at $3,000.

Veteran Orangemen in Parade



ISAAC BARLOW

EDWIN WICKER

When 5,000 Orangemen to-day celebrated the "Glorious Twelfth" in Port Hope, two veterans from this district were present. Isaac Barlow, aged 84, of Havelock has been an Orangeman for 67 years and Edwin Wicker, of Peterborough, aged 85, who marched for the 61st time.

Public Boon

CHICAGO, July 12 (CP)—At last something has been done about that Turkish bath effect in telephone booths.

An air-conditioned booth was displayed to delegates of the United States Independent Telephone Association. Its sponsors suggested that if patrons got hot under the collar, the cause would be at the other end of the line.

BAD STORM HITS ENTIRE DISTRICT

Little Damage Reported in Immediate Vicinity of City.

HEAVY RAIN FELL.

Many hours of sleep were lost late last night as residents of Peterborough and district lay awake and listened to thundering of one of the most severe electrical storms to strike this district this season. The storm circled about for hours, and ugly flashes of lightning repeatedly lit the sky. Light rains fell intermittetntly, but about 2 o'clock this morning a rain of almost cloudburst proportions fell.

Little damage was reported in the immediate vicinity of the city, although barns were struck at Downeyville and East Emily. Bell Telephone officials reported that their lines were undamaged.

DEATH THREATS CAUSED SUICIDE OF OTTAWA MAN

Interference in Victim's Interest in Widow, Cruel Thing Says Crown.

WOMAN TESTIFIES.

Denies Writing Letter Stating She Wished Friendship to Cease.

OTTAWA, July 12 (CP)—Evidence that Joseph Marseille, 43, formerly employed by the Ottawa General Hospital as a carpenter, was frightened into taking his own life by sickness, loss of work, and, most of all, by death threats from an anonymous letter writer, was brought out at the conclusion of the inquest into the man's death.

Mr. Marseille was found dead on the driveway on the night of Saturday, July 7. The jury under Dr. J. E. Craig, coroner, which conducted an inquiry of the circumstances surrounding his death, found last night he died as the result of corrosive poisoning, the poison being self-inflicted.

When the inquest was resumed at the Police Court, J. A. Ritchie, K.C., Crown Attorney, examined several witnesses as to the life of Mr. Marseille, and as to his actions up to within a few hours of his death. Mr. Ritchie, in summing up for the jury, pointed out that someone had apparently sought to interfere between the man and Mrs. Eva Daoust, a Hull widow in whom he was sincerely interested. "It was a cruel thing to do, and I think you may find it drove him to his death," the Crown Attorney declared.

Widow Admits Affection

Detective Ubald Sauve, of city police, submitted to the coroner copies of letters written in French, and found in Mr. Marseille's room. One of these purported to be from Mrs. Daoust, informing the man she did not wish to continue friendship with him. In the witness box, Mrs. Daoust told of an affection between herself and Mr. Marseille, and denied having written the letter found in his room. Witness was unable to identify the handwriting.

An anonymous letter found among the man's effects took a most menacing tone, referring to Marseille's friendship with Mrs. Daoust, and warning him that he should never "have her," and that, if he continued to associate with her he would suffer the consequences.

The passage, "You are closs to death," in his letter was the reason for such a thorough inquiry into the man's death, Detective Sauve declared. He had been unable to find that anyone had contributed, except through the letter, in any way to Mr. Marseille's death, and he had been unable to establish authorship of the anonymous letter.

BOAT CAPSIZES DROWNING FOUR ST. CLAIR RIVER

Dragging Under Way for Bodies of Three Men, Woman Victim.

HAMILTON SISTERS SINK.

West Checks Losses After Terrific Hail and Lightning Storm.

(By Canadian Press.)

Boats dragged the waters of St. Clair River to-day for the bodies of three men and one woman, drowned when a flimsy craft was swamped in the choppy stream last night. Two other victims of drowning were dead in Hamilton. They were Foris Filman and her 16-year-old sister Ruby, who were caught in the waters off the Burlington Golf Course while bathing there yesterday. Their bodies were not recovered until late last night.

Those dead in the St. Clair River accident were:

Mrs. Davis Davidson, 48, of Courtright; Wilfred Davidson, her 10-year-old son; John Codiolitta, Italian laborer from Windsor, and W. Dottor, also of Windsor.

According to meagre details of the fatalities available to-day, Fred Dunn, son-in-law of Mrs. Davidson, and the only member of the party to escape from the waters alive, had taken his mother-in-law and her son across to the United States side of the river. They were returning with the two Italian laborers when the light craft was carried out into a deep part of the stream and was swamped.

Early to-day Dunn had not recovered consciousness and was unable to give further details. Dr. L. R. Aiken of Courtright is investigating.

VILLAGES DESERTED.

LILLE, France, July 12.—(AP)—Several huge stacks of dry timber caught fire today in the mining town of Douai, threatening hundreds of frame shacks and mine buildings.

The intense heat blocked movements of a regiment of troops and firemen who dug trenches to prevent the blaze from spreading.

BORDEAUX, France, July 12.—(AP).—Hampered by high winds, thousands of villagers were fighting to arrest the spread of forest fires that threatened Villandraut and Prehac today.

After the long drought, the woods blazed like tinder and more than 7,500 acres of pine forest have already been burned over, it was estimated.

The women at Villandraut and Prehac hastily packed their most precious belongings and fled before the approaching holocaust while their men built back-fires and broke ground to save the settlements.

More than 25,000 persons, it was estimated, participated in the "walk."

Visiting lodges from the United States and Ontario centres made the city's parade one of the greatest demonstrations ever seen in North America. Loyal brethren and sisters began early to commemorate the 244th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Special trains from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York State and county lodges from far-flung points in Ontario arrived early. British Furies Will Be Seen Here Friday

The squadron of famous British "Fury" planes, which has been thrilling audiences in Ontario for the past two weeks, will pass over Peterborough to-morrow morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. A short display of trick flying will be given as the squadron, No 1 of the Royal Air Force, passes over the city on its flight from Camp Borden to Trenton.

CAMP BORDEN, Ont., July 12.—(CP).—Departure of the British fliers to fill yesterday's engagement at Owen Sound this afternoon, was still uncertain this morning. They were unable to go to Owen Sound yesterday afternoon on account of violent thunderstorms.

Likewise whether or not the fliers will remain at Camp Borden tonight or go to Trenton is still undecided.

LOCAL DISTRICT HAS 18 LODGES IN BIG PARADE

Some 80 Lodges Celebrate Battle of the Boyne in Port Hope.

MANY SMARTLY GARBED.

Two Peterborough Fife and Drum Bands Gain Special Attention.

(By Staff Reporter)

PORT HOPE, July 12.—(Staff Special).—One of the most colorful spectacles in the long history of this self-styled "Prettiest Town in Canada" was displayed here this afternoon as the Orange Lodges from four counties, Peterboro' West, Northumberland, Durham and Victoria, marched through the streets to the stirring music of half hundred bands in the joyous celebration of the 244th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

The impressive parade in which more than 5,000 Orangemen, women and children marched proudly, with banners flying high, to the swelling rumble of fife and drum bands, took more than an hour and a half to pass the town's main corner. Streets were packed solid by other thousands, who had gathered from miles around to witness the big "walk." Cheers and clapping echoed along the streets as the enthusiastic audience expressed their pleasure at the appearance of the various smartly-garbed lodges as they swept smartly by.

80 Lodges Present

Some eighty lodges were represented in the long procession of orange-and-blue sashed marchers, but none made any finer impression than did the 18 lodges of Peterborough West. The Peterborough contingent, more than 700 strong with its seven bands was headed by County Master J. A. Holden and was marshalled by County Marshall W. A. Millen.

Port Hope welcomed the Orange legions with open arms. The town was bedecked with flags, bunting and banners and great pains had

DROUGHT AREAS HIT MANY LANDS

North America, Central Europe, South Russia, Part of China Suffer.

HOT IN ENGLAND.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (A.P.).—North American farmers, tormented by drought, have plenty of company in their misery.

The whole northern hemisphere, reports to the government showed to-day, is dotted with large areas of damage and suffering caused by lack of moisture. Below the equator, however, conditions have been about normal.

Southern Russia's crops have been curtailed, leading to assertions and denials in the press of other countries that famine threatens the Soviets.

Central Europe faces seriously reduced yields of feed grains and wheat. Parts of China may have short wheat and rice harvests.

England has suffered in the hottest weather in 41 years. Manchuria's famlands have escaped the fate of other countries, but Spain and the lower Danubian countries have experienced hot, dry weather.

Ask the experts what the cause is and they answer that no one can explain fully. Dry and wet weather move in cycles, weather bureau men say. The present dry "spell" started about 1900. The hope is expressed that it has about run its course.

Col. Fraser Hunter Is Declared Elected

The walls, floor and ceiling in two rooms were badly shattered. Mrs. Schmidt suffered severe injuries to her right arm when she fell.

Two of three daughters in the family, Thelma of Stratford, who was on a visit home, and Olive, were sleeping in a bedroom opposite to that occupied by their parents. They suffered considerably from shock but otherwise were uninjured.

'VOTE TALK' SAYS PREMIER

TORONTO, July 12.—(CP)—"Did the Roman Catholic Taxpayers' Association have assurances from Premier M. F. Hepburn that Mr. Henry had refused?" asked Mayor W. J. Stewart of Toronto today in addressing thousands of Orange Lodge supporters at the Exhibition Grounds.

"Since the election Premier Hepburn has made a declaration and it seems evident he intends to amend the law and grant further concession and privileges such as were never contemplated in the original act of 1865 granting the Roman Catholic minority the special privilege of Separate Schools. Thee great Protestant majority of this province have been slapped by the Roman Catholic minority."

A. Russell Nesbitt, M.L.A., declared the former "government of the Province of Ontario fooled nobody. The submitting of the school question to the Privy Council was a political bluff. The leader of the Government (Premier Henry) lack-

JOBLESS RELIEF LEADING TOPIC OF NEW CABINET

Premier Likely Have to Raise Extra Cash if Dominion Ceases Share.

NO HASTE ON BEER.

Gaby's Resignation From Hydro Expected to be Called for To-day.

TORONTO, July 12 (C.P.)—Unemployment relief was a leading problem to be discussed by Ontario's new cabinet when it met today for the second time.

One possibility to be considered is a change in the arrangement whereby the Dominion Government bears one third of the cost with the province and the municipalities bearing the other two-thirds. If Dominion aid is wholly or partially withdrawn the province will have to find ways and means of providing more money.

Departmental reports regarding the number of persons now on relief also will be studied.

The new one-man Liquor Commission, E. G. Odette, is expected to lay before the cabinet plans for the introduction of changes in the sale of beer and wines, authorized by the legislature at its last session.

Gaby's Resignation

Resignation of high officials which began yesterday will be continued when the new Hydro Commission calls for the resignation of F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the system. Of him Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said yesterday: "Gaby must go. I said he would go, and he is going. I take full responsibility."

A. B. Birmingham, general manager of the Liquor Control Board, also will be asked to resign by Mr. Odette with approval of the Premier.

Though plans have been made for allowing the open sale and consumption of beer and wine in the near futurre the exact date remains unknown. The government proposes to proceed without haste to avoid difficulties which might arise from ill-considered regulations.

After a two-hour cabinet meeting yesterday ministers took charge of their departments. Several were met by the predecessors in office who showed them around and introduced them to the staff.

Waiting on Bennett.

OTTAWA, July 12 (C.P.). — The question of whether Federal contributions to direct relief will be continued after July 15 may await final decision by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who will return from Calgary next week.

An early Cabinet meeting will discuss this matter, but may not decide it. In the meantime there are abundant indications that in many localities the suggestion that direct relief contributions by the Dominion is to cease has caused apprehension. The Government is receiving inquiries from provinces and municipalities asking whether or not they are to be compelled to shoulder the responsibility alone after Sunday next.

The belief here is that large cities and industrial communities at least will continue to receive Federal assistance.

been taken in making arrangements to handle the huge crowd that invaded the town.

The shrill of fifes and the beat of drums resounded through the town as early as 7 o'clock this morning as the Port Hope lodges got busy warming up for the great occasion. Shortly after the first lodges began to stream in, and the streets presented a lively scene throughout the whole morning.

By Train, Bus and Car

In gaily decorated cars, busses and trucks the huge throng made the trek to this lakeshore town. Trains brought their share of the throng.

A special train carried many of the Orangemen and their supporters from Lindsay and Peterborough. It was a special that left Lindsay shortly after 8 o'clock and took aboard the Peterborough commuters to the gala affair at 9.15. At every wayside station other happy groups climbed aboard.

Port Hope L.O.L. No. 309, which was organized in 1853, sponsored the big parade, and its members were kept busy during the early part of the day welcoming the visiting lodges.

The parade proper formed up at the Town Park and with its leaders mounted on the traditional white horses and marched with banners waving in the breeze shortly after 1.30 Daylight Saving Time. Although the route of the parade was long, young and old, women and children, marched the full distance.

Veterans of the Parade

Included among the veterans in the parade were Isaac Barlow, aged 84, of Havelock, who has been an Orangemen for 67 years; Edwin Wicker of Peterborough, 85 years of age, who marched for the 61st time today in an Orange parade; William McAllister, Port Hope's oldest Orangemen; and William Powell of Garden Hill, Durham County's veteran of veterans.

Two Peterborough fife and drum bands, L.O.L. 1175 and the Nassau band gained the special attention of the crowds. The lodges from Peterborough were: L.O.L. 457 Nassau, 321 Downer's Corners, 2440 May's School House, 80, 50 and 1175 of Peterborough City; 122 Lakefield, 419 North Smith; and L.O.B.A. lodges, 244 Vimy Ridge, 525 Eastern Star, 650 Star of Bethlehem, 831 Lakefield and the Keene ladies' lodge; juvenile lodges included two from Peterborough City, one each from Nassau, Lakefield and Keene.

Following the parade, speeches will be made by prominent members from the bandstand in Central Park where Wor. Bro. James McCullough will be chairman. The speakers include Mrs. C. Wright, Wor. Grand Mistress of Ontario East, Wor. Bro. Fred Bowen, M.P., Rev. E. K. Smith, Rev. W. B. Jennings, Wor. Bro. (Rev.) W. W. Jones of Millbrook, Past Deputy Grand Chaplain; Wor. Bro. E. F. Reid, Deputy Grand Master, Ontario East; Wor. Bro. E. N. Mitchell, Lindsay, Grand Lecturer Ontario East; Wor. Bro. (Rev.) Dr. K. H. Palmer, Port Hope, P.G.C., Ontario West, and Capt. N. Pedlar.

BLONDE GUN GIRL SHOT TO DEATH

Mowed Down by Guard After Escaping Prison Fourth Time.

HAD KILLED 2 MEN.

JACKSONVILLE, Ark., July 12 (C.P.). — Helen Spence Eaton, 21-year-old Arkansas bad girl who said she never would be captured alive, has kept her word.

She is dead — shot down by a guard 24 hours after she fled from the State Prison Farm for Women. He said he fired when she reached into her blouse for a pistol.

The blonde former White River shanty boat girl, twice convicted of murder, had escaped from prison four times before. On this last attempt for freedom, she left a note saying, "I'll never be taken alive."

Frank Martin, a trust prisoner assigned to guard her, overtook the girl late yesterday nine miles from the prison farm. The shooting followed.

First convicted of the courtroom slaying of Jack Worls who was on trial for the murder of her father, Cicero Spence, Helen was free awaiting the outcome of her appeal when the slaying of Jim Bohots, Dewitt restaurant owner, occurred. It went unsolved for two years, and then one day, while on parole from the sentence for Worls' slaying, Helen walked into Little Rock police headquarters and confessed she killed Bohots because he had made improper advances to her.

Helen, who eschewed cigarettes, but had mastered the art of cigar smoking long before the habit was taken up by Texas' notorious woman bandit, Bonnie Parker, had gone in for writing lately, and her defiant note that she would never be taken alive was written on the back of a rejection slip she received from a magazine to which she had offered her life's history.

Rush Of Contractors Blamed For Tragedy

TORONTO, July 12. — (C.P.)—Belief that the collapse of the roof of the Victoria Park filtration plant —resulting in the death of two workmen, and injuries to several others—was due to the rush of the contractors to complete the work before the city compels them to mix the cement on the site, was expressed by Controller Sam McBride at the Board of Control meeting.

"I believe it is the rush put on down there to stop us from doing what we want to do, that caused the accident," he said. "We are going to be brought into this by the people, Mr. Mayor," he told Mayor W. J. Stewart.

HITLER FACING SUPREME TEST FRIDAY NIGHT

Storm Troopers and Nation Want Considerable Explaining of Executions.

GREAT SUSPENSE.

Press Raps France for "Understanding With Britain" —Menace to Peace.

(By Walter Brockmann—A.P. Foreign Staff).

BERLIN, July 12 (A.P.).—Adolf Hitler faces a supreme oratorial test before the Reichstag to-morrow night, informed observers said today, if discipline on the old basis of "blind obedience" among the mass of his followers is to be restored.

Germany, much of it in a critical mood, awaited Hitler's speech with the greatest suspense.

Although official statement have expressed admiration and applauded the Chancellor's execution of storm troop leaders June 30, the nation wants the Chancellor's own explanation. Storm troopers wonder who is going to guarantee that the Nazi program will be put into effect with their pioneer leaders gone.

At the same time many of the class of non-Nazis who hitherto have regarded Hitlerism tolerantly have now fallen back into doubt because of his methods and want assurances as to the future.

A widespread demand from the public to know what is really happening was apparent from a flock of official pronouncements against "rumor-mongering."

Press Attacks France.

The German press, turning to foreign affairs, launched an attack on France because of the visit to London of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, and his apparent arrival at an understanding with the British.

The newspapers charged Paris had spoiled possibilities for peace in Europe by a policy of "security before disarmament."

Germany professed to see evidences of a Franco-Russian pact, which would further encircle this country, and England was said to be "retiring into a state of splendid isolation until she is fully armed."

The Ministry of Finance announced that the estate of Otto Klemperer, Jew, who has been engaged by the New York Philharmonic Society and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra as a guest conductor this year, would be confiscated. A warrant for his "temporary" arrest has been issued but Klemperer is now in Vienna.

Taxes Owing.

The Government charges Klemperer owes it taxes amounting to about $1,820.

The removal of Phillip Kessler as leader of the Reich industry and trade was laid by business circles to Kessler's lack of experience for carrying out the huge industrial organization program.

Kurt Schmitt, Minister of Economics, who was recently armed with dictatorial economic powers, appointed Count Ruediger Von Der Golw to succeed Kessler.

Archbishop Worrell Slightly Improved

HALIFAX, July 12 (C.P.)—Doctors observed "slight improvement" to-day in the condition of Most Rev. Clare L. Worrell, primate of the Church of England in Canada. The aged church leader is critically ill in hosiptal here following an intestinal hemmorrhage.

Archbishop Worrell was stricken five days ago as he made ready to leave Halifax to dedicate a new chapel at Brooklyn, N.S. Two days ago he was removed to hospital, his condition serious.

But yesterday he showed improvement, and he spent last night fairly comfortable. His physician, Dr. H. K. Macdonald said it might be another 24 hours before a definite change could be looked for.

Original Alibi

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12 (CP) —Julius Brinberg had a wholesome respect for the law, especially as regards parking.

So, he told the judge, each time he parked his car he set an alarm clock to ring in an hour. When it went off, he moved the car.

It was all to no avail. The clock disagreed with the arresting officer's watch and Bringberg paid a $5 fine.

GAS EXPLOSION WRECKS HOUSE

Firemen Called to Simcoe Home Find Owner Unconscious in Yard.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

SIMCOE, Ont., July 12 (CP)—Responding to an explosion that startled the neighborhood, firemen early to-day found Arthur Mather, 55-year-old retired manager of St. William's Preservers, Limited, unconscious in his backyard.

The north wall of his attractive home had been blown out and windows in other parts of the home shattered. Making their way through flames firemen also found a pool of blood in the kitchen and all jets of gas stove open. They said the explosion probably had been caused by combustion of accumulated gas.

Mather was rushed to hospital, where his conditions was described as critical. Authorities were unable to say how badly he was injured, nor could they explain how he made his way to the backyard.

Only last night the retired manager had called police and said someone had been attempting to enter his home, but a thorough police search failed to reveal trace of any intruders.

His wife is confined to a sanitarium and so far has not been advised of her husbands' condition.

Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan repair gangs were replacing broken telephone and power transmission lines. Broken windows and damaged buildings in a score of towns were being repaired.

No further loss of life than the death of W. D. Speechley, 27, Lymburn, Alta, when struck by lightning in Edmonton, had been reported. Speechley's companion, S. Hepner, also of Lymburn, was recovering from shock. Reports said a boy was blown over two fences but escapes injury.

Points in Alberta where hail and high winds caused damage included Coronation, Provost, Castor, Bulwark, Red Deer, Edmonton, Hayter and Cadogan. Some Saskatchewan points were Muddy Lake, Unity, Viscount, Senlac, Rutland, Saskatoon, Wilkie, Kronau and Assiniboia. The only Manitoba point where serious damage was done was west of Lake Manitobe, particularly in the Plassey region where farmers were reported to have lost $100,000 in grain.

Thousands of Damage

Thousands of dollars' damage was done by the hail, in some cases as large as golf balls, but a reliable estimate of the total was unobtainable. Eight thousand acres in the Senlac district of Saskatchewan practicaly was ruined. Poultry and horses were reported killed by the heavy fall of hail.

Telephone and power line crews were re-establishing services in Saskatchewan and Alberta points where poles were broken down and scattered over the roadways by high winds. An estimate of this damage was not available although it was known it would run into a high figure.

BOMBINGS GO ON ACROSS AUSTRIA FIVE WOUNDED

Four Tourists and Little Girl Victims as Tavern is Wrecked.

NAZI PAPERS BANNED.

Germany Denies Rumor Her Minister to Vienna is to be Recalled.

(By WADE WERNER

VIENNA, July 12. (A.P.) — Two new bombing outrages were reported in Austria to-day, only a few hours after Chancellor Dollfuss had announced a new anti-terror campaign with the death penalty for possession of explosives.

Five persons, four of them tourists, were injured at Salzburg when a bomb destroyed the automobile of a member of the Dollfuss "Fatherland Front" organization.

Another bomb shattered many windows and slightly damaged a priest's house at Buers, in Western Austria.

Meanwhile the German legation here issued a firm denial of reports that the minister had been notified to prepare to return to Berlin and said such instructions are not expected.

The car at Salzburg was parked in front of a small tavern near the picturesque "Klosterbraeu."

The tavern was partially wrecked and the automobile was blown to bits. The tourist members of the group were arriving at Salzburg from Graz. All were Austrians.

The fifth victim was a 12-year-old girl who had just been sent from home to the tavern for beer.

Report From Berlin

The newspapers Neue Freie Presse here published a dispatch from Berlin asserting Germany would bring her minister home and permit a Charge d'Affairs to administer its legation.

This step is contemplated, the newspaper explained, if Austria delays replacing her Minister in Berlin. Stefan Tauschitz was recalled from that position yesterday by Dollfuss to become his Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

Some reports said another Austrian Minister would not be sent to Germany.

Relations between the Governments of Hitler and Dollfus have been badly strained over efforts of Nazis to take control here. Two German brewing papers were banned last night.

To aid in his anti-Nazi campaign Dollfuss has taken over all police and military powers and made Major Emil Fey, former Minister of Security, "General Commissar for Extraordinary Security," with especial authority to strike in carrying out Dollfuss' orders.

Fey's first step was an editorial in his newspaper, The Abendzeitung, asserting Austria must safeguard itself because "anarchy" prevails in Germany.

"The time has come to consider what is to be done to extinguish the centre of contagion," he warned.

Farmers of China are just beginning to show a willingness to accept bank notes in lieu of silver.

HEAD OF MOOSE URGES MEMBERS PROTECT HOMES

A. J. Sartori, of Spokane, Washington, Addresses Open Meeting of Order.

175 MEMBERS PRESENT.

Wonderful Work Being Done at Mooseheart and Mooseheaven Outlined.

District leaders and members of the Loyal Order of Moose had the privilege of meeting here last night Al J. Sartori, Spokane, Wash., Supreme Dictator, who is on his way westward from attending the recent convention of the Order in Atlantic City, N.J.

Among the 175 men and women who attended last night's open meeting, of whom the majority were from district lodges were the local officers and Dictators David E. Morrison, Lindsay; George Black, Toronto; F. Jamieson, Port Hope; T. A. Burtt, Belleville; and William Coutts, Trenton.

All these branch lodges sent large delegations to Peterborough.

Mr. Sartori was accompanied by Norman G. Heyd of Toronto, head of the Moose in Canada. Past Dictator Fred Roberts of Peterborough was chairman of the meeting which was featured by Mr. Sartori's address, followed by his personal greeting to all those present. The evening concluded with a dance, the music being supplied by Jim Black's orchestra.

Mr. Sartori said that he was going from Peterborough to London where tomorrow night he would address a similar meeting of lodges in the Western Ontario district. His purpose in coming into Ontario and Canada on his way home was to extend goodwill within the Order in United States and Canada, to stimulate greater co-operation among the membership, and to remind them of the inestimable value of the humanitarian services carried on by the Moose. The benefits of the association had been maintained in spite of the effects of the depression. He spoke of the wonderful work being carried on at Mooseheart, Ill., for orphans and widows, and also at Moosehaven, Fla., for aged members.

The strength of the individual lodge was essential to the growth and success of the whole organization, Mr. Sartori said, and the local lodge must be judged by the enthusiasm of its members. The influence of the Moose in promoting the high ideals of the order finally rested upon the zeal of the individual member who should be actuated by a deep sense of brotherhood, and to make the Moose an outstanding organizaion in the community.

A primary interest of the Moose was the protection of the members of the home. A good man should be willing to wear his fingers off for the good of his family. The influence of the home, Mr. Sartori said, could not be estimated in its value to society, and one of the greatest of all Moose achievements was to be seen annually in the graduation of those children from Mooseheart School who were enabled to receive the best of modern education through the membership of their fathers and the Moose pledge to parents to look after their children.

Mr. Sartori declared that the world was on the threshold of a new day. The past should be regarded simply as a measure of what could be accomplished, and also as a reminder of all that had been secured by the pioneer members of the Order. The members of to-day and tomorrow should be prepared for the new opportunities which are appearing.

"My great desire is to try to arouse among our chapter leaders the same high spirit upon which our Order has been built, to put forth new efforts for increased membership, and to stimulate their lodges with new enthusiasm to make the best of our opportunities."

Magistrate's Court

CAMPBELLFORD, July 12 (Examinr Correspondence).—Appearing before Magistrate Bygott, last night, Owen Hawkey of Warkworth, was assessed $10 and costs for neglecting to have the necessary driver's license. While Claude Fairman, whose case was adjourned from Monday, paid $2 and costs for failing to stop at stop sign at Bridge and Front Streets. Both charges were laid by Chief Constable George Hardy.

Two teachers conducting 800 children on an excursion successfully fought a fire with a chemical extinguisher while the train was speeding from Bristol to Acton, England.

Driver Is Acquitted Drunk Driving Charge

LINDSAY, July 12.—(Special to The Examiner).—William Stata, a resident of Somerville Township, was today acquitted on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated, which was laid by Provincial Constable Nelson. The case is one in which the accused collided with another car, which contained a man, his wife and four children. In the evidence of the complainant it was stated that Stata appeared to be in an intoxicated condition—that he staggered, and that the smell of alcohol on his breath was noticeable. It was further claimed that complainant's car was almost at a standstill and considerably off the road when it was struck. The accused denied that he was drunk or had been drinking and had three witnesses present to prove his statement.

J. Bowes of Oakwood had a narrow escape from serious injury at an early hour yesterday morning in the Township of Mariposa. While driving along the Woodville road, a car driven by Verne Netherton, of Little Britain, crashed into Mr. Bowes' horse and buggy. Mr. Bowes escaped serious injury, but the horse was badly injured. Netherton's car was badly damaged.

New Washer Is Household Wonder

Heralded as Most Radical Development in Washing Machine Industry.

A washing machine that looks like a refrigerator—that washes, rinses and irons—that is wired for radio—equipped with a food mixer—that can be used as a clothes hamper during the week—that serves as a table top and performas other useful functions—has just been perfected and according to all reports is creating considerable interest on the part of Canadian housewives.

Heralded as the most radical development in washing machines and home appliances during the past twenty years, it is in a real sense the electrical servant of the home—a servant that never stops working and functioning for the family.

There has never been anything like it before. To all outward appearances it is simply a good looking modern cabinet, with the sleek lines of a refrigerator, twenty-seven inches square, a yard high, and a color scheme of black, white and silver. Beneath its flashing beauty is a sturdy Thor Washer with all its mechanical advantages. It has a hand ironer attachment. A Monel metal top fitting snugly over the washer can be used as a kitchen work table.

It comes equipped with a useful food mixer attachment for whipping, stirring, mixing and mashing, storage space is offered by a convenient cabinet built-in below. It is wired for radio and the tub can be used as a clothes hamper during the week. A timer can be set which automatically turns off the washer and other attachments after any length of time. An extra convenience outlet on the side enables the owner to attach other appliances such as toasters, percolators, waffle irons.

MARMORA EASY BALL WINNERS

Take 20-5 Decision From Havelock in Trent Valley Loop Fixture.

GAME CALLED IN 7TH.

MARMORA, July 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The infant Marmora team of the Trent Valley League, facing a five-run lead held by Havelock in the third, went in for hitting with a vim on their own diamond on Wednesday evening, and at the end of the seventh, when darkness halted the game, were winners by 20 runs to 5.

The game opened with Brady on the mound for Marmora. The first two batters were quickly struck out and McLaughlin was out to shortstop. Sexsmith was allotted the hurling for the visitors. Marmora's batters filed out, closing the innings. The second innings was just as speedily ended. A batting spree crowned by Wrightly's double and two infield errors gave Havelock 5 runs in the third.

Undaunted by this reverse, the Marmora batters went in for runs and good hitting, featured with J. McInroy's double, yielded them three runs. J. McInroy in the fourth relieved Brady. Havelock tried hard to increase their lead. When a score looked imminent, Wrightly hit into a double play. Eleven Marmora batters had to be disposed of before the innings closed.

Double hits were obtained by Robertson (2), Shannon and Hewitt and with the breaks going against them, the Albions saw the innings close with their team on the small end of a 10-5 score. Jones relieved Sexsmith in this innings.

There was no score in the fifth, though Kennedy reached third on Yuill's double with only one man down. Jones fared no better than his team-mate as he pitched in the sixth. Heavy hitting, featured with doubles by Auger and F. Woodhouse, added six more runs.

Sexsmith returned to the position of pitcher as the innings was closing. The game was called in the seventh with only two Marmora batters down after four more runs had been registered by dint of good hitting and base running.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

SAFETY SPEED COMFORT SERVICE

Make the Most of Summer .... Use the Railways for Touring.

Public opinion in Canada has enthusiastically endorsed the movement for increasing tourist travel. From every point of view only good can result. There is, however, a tendency to associate this movement almost wholly with the bringing in of visitors from other countries.

Of course these guests are welcome and their numbers cannot be too great; but Canadians should themselves share in the pleasures of their own country to the fullest extent possible.

To enjoy Canada it is not necessary to traverse hundreds of miles. Quite frequently a short railway journey will open up unexpected avenues of happiness and health at little cost of time and money. Longer trips will naturally provide more decided changes of atmosphere and scene and will prove well worth the time and expense involved.

Let us show our visitors that we ourselves appreciate what our country offers so bountifully. In doing so all business will be stimulated. A vacation tour, or a short trip, can therefore be not only a source of pleasure to oneself but of distinct advantage to the country.

The railways through their transportation systems, hotels, lodges, and summer resorts are very important contributors to the comfort and happiness of the pleasure seeker, whether he be the welcome stranger within our gates or the resident Canadian. Canadian National Railways are equipped to provide full and satisfactory service and the cost is pleasantly low.

You can wholeheartedly recommend the C. N. R. to your friends abroad, and you can use it yourself, feeling that in your search for pleasure, no less than at other times when in quest of business, it is your safe, dependable, and willing helper.

Railways provide special summer fares and excursions. You should enquire about them.

STILL GOING UP.

The McConnell and Fergusson monthly, index of Canadian business conditions, has registered another gain, adding to the weight of statistical evidence of the upward trend throughout the country.

At June 1 this index was 22 per cent. below normal, while the previous month it registered 22.8 per cent. below par, and a year ago 33.1 per cent.

Each of the four constituent factors, it is worthy of note, gained ground, the most marked improvement being in electric power output, which was up two full points from the previous month. Bank debits followed with a 1.9 gain, revenue freight loadings improved four-tenths of a point and construction contract awards two-tenths.

The following table shows the four component factors and the combined weighted index:

	This Month	Last Month	Last Year
Car loadings of revenue freight	76.1	75.7	64.1
Construction contract awards ..	62.0	61.8	57.8
Bank debits	94.1	92.4	78.8
Electric power production	87.2	85.2	75.0
Combined weighted index	78.0	77.2	66.0

A NEWSPAPER ANNIVERSARY.

Congratulations are in order to the London Free Press which last Saturday celebrated its 85th birthday.

The Free Press, one of Canada's most popular newspapers, cannot claim to be the oldest paper in the country, but it has the unique distinction of having been in the continuous control of one family for over eighty years.

The history of the Free Press shows that it began its existence as a weekly away back in 1849, the founder being William Sutherland, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Four years later the paper was taken over by a young Englishman, Josiah Blackburn, and in 1855 was converted into a daily journal.

Mr. Blackburn's two sons, Walter and Arthur, became connected with the business, and the later is still at the head of the publishing company. In the long career of the Free Press changes in the editorial and managerial departments have been remarkably few, members of the Blackburn family being prominent in the management throughout the years, although for the last fourteen years one of Canada's best known and best liked newspaper man, Arthur Ford, of Ottawa, has been managing editor.

The Free Press is a splendid newspaper, and its contemporaries throughout the country in congratulating it upon attaining such a ripe old age as 85 years will wish for it continued success and prosperity as it aims at the century mark, now rapidly approaching.

DOOMED TO FAILURE.

The Ontario Workers' Federation on Unemployment is organizing a hunger march on Ottawa and Toronto, and in view of the demands that are to be made upon the Provincial and Federal Governments, the demonstration is doomed to failure in advance.

The promoters of the march are seeking cash relief on a larger scale than is now being granted, the doing away with relief working camps and the substitution of union wages, the providing of all unemployed with "adequate household necessities, including kitchen utensils, stoves, bedding and soap," and last, but not least, unemployment insurance on a non-contributory basis.

There is not the slightest chance of these demands being granted; the financial condition of the country and the plight of many harassed taxpayers makes it impossible for serious consideration being given to proposals that will entail large additions to the already heavy relief expenditures.

It is probable that those most active in promoting this demonstration have no illusions as to the likelihood of their requests being met; their chief concern is to stir up unrest among the unemployed and to create trouble for the authorities.

The Examiner's advice to local citizens who are receiving relief is to not let themselves be persuaded to participate in a movement that has not one chance in a thousand to accomplish anything worth while.

The hunger march is sure to be a flat failure.

THE NEW CABINET.

For the first time since the defeat of the Ross Government in 1904, Ontario is now under a Liberal administration. Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and his Cabinet having been sworn in on Tuesday night.

There were no surprises in the ministerial alignment, the newspaper prophecies as to the personnel of the new Cabinet being found to be absolutely correct.

Premier Hepburn's ministry is a mixture of experienced politicians and novices in public life, and strange enough, only two members sat in the Legislature during the last session.

The Premier himself, while new to the provincial field, has eight years' experience as a federal member of Parliament, while his chief lieutenant, Hon. Harry Nixon, who is Provincial Secretary, has had long service in the Ontario House, and was a member of the Drury Cabinet. Hon. Peter Heenan, the new Minister of Lands and Forests, has had previous training in both provincial and federal politics, and in the larger arena served as Minister of Labor. Another political veteran is Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, who has the distinction of having filled a similar portfolio in the province of Alberta. Then there is Dr. L. J. Simpson, who has been a member of the Ontario House for several sessions and who becomes Minister of Education in the new regime.

The newcomers are making their first appearance in the political field, but in municipal and other circles have demonstrated qualities that should stand them in good stead in the important responsibilities to which they have been assigned. Hon. David Croll, the Minister of Labor and head of the new department of Municipal Affairs, has made good as mayor of Windsor. The Minister of Mines is a well-known Ottawa lawyer, Hon. Paul Leduc, who is deservedly popular in his home city, and the new Minister of Highways and Public Works, Hon. T. B. McQuesten, of Hamilton, enjoys a similarly enviable reputation in his own community and has done excellent service in a number of public capacities. The Attorney-General will be Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, who will also have charge of the Department of Labor. He is a seasoned campaigner, despite the fact that this is the only occasion upon which he was successful in being elected.

Our own district is represented in the Cabinet by that well-known Belleville physician, Dr. J. A. Faulkner, who is to succeed Dr. Robb as Minister of Health, an important position for which he would seem to be well qualified.

All in all, the Cabinet is representative and promising; there is enough experience to steady the ship of state and sufficient fresh enthusiasm and zeal to ensure a wideawake administration.

The first action of the new Government is in line with Mr. Hepburn's election promises, inasmuch as there is to be only one salaried member of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, T. Stewart Lyon, at $10,000 a year, while the other two members, Hon. A. W. Roebuck and Hon. T. B. McQuesten will serve without remuneration, and the present Liquor Control Board is replaced by one commissionner, E. G. Odette, ex-M.P., whose salary is to be $10,000.

HYMN WRITERS' PAY.

The Hymn Lovers' Society of America seeks to improve the quality of sacred song. According to its president, William Mackey (who might be a Presbyterian with a name like that) most of the hymns of to-day "are the sacred cows of the Protestant Church, and the good songs are overlooked in favor of those we can sing with our mouths open and our minds perfectly blank."

That is a pretty stiff criticism. But it must be admitted that in most churches the congregational singing is utterly uninspired. A large number of the congregations make a feeble response, leaving it to the choir and the organ to give a similitude of boisterous heartiness to the musical portion of the worship. Some sing quite enthusiastically; others join in half-heartedly, and many just stand up with the hymn book open at the right place—sometimes.

Hymn books are revised from time to time, and on such occasions committees spend long months conning what to scrap and what to introduce. On the whole, congregations do not take kindly to new hymns, whether they sing them or not. They like to sing, or listen to, the old ones that they remember in their childhood. They do not like to learn new tunes. And it has to be admitted that the words in many cases are banal, which may be one of the reasons for the lack of ardor in singing.

It is surprising to learn, however, according to the Hymn Lovers, that publishers have a flat rate of one dollar for new hymns. No more and no less. Hymn writers are given little encouragement to produce new works. If that is all that is offered no wonder the quality of hymns and hymn singing is so often poor. Celestial music is deserving of better reward.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

WHEN MOB PASSIONS RULE.

Fritz Beck, head of Germany's foreign academic bureau, was shot dead by a hot-headed Nazi in last Saturday's German terror. In no sense implicated with any party or conspiracy, innocent of any act that might invite attack, his death is characterized by German officialdom as a "terrible accident."

It was the sort of "terrible accident," alas, which dogs the heels of mob violence. In all of those uprisings, insurrections, acts of tyranny and terrorism —what Burke called "those torrents of silent and inglorious blood"—the darkest tragedy is the tragedy of the innocent. The mob, creature of passion and hysteria, knows nothing of discrimination. Upon the just and the unjust, the guilty and the innocent, it wreaks its vengeance, its deeds among the black pages of history.

In the reign of terror under Robespierre, when "the scaffold of the guillotine was crowded," hundreds who were innocent lost their heads. It was so again in the revolution of 1848; so with the Commune in 1871. In that last terrible chapter of France's story the Communards, who had begun their reign by the murder of two generals, concluded it with the massacre of a number of eminent citizens, including the Archbishop of Paris; and when, later, the Communards were put down by the Versailles soldiery, more than 20,000 Frenchmen were shot in the streets of Paris, many of them innocent.

In the appalling slaughter that recently occurred in Germany it is evident the Beck case was not an isolated one except that he was a big enough victim to call for official explanation. Shot "while resisting arrest" is a broad cover for a number of others, an easy excuse that has been given frequently for political murder in Russia and other countries.

The lesson of it all is that tyranny breeds violence, and that violence knows no law. When passions break restraint, when vengeance begins to rule, there is protection for none. All, then, are at the mercy of the mob, of the rabble, with murder, pillage and incendiarism the common fate.

It is something that emphasizes the blessings of the ordered liberty, of the protection of the law, under which we live. Perhaps it should teach, too, the folly of taking our freedom for granted; the folly of the apathy we show for the institutions and form of government which guarantee our lives and liberties. It is only when men lose liberty, apparently that they begin to prize it.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It must have been a little awkward for some of those Queen's Park Orangemen to get off to-day with a new boss just installed in office.

Ontario is under a Liberal Government for the first time in thirty years—believe it or not.

Less than thirty years ago Hon. David Croll, a penniless immigrant boy, was shining shoes for a living. To-day he is not only mayor of one of Ontario's most progressive cities but a member of the new provincial Cabinet.

Ex-Premier George S. Henry is out of office just at the right time to take a holiday—something not always possible for those encharged with the responsibilities of government.

Premier Bennett has been attending the Calgary stampede and doubtless enjoyed that event a great deal more than he did the stampede away from the Conservative columns recently staged in Ontario and Saskatchewan.

ORGANIZED BOYS' BAND.

Mr. Editor,—

Will you kindly publish this letter in your valuable paper to correct a wrong impression that is abroad in your city and vicinity, to the effect that "I am not the original bandmaster of the Lindsay Boys' Band, that I replaced the original bandmaster because I am a cheaper man"?

This is as far from the truth as it is possible to be—it is unkind, unfair and unjust. I organized the band. I am the only bandmaster or instructor they have ever had. I am solely responsible for the efficiency of the band at this or any previous date.

Any person who will stoop to draw honor upon himself through the ability and energy of another is certainly acting in a capacity beneath the dignity of a gentleman.

To the lady who attempted to spread the virulent untruth at Chemong Park last Sunday, I beg to advise that I am neither cheap or unqualified.

Yours truly,
John T. SHUNK, Bandmaster,
The Lindsay Boys' Band.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

THE FRIEND YOU DO NOT SEE

You do not like my friend. You cannot see what I see in him that is not visible to you.

To you he is but an ordinary fellow, like any one else with two eyes, a nose, two ears, a mouth, a personality and habits that are as common as rain or the dust of the roads.

So you cannot see what I see in him that I should call him my friend and be proud of his friendship and be grateful for his being alive.

Yes. I know all that. And yet he is my friend.

You, too, have a friend perhaps. And to me he is also a common fellow whose nose is on a grindstone and whose dreams will never soar above the dreary level of the commonplace. . . . But to you, also, he is not quite the same as other men. You are at home with him as you are not at home with me. With him, you are different from the man I know; as I am different from my friend than I may seem to you.

It is not imagination. I do not merely fancy that my friend is different. . . . He is different towards me, and that is enough. I am incomplete and he completes me. I cannot stand alone in this world and neither can he. Without him I am not quite whole. Without me, I hope, neither is he entirely himself. Together, we are two complete human beings. It's odd that this should be, and yet I know that this is true. . . . We are a phenonenon that exists nowhere else in nature. If I pour a pint of alcohol and a pint of water into one vessel, I shall have something less than a quart of liquid. If I remember rightly, about 4 per cent. less than a quart. But my friend and I are not like that. The molecules of our beings stand alone, but somehow they do not exist without the other. . . . And though I do not understand this, I know that it is true.

You don't know what I'm talking about?

But did you ever have a friend?

Then you do know.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ST. HYACINTHE, QUEBEC.

This city owes its name to the latter part of the French rule under the name of "La Paroisse de Saint-Hyacinthe" (St. Hyacinthe parish).

The parish itself derived its name from its first Seigneur, Jacques Hyacinthe Delorme who, in 1756, established the first settlement on the banks of the Yamaska river, on the actual site of the city.

Michael Beary, a jockey, was fined in Newmarket, England, police court for not properly caring for the insurance of three servants.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 88c to 91c; oats, 38c to 40c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 68c to 72c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Overwhelming all immediate means to purchase wheat here, Chicago traders late yesterday transferred activities to Canada, and ran Winnipeg prices up 6⅝c a bushel.

Sensational buying rushes in Chicago whirled all grains to the top-most limit that United States trading rules would permit in any one day, 5 cents gain for wheat, barley and rye, 4 cents for corn, and 3 cents for oats. The stampede to acquire grain ownership came swiftly on the heels of a Government report from Washington telling of huge crop losses aggregating a total never before equalled in this country.

Eggs advanced in price while butter and cheese declined slightly on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday.

The egg market was a cent per dozen better, graded shipments in carlots or less being 20c to 21c a dozen for A, large; 19c to 20c for A, medium; 19c to 20c for B, and 18c to 19c for C. Receipts were 1,561 cases, against 6,551 cases a week ago.

Butter eased ¼c per pound, fresh No. 1 bringing 19c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to the retail trade were 28c a pound for solids and 21c for prints. Arrivals were 491 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese was steady at 10½c a pound, while Quebec cheese was off ¼c at 9¾c a pound. Receipts totalled 1,642 boxes.

The potato market continued unchanged. N.B. Mountains sold for 80c to 85c per 80-pound bag, Quebec Whites brought 70c to 75c per 80-pound bag, and Prince Edward Island Mountains were $1 to $1.05 per 90-pound bag. New Canadian potatoes were quoted at $1.50 to $1.75 per 80-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 12.— Backed by a wave of speculative buying, wheat futures prices shot up 6⅜c to 6⅝c on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, the year's greatest advance for a single session, and left all futures at the day's top levels, July at 83c, October 84½c, and December 85⅝c to 85⅞c.

Bullishness was the keynote in the trading as speculators, aided by some investment buying, and good export sales, ran rampant throughout the session. Three-cent opening gains led to steadily advancing prices, and at the finish values were still being pushed ahead.

Crop Estimates Lower.

The 483,000,000-bushel Government estimate of the United States spring and winter wheat crop was unexpected by even the most bullish traders. The new crop is reported to be 402,000,000 bushels below the five-year average, and was under home requirements for only the second time in forty-four years.

The speculative purchasing was augmented by good export sales of wheat, more than 1,000,000 bushels being sold for overseas shipment. Exporters reported everything offered had been eagerly accepted by foreign importers.

Good demand was shown in cash grains, spreads ending higher for better grades of wheat. Led by flax, coarse grains futures made sweeping advances in sympathy with wheat. Flax scored an advance of nearly 6 cents.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A DUEL IN "HIGH SOCIETY"

On this date, in 1817 a duel was fought in a field in what is now the most crowded part of Toronto. The participants were Samuel Jarvis and Thomas Ridout, son of the surveyor general. The cause for the meeting is not mentioned by the historians, but it is a safe bet that a lady was the cause; they generally were. Ridout was killed. Jarvis was arrested on a charge of manslaughter. Attorney General Boulton declined to prosecute, because his son had been one of the seconds, but Chief Justice Robinson insisted upon a trial. It was held, was the sensation of the hour, the courthouse being crowded to the doors, and much sensational evidence being offered, but the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" and Jarvis was freed.

There was a curious aftermath. Eleven years later, Francis Collins, editor of the Canadian Freeman, was imprisoned and fined for libel. In revenge, he remembered the duel and saw an opportunity of getting even with his "persecutors", so he took action against the two men who had been the seconds in the duel' Henry John Boulton had risen to be solicitor general while James E. Small was a leader of the Bar of Upper Canada. Collins had warrants issued against the two; all the details of the fatal encounter were gone over at the trial and printed at length in the Freeman, but the jury acquitted and Collins was foiled. He was not only a vigorous writer but an expert compositor and was in the custom of putting his editorials into type without writing them on paper.

July 12 has of course always been a great day in Toronto. In years past it was marked by much bloodshed; this year the demonstrations will be peaceful except for the noise of all the bands that can be secured for miles around. The Orangemen have determined to make their centennial parade the best ever.

THE MOON

Saw the Moon rise from the water,
Rippling, rounding from the water,
Song of Hiawatha,
Longfellow.

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

These lines are taken from Longfellow's Song of Hiawatha, Chapter III. Other lines follow as rhythmical, and as melodious. Listen to the music of these:

"Saw the flecks and shadows on it,
Whispered, "What is that, Nokomis?
And the good Nokomis answered,
"Once a warrior, very angry,
Seized his grandmother, and threw her
Up into the sky at midnight;
Right against the Moon he threw her;
'Tis her body that you see there."

It was little Hiawatha who whispered the questions to old Nokomis. Longfellow in this notable poem is making record of the interest early aroused in the Indian youth about the stars and planets. Among our early white ancestors there was the same curiosity about the night skies. Little Hiawatha was discriminating. He saw the flecks and the shadows. Many look at the Moon and never slip into the attitude of asking haunting questions. Japanese youths ask searching questions. In their native country the Japanese have the largest known earth volcanic crater. It is seven miles in diameter. Canadian youth of the eager, questioning type are restless, with the desire to see Niagara Falls. Also San volcanic crater is the sight-seeing center of Japan. This sight has inspired many Japanese youth to begin the study of Astronomy. Able contributions have been made to this science by them. It is not surprising that a creditable portion of the knowledge about Lunar craters has come from Japanese pens.

On the Earth there are many craters. Only one is seven miles in diameter. On the Moon there are hundreds as large and larger. One there is with a diameter of one hundred and fifteen miles. You can find it at the center of the visible Moon hemisphere.

LEEMING AND LEEMING

Phones 2786—2787

CHICAGO, July 12.—The government's pessimistic forecast on the probable American wheat crop awakened tremendous buying power in the market here and prices of all grains advanced in spectacular fashion.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Any bit of evidence that the market can emerge from its narrow rut, or that it can advance even fractionally for 3 or 4 days will strengthen the theory that a broad, strong basis has been established during the past two months. The attitude of the new stock exchange commission seems distinctly encouraging and a normal autumn upturn in trade is in the offing. Current action of stocks reveals scarcity of supply, but buying is far from vigorous. Before considering committments in anticipation of a late July-August advance it would be well to give the market a chance to show whether the recent improvement can be maintained.

WHEAT PRICES DROP SHARPLY UNDER PROFIT-TAKING TO-DAY

Prices Close 2½ to 2¾ Cents Lower Under General Liquidation.

NO INTEREST IN U. K.

WINNIPEG, July 12 (CP).—Another "bull market" fell by the wayside today as wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, reacting from Wednesday's 6 1-2-cent upward surge, lost considerable of the advance under the weight of profit-taking sales and general liquidation. Prices closed 2 1-2 to 2 3-4 cents lower.

Termed a "natural reaction" by grain-trade observers, the decline was general throughout the session, chiefly owing to the lack of response shown by markets in the United Kingdom to the gains in North American exchanges following publication of the official United States crop report.

Wary buyers of yesterday were quick to dump their holdings today and prices at the close were near the session's lowest levels. July delivery at 80 3-4 cents, October 82 and December, 83 1-8 cents.

NO WORTHWHILE GAINS ARE MADE

Implement and Utility Stocks Strong, Narrow Advances in Oil Group.

FOOD ISSUES EVEN.

TORONTO, July 12 (CP).—Brewery stocks again held the leadership for volume on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange, but, however, without achieving any worth-while price gains.

Implement and utility stocks were strong and the foods recorded as many losses as gains. Narrow advances on fair volume was also noticeable in the oil group.

The premier's announcement this afternoon that the beer bill would be proclaimed during the afternoon, had no effect on the beer stock market which continued quiet till the close, although the early part of the day had recorded a considerable turnover, especially in the Brewing Corporation issues and Walkerville. Brewing Pfd. added 1-4, Walkerville, 1-2, and Canada Bud, Canada Malting and Brewing common closed 1-8 to 1-4 lower.

Distillery shares were steadier than in the previous session and Walkers Common closed a small fraction higher. There were no recessions.

SECOND GOLDS SHOW ADVANCES

Volume Moves Along at Brisk Clip To-day Despite Sluggishness in Industrials.

BIG GOLDS HOLD FIRM.

TORONTO, July 12 (CP).—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange jogged along at a lively clip today despite the heat and the draggy condition of the industrial markets. Prices were sharply up in some of the secondary golds while the big golds held firm and base metal and silver shares were irregular in their price movements. Price adjustments in these groups, however, were narrow.

Gunnar Gold provided the fireworks by shooting up more than 20 cents to a new high mark at 1.96. It was traded in heavy volume. San Antonio continued its advance, closing at 5.40 for a net gain of 25 cents and other issues in the golds closed higher.

Wright Hargreaves and Dome closed a little higher and the other big golds were unchanged. In the base metals Noranda and Hudson Bay held firm.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET CLOSE.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Stocks turned moderately reactionary in dull trading today. Rails were a bit heavy. Losses of around a point were suffered by Santa Fe, New York Central, U.S. Steel, American Telephone and Chrysler. Transfers approximated 450,000 shares.

WEAKNESS AT CHICAGO.

(By John P. Boughan, Associated Press Market Editor)

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP).—Acute weakness which showed itself in the corn market at times today acted as a wet blanket on enthusiasm of wheat buyers.

September delivery of corn touched an extreme low of 4 cents under yesterday's close, and this tended to upset buying operations in wheat. Apparent willingness of corn growers to accept current prices formed an outstanding feature.

Corn closed heavy, 1 3-4 - 2 7-8 under yesterday's finish, September, 59 1-2 - 5-8, wheat unsettled, 5-8 - 3-8 advanced, September, new, 94 5-8-3-4, oats, 1 1-8 - 1 1-2 down, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents off.

A GUSTY WIND.

DRESDEN, Ont., July 12 (CP).—During the recent severe storm in this vicinity, a freak accident occurred at Edy's Mills, several miles north of here. A heavy gust of wind swooped down on a Michigan Central Railway siding and removed the entire top from a live stock car, leaving only the wheels on the track. A wrecking crew replaced the top on the car.

STEWART TURNS UPON HEPBURN

ed courage and like all leaders who lack courage he fell between two stools. He commanded the respect of neither the Separate School supporters nor the Public ones." Mrs. Nesbitt is Conservative member for Toornto Bracondale.

TORONTO, July 12.—(CP)—It's an insinuation one might expect from a Toronto Tory," said Premier Mitchell Hepburn today when shown a report of the speech of Mayor W. J. Stewart of Toronto at the Orange celebration in which the Mayor asked if Mr. Hepburn had given assurances to the Catholic taxpayers which former Premier George Henry had refused.

"I dont propose to enter into any religious controversy," added the Premier. "I have no religious bias in my makeup. I said before that the Catholic taxpayers had made no representation to me but that if they did they would receive a fair hearing and that's all I have to say now."

"He's casting around for votes," the Premier said of the Mayor, "and has an eye on the next municipal election but the sun doesn't rise and set only in Toronto."

Sees Germans Ousting Hitler, Near Future

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP).—The early downfall of Adolf Hitler as Chancellor of Germany was predicted to-day by George E. Earle until recently United States minister to Austria, and now the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

Earle arrived on the liner Manhattan from London.

'I am certain," he said, "that the Germas will rid themselves of Hitler in the near future. The only reason the Nazis have managed to stay in the saddle so far is by virtue of their absolute control of the press, the radio and the pulpit.

"That control is beginning to crack up. There have been denite signs of it in the last two finite signs of it in the last two weeks. Hitler's passing is simply a matter of time, and then the Germans will act as a great people have always acted."

Teeth Granted

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., July 12 (CP)—Men frequently have trouble with their children teething, but here is a case in which the wife's teeth figured. A welfare recipient appeared before the East Windsor Council and begged for a set of false teeth for his wife. Without teeth for six months, her husband claims she is getting very thin because she lives on soup and oil. Mayor Fontaine promised he would attend to the matter personally.

JOHNSON TOURS BOOSTING N.R.A.

Tells Iowans Administration Has Put 3,000,000 Back on Payrolls.

GOES AFTER BORAH.

WATERLOO, Iowa, July 12 (AP).—Farmers heard to-day from Hugh S. Johnson, militant Blue Eagle salesman, that all the other government departments had not "done so much for you" as NRA.

In the first speech of a Western tour, General Johnson said his industrial machinery had put 3,000,000 city workers back on pay rolls and added $3,000,000,000 to domestic purchasing power.

"That may not be much, but ain't that something?" he added. "That's NRA's contribution to your welfare, and I am here to tell you not all the billions spent in your behalf by all other departments of government put together have done so much for you."

General Johnson said it was time for "a new confession of faith in the new deal." He struck directly at the projected speaking tour of Senator William E. Borah, Idaho Republican, saying:

"I understand that Senator Borah intends to make a field day out of the summer lambasting NRA. I speak of the noble old Roman with the greatest of respect and deference. No man has to a greater degree my sincere admiration. He and Hiram Johnson went out and busted the League of Nations in one speaking tour.

SARNIA, Ont., July 12.—(CP)—Members of the three local Orange lodges and one from the district accompanied by a fife and drum band left in buses for Wallaceburg this morning to celebrate the Boyne anniversary.

ULSTERMEN CELEBRATE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 12.—(AP)—Tens of thousands of marching feet tramped today over Ulster, down to the Free State border, in celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Boyne, an event dear to the hearts of Orangemen.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, enroute to Canada, was a distinguished observer. It was his first Ulster Orangemen's festival.

Viscount Castlereagh gave one of the most vehement speeches. He said that when Orangemen came home from the war they found not merely the usual aftermath of poverty and unemployment "but on the top of that brutal underhand murder organized by Southern Irish murder gangs."

The Battle of the Boyne was fought between the armies of King William III and King James II in 1690.

Throughout the province there were parades led by the traditional white horse and fife and drum bands, ending in sports meets, picnics and fraternal rallies.

Prior to the march in Toronto it was planned to place before the members a resolution asserting they were "unalterably opposed to any change in the school laws or assessment act of Ontario that would in anyway enlarge the privileges now enjoyed by the Roman Catholic Separate Schools, or divert for their support any revenues that now go and rightfully belong to the public non-sectarian schools.

HARWOOD YOUTH REMANDED CAR STEALING CASE

Harold Sherwin Arrested in Napanee With Car Stolen From Dalton Dolan.

ROBBED GAS STATION.

Believed Also to Have Stolen Bicycle in Cobourg—Investigation Under Way.

Pleading guilty to charges of stealing a car from Dalton Dolan in Otonabee Township and robbing a nearby gas station on Highway No. 7 in the early hours of last Thursday, Harold Sherwin, 19-year-old Harwood youth, was remanded for sentence by Magistrate Langley in Police Court this morning.

Sherwin was arrested in Napanee last Saturday while he was trying to start the car he had stolen. Residents became suspicious of him and the Napanee police took him into custody on a charge of vagrancy. Answering an inquiry, Peterborough Provincial Police identified the car by means of engine and body numbers, the license plates having been switched by the youth in his flight last week.

Brought back to this city yesterday by Constable William Warren, Sherwin related freely the details of his activities on July 5. He visited the Dolan farm shortly after midnight and stole the car, a Pontiac coach, with little difficulty, hurrying away along Highway No. 7. In need of gas for the car, he broke into the Graham Service Station on the highway and helped himself, stealing at the same time about $10 worth of candy and other goods from the station booth. Then he made his way down east to Napanee.

Believing him to have also stolen a bicycle in Cobourg, further investigations will be made this week. He will come up for sentence on the local charges next Thursday.

Appearing on a remanded charge of stealing a bicycle, Arthur Wilson was remanded further for a week.

A charge of assault against Myers Cherney, 21, was dismissed. James Harper was allowed to go on suspended sentence on an assault charge.

Africa Nips Hitler Youth Movement

WINDHOEK, South West Africa, July 12. (C. P. Cable via Reuters) Authorities to-day declared the South West Africa Hitler youth movement illegal and ordered its leader, Capt. von Losnitzer to leave the country.

The decision made under recently promulgated South African government legislation, followed allegations by police that they had discovered at Nazi headquarters documents said to prove the movement was militaristic and subversive to good order.

Authorities also banned a newspaper which von Losnitzer edited. The captain was a member of the garrison here when South Africa was a German colony.

COBOURG BEATS PORT HOPE

COBOURG, July 12.—In a Lakeshore League baseball game played at Horse Show Park here last evening, Cobourg defeated Port Hope 7 to 5 in a seven-innings game. Archie Campbell, southpay pitcher for Cobourg, pitched a fine game, and this was his first appearance on the mound this season, having been hurt in an exhibition game at Peterborough at the first of the season. Len Wakley also pitched well for the visitors, having ten strike-outs to his credit.

GOES IN EFFECT

ant-Governor H. A. Bruce was obtained without delay.

The greater part of today's Cabinet meeting was occupied with the beer and wine law and the Cabinet did not get around to a consideration of the unemployment relief as Mr. Hepburn indicated yesterday it would. No more Cabinet meetings will be held for two or three days as the ministers have an accumulation of work in their departments to attend to.

Hepburn Starts Clean-Out

TORONTO, July 12 (C.P.) — Premier Mitchell Hepburn's "big parade" continued to-day as he waged his campaign to cut government expenses. Several officials in the Prime Minister's Department will lose their positions.

"I find I can cut expenses in my own department by well over 50 per cent without impairing efficiency," said Mr. Hepburn, on his second day in office.

Among the officials to go from the Prime Minister's office is the Deputy Minister, Horace Wallis, who draws a salary of $4,674; C. C. Hele, General Secretary at $4,000, and P. F. Cronin, Assistant General Secretary, at $2,400. Salaries of officials already marked for dismissal total about $17,000

Mr. Hepburn said he was setting his Ministers a good example by slashing costs in his own department, but did not know whether they would all be able to pare as much off their costs as he had hopes of doing.

The new Government set up its Treasury Board to-day, the body which passes upon all expenditures by departments. It is composed of Mr. Hepburn; Hon. Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary; and Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, July 10—Eddie Cantor's daughter, Marjorie, is secretary to her father and takes her duties seriously. The other night the comedian was trying for the 'steenth time to sell Rubinoff on touring the country with him. He painted glowing pictures of the money to be made in auditoriums and so easy it would be just like finding it. The talk went on, with Cantor suggesting this idea and Rubinoff that, until finally both men had to stop for breath.

Marjorie, who had been listening, rushed up and displayed her notebook covered with scribbles.

"Look, daddy," she cried, "I've got the first three programs already."

In the Whole

United States, there are probably not more than two dozen authentic autographed pictures of Greta Garbo and the retiring Swede is getting tougher and tougher.

I like to remember, though, one occasion upon which La Garbo showed true graciousness.

M. G. M. had brought a little German girl, Eva Von Bern, over to Hollywood to be a new foreign sensation. She just didn't have the stuff, and, after playing one lead with Jack Gilbert, they told her she'd have to go home. Eva was heart-broken and one of her chief disappointments was that she hadn't even met her idol, Greta Garbo.

A sympathetic studio employe took some pictures to the Swedish star, explained the situation and pleaded that she autograph just one so that little German Eva could show it to her friends back home.

La Garbo was touched. She sent for Eva to come to her on the set and comforted her: "You don't know how lucky you are to be sent home and out of all this."

Then, to the eternal thrill of the little German admirer, she autographed a picture: "To my friend, Eva Von Bern."

NEW CHEMICAL FOUND IN COAL

Silicia Black Used as Pigment in Paints Resisting Acid and Rust.

BIG POSSIBILITIES.

(By Howard W. Blakeslee—A.P. Science Editor).

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 12 (A.P.).—The black stuff in coal smoke which soils the hands and collar shows up as good soap-making chemical, in a discovery announced to-day.

The discovery is a new chemical called silica black, found by Dr. C. A. Jacobson of West Virginia University, and reported to the American Chemical Society. It is made by mixing powdered bituminous coal and powdered diatomite, a form of silica, produced millions of years ago by small organisms living in the sea.

Smoke belching from stacks, the report states, is probably largely silica black. But unlike the smoke, the laboratory stuff is both useful and ornamental. Its most surprising quality so far found is that of a catalyst.

The smoke essence replaces nickel and does a better job, at converting vegetable oil into soaps and even into edible fats. Both nickel and the "smoke" catalysts are fine powders, and cause the vegetable oil to clarify and to harden. Because they are catalysts, these substances are performing their work, separated completely from the product.

In this respect the silicia black differs from the sticky reputation of its chimney prototype. But it is probable that if smoke were trapped it would show the same catalytic power.

Commercially the black stuff looms with big possibilities because of the tremendous size of the industry in which its catalytic powers have been demonstrated as superior.

Experiments conducted by Dr. Jacobson and Dr. Loring R. Williams indicate that the silica black is useful as a pigment for paints that will resist both acid and rust. Also for printing inks, shoe-blacking and stove polish. It can form a good "carrier" for insecticides, and be used in wood graining and in leather tinting.

Italy is requiring import permits on wool, copper and coffee.

Radical Scions Of Wealth Test Right Of Strikers To Picket

Corliss Lamont in court on charges of picketing.

Alfred Bingham in court in connection with his alleged picketing activities.

CORLISS LAMONT ALFRED BINGHAM

One can understand the reason why poverty-stricken, hungry people become radical in their political and economic views. But when two young men, each of wealthy families, each prominent socially, each brough up exclusively in a bourgeois atmosphere, suddenly turn proletariat and radical it constitutes news. These two young men, Corliss Lamont, son of the Wall Street banker and Morgan partner, Thos. W. Lamont, and Alfred Bingham, son of former U.S. Senator Hiram Bingham, jumped into prominence recently when they joined a group of picketers in Jersey City to test the right to picket during a strike. The result of their findings will be important in view of labor unrest and strikes throughout the United States. Bingham has already been sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment. He has appealed to a higher court. Both men believe picketing to be a right granted under the Bill of Rights. Says Bingham: "I am called a radical and sometimes a 'red.' I presume I am both. But I am not a 'red' in the light of a Moscow tie-up. I believe the capitalistic system has outlived its usefulness. But I do not believe we ever can or will turn to communism or fascism. Such movements would fail here, for they are not based on American ideals and are not inspired by Americans. Young Lamont is a director of the Civil Liberties Union. He is a graduate of Harvard with a Ph.D. and was a lecturer on philosophy for a while at Columbia university. He spent some little time in Russia studying the Soviet system. He frequently has been identified wth radical gestures, having been one of those active in seeking the release of Tom Mooney.

Calls For Election Heard In Alberta

EDMONTON, July 12 (CP) — Calls for an election in Alberta were being heard throughout the province to-day as a sequel to the taking over of the Government reins by Premier R. G. Reid and his Cabinet.

The present Legislature was elected June 19, 1930, and has another year to live. Previous proposals for an election this Autumn were dispelled by Government heads, with indications voting would not take place until the Spring of 1935.

In Edmonton, yesterday, W. R. Howson, newly-named leader of the Liberal party, declared the Reid administration should resign and call an election immediately. Mr. Reid succeeded to the Premiership Tuesday following the resignation of Hon. J. E. Brownlee after the conclusion of the MacMillan-Brownlee civil action.

Mr. Howson, who recently succeeded to the Liberal leadership on the death of George H. Webster, declared the Reid Government was not the administration elected by the people in 1930, and therefore should resign and seek endorsation of the electorate.

On representations of declining value made by Ozias de LaPlante assessment of thirteen lots in North Monaghan township was reduced by Judge Ruddy yesterday from $850 to $530.

The township's Court of Revision had reduced the assessment $100 from $950, but after hearing Mr. LaPlante's appeal His Honor stated that he found all the thirteen lots still assessed too high.

GAMBLER NAMED IN SWINDLING

Member of Ring Gives Details of Stripping Victim of $18,000.

GRAHAM GOT 15 P.C.

(By Morris Watson).

NEW YORK, July 12 (A.P.). — William J. Graham, Reno gambler, was named in Federal Court yesterday as the man who got the money in the plucking of a swindling victim.

The testimony was the first actually to connect Graham with the alleged gigantic swindling ring. It was given by Noble John Moore, a member of the ring, who pleaded guilty.

He described the swindling of a Canadian named Muckenhern, who was lured to Reno.

Approximately $18,000 was taken from Muckenhern, he said, and turned over to Graham.

"After we were sure Muckenhern was out of town and on his way home," he said, "we sat around Graham's club in Reno. He took out his 15 per cent. and we took the rest of the money to the hotel and split it."

Moore said his share for being "steerer" in the swindle was $2,700. He lost it at roulette.

Moore is at present serving a 4½ year sentence at the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Penn. He pleaded guilty in a previous case to the swindling of the late John Callahan and Mrs. Callahan, of Rochester, N.Y.

Col. Turner Protests Ban From Air Race

CINCINNATI, July 12.—(A.P.)—Officially notified to-day of his disqualification in the projected London-to-Melbourne air derby next fall, Colonel Roscoe Turner, speed flyer, at once replied with a stinging protest against what he termed unfairness of regulations set up by the British to govern the race.

Turner was here in connection with stream line work being done on his plane with which he has established a number of cross-country records.

"It was my undrstanding the Macrobertson international race was a sporting event and to build up good will," read Turner's reply to his notification in part. "Those in authority seem to think differently. They have placed as many technicalities on the race as possible."

"I feel that those in authority, in place of trying to help American entries to get in the race, are doing everything they can to keep them out."

Munition Industries Tactics Are Assailed

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP). Senator James Pope (D., Idaho), accused the Du Pont munitions interests to-day of "laying a smoke screen" in anticipation of the United States senate's inquiry into the war materials business.

The senator, member of the investigating committee, said Du Pont profits jumped nearly 1,000 percent during the Great War.

He answered a recent statement attributed to E. I. Du Pont, vice chairman of the board of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Company. This statement had said attacks on munitions makers were inspired by:

"A subservient force instigated by the Third (Communist) Internationale and allied interests, to weaken the defensive powers of capitalistic countries; efforts of idealists to prevent war through a mistaken notion that preparedness is a cause of war and a desire on the part of many newspapers and magazines to sell copies by handing to the public lurid reading which will help their sales."

Four hundred railway employees who hold gold medals for from 15 to 30 years' efficiency in first-aid work were tendered a luncheon recently in the town hall of Oxford, England.

Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Siscoe and their family, of Cardinal, arrived in the village on Monday evening, taking up residence in the parsonage. Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones and family left Tuesday noon for their new home at Cardinal on the St. Lawrence River. Mr. and Mrs. Siscoe have five children, two sons and three daughters, the eldest of the family, Miss Della May, remaining in Cardinal for July.

Miss Gladys Williamson left on Monday for Toronto where she will take the summer course at the university.

Miss Jean Stinson is in Ottawa for six weeks taking up a summer course of study. Jack Stinson is at Madawaska air port, under Colonel Earchman, in the construction camp, for the summer holidays.

The street dance under the auspices of the Agricultural Society is to be held on Thursday, July 19, with two orchestras, for round and square dancing. A musical competition for old-time orchestras, old-time fiddlers, floor managers (calling off), mouth-organs, guitars, step-dancing, etc., will take place at 8 p.m., and there will also be games, booths and other attractions. The Agricultural Society needs the boost financially to help it still further reduce the note held against it by the bank, and public support will be appreciated.

The Deyell family reunion, held on Monday at Wallace Point, Otonbee River, was attended by over eighty guests, those from a distance including Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Deyell, of Toronto; Mrs. John Deyell and son, Frank, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deyell and family, of Omemee. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McKenzie, a former pastor and his wife in the church which was the pioneer Presbyterian church of this district, and for which the land was given by John Deyell, first settler in Cavan Township, were present by special invitation. The present minister, and his wife, Rev. H. R. and Mrs. Williams, were unavoidably absent. Robert Deyell is president and Gwen Hutchison secretary-treasurer.

A very enjoyable social gathering in the form of a picnic was held on Friday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Douglas extended the hospitality of their home and grounds to the members of the Boneka Bible Class of St. Andrew's Sunday School with their teacher for the past six years, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, and Mr. Jones as guests of honor before their departure for their new circuit at Cardinal, in the Montreal Conference. Others besides the class members were included in the invitations sent out, the two oldest guests on the grounds being Mrs. Charles Argue and Mrs. (Dr.) E. L. Burnham, the former in her eighty-eighth and the latter in her ninetieth year. Social converse, with games for the children and a ball game for the "young men and maidens" organized by Rev. Mr. Jones, made the time pass happily. Tables for the supper, with its abundant menu, were set on the lawns, and among those assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs. Theobald, Mrs. E. J. Smith, Mrs. O'Brian, Mrs. J. H. George, Mrs. Wesley Brown and several others. A pleasing event before the picnic closed was the informal presentation of a pair of silver handleholders to Mrs. J. H. McKnight in honor of her birthday which occurred on Friday, a few of her intimate friends having provided the gift. The sister of the hostess, Mrs. C. Larmer, of Oshawa, was among the guests. Hearty votes of thanks were extended the host and hostess before the happy gathering broke up. The Boneka Class had previously presented its retiring teacher, Mrs. Jones, with a silver cold meat fork as tangible evidence of its love and esteem.

Supper will be served from 5 p.m. until all are served. There will also be a bingo stand, refreshment booth and musical entertainment. THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

LORD COVENTRY GOES BANKRUPT

Tells Adventurous Tale of Life in Canada and Overseas Since 1907.

INHERITED $55,000 'N 1930

LONDON, July 12. — (C. P. Cable.) — Hon. Thomas George Coventry, son of the ninth Earl of Coventry and Overseas Market Representative of the British Columbia Government for several years until the position was abolished last January, appeared to-day in the Bankruptcy Court.

Mr. Coventry gave the court an account of his adventurous life, which took him to Canada in 1907 to serve five years with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police before going overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the Great War.

On his return to Canada, he said, he became manager of the Vancouver Island Racing Association, at a salary of $5000 a year and was elected to the British Columbia Legislature. Later he came back to England and inherited $55,000 on the death of his father in 1930.

After satisfying most of his debts in Canada and here, he said, he still had $37,500 of his inheritance. With that he executed a trust deed in favor of his wife and family, and proceeded to back horses successfully until May, 1932. Since then, he told the court, he had suffered the loss of his salary as market representative, and had experienced reverses which reduced him to his present financial state.

He said his liabilities were $9,185, and his assets $2,055 less and that his expenses exceeded his income. The examination was adjourned.

IN MEMORIAM.
DRUMMOND.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Ellen Drummond, who passed away July 12th, 1932.
"What is home without a mother,
what are all the joys we meet,
When her loving smile no longer
greets the coming of our feet.
You were very true and patient,
through the years you struggled on,
And those dear hands now resting made a home that now is gone.
Dear mother, we think of you, and think of how you died.
To think you could not say goodbye before you closed your eyes.
To those who have a mother, cherish her with care,
There will never be another to fill her vacant chair."

SCOTIAN FIRES LOSING GROUND

Extra Men Held Ready at Dartmouth Powder Magazine in Case Wind Veers.

HOMES IN DANGER.

HALIFAX, July 12 (CP)—Lessened wind velocity aided weary Nova Scotians to-day in the fight against destructive forest fires burning through timberlands in a half dozen communities. One new blaze was reported overnight, but the slackening wind made it likely most of the fires would be under control by nightfall.

The most dangerous blaze was raging in woods near Dartmouth, burned over several years ago. It was not far from a blasting powder magazine on the shore of Bedford Basin, and, although the wind was blowing away from the magazine, several score men were being held in readiness at Halifax to be rushed to the scene if danger developed.

Hundreds of acres of woods in the path of the fire had been swept. Several small houses near the woods were endangered yesterday, but today they were out of the path of the flames. The new fire was reported at Rapid Falls, near Liverpool on the province's south shore. It had not assumed large proportions, and was not causing great anxiety.

Minneapolis Drivers Double-Crossed Quit

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12 (A.P.)—Union truck drivers, charging their employers have "double-crossed them," have voted to go on strike on Monday.

Truckmen in St. Paul will vote to-night whether to join the strike. One of their leaders told the Minneapolis truck drivers at last night's meeting:

"St. Paul is with you. We have the same grievances."

The meeting adopted a resolution calling upon other trade unions of the twin cities to "rally to our support with moral and financial aid," and to be ready for "sympathetic strike action, if such becomes necessary."

Union leaders charged at last night's meeting that employers had disregarded terms of the agreement which terminated a strike last May. Two persons were killed and more than 200 injured in disorders growing out of that strike.

William Brown, president of the Minneapolis Truckers' Union, said 6,000 men here will be affected by the strike, while 4,000 men would be called out by a walkout in St. Paul.

SEPTEMBER SET RESUME PROBE

All Stevens' Mass Buying Inquiry Sittings Will be Held in Ottawa.

EVIDENCE CHECKED.

OTTAWA, July 12 (C.P.).—With formal sittings expected to resume on September, preparations are now under way to continue the exhaustive probe in price spreads, mass buying and kindred subjects partially prosecuted by a parliamentary committee last session.

The parliamentary committee is now a Royal Commission, with Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, as its chairman. Mr. Stevens announced yesterday that all sittings of the Royal Commission would be held in Ottawa, and that necessary witnesses would be brought here. Pending resumption of formal sittings, L. B. Pearson, newly appointed secretary of the commission, J. M. Boyer, his assistant, and members of the staff will make a careful analysis of the evidence taken by the parliamentary committee and the exhibits filed before that body.

The commission will finish investigations of the Commons committee, and will also look into and report chain stores, agricultural implements, fish, flour mills and bakeries, and the fruits and vegetable canning industry.

Obituary

Robert Carr, for fourteen years a member of the Peterborough Fire Department, and an ex-service man, died with unexpected suddenness in Nicholls Hospital early this morning. He was in his 48th year.

Mr. Carr was born in England, the son of John Carr of Manchester. He came to Canada twenty-four years ago, taking up residence in Newcastle, Ontario. In 1914, he went overseas with the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles and in 1915 he was transferred to the 7th Canadian Field Ambulance Corp, the unit which he served until the close of the war.

On his discharge from service late in 1919, he returned to Canada and made his home in Peterborough. During his connection with the Fire Department, he was noted and respected among his fellow firemen for the fearlessness with which he carried out his duties. On several occasions he rececived official commendation for his bravery.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, in which he held the post as master of finance for six years.

Mr. Carr's father survives in Stockport, England, but his mother predeceased him by some years. His wife, three daughters, Beatrice, Mary and Dorothy, and one son, Hubert, all at home, remain. Three brothers, Albert, John and Fred, and two sisters, Mrs. James Shaw and Mrs. Walter Kearsley, all live in England.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the home, 486 Bonaccord street, to All Saints' church and thence to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Horace Ashmore and Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr will conduct the services.

Sudbury Burglary Ring Broken–2 Held

SUDBURY, Ont., July 12.— (C.P.)—A series of burglaries in Sudbury in June are believed solved with the arrest of Mike Menzine and Peter Manovich of Sudbury, and their appearance in police court this morning. They were remanded a week.

Charges are that on June 18 they stole $150 worth of watches from the store of A. Turpin, on June 20, clothing valued at $153.90 from the store of Sam Davis, and on June 21 watches valued at $1,023 from the store of Will Dorsett. No plea was taken on these charges. On a charge of stealing a ride on the Canadian Pacific Railway they were fined $2 and costs or 10 days. The two were arrested at Nipigon on July 10, by C.P.R. Constable Niblock, while beating their way east.

In the Dorsett robbery case a 16-year-old girl created a sensation two weeks ago by telling police that she was queen of a band of juvenile bandits who stole the jewelry at her behest.

JUVENILE THEFT RING IS UNCOVERED AT THOROLD

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 12.—(CP)—One of the biggest theft rings ever to have operated in this district was uncovered at Thorold when eight youngsters were apprehended and charged with stealing an amazing assortment of goods as well as cash. A break-in of the railway freight shed led to arrest of the boys. The manner of entry convinced police children were involved and the round up followed. Add British fliere ? ?

DON ON TRIAL IN MANX COURT

Noted British Racer Pleads Not Guilty to Manslaughter Charge.

OVER MECHANIC'S DEATH.

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, July 12 (C.P.).—Kaye Don, noted British racing motorist, went on trial here to-day for manslaughter, the aftermath of a racing accident. He pleaded not guilty.

In a setting like that of a romantic novel, the disciple of speed faced trial in an ancient building in which the Manx Parliament meets.

He is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his 27-year-old mechanic, Francis Taylor, who was killed while Don was practicin for a race here on the night of May 28.

At the opening of the trial the court was "fenced" according to the traditional ceremony by a "lockman" crying, "I fence this court in the name of our Sovereign Lord, the King."

A jury was immediately selected in the presence of the presiding judge, Deemster Farrant, and went to view the scene of the accident where the car was smashed and the mechanic killed.

Don was badly injured in the crash and spent several weeks in hospital.

In presenting its case, the prosecution charged that Don recklessly failed to slacken speed when rounding a dangerous bend, with fatal results.

Five U.S. Fliers Plan Round World Tour

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Five United States flyers plotted a round-the-world course today for a "goodwill flight," to be started Sunday under the sponsorship of a group of business men.

The long trail for their solitary ship led chiefly to Moscow, where they planned to spend a week or two, making "friendship hops" from the Soviet capital.

Going by way of Bermuda, the Azores, Paris and Berlin, they routed their return across Siberia and Alaska to Chicago.

Lieut.-Comm. William H. Alexander of New York, former chief instructor of the U.S. training station at Pensacola, Fla., will be in command of the plane.

Charming Screen Star Successful In Her Efforts to Grow Slimmer

The charming Sari Maritza, who was born in China of an English father and an Austrian mother, and who speaks eight languages, now has what is considered one of the most alluring figures in the entire movie city.

When Sari first came to Hollywood, however, she was considered by the Hollywood veterans as quite a bit too beefy for perfection. Sari is not the kind of a damsel that lets things like that throw her, however. She went on a reducing routine, got down to 109 pounds, and now she looks like a slim angel.

Unfortunately, however, there are a good many gals who can diet for ages, and yet not lose weight on the spots they desire. Of course, specialized exercises, such as the ones contained in my "New Figure" booklet, are helpful in molding the figure along harmonious lines. But sometimes, those bulky pads of fat remain adamant, and need further treatment for their removal.

Most of the gals who write in to me complain that, although they are fairly slender, they sport bulky arms, or overplump hips, or too-heavy thighs. And in cases like that, in addition to proper exercising, the best thing to do is to employ an effective reducing lotion.

Of course, there are a good many reducing soaps, lotions, and creams now on the market. But one of the best ones that I know of can be prepared readily at home. To prepare it, take two squares of gummed camphor and cut them into fine shavings. Then place the shavings in eight ounces of rubbing alcohol, and shake until all the camphor is dissolved. Add to this solution one tablespoon of turpentine and one teaspoon of powdered alum. And allow the mixture to stand for 24 hours.

To employ this lotion rightly, you should use it only on the less sensitive portions of the body, such as the legs, thighs, hips and upper arms. Sensitive parts of the body, such as the breasts, should not be treated with this lotion. Ordinarily, however, the lotion should be patted on the fatty portions of the body several times a day, and allowed to dry. And if it tends to prove drying to the skin, a bit of cold cream should be applied after its use.

Sari Maritza.

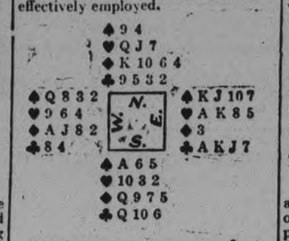
CONVENTIONS DIE HARD.

Years after a once popular convention has been abandoned, it crops out in some unexpected spot. Its user may have been playing the convention regularly, or he may have found it in an old book or heard of it from another player. Last May I ran across a conventional bid which was introduced about 1916 by Wilbur C. Whitehead one evening when S. S. Lenz, Ralph Leibenderfer and myself were playing at Whitehead's apartment. We soon abandoned the convention, and I had not heard of it for a dozen years. Here is the hand where the convention was effectively employed.



The first three players passed. An Englishman sitting East, made an opening bid of 2-clubs, stating that his partner knew the convention, and asking if he might explain the convention to his opponents. The opening 2 of a minor suit shows 3 powerful suits, with a worthless fourth suit, which may or may not be the suit bid. Partner is supposed to bid any 4-card major suit, if held, or to bid such a minor suit if necessary. In case partner has the high honors in the suit mentioned in the opening call he bids 2-no trumps, as that suit must be the weak one with the bidder.

West responded with 2-spades, which East carried to 4-spades, and play began with the opening lead of the Q of hearts, that dummy's K captured. South's ace of spades captured the K, led from dummy. South led back his 10 of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. The J of spades was led. Then the 5 of hearts was led. North's J won the trick. North led his fourth best club. Dummy's K won.

The 10 of spades pulled the last opposing trump. The good 8 of hearts was led. The declarer discarded a low diamond. The ace of clubs won the next trick. When West saw the 10 of clubs fall from South's hand, he led dummy's lowest club. South played the Q. West ruffed with his last trump. West led the ace of diamonds. Dummy used its last trump to ruff a low diamond. This was the twelfth trick. Dummy led the good J of clubs for the last trick. All that North and South took were 1 spade trick and 1 heart trick, giving West 5-odd.

As it happened, the same result could have been accomplished by East's opening bid of 1-spade, which his partner would have assisted. East might then have bid hearts, which West would have shifted back to spades, and game would have been made, just as it was under the conventional bidding.

Your Health

By DR. LOGAN CLENDENING

To hear a great many popular talks about dietetics, or read certain articles on the subject, you would get the impression that we have to take a great deal of pains in order to get the proper amount of vitamins into our systems. Artificial preparations of vitamins in the form of tablets or medicine are put on the market, and this also gives the impression that these life-giving substances are scarce.

Of course, the truth is that it would be very difficult for a chemist to construct a diet which would leave the vitamins out. We got the vitamins long before they were discovered by the physiologists, and thrived on them without knowing that we were getting them, as we are probably getting many things essential to health which the physiologists have not yet discovered.

We probably manufacture our own vitamins in our bodies through the action of chemicals that we take in with the food and through the action of sunlight. And we probably store a good many of those vitamins in some part of the body until they are needed, at which time the storage places are tapped and the vitamins sent out to do their job.

If you want some vitamin A, all you have to do is to drink a glass of milk, or put a little cream in your coffee, or take the yolk of an egg. If you want some vitamin B, all you have to do is to add a slice of bread to your glass of milk.

If you want some vitamin C, all you have to do is to drink some orange juice, eat a tomato, or drink a glass of lemonade.

If you want some vitamin D, all you have to do is to go out and sit in the sun awhile, provided enough of the skin of your body is exposed.

Vitamin D is found mostly in the liver of different animals and human liver too, We can get the vitamin D artificially, as it were, by eating some of the livers or liver oils, such as cod liver oil. But we can also get it by manufacturing our own. The mechanism of this production is probably that it is formed in the skin through the action of sunlight. Or at least, a substance, which later becomes vitamin D, is formed in the skin through the action of sunlight. This is carried by the blood to the liver and there stored, being doled out to the body as it is needed for strengthening bones, teeth, etc.

How long it takes for a supply of vitamin D to be exhausted after it is stored in the liver is not known, but probably several months, and on sunshiny days we keep adding to our store of vitamin D, so that the supply seldom is exhausted. It is more easily exhausted in children because bony growth is more rapid in them, and they need to have vitamin D more abundantly than do adults.

So summer is a good time to see that your supply of vitamin D is up to standard by doing a little sunbathing and preparing for the sunless days of winter.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There are three ways of enjoying one's garden. One is to take pleasure in the garden itself. The second is to delight in the blossoming beauty which can be introduced into rooms because of the garden. That is sometimes rather overlooked by those who want their flower beds never to be depleted of blossoms lest they lose some of their gorgeousness. A third way to enjoy one's garden is to have both kinds of flower beds, some for intrinsic beauty, the other for cut flowers or "cutting beds" as they are called.

* * * * * * *

It is generally where grounds are large and a gardener is employed that both kinds of flower beds are cultivated. The cutting bed may have some of the very same plants in it as in the others, but they are for house decoration not for landscape garden effects. The cutting bed is inconspicuously positioned and is never in full glory of blossoms which are being enjoyed indoors.

* * * * * * *

The majority of garden lovers content themselves with flower beds which must serve both purposes, and it is this group which divides itself into coteries, some hesitant of cutting flowers, some delighting in what the flowers can do to bring their perfumed loveliness into their rooms and those of their friends.

* * * * * * *

It is a mistake to let flowers go to seed on their stems, so sooner or later plucked they are. But when past their prime they have lost their charm. Fortunately plants flourish best when flowers are constantly picked. So this is one point in favor of the second group. However, it is between extremes that the most enjoyment can be found. One cannot help sympathizing with those who work hard in their gardens, who watch with keen interest each tiny bud and its development and who feel a certain mothering care over them, and want them to show off just where they are.

* * * * * * *

Those who make their gardens to be enjoyed out of doors, do well to have them where their glory can be seen from the house. Unless they do, it is only when special walks are taken to view the beds that they are enjoyed to their fullest.

RASPUTIN LIBEL CASE RE-OPENED

Princess Irina Attends as Film Company Begins Appeal.

$125,000 JUDMENT.

LONDON, July 12 (AP) — The famous Resputin film libel case was reopened to-day with the argument of an appeal by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, Ltd., against an award of £25,000 ($125,000) in trial court to Princess Irina Alexandrovna Youssoupoff.

Princess Youssoupoff alleged she had been libelled by the film "Rasputin and the Empress," because the character "Princess Natasha," shown in the picture as Rasputin's love, might be taken as a portrayal of herself. There were many points of similarity between the film and her own life, she claimed.

Her husband, Prince Youssoupoff, testified during the trial that he killed Russia's "Mad Monk."

Attorneys for the film company denied Princess Youssoupoff was represented by "Natasha," who was said to be a purely fictitious character.

The Princess sat at her solicitor's table to-day and followed with keen interest the presentation of the appellant's case by Sir William Howitt.

Sources close to the Youssoupoff's members of the former Russion nobility, said they planned to bring similar suits in other countries, although Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer promised no further showings would be made of the picture. Ethel, John and Lionel Barrymore had featured roles.

Judge Did Not See Film

Sir William, in presenting the case to the Court of Appeal, made a point of the fact that the trial judge did not see the film, although the jury twice did so.

He contended the character "Natasha" was presented in such a way there was nothing defamatory in being identified as her original and the trial judge should have so held.

The defence also argued the judge should not have instructed the jury it could disregard the fact brought in the trial that Princess Youssoupoff had never met the real Rasputin..

Sir William characterized the $125,000 damages awarded the Princess as "enormous." He said it was brought out in the trial that Princess Youssoupoff was bringing actions in respect to the film in nearly every country of the world, and was either bringing or threatening actions against 250 other picture palaces in which the film was exhibited in England.

"Supposing that in each of the other actions," he said, "she gets £1,000 ($5,000) damages. There will be £250,000 damages in addition to the original verdict. I submit that such a sum in damages is impossible.

"It bears no relation whatever to any injury upon her, and it is interesting to see when you look at the evidence that she does not call to testify for her a single soul who thinks a bit worse of her."

The attorney laid what he called excessive damages to the manner in which the judge instructed the jury.

220 CHILDREN ARE ATTENDING CHURCH SCHOOL

Success of Church Vacation School Seems Assured, Rev. Sutcliffe Says.

ACTIVITIES MANY.

School Meets in Three Churches Every Morning at Nine.

The number of children attending this city's first Church Vacation School, which opened its session on Monday, is steadily increasing and yesterday reached a total of 220.

"Success of the school seems assured," Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, informed The Examiner to-day. "Attendance is reaching beyond our original plans, and we sincerely believe that the boys and girls are receiving direct benefits and that their lives are being enriched by the training they are obtaining.

Its Purpose.

"The purpose of the school," Mr. Sutcliffe explained, "is to protect boys and girls from the physical and moral dangers of the city streets and to provide hours of character-building activities which will make the summer vacation both happy and profitable."

Miss Netannis Semmens, secretary of the National Council of Church Vacation Schools, organized this school and spent a week in instructing its volunteer teachers, chiefly older girls in the city's Sunday schools.

The school meets each morning from 9 o'clock until 11.30, classes being held in St. Paul's, George Street and Murray Street Churches. Thirty children have enrolled in the beginners' class, 60 in the primary and 130 in the junior classes. Miss Isobelle Connolly is superintendent of the beginners, Mrs. Graham Farnell serves in the same capacity in primary, and Mr. Sutcliffe directs the juniors. Alex. Runnett is directing the boys' activities, which include woodworking, games and Bible study.

Activities Are Many.

The girls are being taught sewing by Mrs. Colliss, and Misses Marion Armstrong, Faith Briggs and Isobel Wray. The purpose of the handicraft work is to co-ordinate the physical with the religious.

During the sessions the beginners and those attending the primary classes are provided with light lunch through the kind generosity of the dairies and some of the bakeries of the city.

After attending three successive mornings the boys and girls receive tags showing that they are official members. One and forty such tags were given out yesterday.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

EDDIE SEAGRAM is getting back in the racing game in a big way. He purchased four, two year olds from the Thorncliffe Stable the other day. They are all by that well known sire Judge Fuller. These together with the horses he already has, makes his stable a most formidable one. In addition he has the services of the clever Johnny Thorpe as trainer, a man who has been with him for over thirty years, and who is responsible for bringing Young Kitty back to her best form despite the fact that she is now nine years old.

Harry Hatch also purchased four expensive horses at Detroit the other day. In addition to the above menntioned owners we have Sam McLaughlin with his large string which makes three Canadian stables that rank with the best in America. Whitey Abel is over at Detroit with Just Fun and Black Target. He is expecting to do business with both of them in the near future, just simply waitinng for the proper spot, and so there will be no mistakes made. Whitey will be in the saddle himself . . . We are glad to see that the Canadian Racing Associationn have lifted the suspension of Jockey Joe Thomas. This lad is a real pigskin artist and just was a little rough in the tactics he used in his anxiety to win.

WE TOLD YOU last week they were shipping Len Sweep to Montreal for a win. Well she clicked on Tuesday of this week and the wise boys all done themselves some good. Lucky Racket at the same place is another slated for a win just as sure as death and taxes. Ceylon has been scratched the last few times at Detroit, but is all set for a killing. She was never in better shape and is just raring to go. We hope you took our advice in regard to Wacket. The price was not hard to take. He will go on and win a few more now that he has broken the ice. Tricky's Son is proving himself a very useful campaigner for Bill Hanna this summer in the Canadian bred ranks.

The Smallman Stable who usually heads the owners at the close of each Canadian racing season are starting to win plenty of purses after a very slow start. Their horses are all rounding to perfect shape now and any one from this barn must be given plenty of consideration. A racing enthusiast down in the southern States has come out with the idea of staging horse races at night. The idea would be to use powerful flood lights similar to those in use at night ball games. It would certainly attract a lot of new fans who simply cannot get out in the afternoons. It will probably be tried out and maybe it will be a general practice in future years at all tracks. King's Park in Montreal at their coming meeting is going to start their program at five o'clock and expect to run off seven races before dark. We doubt very much if this will be a success as they will not have sufficient time between races.

City League Orphans Win Louis Green Trophy

SEVEN RUNS IN EIGHTH FRAME CINCHES VICTORY FOR LEEMEN IN SEE-SAW C.O.B.L. STRUGGLE

Len Hollingsworth Leads Local Swatsmiths With Three In Four Times Up—Foley And Murray Each Connect For Triple Peacock And Elliott Lead Dukes.

CALLADINE NOT AS EFFECTIVE ON MOUND; ERRORS PLENTIFUL FOR BOTH OUTFITS.

An eighth-inning splurge which produced seven runs gave the Petes an 11-7 victory over Oshawa before a big crowd at Riverside Park last night. The win puts the locals well out in front in the C.O.B.L. race. It was a weird sort of fixture with good and bad baseball mixed up, and the score see-sawing back and forth. The Lee clan played a sloppy game in the field, chalking up six errors, while the Dukes booted four, a wet ball causing a number of bad throws. But it was exciting in spots.

Bill Calladine was not as effective as usual on the home hilltop, his curve failing to break, and the Dukes clouted him fairly hard. He was nicked for eight hits and five walks, while fanning just one. Archie Deyell hurled the last frame, giving two hits and striking one out. Dozy Ogden threw for Oshawa and, while he failed to show much, got by till he was shelled out in the eighth. He was touched for nine bingles and was wild to walk eight, fanning three. Mathews finished in good style.

Ike Batten was hurt when hit by a pitched ball in the eighth but returned the next inning to third base. Bud Murray pulled a muscle in his leg this same frame and Calladine took his place on second.

Hitting Star of Petes

Len Hollingsworth was the hitting star of the Petes, smashing out three in four trips and driving in four runs. Foley and Murray hit three-baggers. Peacock and Elliott led the Dukes at bat with two each in four times, while Wallace got two—both doubles—in five. Hurst, Peacock and Elliott also had a two-base blow apiece.

While both sides had some bad errors, there was also some nice fielding shown in places. Wallace and Young pulled off neat catches, and Hurst drew a hand for a great throw-in to the plate to complete a double-play. Konopka, Batten, Murray and Burton all had a flock of chances to handle and Len Hollinsworth, too, made a neat throw to the plate to catch a runner.

Locals Score in First

The Petes scored in the first. Foley walking, pilfering second, taking third on the catcher's wild heave to centre and racing home when Hurst fumbled the ball in centre. Oshawa got it back in the second when Young singled, took second on an out and home on Konopka's bad throw. The Dukes took the lead with two in the fourth. Wallace doubled and took third on an out after Mathews walked. Young was safe on a fielder's choice, Wallace scored on Elliott's double, Young taking third and scoring later on a fly to left.

The locals took the lead again in their half with three. Whatley was safe on a scratch hit and reached third on two infield errors that let Ash and Burton on. Hollingsworth's hit scored two, and Burton tallied on an out. The Dukes got two more in the fifth on two walks, a steal and Murray's bad peg. They added one the next time up, Elliott singling, being sacrificed and tallying on Peacock's double.

With the count 6-4 against them, the Petes went wild in the eighth to score seven runs. Murray and Whatley walked and moved up on Ash's infield hit. Burton flied out but Hollingsworth singled to score two. Calaldine's hit sent Ash in, and Hollingsworth raced home on Konopka's rap to short. Batten was hit by a pitched ball and Foley cleaned the bases with a triple to deep right. Mathews replaced Ogden and got the side out without further scoring. Oshawa got one back in the ninth on Hurst's double, and Whatley's error.

NATS FINALLY WIN FIXTURE AT KINGSTON

Ponies Helpless Before Hurling of "Chief" Williams on Belleville Mound.

SLOVENLY FIELDING.

KINGSTON, July 12 — For the first time in almost four years, Belleville Nationals finally defeated Kingston Ponies here last night by the score of 7 to 4, the C.O.B.L. champions thereby continuing their losing streak and dropping to third place in the league standing. Ponies played slovenly ball in the field and were helpless before "Chief" Williams' hurling after the fourth inning. St. Louis relieved Jamieson in the eighth with the bases loaded and one out, and twirled masterful ball to get out of the hole. But the Ponies, without a hit after the fourth, made only a feeble attempt at more runs and only got one man on base in the last five frames.

JOHNSTON'S TIRE CLAN LOSES IN SENIOR FINAL AT KEENE TOURNAMENT

Havelock And Omemee Battle To 10-10 Deadlock For Intermediate Championship—Home Girls Win Otonabee Council Trophy.

CITY AND DISTRICT SOFTBALL TEAMS WELL REPRESENTED AT ANNUAL EVENT.

KEENE, July 12. (By Staff Reporter). — Harrison's Orphans of Peterborough captured the Louis Green trophy when they nosed out Johnston's Tire Service squad, also from the Lift Lock city, for senior softball honours at the Keene softball tournament yesterday. The count deciding possession of the new annual cup was 7.5.

Omemee and Havelock deadlocked in a tussle for the intermediate championship of the tournament. With the score 10-10 the final game was called on account of darkness. The Omemee lads won a toss for possession of the prizes. The Otonabee Council Cup for the girl champions of the day was captured by Keene.

It was the first of what is to be an annual series of softball tournaments at Keene, staged by the Keene Softball Club. The two senior teams from Peterborough, seven intermediate teams and four girls' squads took part. Commencing shortly after one o'clock, the tournament continued until dark, interrupted twice during the afternoon by rain. A large gathering of rooters from Keene and vicinity was on hand.

Shirts Awarded

Dr. H. Wright, president of the Keene Softball Club, supervised proceedings. He was assisted by members of the club executive, Douglas Brown, Stewar, Lang, Arnold Nelson and Fred Whalen. In addition to the trophy, sweat shirts, donatedby Louis Green of Peterborough, were awarded players on the Harrison squad. Sweat shirts were also the prizes for the intermediate winers. Each runner-up team in the three sections received a bat and ball.

The Orphans won their game when they stampeded in six runs in the first frame, slamming the offerings of Butcher, the Johnston twirler, into every corner of the park. With the substitution of Price for Butcher, the losers settled down to some good ball, however, and allowed only four hits and one win during the remainder of the contest.

The Tiremen counted their first in the third and made a bid for the lead when Crary, Weir and Dormer made the rounds in the sixth. What looked like a rally, however, was cut short when Frankie Shine, in the grocerymen's box, regained control of the situation.

The Johnston men nicked one tally in the closing inning with difficulty, three short of a victory.

Score by innings:

Johnston's	001 003 1—8
Harrison's	600 100 x—7

Heavy Swatting

Plenty of heavy swatting featured the intermediate final when Havelock and Omemee locked horns in their tie game. The rail town boys scored three in the first two frames, holding Omemee scoreless. Then the northerners went on the rampage. In the third, with one down, eight men made the circuit before the Havelock men were able to get back into the ball game.

Working hard, the Havelock men boosted their total two in the third and another two in the fourth. Hagerman, Mathison and Hunter making the scores. Rehill and Adams put Omemee in the lead again in the fourth with two. With darkness falling, it looked like an Omemee triumph as the fifth opened. But the highway town squad relaxed too soon. Hagerman, Kemp and Voyer counted the tieing points.

Score by inings:

Havelock	212 23—10
Omemee	008 20—10

The 17-10 score by which the Keene girls won their championship honors over Omemee speaks for itself. Both squads moved handier at the bat than in the field.

Keene took the lead which they never lost with three in the first, two in the second, and five in the third. Their moundsman, Munro, well supported, held Omemee scoreless for the first two, but allowed two in the next frame. Then Omemee got away on a spree which netted six in the fourth, but they were able to add only two during the remainder of the tussle. Already having a lead of five, the victors cinched the game with four in their last appearance at bat.

Score by innings:

Keene	325 210 4—17
Omemee	002 601 1—10

Havelock Wins.

Havelock nosed out Keene in the intermediate semi-final with three runs in the last frame, holding the home lads to five hits asd one run in seves innisgs. The final count was 4-1.

Both squads played high-grade ball, but the air-tight operation of the Havelock men in the field and some well-placed hits at bat brought the victory. Kemp, Hagerman, Hill asd Voyer scored the Havelock counters, while Hayes got the single fifth-inning score by the local men.

Score by innings:

Keene	000 010 0—1
Havelock	100 000 3—4

Late arrivals at the tournament, a squad from Mount Pleasant escaped the preliminaries asd went into a semi-final tussle with Omemee. Both squads played loose ball, with Omemee finishing on top 11-8.

Rehill made a circuit clout for Omemee in the first inning, and Parsons contributed another in the final. B. Brian, K. Boyd and Hayes were feature hitters for the losers.

Score by innings:

Omemee	113 204—11
Mount Pleasant	300 041— 8

The Omemee squad made short work of the Peterborough Y's Men, running up a final score of 14-0 in the five inings. They opened the score with a run in the first innings when Rehill crossed the plate and then ran wild in the second to score eight. The Y's Men steadied up when their opponents went to bat in the third, but four more tallies were counted in the fourth and another in the final.

The twirling of Parsons was the feature of the Omemee victory, the visitors gaining only three hits. Abbott, on the mound for the Y's Men, worked hard, but had little support.

Score by innings:

Omemee	180 41—14
Y's Men	000 00— 0

Bridgenorth Falls.

The delegation from Bridgenorth fell before Havelock by a count of 9-3, outclassed in every department. Pitching for the northerners, Cooper held the railroad squad to one run in the first, but some heavy swatting brought in three in the second, four runs in the third, and a final counter in the fourth.

Drake Jopling garnered a hit and a run from Kemp when his squad came up in the second frame and Ralph Jopling and Cooper scored the remaining two of the Chemong team's counters in the third and fourth.

Score by innings:

Havelock	134 10—9
Bridgenorth	011 10—3

The Keene squad worked smoothly to trounce Hastings, 11-5. Hastings opened up with a strong bid for victory, bagging three hits and a run first time at bat but the home boys returned the compliment by taking the lead with two runs. They bagged three in the next, while the visitors were busy getting two and stampeded in four in the fourth to the single counter of Hastings.

A rally in the fifth brought Hastings only one run. The twirling of Hayes and well-oiled infield and outfield work was too much for them.

Score by innings:

Hastings	121 01— 5
Keene	234 2x—11

BISONS WIN AT HOME.

Royals Defeat Albany to Improve Chances for First Division Berth.

(By The Associated Press)

Oscar Roettger's Montreal Royals stood only half a game away from a berth in the first division of the International League to-day.

They were knocking at the door of the league's Big Four as the result of Johnny Salveson's 11th victory of the season. Salveson, a farmhand of the world champion New York Giants, bore down hard yesterday against the fourth-place Albany Senators, limiting Bill McCorry's crew to six hits and one run.

Salveson received excellent support from his teammates, who pounded a pair of Albany pitchers for 11 hits, good for victory by a score of 5-1. In addition to pitching airtight ball, Salveson walloped the ball for three bases to share in the hitting attack.

Leafs Split Double

The league-leading Newark Bears and the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs split a double-header, the Leafs winning the first game, 9-2, and the Bears rallying to capture the nightcap, 5-2.

Buffalo Bisons nosed out Baltimore Orioles by one run, 14-13, in the wildest and wierdest game of the day. Buffalo used seven pitchers among 17 players to gain the victory. The Bisons displayed their man-power freely, too, 14 Buffalo players, including four pitchers, being sent into the fray. The teams collected 13 hits each.

Wings Win From Chiefs

Two big innings were enough to give Rochester Red Wings an 11-8 decision over Syracuse Chiefs in a night game. The Wings came from behind to take the lead with a five-run attack in the fifth and then staged a four-run rally in the eighth after the Chiefs had again gone to the front.

TOLL GATE BEATEN

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., July 12 (CP)—Toll Gate was beaten yesterday for the first time since H. M. Sweeney of Bridgewater, N.S., imported the fast paced from Ontario this Spring.

After taking first money on several Nova Scotia tracks, Toll Gate ran second to-day to Mrs. Margaret Ballard's sensational Calumet Brownie in two heats of the free-for-all. The pacer came back strong to win the third but that was not enough to stave off defeat.

To J. T. Braund and his rink once more goes the honor of winning first prize. Down at Cobourg yesterday out of an entry of 30 rinks J.T. was successful in defeating R. Robinson of Toronto by the score of 16-12 to win the cup and first place.

This same cup was won by George Cairns last year and by the luck of the draw Cairns and Braund met in the semi-finals, but Braund was again successful in pulling out a win. Peterborough sent down six rinks to Cobourg—a real good representation.

Cobourg winners: E. Taylor, R. Bacon, V. Tully, J. T. Braund, skip. Besides winning the cup, each member secured a silver-mounted pyrex platter.

Jack Mayneord took a rink up to Uxbridge, but rain intervened. The replay is called for August.

Down at Campbellford Peterborough was represented by one rink, skipped by H. Martin. Twenty-four rinks made up this entry.

So taking it all-and-all, this city was well represented all over the district — and gave a good account of themselves.

Up at our own club last night sixteen rinks took part in the mid-week mixed tournament.

These games are just what our club needs, and no doubt there will be more of them during the summer.

Winners: 1, G. Soulby's rink; 2, T. McDonald's rink; 3, H. Northrop's rink.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

With the all-star game a matter of records, major league baseball swung back into ful stride to-day with the first of the annual crucial series looming to test the supremacy of New York Yankees in the west and New York Giants as they endeavored to protect their lead at the Polo Grounds.

The Yankees, after making a one-day stop at Cleveland yesterday and defeating the Indians 9-4 were at Detroit for four games in as many days. The Tigers, who have been dogging the Yankees since being displaced as the American League leaders June 25, were only a half-game out of first place.

The Giants, with a slightly-longer lead of 1½ games, had until Saturday before they hook up in a five-game series with Chicago Cubs. Like the Tigers, the Cubs have been in second place since June 25 and have picked up two games on the world champions since that date.

Bill Dickey was largely responsible for the Yankees' victory yesterday. He smashed out two homers, each time with Ben Chapman on base. With Johnn Murphy hurling seven-hit ball the New Yorkers never were headed from the time they scored four runs in the second inning.

The Tigers had a much more difficult time beating Washington Senators, 13-7. Starting out with seven runs in the first three innings, they apparently were headed for an easy victory only to have the Senators count seven runs in the first three innings, they apparently were headed for an easy victory only to have the Senators count seven runs through the fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Mickey Cochrane's men put on a big eighth inning, however, counting six times. Altogether Detroit connected with 15 hits off Al Thomas, Bob Kline, Alvin Crowder and Jack Russell, while the Senators pounded Luke Hamlin, Elon Hogsett and Elden Auker for 12 safe blows.

Gain on Giants

The Cubs picked up a half-game on the Giants by defeating Boston Braves twice, 3-1 and 2-1, while the League leaders were trimming Pittsburgh Pirates in another close affair, 3-2.

Guy Bush was hit freely in the first game but the Cubs made the most of their five hits off Shem. Wally Berger saved the tribe from a shutout with his 19th home run in the seventh. The second game was all Pat Malone, who let the Braves down with three hits, two of them in the first inning when they scored their lone run. Only 29 men faced the big right-hander. "Gabby" Hartnett drove in three of the Cubs, five runs in the two games, getting two hits in each game.

Slugging Counts

Hal Schumacher's three-hit pitching through the last eight innings and some hefty slugging on the part of Manager Bill Terry and Lefty O'Doul gave the Giants their game. O'Doul cracked out two singles ,scoring Terry each time, and Memphis Bill parked his fifth homer in the right field stands in the third.

The Phillies hit Tex Carleton when hits meant runs and Phil Collins hurled eight-hit ball as Philadelphia beat the Cardinals, 5-2. Collins was not scored until pinch-hitter Delancey hit a homer with Virgil Davis on base in the ninth.

Ray Benge pitched steady ball to give Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-2 decision over Cincinnati Reds.

C.G.E. Play Fosters On Friday Evening

C.G.E. play Fosters in tomorrow's (Friday) E.P.L. game at six o'clock in the evening down at the Exhibition Grounds. As the schedule ends two weeks from tomorrow, fans may be assured of hard battling between thees outfits the rest of the way. C.G.E. are three and a half games ahead of the Foster clan, and the latter team must get in there and start winning from now on to oust the Electrics from a playoff berth. Cogs are well out in front, but the team finishing second starts on even terms with them once the five-game playoff series commences the end of this month. Both Fosters and C.G.E. have a chance for the second spot.

Since Fosters lost their last number by a one-sided count, they have been scouting around and lining up new faces. And the team has been practising and getting ready to renew action after nearly two week's layoff. They will likely trot out a revamped team that may upset the dope and trounce C.G.E. Friday. Doug Hatton's boys are all primed up after two tough ones with Cogs to step in and give their opponents a real fight tomorrow, and it looks like a good ball game. The starting twirlers are unknown at present.

Taking a firmer grip in the C.O.B.L. canary's perch, the Petes smacked over Oshawa, 11 to 7 (crap numbers), here last eve. It might be better just to mention it and let it go at that, but we've got to fill up the column somehow, so it might as well be with this game. It wasn't a good ball game by any means, though it had its bright moments. As long as we won it, the customers wont kick. But if Oshawa had won—wow, what a putrid exhibition that would have been! Well, a wet ball and a greasy diamond had a lot to do with the errors, and then none of the pitchers were in top form.

• • • • • • •

While the locals looked bad several times and kicked in with some unnecessary errors—trying to make double-plays—still ,we see no reason for some of the fans to hand 'em the Bronx cheer. Not very many, but a few fog-horn-voiced yahoos seemed to take keen delight in going after the home players. That's poor stuff, especially when the Petes are out in front and winning plenty of games now. Do they have to win 'em all and look like Big Leaguers? The boys didn't like it and it showed in their playing. After all, any guy who doesn't like the games over there doesn't need to attend. They should remember it's only a game.

• • • • • • •

Calladine was ineffective and wild on the locals' mound but he got by all right and could likely have finished okay. He couldn't bend his hooks right and the wet spalding didn't help his control. And it certainly didn't aid the Oshawa flinger, Ogden, who passed out free tickets with a reckless extravagance not seen here before this year. It was an up-and-down, weird game with first one side going good and then the other, and first one crew looking terrible and then ditto for their opponents. Since neither pitcher had anything on the ball but a prayer, the fielders had plenty to do. Some of 'em did it well and others not so hot. That big eighth frame saved the Petes' bacon.

• • • • • • •

Len Hollingsworth was the hitting hero and the lefthanded right-fielder showed brother Red how to clout 'em. Then, Murray and Foley banged out nifty triples, Foley's coming in the eighth with three aboard. Oshawa hit five doubles, showing how lively that new dynamite ball really is. A pitcher is half inclined these days to throw one in and then head for the cyclone cellar ot top speed. He's liable to have his noggin removed by the return drive! Still, we've been getting so many low-score contests lately that one spree of base-hits shouldn't make us go around next morning with an ice-pack on the bean.

• • • • • • •

The Petes are certainly keeping up their winning ways lately, and seem to be able to win more than their share on the road. Last night's home victory is a nice one, too, and the rooters will now believe there is something to Knotty Lee's 1934 edition. Even when they go bad, they still have enough punch to prove not quite as bad as the opposition. Ike Batten was beaned once but will be okay. Murray may be out a day or two with a pulled tendon in his leg. Somehow, the locals are never very far away from their injury jinx. However, they'll go back to Oshawa Saturday expecting to cop another.

• • • • • • •

The Kingston Ponies have hit a losing streak at home and last night fell before Chief Williams and the Belleville team, 7 to 4. The Limestone lads turned in some poor fielding and could do nothing to the Chief's offerings after the fourth, Jamieson finally being relieved by St. Louis. It was the first Belleville win in Kingston in over three years. The Petes are now in front with seven wins and four losses, while the Nats are next with six wins, five losses and a tie. Kingston has won four and tied one out of ten, and Oshawa has lost six out of nine.

• • • • • • •

Rain didn't help the first annual Keene Softball Tournament yesterday, but it went off pretty fair at that and had a good crowd. Thirteen teams were entered and some good games played. Orphans nosed out Johnston's Tires in the final to cop the men's senior title, the Louis Green Trophy and a dozen sweatshirts. Omemee and Havelock men tied, 10-all, for the intermediate championship and a dozen sweatshirts, and Omemee won the toss to settle it when darkness stopped play. Keene gals took the Otonabee Council Cup. Congrats to the men who staged the tourney.

Kiwanis lacrossers play in Campbellford this evening in an O.A.L.A. fixture. Then on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 in Riverside Park, Cobourg plays here, the Lakeshore team being right on the Petes' heels. Dit Clapper, star Boston hockeyist, is slated to referee with V. Reynolds. If the weather is right, this contest should be well worth seeing between two classy and well-matched squads. The gutted-stick artists dish up a lot of action and they have a fine layout at Riverside right in front of the west grandstand. Kiwanis haven't lost a fixture in three starts.

BANTAM HAWKS BEATEN 15-2 BY KING EDWARD

King Edward turned back the Hawks, 15 to 2, in a bantam baseball game at the Exhibition Grounds last night. Two big frames, the fifth and sixth when they scored a dozen runs, caused the downfall of the Birdmen. The Hawks played very poor ball in the field to boot no less than fourteen and these miscues, with a bunch of wild pitches, were mainly responsible for the two big stanzas. Foster was the best of the three Hawk twirlers, having half a dozen strikeouts. Mortimer pitched good ball for the winners to give but four hits and fan seven. He had good backing. The teams:

King Edward: Williams, ss; Todd, 3b; Mortimer, p; Berwick, 2b; Ridley ,1b; Lawson, cf; Hopcroft, lf; Mackness, rf; Jay, c.

Hawks: McDougal, 2b; Foster, p, cf; Collins, c; White, 3b; Robson, ss; Galley, lf, p; Clary, cf, p; Baxter, 1b; Botnick, rf.

CANUCKS HEAD PARADE

LONDON, July 12 (CP Cable) — Empire Games officials announced to-day that Canada's team would lead the march past on the opening day of the great athletic meet at Wembly, August 3. They reached their decision, they said, in recognition of the fact the first Empire Games were held at Hamilton, Ont., in 1930.

COBOURG OUTFIT HERE SATURDAY

Meet Local Kiwanis Lacrosse Team at 2.30 at Riverside Park.

ONLY LOST ONE GAME

There will be an intermediate O.A.L.A. lacrosse game at Riverside Park at 2.30 Saturday afternoon Cobourg is playing the local Kiwanis team and it should be the outstanding gutted-stick contest of the summer here. The Kiwanis crew is on top of the league now with three wins in three starts, while Cobourg is right behind with three wins in four tussles. The only one they lost was a close one to the Petes, the locals beating them by one goal in a grand battle in Cobourg early in the schedule.

Kiwanis will be at full strength for this one, with the pick of the Peterborough players on the lineup and Becky Jack of Havelock, who is with the Petes this year. Cobourg has a very fast, tricky team made up of young, husky and experienced players, noted for their speed and nifty combination. Their defence includes Peck, scaling over two hundred pounds of bone and muscle, St. Mike's College rugby star who is in the Lakeshore town now. Ibey, Spooner, Hagerman, Cancilla and Cooper are some of their other stars, the latter being the big goal-getter. The game should draw a big crowd as it promises to be a dandy, and also as there is no ball game here that day.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

Chapter 46

Lady Ida looked profoundly disturbed. Then she rang for Craven.

"Craven, this detective officer wants to see Mr. George. To be certain that he hasn't been attacked or killed by that snake or by some housebreaker I am taking him now to see Mr. George, and I want you to come too."

"Very good, my lady," Craven looked bleak indignation.

Lady Ida led the way to the second floor—on which her own rooms were' Passing down the broad main corridor, she moved a little switchbox beside the mirror that closed one end. Opening the flap, she inserted a key into the keyhole inside, turned it, and then opened the mirror door by 'merely pressing it away from her' It was a private door, but hardly a secret one.

Following her, Pointer stepped into a large, bare, but clean room. Craven shut the mirror door behind himself as the last of the three. After that the further door of the room was unlocked.

"All this is terrible, but necessary," Lady Ida said quietly. "Not that Jacky—we call him Jacky—is ever dangerous, but he's as curious as an animal. He might escape, and that would mean unbearable grief for all of us." Craven now gave a little whistle, and, after a second, turned the handle of the door'

"There's a sort of cage built around the door on the other side," he explained, still holding the door closed, "so that he can't run out, as he might otherwise."

He flung the door open and stepped aside. All entered a wired-off portion of the room which, Pointer saw, would serve just the purpose Craven had mentioned. Craven now unlocked the grating door leading on into the room proper, but Lady Ida stayed him.

"All the detective wants is to see that Jacky is alive and well." Which was precisely what Pointer could not see' The room was bare of furniture. The floor was piled in places with straw. A stack of it was built against the opposite wall. Around the one large window another cage, similar to the one in which they stood, had been made. The room was very airy, and warm, and light. Something rustled in the straw, but nothing showed itself.

"Jacky!" Lady Ida coaxed. "It's all right, Jacky! He is terrified of strangers." She turned to Pointer reproachfully. "When the doctors come and have a look at him he's like a mad thing for hours afterwards, hiding and shivering."

"Sorry," Pointer said, "but I must have at least a glimpse of him." She nodded to Craven, who now opened the cage door and stepped on into the room.

"Now then, Master Jacky," he said in a cheery, kindly voice. "I've got some bananas for you."

Out was thrust a wild matted head of hair, and a pair of rat-like eyes peered at the visitor above a perfect bush of a beard. He gave a sound like a yelp and clutched at the banana.

"Now are you satisfied?" Lady Ida asked bitterly, turning to Pointer.

"Can I offer him a banana too?" The chief inspector had already taken one from Craven as he spoke, and was now holding it out by its extreme end as though he feared that Jacky would bite his fingers.

A large hand darted out with ape-like speed and clutched the fruit, but Pointer held on.

"Come out, Mr Jacky," he said, as one might wheedle a shy animal. But Jacky let go the fruit and retreated further into his heap.

"I'll try him with a ball," Craven said, picking up something that looked as though it might once have been an old-fashioned small, wooden croquet ball.

"He'll bite and scratch at it like a kitten," he murmured to Pointer as he rolled it with friendly cluckings towards the heap of straw. but Jacky did not show himself.

"He'll come for me," Lady Ida said confidently. "Come on, Jacky, come on and play. There's nothing to be afraid of."

In reply, something on all fours shambled out of the heap and sat a moment mowing on the floor, its knees against its chest, its long arms hugging them till it looked like a human ball itself' The man, for it was one, was dressed in leather shorts and vest, and looked like some medieval gnome of vast size. Suddenly he made a dive for the ball and began to lie on his side on the floor, knees still up, but biting and scratching at the ball. In another minute he let it fall and caught at Lady Ida's hand as she bent gently over him, pointing to the stranger and bursting into a string of gibberish.

"Have you seen enough?" she asked over her shoulder, patting Jacky affectionately as he clung to her.

Pointer said that he had. He had just bent down a moment ago as though to pick up something and had measured against his forearm the length of the unshod feet so close to him.

They now left as they had come. Lady Ida and Craven showed their indignation at the needless humiliation to which the family had been subjected. Pointer was officially apologetic, but when he stood alone with Lady Ida for a moment he said suddenly:

"It was Mr. Jacky who bit the top of your fountain pen, wasn't it?"

She nodded. "It was in my hand and I let him play with it for a moment. Mr. Tait thought people might notice the dents made by his teeth, and insisted on taking it off to have them straightened out. It was quite impossible for me to tell you how the marks were made, without telling you, what does not in the least concern you, the story of that wretched man in there'"

"And Mr. Tait came occasionally to see him while Mr. Westmacott is away?"

"Yes. At Mr. Westmacott's request. Just a glance at him to see he wants for nothing. On the quiet, of course. Every one in my service knows the truth, but no strangers so far." The last came half-brokenly, half-savagely.

Pointer hurried from the house. In a rubber-lined pocket of his coat was the banana that had been clutched by those long fingers, with their nails worn to the quick by scratching and clawing at a wooden ball. A few minutes more, and the Yard expert was comparing the fingerprints on it with those found on the arms of the chair in Miss Dundas' studio. Yet another few minutes, and Pointer knew that he was right in his idea that the dreadful figure peering from its heap of straw was the same as the dandified man who had hurried in, wearing a boutonniere made of the same glass as that which had poisoned John Tait. One of the chief inspector's men had been round to the Ricci household posing as a buyer of artificial boutonnieres. He liked the material of the lily of the valley leaf, but did not care for the leaf itself, he said. Perhaps they made other objects o the same glass. He was told that they had never used it except for that particular boutonniere, and, even so, were not using it any longer owing to its tendency to break, and worse yet to splinter. Customers had complained of the glass getting into their fingers. Signora Ricci said she always warned customers of this who felt inclined to buy the sprays. She liked them to buy the violets instead, which were more profitable.

So now Pointer knew, that, as he had guessed, it was an artificial boutonniere which had been used as a vehicle to convey the deadly poison to Tait. A boutonniere suggested a certain intimacy . . . suggested as first choice a woman giver . . .

Major Pelham sat with clenched hands as Pointer told him of the long step just taken. "You mean that poor old Westmacott has been deceived; is being deceived? Or do you mean that his son has more lucid intervals than he lets people suspect?"

"I'm sure Jacky is a fraud, sir."

"How can you be sure?"

"Wig, sir, shows that. No one could tell Jacky's hair isn't his own' it's too wild and tangled. But, as I had seen him smartly shorn and smooth shaven a few hours ago, I knew those plumes hadn't grown since then. Suppose Jacky to have sane intervals and be able to go into the outside world, it's quite conceivable that he might wear a wig then, but not during his fits of—whatever they would be called—reversions to the primitive and so on. Well done stunt his, I am certain that we shall find he worked for the films. At least I'm going to start inquiries in that field."

For Friday, July 13.

The astral conditions for this day lend their favor and assistance in a rather mild degree to all small writings, artistic pursuits or other cultural activities. In this connection it would be profitable to apply to publishers or those in places of power and prestige, who will be found ready to encourage or offer more substantial co-operation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of fair successes in writings of a not too important nature, in which connection they may find publishers or others in power ready to offer some solid measure of support or encouragement.

A child born on this day should be versatile, gracious and popular in social as well as business, winning its way by its cultural talents.

TRUCK DRIVERS QUIT IN FRISCO

Vote For General Strike Gains Ground—Violence Breaks in Portland.

FOUR WOUNDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12 (A.P.) —Threats of a general strike increased to-day as 3,700 truck drivers of San Francisco Bay cities walked out to tighten the commerce blockade of striking Pacific coast maritime workers.

Action of the teamsters unions of San Francisco and the East Bay cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda came despite an appeal of a federal labor disputes board which reported its first definite step toward possible settlement of the strike which has crippled coast shipping.

Union after union on both sides of San Francisco Bay and in Portland, Ore., fell in line towards a possible general strike by delegating authority for action to "strategy" committees.

The San Francisco waterfront, patrolled by National Guardsmen, was quiet but at Portland, where blood was shed for the first time since the longshoremen started the strike May 9, shots were fired at a police patrol boat. Four men were wounded by buckshot from police guns yesterday.

The Portland City Councill demanded that Mayor Joseph Carson remove Police Chief B. K. Lawson from strike duty after the shooting and urged shippers to cease operation until the dispute is settled.

Despite the teamsters' walkout, which it had hoped to avert, the federall board said it would proceed a referendum among maritime unions on its request for voluntary acceptance of mediation. Waterfront employers of major ports and 42 shipping companies submitted unconditionally to arbitration yesterday.

Two Toronto Rinks Win O.B.A. Trophies

HAMILTON, July 12.—For the third year in succession the same four players from the Toronto St. Matthews Club, skipped by H. G. Salisbury, accounted for the Ames Trophy, secondary event of the Ontario Layn Bowling Association tournament. In the final yesterday afternoon at the Roselawn Club, Salisbury and his mates defeated A. Archer, Hamilton Victorias, by 17 to 11, the winners scoring six shots on the last two ends after a nip-and-tuck struggle.

In the Niagara Trophy, third event on the program, a Balmy Beach rink downed one from St. Catharines, skipped by J. C. Brodie, the final count being 20 to 10, and, in, view of the fact that the Beachers were the first club to win this trophy twice, it now becomes their personal property.

McLarnin And Ross Meet Again Sept. 6

(By Sam Robertson, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, July 12 (CP) — Down through the pages of Jimmy McLarnin's sensational ring career there is no instance in which the Vancouver Celt has failed to whip in a second attempt the few men who puzzled him the first time out.

Because of that, the faithful of Fistiana looked to-day on his return match with Barney Ross as being just as much "a natural" as was the first meeting, when the little Chicago Hebrew knocked Jimmy out from under his welterweight crown.

Deeds for the second meeting were signed yesterday, naming Sept. 6 as the date. The site of the 15-rounder was not specified, but it no doubt will be in New York or its environs.

Dave Komonen Will Race On Saturday

HAMILTON, Ont., July 12 (CP) —Dave Komonen of Sudbury, the greatest marathoner in North America, who somehow failed to gain a place on Canada's British Empire Games distance team, came back to the scene of his failure today and announced he would make another try.

The Finish flyer from the North will run in the six-mile event at the men's track and field trials Friday and Saturday, facing a powerful field that includes Bob (Scotty) Rankine of Preston, Ont., 1932 Olympian, and Royal Oliver of New Glasgow, N.S., Maritime champion.

Should Komonen qualify in the six miles he will go to England with the team only in the event his naturalization papers are granted before the Canadian athletes sail on July 21. Disappointed at his failure in the marathon trial, when he dropped out after running 11 miles, Dave was confident of his chances over the shorter distance.

MODERN STUDENT IS SPOON FED DECLARES RETIRING PEDAGOGUE

Edmonton Teacher Has Enjoyed a Brilliant Career.

TAUGHT 59 YEARS

By CECIL RAYMOND
Central Press Canadian Writer

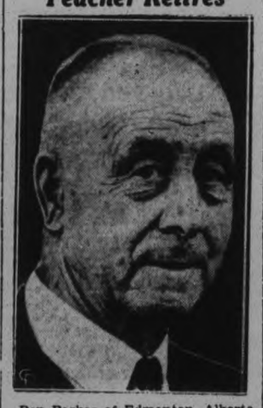
EDMONTON, Alta., July 12.—Ben Parker of this city has out-endurianced all the champion flag-pole sitters, aviators and telephone conversationalists on the continent.

Fifty-nine years ago he taught his first class in little Warwich school No. 9, in Ontario, and at the end of this term he completed his final lessons at North Delton school, Edmonton. In nearly sixty years of school teaching this kindly, scholarly old gentleman missed exactly three weeks and four days' time. The four days marked his sick leave up until last year. When he fell down a cellar stairs and broke three ribs, he missed the three week period.

The "march past" of three generations of young Canadians has left an indelible impression on this father and grandfather as to just what kind of citizens the Dominion's schools are turning out, and whither they are bound.

Here are a few of his ideas and comparisons of the ultra modern youth he has taught in the last generation, and the hard working youngster of the eighties and nineties in Ontario.

Teacher Retires



Ben Parker of Edmonton, Alberta, has just completed his 59th year as a school teacher. During the whole of his professional career the veteran pedagogue missed only three weeks (with a broken rib) and four days. He says the schools of today are not teaching children to think for themselves.

Spoon Feed Them Now

"In the old days, all you had to do was threaten the child with dismissal from school, and he'd get busy. Education meant something to those boys and girls who labored on the farms all summer and had to cram the year's work into the winter months. Nowadays you have to spoon-feed the students with everything, use all kinds of honey on your three 'R's' to get them to swallow anything, and then they think they are doing you a favor to listen.

"And most parents are too busy today to take a real interest in what their children are doing.

"A boy of fourteen could do a day's plowing, once with his father and the farm hands. There wasn't any organized sport, but they went at each other in the village baseball games, I can tell you!

"When we worked hard and organized a school concert more than fifty years ago, what do you supposed the children bought with the proceeds? A Worcester's Dictionary, and they were so excited about it. It's still in the old school, half way between London and Sarnia, as the stage coach went. Today, when they smash up the sports equipment that has been provided for them, a concert is organized and a lot more is bought.

"Sometimes a little discriminating use of the strap is more valuable than days of talking."

Radio Big Influence

Radio and talking pictures have made tremendous changes in the child mind, as Mr. Parker sees it. Gradually the race is changing from visual to auditory mindeness.

"The greatest danger of our education today,' says the slightly-bent but keen and alert man, still all teacher, "is that children are not learning to think for themselves."

Teaching boys older than himself in that first little school, and working on a farm between times, the lad just over from England learned to do an honest day's work whenever he went at anything.

There are occasions when it has been whispered that, worked up to a pitch in his class, the enthusiastic pedagogue has discarded his coat and "gone at it" in shirtsleeves.

Would Have Taught Grandchildren

Teacher later as a youth in West Union school, Middlesex county, Mr. Parker had some of his best classes. One of his brightest pupils was Miss Jean Brown, later to become one of Canada's outstanding social workers, and head of the Junior Red Cross for the Dominion. Had he not moved, after a short stay in Arkena, to rural Alberta, and later to Edmonton, Mr. Parker would have taught the grandchildren of his first pupils. As it was, he did teach their sons and daughters.

The veteran master is a great defender of the feminine mind. 'There's no difference in native ability, mind you,' he says, "but girls are more conscientious and interested, and nine times out of ten, through all the years, my top pupil would be a girl.'

Retired from Edmonton public school staff, Mr. Parker intends to visit his four sons and three grandchildren and continue an interest in prize poultry which reached a climax in 1927 when he attended the World's Poultry Congress in England.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does the Work.

Few Pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why cutting sometimes removes the pile tumor but leaves its exciting cause which may create a recurrence.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, and acts to relieve congestion.

So isn't it better when salves fail and before considering operation to try this internal remedy when McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

Hydro Board Halts Toronto Building

GABY AND LUCAS GET IMMEDIATE WALKING TICKET

48 Other Engineers, All Receiving Over $5,000, Also Given Notice.

WORK DAY TO DAY BASIS.

May Be Rehired at Board's Figures—Drastic Cuts Foreseen.

TORONTO, July 13 (C.P.)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn officially has launched what he describes as his campaign of rigid economy.

Starting in his own office, services that will be dispensed with were outlined by the Premier in brief interviews with newspapermen yesterday. At the same time T. Stewart Lyon, newly appointed chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission announced immediate dismissal of F. A. Gaby, its chief engineer, and L. B. Lucas, K.C., general solicitor.

Notices of dismissal also were sent to all members (48) of the Hydro staff receiving more than $5,000 annually, but in these cases there was a provision they could remain in the Hydro employment "at such salary and under such conditions as hereafter may be determined by the board in its discretion."

Construction work on the new Hydro building in Toronto also will be halted, it was announced, and from official sources it was learned other government construction would be stopped until officials of the department of public works are able to make enquiries they desire in regard to the granting of the contracts.

"In view of the state of the Commission's finances," said the official announcement, "and the necessity for economy and the exercise of care in the public interest it was deter-

JUDGES OF HELL RENEW SCARES

Powerful Bomb is Discovered at Base of Paris Lamp Post.

NO NOTE ATTACHED.

PARIS, July 13 (AP)—The "Three Judges of Hell," after three weeks of silence, again put their mark on Paris to-day.

A powerful bomb, loaded with 25 cartridges of high explosive, was found by police at the base of a lamp post. It was removed before it exploded.

Opening the base of the lamp post for cleaning, workmen found a package which looked suspicious, and called police.

Experts opened it and found the explosive electrically connected to a clock which was set for three hours after the discovery was made.

The explosive was cheddite, a powerful agent used in munitions manufacture. Experts said the amount was equivalent to that contained in two shells of the famous "75" calibre.

While no note was found as with previous bombs which had been sent through the mails terrifying postal employees as well as industrial leaders and high public officials, the police believed the bomb was the work of a madman.

They said indications pointed to a renewal of activity of "The Three Judges of Hell," the designation previously attached to many of the bombs.

LUCK CHARMS FAIL.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 13 (C.P.)—Two horse shoes which L. Cutting left in his rowboat, have not brought him much luck, for the rowboat was stolen. However, time will tell, for he has given Hamilton police this information as a means of identifying the boat.

Shell Forgotten In French Warship's Gun Makes Perfect Hit On Sister Ship—Two Die

TOULON, France, July 13 (A.P.)—A shell, fired by accident from the Destroyer Vautour, struck a sister ship, the Albatros to-day, killing two French sailors and wounding a third.

The shell had been forgotten and left in one of the Vautour's guns. It exploded accidentally during cleaning operations after target practice.

It made a perfect hit, falling upon the forward deck of the Albatross and exploding.

The deck and woodwork of the Albatros were wrecked and the damage was extensive. Three sailors who were alone on the deck were blown with terrific force against the vessel's railing.

HITLER SPEAKS BRUTALLY FRANK ON NAZI STAND

Tells German Reichstag, Tense Nation Events Sad as They Are Menacing.

NOT WORRIED ON OWN FATE

Denies Making Revolution as Anarchists Sought Power Through People's Hearts.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press

BERLIN, July 13. — Chancellor Adolf Hitler told the German people and the world to-day that he would make a brutally frank declaration of events "which will live in the memory of our history."

Speaking before a packed audience which included the German Reichstag, the chancellor told the waiting throngs they had been called "to give me a chance to explain events."

"The content of my declaration will be brutally frank," he said.

He said the events of which he intended to speak were "as sad as they were menacing."

"I must limit myself," he said, "only in the extent of my regard for the interests of the Reich and otherwise for a feeling of shame.

No Revolt as Anarchists

"We have not made a revolution as anarchists. But as executives we have removed the regime of a revolt."

"We did not conceive our task to be that of securing our power through bayonets, but rather of deriving it from the heart of our people—and there to anchor it.

"If to-day I read in foreign newspapers that I am filled at present with deep apprehension with economic worries, I can give but one answer: Yes.

"But anxiety is not a thing that weighs me down only to-day. It has always weighed me down."

"When, after 15 years of struggle we finally obtained the leadership of the nation, this tormenting worry not only did not leave us, but on the contrary, it took hold of us more powerfully.

"You may believe me if I assure you that throughout my life I have never worried about my own fate."

CHEMIST DENIES CHARGES MADE STEVENS' PROBE

Strawberry Jam Not Made From Carrots and Turnips Chemist Declares.

DESCRIBES INDUSTRY.

Government Regualtions Are Strictly Followed Kiwanis Club Told.

A sweeping denial of charges made before Stevens' probe that the canning industry is foisting on the public strawberry jam made from carrots and turnips and marmalade made from the discarded orange peelings of the Honey Dew chain, was made by H. W. Powell of Hamilton, chief chemist of Canadian Canners, Limited, in an address to the Kiwanis Club at luncheon to-day. "The intimations are ridiculous," he declared.

Regulations Followed.

Jams are made strictly in accordance with government regulations, which govern specifically their production, labelling and marketing, he said. The regulations proscribe strictly the percentages of fruit and other ingredients which must be used in each hundred pounds of the products and those regulations must be followed. Checkers of the government circulate constantly among the stores in Canada, testing samples to insure adherence to the law, he pointed out.

Speaking for his own firm, he said that three grades of strawberry jam are put out. The first contains fruit and sugar only, the second includes added pectin, and in the third, a cheaper grade for use in lumbering camps and road camps; glucose is substituted for sugar. In the cheaper grades of jam, harmless artificial coloring matter approved by the government is sometimes added. Regardless of the grade, the ingredients of the product are stated plainly on the labels, he asserted.

In regard to marmalade, Mr. Powell said the marmalade made by

See Federal Relief Before House To-Day

OTTAWA, July 13. (CP) — The important question of continued federal contribution to direct relief will probably be decided to-day or to-morrow, and it is understood that this matter which has assumed greater importance in view of urgent representations against the cutting off of relief, will be taken up. The feeling here at present is that the government is inclined to continue its contributions at least in places where conditions are most difficult.

NO SET ALLIANCE WITH ANY POWER SIMON STATES

Britain is Against Building Up of One Group of Nations Against Another.

EXPLAINS FRENCH VISIT.

Emphasizes Eastern Security Pact, Not to be Used Against Any One Nation.

LONDON, July 13 (A.P.). — Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, discussing recent Anglo-French conversations, told the House of Commons to-day Great Britain has made "no set alliance" with any Power.

"We are undertaking no new obligations at all," Sir John said

He made clear an Eastern European security pact, the goal of France, must not be used as an instrument against any one country such as Germany.

Sir John said the chief mission of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, on his visit here earlier this week was to outline reasons for the necessity of a pact of mutual assistance in Eastern Europe, embracing the Balkan States, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Germany. It would connect Russia with the existing Locarno Treaty, guaranteeing peace in Western Europe

"We made it clear to the French Foreign Minister," Sir John asserted, "that Great Britain is against the building up of one group of nations against another M. Barthou approves our stand without reservation."

No Secret Understanding.

Sir John said Britain had not extended any commitment on the Continent beyond Locarno and emphasized there is no secret understanding of any sort with France or any other country

She recommended entrance of Russia into the League of Nations as quickly as possible so that the Soviet could participate in various peace moves.

Sir John said the British Government is urging various Powers in the Eastern pact area to enter security arrangements proposed by France, particularly Germany and Poland.

He also revealed that Premier Mussolini approves the idea of an Eastern security pact, although Italy's participation is not necessary.

Royal Commission Already Started To Conduct Probe

PROBE WILL EXTEND TO ALL TRANSACTIONS IN SECURITIES OF ONTARIO CORPORATION.

Arthur Slaght, K.C., Is Counsel For The Royal Commission and J. C. McRuer, K.C., Is Acting For The Hydro Commission Of Ontario.

TORONTO, July 13 (C.P.)—Independently of the Federal Royal Commission already named a commission appointed by the Ontario Government to-day began an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the acquisition of the Abitibi Power properties in Northern Ontario by the Ontario Government a year and a half ago. The commission is composed of Chief Justice F. R. Latchford of the Second Divisional Court of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario and Hon. Robert Smith, retired Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Possibly a new speed record for getting an inquiry under way was set by the Ontario Government to-day. The two judges were called to the offices of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission this morning, received their instruction and held their first session at noon. The reading of the terms of reference and the submission of the minute book of the Hydro Commission as an exhibit was the business of the first sitting and the probe then adjourned until Tuesday afternoon.

Bulked Large During Election

The "Abitibi deal" as it was called bulked large during the recent Ontario election campaign and the charges levelled by Premier Mitchell Hepburn and his associates led Rt. Hon. ORANGE ORDER IS URGED TO PLACE PRINCIPLE FIRST Orangemen Have Too Long Been Betrayed by Politicians, Speaker Declares.

PORT HOPE ADDRESSES

Political Party Considered Orange Order Kind of Caboose.

PORT HOPE, July 13.—(By Staff Reporter).—In clear, ringing tones, Rev. K. W. Palmer, of Port Hope, past grand chaplain of Ontario West, addressing a huge throng of Orangemen here yesterday afternoon from the bandstand in Town Hall Park, urged his hearers to never again place their trust in any one political party.

"Put principle above party every time and all the time," he exhorted. "The Orange Order has been betrayed too often by politicians who on Twelfth of July celebrations stand on such a platform and make promises. But their promises evaporate and their courage fails them when political whip is cracked at Ottawa or Toronto.

"I know a well-known politician in Ontario, and you know him, too, who tried to ride two horses on the Separate School question. He attempted to ride the Protestant white horse and the Papist horse. One threw him off and the other kicked him in the face.

"Too long has a certain political party considered the Orange Order a kind of caboose. That party fondly believed they could do anything and we would trail along."

Given Large Applause.

The stirring address of Rev. Mr. Palmer resounded through the park. His outspoken words drew a huge audience, who repeatedly applauded him enthusiastically. The dynamic force and energy of his speech was easily one of the outstanding highlights of the program which followed the huge parade through the town's streets.

In his opening remarks, he traced the great history and traditions of the Orange Order. "We are sprung from a people who are forever free,"

Three British Furies Are Seen Over City

Late risers in Peterborough were awakened by the deep-throated roar of three Hawker Furies as the Royal Air Force of Great Britain paid its respects to this city at 8.30 his morning. A section of No. 1 Squadron which is on tour through Ontario and Quebec, the machines were bound from Camp Borden to Trenton.

Circling at high speed, the visitors thrilled spectators with a perfectly executed inside loop in formation. The V-formation was maintained with an amazing semblance of rigidity. In all, the visit lasted only a couple of minutes, and with a final power dive by way of a farewell gesture the machines continued along their course to Trenton.

Chemists in Europe will spend $50,000 in an attempt to find a cure for colds.

15 LODGES HOLD ANNUAL PARADE IN HASTINGS

Lodges From Peterborough East and Northumberland Make Fine Showing.

VETERANS IN PARADE.

School Question Main Topic in Many of the Addresses.

HASTINGS, July 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—After a lapse of five years, Orangemen celebrated the 244th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne here yesterday.

The advent of the motor cars has removed the old custom of early arrivals of lodges. The first sound of the Orange fife and the Ulster drum was heard on the village streets at 10.30 a.m., when the local lodge, headed by Wor. Master W. H. McMillen, on his horse, moved off from their lodge rooms on Front Street West to welcome the visiting lodges.

The streets of the village presented a gala appearance with streamers of flags and bunting, as well as the large welcome signs stretched across the streets.

Ther were representatives of the two counties of Northumberland and Peterborough in the fifteen lodges in the parade.

With Grand Marshal W. H. McMillen at the head, the parade, which was over a thousand strong, moved off from the lodge rooms at 1.30, and took the traditional route to Fowld's Grove, which was up New Street to Albert, to Victoria, to Front, to Bridge, to Bay, to Clyde, to Water, to the Grove.

The lodges marched in the following order: Roseneath L.O.L. 261, sporting a large invitation to Roseneath on July 12th, 1935; Campbellford lodge, Belmont No. 277, with Wor. Master Robert Gordon on horse; Ladies' L.O.B.A. of Warsaw and L.O.L. 264 of Warsaw, L.O.B.A. No. 471 of Havelock was very strong, and headed by a snappy fife and drum band; Havelock Kiltie Band led L.O.L. 326 of Havelock; L.O.L. 1336 of Stanwood, Enniskillen 532, Blairton L.O.L. 1255, led by Wor. Master R. McFaul on his grey charger; Hastings lodges were at the rear of the big Orange procession. The local L.O.B.A. made a very snappy appearance, all dressed in white with red umbrellas. There was a large number of members of lodges in the district present that did not have a banner or a band.

Oldest Orangeman.

Riding in a special car chartered for their own use were the three oldest Orangemen of the day, the honor of being the oldest in parade at Hastings, and maybe for Ontario, goes to Freeman Hart, a member of Castleton 526, but living in Havelock now, and present with Havelock L.O.L. 326. Mr. Hart, who is 96 years old, joined the Order in Castleton when 18 years old, and hasn't missed a walk in 78 years. The Havelock veteran, Isaac Barlow, who is eighty-six, and an honored member of the Orange Order and the Black Chapter of British North America, was attending his 68th walk in Hastings yesterday. Speaking to The Examiner, this veteran

MAINTENANCE OF MONARCHY IS MOST PROFITABLE FOR ENGLAND

More Than $3,000,000 Shown on Credit Side of Ledger Annually.

LAND WORTH MILLIONS

(By Central Press Canadian.)

LONDON, July 13—Maintenance of the monarchy of Great Britain costs the English taxpayer exactly nothing.

On the contrary, the monarchy is one of the nation's best financial assets as it yields a profit of approximately $3,000,000 a year.

To Canadians, and also millions of Englishmen, the fact that the royal family is a source of income is a surprise, the reason being that all royal lands and hereditary revenues from which King George and his family derive their income has been vested in pariament.

The first steps in the revolution of the British monarchial system were taken by William III. Up to his reign the sovereign had control of all incomes arising from the royal lands, ordinary excise, and hereditary revenues, a system which had existed since William the Conqueror.

William III not only controlled but maintained out of his revenues the royal house and the civil and armed forces.

William divorced the forces of the crown from the authority of the monarch and vested it in parliament, at the same time giving up part of the royal revenues for their maintenance.

When George III came to the throne in 1801 he surrendered all the remaining crown lands to the nation in return for the fixed civil list, and they are now controlled by the commissioners of woods, forest and land revenues, under the supervision of the treasury.

The death of a monarch is technically known as "the demise of the crown," and the civil list is revived and fixed at the beginning of each reign.

Land now worth Ten Millions.

When George III. surrendered the Crown lands and revenues the income was $445,000. Since then the value of crown property has become greatly enhanced and in 1930 the income was $2,250,000.

For the fiancial year which ended in March it had risen to nearly $10,000,000. After deducting expenses the net sum of $6,150,000 was paid to the exchequer.

Upon the accession of King George the civil list for his maintenance was fixed by parliament at $2,350,000 for all his household and other expenses.

The allowance of the other members of the family amount to $530,000, making the total "cost" of the royal family $2,880(000.

The grant of their Majesties is made up as follows:

Their Majesties' privy purse	$550,000
Salaries of household	630,000
Expenses of household	965,000
Works	100,000
Royal bounty	65,000
Unappropriated	40,000
	$2,350,000

As a business proposition it works out:

Income to the nation from land, etc., surrendered by the royal family	$6,150,000
Grant to the royal family by civil list	$ 2,880,000
Profit to nation	$3,270,000

Work May Be Started Upon Cordova Mines

Numerous rumors have been in circulation in regard to Cordova Mines, but it has been impossible to verify them. One report heard frequently is that a number of carpenters are to start work about the 15th of this month repairing buildings on the property, and also on some new construction work which will be necessary before mining operations can commence. In the meantime drilling operations are continuing on the properties east of Marmora and it is reported that a number of new ore veins have been located.—Marmora Herald.

mined to stop work on the Hydro building until the whole matter of the continuance or permanent abandonment of the building enterprise may be fully considered."

No further explanation was made in regard to the "state of the commission's finances."

Mr. Lyon, meanwhile, tendered her resignation as member of the Toronto Globe directorate to "avoid any entangling obligations that would be hurtful to the different interests."

Initial Session

Announcement of the Hydro dismissals was made after the new chairman conferred with Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General, and Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways and Public Works.

Prior to that the cabinet met in council and proclaimed the amendments to the Liquor Control Act, providing for freer distribution of wine and beer. The order-in-council making the amended bill law was signed by the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. H. A. Bruce, a few hours after its passing by council.

Full Speed Ahead

It was only a matter of conjecture when provisions of the bill would be brought into operation, but orders from the Government to the one-man Liquor Commission are "full speed ahead."

One of the matters to be settled by the Commission, E. C. Odette, is advertising of liquor in Ontario newspapers and periodicals. The Premier last night expressed opposition to the policy and said he wanted "to be fair to the temperance people of this province. To me it seems an anomly to try to teach temperance, upon which we all are agreed, and at the same time allow liquor advertising. I say this in fairness to the liquor interests as well. If liquor advertising were allowed and drinking privileges abused, there would be a growing demand for prohibition on all sides." Mr. Odette had previously expresesd a personal opinion in favor of liquor advertising.

The Premier also said his promised investigation into the liquor toll-gate system alleged to have exsted during the regime of the Henry Conservative administration, would be made as soon as possible. Details of the enquiry have yet to be completed, said the Premier, and no date has yet been set.

One Thousand Six Hundred and Forty-two Years of Service

Thursday evening, June 28th, was a red-letter day for The United Church Publishing House. That evening all employees of the Publishing House who had been either with the former Methodist Book Room or the Presbyterian Publications for the period of twenty-five years or more, enjoyed a banquet and a Quarter-Century Club was formally constituted, with officers appointed and plans for the future of the club discussed.

Out of three hundred and forty employees of the House, forty-six have served for a period of twenty-five years or over. One man has been in the employ of the firm for fifty-seven years, while the average length of service of those belonging to the newly-formed organization is thirty-six years. The length of service given to the Publishing House by the forty-six club members is one thousand six hundred and forty-two years.

The former Methodist Book Room began operations in 1829 in a little building on "March Street which was immediately north of the courthouse." Throughout the whole period of over a century it has been the policy of the business to retain the services of old servants to an exceptional degree. It is questionable whether any other commercial concern in Canada has as large a percentage of loyal employees as The United Church Publishing House, or a finer record of cordial relations existing between employers and employed.

Announcement was made at the banquet that the members of the Quarter-Century Club are to have an extra week's holiday each year with pay in addition to a number of other membership privileges. The Rev. D. M. Solandt, D.D., Book Steward, in a speech at the banquet, said, "It was the aim of the Publishing House to be genuinely interested in all employees, not from financial reasons alone, but with a relationship that was warm, cordial and personal."

NO SET ALLIANCE WITH ANY POWER SIMON STATES

"This," the Italian message added, "is particularly the case when such proposals offer a further possibility in the field of reduction of armaments on a basis of recognition of equal rights."

Enough Commitments

While Britain gave her blessing to the Eastern Locarno, Sir John was emphatic in his statement that the United Kingdom could not accept any new Continental European commitments. He emphasized his words with a resounding thump on a brass-bound box in front of him.

"Whatever may be the interest or encouragement which this country may be prepared to give this pact," he declared, "we are not undertaking any new commitments."

The Secretary made it clear Britain would welcome Russia to the League of Nations on the ground that if the Soviet became a party to the Eastern Locarno it was essential she join the league. "That," said Sir John, "is the view taken by the French Government. It is the view taken, I believe, by the Russian Government, and I made it plain to M. Barthou that it is the view taken by the British Government.

"We are prepared formally to welcome Russian to the League," he said. "We are satisfied it would be a contribution to the peace of the world."

Mutual Assistance

Sir John said the eastern Locarno was a proposed pact of mutual assistance based on the model of the existing western Locarno and embracing the Baltic countries, Russia, Poland, Czecho-slovakia and Germany.

The essential feature of the pact, he explained, was, like that of the existing Locarno agreement, its guarantee of mutual and reciprocal assistance in the event of attack.

"It is the mutual character of the original agreement signed at Locarno," he said, "which constitutes its essential feature and has made it so valuable a guarantee of organized security as a whole, and we cannot but think that an extension of that system, so long as it is mutual in expression and reciprocal in intention should make for strengthening of the foundations of peace and restoration of confidence in Europe.

"His Majesty's government has decided that the eastern pact of mutual assistance and guarantees based on constructive principles of reciprocity and conceived with a genuine purpose of strengthening and advancing the peace of Europe by creating a fresh basis of reciprocal guarantees well deserves the suport of the British government and the British people."

Touches Disarmament

The secretary did not permit the occasion to pass without a reference to the disarmament situation.

"We must not allow this occasion to pass without endeavoring o take full advantage of it for the purpose of promoting the objects for which the Disarmament Conference was called," he said. "It am happy to say that as a result of conversations which have taken place between His Majesty's government in holding that view and they have authorized me to make that communication as being a communication of their view to the German government."

Near the end of his speech he said the Eastern Locarno was little more than a suggestion at its present stage and that much remained to be done before it would emerge in the form of a solid pact.

PRISONERS ESCAPE

Eggs-asperating!

SMITHVILLE, Ont., July 13 (C.P.)—Here is a startling starling story. A female starling laid four eggs in the mail box of J. Eggleton of this village. Eggleton destroyed them. The bird then laid five eggs in the same place. Egged on by this, Eggleton destroyed them. Again the bird laid four eggs, and again they were destroyed. The persevering starling promptly laid five more eggs. Eggleton destroyed these also, and the ill-starred starling desisted.

HAIL, LIGHTNING CREATE HEAVY LOSS IN ONTARIO

Barns Are Burned, Crops Beaten Down, Windows Shattered.

POWER CUT OFF.

Much Stock Killed, Farmer Near Campbellford Losing 5 Cows.

Farmers to-day surveyed beaten crops, dead livestock and damaged buildings, the work of lightning, hail and rain in yesterday's sharp summer storm.

Sweeping down from the West in the wake of a high wind, hailstones pelted the Melbourne district of Western Ontario, played havoc with crops, punctured motor car tops, shattered windows, killed large numbers of unsheltered poultry.

Many farmers were optimistic, however, claiming the crop growth is still too green to be damaged completely.

At Strathroy a barn and its contents were destroyed by lightning. Three calves, at least one horse and about 75 hens were lost.

Ten sheep were killed near Dundalk when lightning blazed at the tree under which they had sought shelter. Many other animals were killed and a couple of farm buildings demolished.

Near Hamburg buildings were destroyed, Hydro service interrupted and machinery damaged in the plant of the Dominion Hockey Stick Company.

Only one district of Eastern Ontario reported loss. Near Campbellford five valuable dairy cattle and a half dozen sheep were killed by lightning. A cow was blinded in one eye and had its side badly burned. Another herd narrowly escaped death.

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, July 13 (C.P.) — Overloaded with the previous week's 1,700 head holdover, the cattle division of the Toronto Livestock Market closed out this week's trading with 700 unsold. Trading for the week, with the exception of Wednesday afternoon and Thursday, was steady, with prices holding steady to slightly stronger on most grades.

Hogs led the way with price advances, gaining 10 cents on Monday and 15 cents on Tuesday. They held the gains throughout the week and closed with indications of a strong opening on Monday.

Calves opened with a 50-cent advance, but trading turned draggy by Tuesday afternoon and the resultant levels wiped out the gain. Lambs also weakened towards the close, with most sales on the closing day 25 cents lower than the week's opening.

Good to choice weighty steers ranged from $5 to $5.75 with one lot of primes, averaging 1,500 pounds, going to a top of $6.15. Plain heavies moved downward to $2.75 though numerous sales were made between $3.50 and $4.25. Good to choice butchers ranged from $4.75 to $5, with odd sales of dry feds up to $5.50. Good butcher heifers sold mostly at $4.50 to $4.65 with a few at $4.75.

The bulk of the butchers, both steers and heifers, brought $3.75 to $4.50, while common butchers changed hands from $2 to $3. Good butcher cows went at $3 for the majority and at $3.25 on some choice. Indications farmers were liquidating their daily supplies were seen in the seasonably heavy supply of canners and cutters, which sold at $1 to $1.50.

Bulls ranged from $2.35 to $2.50 for bolognas to $3 for the best. Heavy bolognas went at $2.75. Fed calves were strong at $6.50 for some primes, at $5.50 to $6 for good, and at $4.50 for common. A few stocker and feeder steers brought $2 to $2.50 for plain, with breedy 800-pound steers going at $3 to $3.50. Milker and Springer trade was very dull with nominal quotations at $20 to $35.

Hogs, under a four-day run of 3,648 head, gained 10 cents on Monday, 15 cents on Tuesday to close firm at $8.65 f.o.m. for bacons, $9 off truck and $9.40 off car. Selects brought the usual $1 premium, while the sow-discount held at $3.

The Calf run of little more than 2,600 head was 500 head heavier than the previous week. The division failed to hold an early 50-cent gain and closed unchanged and draggy at $4.50 to $5 for good vealers, with common down to $3. The few grassers offered went at $3.50.

Lambs sold fairly active, but the close was weaker and down 25 cents at $8.25 for good ewes and wethers. Bucks brought $6.50 and culls $5 to $5.50. Sheep ranged from $1 for culls to $2.50 for good butchers. Some good yearlings made $5.

15 LODGES HOLD ANNUAL PARADE IN HASTINGS

member of the Orange Order said he was looking ahead to attending the convention of the Black Chapter in Halifax two weeks hence. The junior member of this trio was M. Little of Belmont, who was attending his 66th walk. Another prominent Orangeman celebrating an anniversary on the 12th was Councillor A. M. Brooks of Hastings, who joined the Order 50 years ago yesterday, and hasn't missed a walk.

In spite of the heavy rain in the morning and the threatening look of the sky, there was over four thousand present in the Grove when the speaking started.

County Master Robert Leiper acted as chairman in a very efficient manner.

On behalf of the municipal council and the citizens of Hastings Reeve G. B. Stevenson delivered the address of welcome.

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., of Havelock, was the first speaker. He sounded the trumpet for the re-awakening of the Orange Order against the onslaughts of the Roman Catholic heirarchy.

An echo from the provincial election and the school tax issue was heard in Mr. Lancaster's speech. The Catholics had voted solidly for principle in regards to sharing the portion of the corporation taxes they have been after.

Mr. J. R. Corkery who was an official of he Conservative party in Peterborough was forced to resign because he found the principle of the school tax issue would not alloy him to stand. Fortunately for the Conservatives he gave his reasons plenty of pub'icity and i- caused many Protestants and Liberals to vote for the government.

Mr. Lancaster paid great tribute to the Toronto Evening Telegram as being the only big daily in the Province of Ontario brave enough to give the Quinn letter the publicity it needed. The speaker read a number of editorials from the Telegram in regard to the school question.

In closing his short address he implored the Orangemen to send in their resolution to protest against any move the Hepburn government might make towards giving any corporation taxes to the Separate Schools, because if they did Public School supporters would have to pay more taxes.

Rev. F. W. Newell of Trinity United Church was the next speaker. He was very proud of the Orange Order and for the great work they are doing in promoting the bond of fellowship with the Old Country, where freedom exists. The order is also doing a lot along social lines in the Orphanage at Richmond Hill, which helps to promote Protestantism.

Mrs. J. A. Rinnard of Havelock was the only lady speaker of the day. In opening her address the speaker said she saw a lot of long faces in the big crowd because they voted for Liberalism and have realized their mistake. There never was a time under heaven that Orangeism should be talked more than at present. We are in the balance now but we hope not for long. People will believe lies far quicker than the truth. No greater an example of this could be shown than in the past provincial election, when men walked blindly against freedom.

There is a falling away from Orangeism, should be many more people present here to-day, and would be with a little education in Orangeism that stands for freedom and the Bible. You people will get the banner of ruin over if you don't watch yourself, warned the speaker. People are running away from church because they don't read the Book of God.

You listened to every kind of talk the last two months; they were going to put steam pipes in the graveyards to keep your friends warm; farmers were going to get power at once. Now, watch their step.

Turning her attention to the ladies the speaker implored all women within reach of her voice to join the Order. She also referred to the great work done at the Orphanage at Richmond Hill.

Rev. A. C. Reeves of Norwood in opening his address said the "Grits" were all happy because they won an election. Thousands voted against their government for various reasons.

Rork Ferguson, Reeve of Asphodel and Warden of Peterborough county, only hoped that the farmers would obtain enough vigour today to take in double the amount of hay to-morrow.

Rev. S. H. Hill, Rev. H. F. Battersby, Dr. J. H. Hess, Dr. W. E. Wilson and Walter M. Fowlds were called on but were not present.

J. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., of Havelock, was highly pleased to see such a large number present to rejoice on the 244th anniversary of the freedom William of Orange fought for and won.

Look out all over the world today and see conditions in Europe with governments changing so frequently, and the last stage is always the worst. Under conditions that exist to-day your freedom and mine is not as safe as it was twenty-five years ago. That liberty that we prided ourselves in is gone.

The war brought on a condition in the world that taught people leasure and luxury. If there is anything under Heaven to put the world right it is the Orange Order.

He would be proud, and so would the Orangemen be, to see Separate schools done away with and children of every creed brought up and educated together.

Through the centuries Orangeism has fought for freedom and justice to all.

Premier Henry had submitted the school question to the Privy Council. Thousands of Catholics would gladly send their children to public schools, but the higher ups said they had no faith in the Privy Council because they knew the law.

The Orange Order must send men to Toronto to inform Hepburn that the Orangemen of Ontario will not stand for a change in the constitution re Separate schools.

The "Glorious Twelfth" was brought to a close with a huge crowd present at the dance in Lynch's Hall, over four hundred tripped the light fantastic to Messrs. N. Sriver. Art and Don Beamish. Fife's orchestra of Otonabee were to have played but on acount of a death in the family they were unable to be present.

LONDON PRAISES CANUCK PIANIST

Critics Complimentary on Playing of Miss Mary Munn of Montreal.

LONDON, July 13 (C.P.).—Without exception the London musical critics have been highly complimentary to Miss Mary Munn, the Montreal pianist, in their remarks upon her recent recital here.

"Despite the severe handicap of defective sight, Miss Munn gave a remarkably good account of herself," says the Morning Post. "Bach's Partita in B flat was played with admirable fluency. The program included works by Brahms, Chopin and Ravel, as well as Beethoven's Sonata in C major, Opus. 53 (the Waldstein). In this last-named work Miss Munn showed that she is an earnest student as well as a capable player."

"Listening to Mary Munn one could appreciate once again the sympathy with which this admirable player adapts herself to the character of the music she undertakes," says the Daily Telegraph. "The impression conveyed is that of a performance nicely adjusted down to the smallest detail, yet invariably possessing that subtle suggestion of refinement which counts for so much in familiar music.

"One could not wish for a finer sense of the true essence of Bach's Partita in B flat, for Miss Munn so clearly enjoyed its graceful patterns that they acquired a new appeal," the paper adds.

KITCHEN SINKS.

WICHITA, Kas., July 12 (C.P.).—Farm women in this vicinity are competing with college youths for worn-out motor cars.

MONTREAL MELON HOLDS POPULARITY

Gardener, Irked at Critics, Started "Hybrid Squash" to Fame.

MONTREAL, July 13.—(CP)—Piqued at seeing his beloved Montreal green nutmeg lemon described as a hybrid squash, Robert Brodie, market gardener, 40 years ago sent his best specimen to a New York newspaper editor. It weighed 25 pounds.

The editor wrote it up in a sensational way and since that time the City of New York has bought melons from Montreal in large quantities. Some of these have been listed on hotel and restaurant menus as high as $1.25 per slice.

The exact origin of the Montreal melon is now known, but it dates back to the first English settlers. It is supposed that they crossed melons brought from England with those grown by the Indians. The farmers in the districts surrounding Montreal are carrying on the melon tradition.

Incidentally, experts state that these melons, famous for their size, quality and flavor, will be late maturing this year. They are not likely to be on the market in any quantity until the second or third week in August.

FLOWERS BECKON NEW YORK LASSIE

Runs Away to See Horses and Cows But Returns "Disgraced."

NEW YORK, July 13.—(CP)—Ethel Kellerman, 12, ran away from home with $5.50 for travelling expenses because she doesn't like the city or its folk. "I'd like to get out in the country where I could see the fields and the flowers and enjoy being with the horses and cows and the chickens," she says.

The runaway was cut short when Ethel wired home from Newark "All's well," and the police caught up with her. Ethel says she realizes now running away is an awful disgrace—terrible for the family."

Obituary

MRS. JAMES SISSON.

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Death has claimed another well-known and highly-respected resident in the person of Mildred Thexton, beloved wife of James Sisson, who parted this life on Sunday afternoon, July 1, at her home at Ida at the age of sixty-one years.

The late Mrs. Sisson was a silent suffered through a lengthy illness until her reserve strength gave way and death finally relieved her of her sufferings.

Mrs. Sisson was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Ida, where she was a regular worshipper until her illness, and practically all of her life has been spent in the vicinity of Mount Peasant where she had a wide circle of friends.

The funeral took place from her late home on Tuesday afternoon, July 3, and was largely attended by many friends and neighbors, who were eager to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased.

After a short service at the house, the funeral cortege proceeded to St. John's Church, where a most impressive service was held, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. William Simpson, who paid a glowing tribute to the patient suffering of the deceased. The service was impressive, and by its very simplicity brought home to the large crowd the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death. We mourn not those without hope, but in the sure and certain hope of a life in the world to come where sin and death are unknown, and where they who gain that shore have won their immortality and they can die no more, where "there is no night in heaven."

The pallbearers were Messrs. Herbert Fallis, Norman Brand, Robert Henderson, Joseph Shield, Hiriam Best and Austin E. Best.

The late Mrs. Sisson is survived by her husband, one daughter, Kathleen, at home, and one son, Harry, of Mount Pleasant, and one grandson, Kenneth; also a sister, Mrs. William Batten, of Peterborough.

MRS. ANNIE BARTLETT

CAMPBELLFORD, July 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—Attended by a host of friends and relatives, the funeral of Mrs. Annie Bartlett, whose death occurred in Toronto on Monday, took place on Thursday, from Bennett's Funeral Parlor, Front street. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Tucker of Toronto and Mrs. Ray Lane of High River, Alberta; her only son, William, having died some years ago. Rev. Harold B. Neal, of St. John's United Church, conducted the services. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

MRS. PETER BERGERON.

TWEED, July 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — A highly respected and well-known figure in this community, Mrs. Peter Bergeron passed away on Saturday, July 7 at her late home, and that of her son Joseph, north of the village of Tweed.

Born on March 11, 1854, of United Empire Loyalist descent, she was 80 years of age. Her husband predeceased her eleven years ago. The late Mrs. Bergeron had been in failing health for some time, her ailment was aggravated by a broken leg and her condition gradually grew worse. Left to mourn her loss are one son Joseph and a foster-daughter, Mrs. David La Tendre.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Tuesday morning to St. Carthagh's Church where Very Rev. Dean J. P. O'Riordan sang Requiem High Mass. Rev. Fathers Le Sage and Quinn assisted in the sanctuary.

The pall-bearers were: John D. Courneyea, Dennis Hotts, John J. Courneyer, Thomas Rath, James Trudeau and Peter Rashotte.

The remains were interred in St. Carthagh's Cemetery, the same clergy officiating.

MRS. ROBERT YOUNG

TWEED, July 13 (Examiner Correspondeice). — A life-long resident of Sulphide, Mrs. Robert Young died suddenly on Wednesday night. Her death came as a shock to her many friends, as previously she had been in excellent health. The late Mrs. Young was particularly well known in this district. Her husband died two years ago. She is survived by three sons, Millard, Purdy and William Young.

It's so convenient to keep a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a healthful ingredient in your cooking. For muffins, breads, waffles, etc.

ALL-BRAN brings your family the "bulk" that is so helpful in correcting common constipation.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. How much better than risking patent medicines!

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. This "bulk" is similar to that in leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable than ordinary raw bran.

And because it is all bran—with only flavoring added—it brings you more "bulk" than part-bran products.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

IT'S LIVER THAT MAKES YOU FEEL SO WRETCHED

Wake Up Your Liver Bile and Get A New Lease of Life. No Calomel Is Necessary.

For you to feel healthy and happy, your liver must pour two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels, every day of your life

Without that bile, trouble starts promptly. Your food just won't digest the way it should and your bowels are sluggish. Food decays inside you and your entire system is undermined by this poisonous waste matter. You have indigestion—the discomfort of gas, bloating, heartburn and sourness. You are prey to headaches. Have a tongue like cotton-wool, a nasty taste in your mouth, bad breath and ugly skin. You haven't anything like the pep a healthy person should have. In fact you are generally wretched.

How can you expect to clear up a condition like this completely by taking mere bowel-movers like salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage? They can't wake up your liver bile!

Avoid calomel (mercury). Buy yourself a box of old reliable Carter's Little Liver Pills. All vegetable, sure, gentle, safe. They'll wake up your liver without upsetting you. Bring back the glad-to-be-alive feeling, once more.

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name and get them. Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c at all druggists.

A FINE SPECIAL NUMBER.

The smaller newspapers of Ontario have in recent years given proof of their enterprise and ability by turning out some remarkably fine special editions, reflecting the greatest credit upon the editorial and mechanical staffs who planned and executed these splendid issues.

The latest to come to hand is a centennial souvenir edition of the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, published by C. J. McTavish.

This number, which contains 84 pages, would do credit to the plant of a much larger newspaper than the Standard-Freeholder, for it is splendidly printed and the subject matter is well arranged, and has undoubtedly been very carefully prepared, for it includes a mass of historic information in regard to Cornwall that has involved a great deal of painstaking research work on the part of the staff.

The Examiner has had experience enough with special editions to know the amount of labor that is essential to digging up the data necessary for such an issue, and therefore is in a position to extend warm congratulations to the publisher of the Standard-Freeholder and his capable staff for a very fine newspaper job.

The people of Cornwall are fortunate in having such a paper in their home town, and doubtless they appreciate that fact.

ASK FOR HUNGER MARCH STRIKES.

The Examiner has received a copy of a circular letter from the provincial headquarters of the "Ontario Hunger March and Congress against Unemployment," giving elaborate details of the demonstration that is being arranged for the end of this month.

One notable feature is a demand for funds.

"Mass action is needed," says the letter, "and to organize provincial-wide mass action much money is needed."

From the tone of the appeal the people to whom the circular is addressed have not been falling over themselves to send contributions in to headquarters.

Another item—and from a general viewpoint this is much more important—is the recommendation that two one-day strikes shall be called in support of the hunger march, one in the Niagara district on July 22, the day the parade from that part of the province sets out for Toronto, and the second on July 30, when the marchers are supposed to enter that city.

Every person on relief work is urged to stage a hunger march holiday in support of the demonstration and to demand improvements in relief jobs.

In other words, the whole affair is being planned to create as much trouble and disturbance in all parts of the province as the central committee can possibly stir up, followed by the presentation of impossible demands to the Ontario Government.

The demonstration has been very elaborately planned, but it is safe to predict that the execution will not live up to the quality of the staff work.

THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA.

Somebody once said that when communities started sending deputations to Governments objecting to the expenditure of public funds instead of seeking Government assistance for this, that or the other thing, there would be a real chance for economy in public affairs.

We are reminded of that statement by an article in the Barrie Examiner, taking the unprecedented course of protesting against a proposed Government public works expenditure in that town.

It reads as follows:

"Announcement was made last week that J. T. Simpson, M.P., had succeeded in having an appropriation of $16,000 for Bayfield street wharf placed in the Federal Government's unemployment relief program. We have no desire to belittle the efforts of Mr. Simpson to secure a vote of this kind for his constituency, but it does seem a mistake to make such a large expenditure, considering the present financial condition of the Dominion, upon a wharf that is so little used. We have had no opportunity to see the specifications, but we feel that ample accommodation to meet the requirements could be provided for a considerably smaller sum."

It must be admitted that this is something new in journalism.

The home newspaper is accustomed to look upon a Government grant as so much "gravy," and any complaint that may be voiced usually takes the form of protesting that the vote is too small for the purpose.

The Barrie Examiner, however, in declaring that the grant in this case is larger than necessary and that a much smaller sum would have covered the cost of the necessary work, has certainly struck a novel and refreshing note.

ON THE RIGHT PATH.

In his first days in office Premier Hepburn has been losing no time in liquidating some of the promises of economy that he made during the recent campaign.

By installing a one-man Liquor Control Board in the person of Edmond G. Odette he has done away with the services of a $12,000 a year commissioner and also with those of a general manager whose salary was a heavy item. Similarly, by having only one paid Hydro commissioner, a substantial saving has been effected in that department, and the Premier has set his Cabinet Ministers a good example by deciding to dispense with officials of his own department whose combined salaries ran in the neighborhood of $17,000 a year.

This is an excellent start and strictly in line with Mr. Hepburn's pre-election pledges and in accord with public opinion throughout the province.

The new Premier is to be congratulated upon this speedy move to implement his promises, and if he continues in this course he will have Ontario solidly behind him.

The real danger, of course, will come later on when the new broom has become an old one, when it is easier to see the need of a large staff and to listen to those who have friends they would like to place upon the public payroll.

If the Premier and his associates can resist the kind of pressure that will be exerted by those who think that a change in Government should be followed by a vigorous shaking of the plumtree, they will entrench themselves firmly in public popularity.

At any rate they have started on the right path.

CAPITULATE TO CROONERS.

"Webster" has capitulated. Possibly there isn't a Mr. Webster in the dictionary business, but those who use his name to-day have cringed to the crooners. You all know—from painful experience—what a crooner is. The original Mr. Webster didn't, so he didn't put the word crooner in his book. His heirs and successors probably do, but when they brought out a revised edition of the lexicon the other day they left out "crooner" among the new words. Perhaps they thought it would make the crooners so mad they would stop crooning. It did make the crooners mad, but their madness was the other way around.

They gave interviews, they wrote letters to the papers, and then they called an indignation meeting in the form of a lunch at which they could unitedly croon their feelings to each other. But just then Webster gave in. He announced that "crooner" would be included in the supplementary list.

But Webster has not said what his definition will be. Perhaps he is wise. Because if it is anything like his definition of "croon," the crooners won't like it. "Croon," says the big Webster in our office, is "to make a continuous hollow sound, like cattle in pain." And again "to lament or wail with low, monotonous sounds."

That's just what we thought. We hope Webster defines a crooner as "an overpaid radio singer, who is neither soprano, contralto, baritone or tenor, who has no singing voice at all, but makes a continuous hollow sound like a cow in pain."

If he does that, we'll be satisfied.

But won't the crooners wish they hadn't spoken?

—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

NOTHING IN THE PAPER?

There is always something strange in the day's news, word pictures of what people of whom we never heard before are doing in the course of the day's work or the day's pleasure. To illustrate the claim, consider these, and they all came in on the wire within a few minutes:

HE HID HIS CASH: Mike Casparis runs a grocery store in Toledo, and it is said he has a smart little place and does a fair business. But Mike is cautious and afraid of robbers. Last night when he was ready to lock up the store he had $200 in bills and a cheque for $7. The grocer had found the interior of the coffee grinder a good place to store the cash, so there went the $207. Early customer in the morning stopped in and asked for a pound of coffee fresh ground. The clerk obliged, secured the beans, put them in the grinder and away went the $207 along with the coffee. Mike arrived later, and as there are strict rules regarding what language can be placed on the wire no record of his comment is given.

RECOVERING: On several occasions there have been reports about George Hampton of Lancaster, Pa. Three weeks ago he was in a fight and had a stab in his heart. People said George would die. The surgeon at the hospital said it was not necessary. He did the preliminary excavating, lifted George's heart out and did a little needle work on the left auricle. Then he was put back to bed. To-day word comes that George has been able to get out of bed and is riding around in a wheel chair. Trouble is that all his friends come and want to look at him and talk to him. The doctor shakes his head and says George must be wheeled for a few days, after which he may allow him to walk a little. He is anxious to be certain that his repair job is going to stand up under normal conditions.

A VARIED CAREER: William Bingham of Slippery Rock, Pa., has been a mail courier for 33 years and now he is through, having worn out six horses and four automobiles in travelling over 300,000 miles, or twelve times around the world. William has kept a diary and says he has weighed 33 babies on scales which he always carried with him; he has carried notes and messages which resulted in five marriages on his route, and he has performed no end of small services. Stranger still, William on fifteen occasions has been called in and consulted about giving names to babies where parents could not agree. He says he always kept a list of good names on a back page of his diary, so in every case he was able to make a suggestion which was acceptable. So it seems the rural courier has been doing more than delivering and collecting letters and papers and parcels.

NOT A DULL MOMENT: In a holiday celebration in the country near Davenport, Iowa, two baseball teams were kept busy. In the first innings the game was called so the players could fight a grass fire which threatened to attack the grandstand which was filled with spectators. In the second innings another delay was caused when the umpire and a player started a free fight. In the fifth innings the game was held up while some player who understood first aid ministered to a woman who had been knocked out by a foul ball. During the seventh innings a harness horse which was being warmed up for the races which were to follow came scampering across the ball field, and, of course, that had to be attended to. In the eighth inning the grass fire broke out again, and in the last half of the ninth the game was called on account of a thunder-storm.

Yes, there is something interesting in news even if some jaded folk do say now and then "there's nothing much in the paper to-day."—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The surest sign that a new Government is in power is the sound of political heads dropping into the basket.

There are only four lawyers in the Hepburn Cabinet which, in the opinion of many people, gives it an advantage from the start.

Beer by the glass is not likely before two weeks, it is intimated—and there is no indication of a great deal of disappointment over the delay.

Although F. A. Gaby is to be dropped out of the Hydro organization, it should not be forgotten that this great electrical engineer has done splendid service in the development of the Hydro scheme.

It is evident that Mr. Hepburn is going to be a popular Premier from the newspaper men's viewpoint. He quite rightly believes that the people have a right to know how their business is being transacted.

MORE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Editor, Examiner.

Sir :

Conditions seem very peculiar to me; a new cabinet, with its 'chorus' find the most important necessary legislation "beer by the glass." There's something wrong, somewhere when with amount of unemployment, the tremendous relief bills, municipal, provincial and federal, the revelation of the Stevens' probe admittedly a federal item, but with vast provincial bearing, that the first consideration be given to the question of more beer. Looks to me like the commencement of an "all wet" government.

Yours truly,
G. HOWARD YOUNG.

THAT GOOD FELLOW
(When you Know Him)

You say this friend of yours is a fine fellow when you get to know him. You've known him for a long time and underneath that crusty exterior is a heart of gold that's tenderer than any child's.

Very well, I'm glad to hear it. And I believe it. Your friend is a decent, generous human being. One in a million. And a man is lucky to have such a friend.

But why does he hide himself away? Why does he grow such a tough hide on himself? Why pull in his head like a turtle when anyone comes close enough to touch him?

Is he shy? Is he afraid of people? Or is his retiring nature a form of curdled arrogance What's the idea of his taking so long getting acquainted with people and revealing that real, that sweet, self that his friends declare is there—and that IS there, because they have seen it?

Tell me that.

This is a small world and life is short and friends are few and a man can't have too many of them. Beneath their arrogance men are lonely, behind their gayest wisecracks is an appeal for understanding and friendship. . . . We don't live forever, and, for all we can know we may never have another chance at this life on earth. So why should a man be a turtle? Why should he make people wait so long to know him?

Tell me those things, too.

I think your friend is making a mistake. He's no slowly moving glacier. He is a human being, with a heart, with fears and joys, griefs and ecstasies, thoughts and hopes and all that the rest of us have. Slow but sure isn't everything. Swift may be wiser than take-your-time. Instinct more sure than careful analysis. . . . Here's a rough diamond, yes, but hardly any of us have time to stop and cut and polish and make that diamond shine. . . . We can't make all the overtures, he must make a few as well. Smile and shake our hands and pass the time of day and give us half a chance to see into his heart. And take a step or two in our direction, too.

He's a good fellow when you get to know him? Then why doesn't he LET us know him?

Ask him that.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

CLEVELAND

MORE effective than peace conferences and disarmament agitation is the discovery of death-dealing weapons. To war successfully, armies and navies are rapidly becoming forces of the past. Entirely new and more dreadful are the weapons already in reserve.

An electrical engineer and physician of Italian lineage whose home is in Cleveland, U.S., has invented a death ray. In instant action and sweep it surpasses anything ever conceived by the human mind. A fact is credible. It may be a wonder. But for a fact to be incredible, that is different. Friends of the inventor shook their heads. First, they did not believe a ray could be invented. Second, they did not credit the story that the effect was instant, and that it could sweep a city or an army with death so completely.

An Inventors' Congress recently met at Omaha, Nebraska, A. G. Burns, President. He made the announcement of the discovery. The ray is produced by a machine, contrived by Dr. Antonio Longoria. A. G. Burns told of a demonstration he had witnessed. Hundreds of rabbits, and dogs, and cats were assembled. The ray was turned on and they all tumbled over in an instant—dead. Not one of them even kicked.

The machine was not on exhibition. It is as safely hidden away as gold in a government vault. Nor has the inventor confided to a single person other than a government official theformula. The secret will not be sold to any person whatsoever. The ray turns blood instantly to water.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

IN BOTH the make-up and the organization of the League of Nations there are obvious defects. Not before these are remedied will the League function effectively.

The League of Nations is based on the absolute sovereignity of its members. This fact is the crux of the major part of its impossibles. Nationalism at the Conferences of the League of Nations is intense. If this is kept in mind, the difficulty of functioning will be apparent' Intense nationalism elsewhere other than at Geneva is evident. Preferential tariffs are full of mischief. On competitive world markets the weak are driven to the wall. Just as long as the selfish nationalistic spirit prevails, as it now does and has done, so long will world peace make but little progress at the hand of the League of Nations. Nationalism is the world war threat. One nation objecting can prevent any League of Nation constructive action. When the nations are unanimous the League can act. The Versailles Peace Treaty is the unalterable basis of all the arbitral decisions of the League. Herein the ease with which France obstructs every suggestion coming from Germany for equality in armaments. Again and again France has blocked any proposal looking in the direction of a general disarmament. As an objector France can by her vote and her voice prevent any constructive European Peace policy. By keeping strongly armed France can keep the whole world on a war footing. This state of affairs cannot last much longer. The Versailles Treaty must and will be changed. France will object with all her might. But the revision is due. It is on the way. European defaulting of debts is treaty breaking. It may be the forerunner of a radical change of the Versailles Treaty, and of the reconstruction of the composition and structure of the League of Nations.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY night, the 23rd of June was selected for the adjournment of the Seventy-third Congress of the United States. In the Senate a bitter controversy broke out, at twenty minutes past eleven o'clock. The sharp attacks on the administration programme by both Democrats and Republicans upset both Houses of Congress. Senator Joseph Robinson made a brief speech declaring that so bitter and personal animosities made impossible consideration of legislative business. He therefore moved a recess until the following Monday morning. The 23rd of June was the birthday of the Prince of Wales. For Congress to have adjourned on that date and to have sent felicitations to the Prince would have been a gracious gesture. From the Senate let us take a peep at the House of Representatives.

Over there one man was reigning as supreme as does Mussolini in Italy. That man was the Speaker of the House. Never had any other Speaker of the House of Representatives been as arbitrary as Congressman Rainey. He would not recognize a Republican who rose to speak. One Republican Congressman said to a Washington newspaper correspondent, "I have been here every second of the day trying to get a piece of legislation through and the outcome may mean the continuation or failure of the largest industry in my city—a New York state city of 60,000. The committee has approved the bill. The Senate has passed it. I cannot get recognition from the chair. In order to get it before the House I have placed it in the hands of a Democrat from New York City. He is a wet. He is of a faith opposed to my own. He stands for nearly everything that I do not stand for. But it is the extreme to which I am driven, if I am to get any consideration for the people of my district."

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

COATICOOK, QUEBEC.

There are three speculations on the origin of the name Coaticook. The first is that it was derived from the Indian tribe of Abenaquis, whose word for it was "Koakiteku," which means "river of the pine land." The second is that it is the French spelling of the Iroquois word "Khwaktakwak" which means "something crooked which straightens up," while the third is that it was derived from the Abenaquis word "Koattegok" which was the name given by these Indians to a lake which was held back by a natural dam at this point.

The city first came to be known officially as Coaticook in 1844, when the first post-office was built, and ancient local history inclines to the belief that the Abenaquis were largely responsible for choosing the name.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE FOUNDING OF FORT FRONTENAC.

On this date, in 1673, Iroquois watchers on the shores of Cataraqui Bay saw a spectacle which was to live in history. It was significant as the advent of the white man as a conqueror and a power on the great inland waters of the continent. Count Frontenac began his invasion of the West. A great flotilla of canoes, said to have been 120 in number, conveyed two brightly painted barges, above which floated the lilies of France, the symbol of sovereignty wherever they were set up in the new world. The Governor and his officers were clad in the brilliant vestments of the time, but none the less ready for action if need were' . . . Frontenac well knew (as Mr. W. S. Ellis, of Kingston, has written) the awesome effect of great and machine-like regularity of movement on those whose sole experience had been of individual action and of consequent disorder; he well knew the barbaric love of brilliant coloring and the savage delight in rhythmic noise and rhythmic motion; hence, the oncoming of the fleet in war array, regular in alignment, irresistible in its progress, with banners and uniforms and trumpet notes, all designed to impress the savage mind.

The section of river and the spot of landing forever lives to tell us, in the silence of remembrance, of the history, the romance and the final tragedy of New France. Such was the impressive, if ominous, preliminary to the building of Fort Frontenac and the founding of Kingston, a place that was for nearly two centuries to be one of the three strongest military posts in British America.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices, track shipping point: Wheat, 88c to 91c; oats, 38c to 40c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 68c to 72c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, July 13.— Potatoes declined in price on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday, while eggs held steady at their previous levels, and cheese was inclined to be easier.

On the butter market, fres No. 1 brought 19 cents a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers sold for 20 cents a pound for solids, and 21 cents for prints. Receipts were 1,000 boxes.

Cheese was quoted at 10¼ to 10½ cents a pound for Ontario colored against 10½ cents straight yesterday, while Quebec cheese sold for 9⅝ to 9¾ cents a pound, in comparison with 9¾ cents straight yesterday. Arrivals totalled 3,465 boxes.

The egg market was steady, graded shipments in carlots or less of Ontario eggs being 20 cents a dozen for A-large, 19 cents for A-medium, 19 cents for B and 18 cents for C Western eggs were one cent above these levels. Receipts totalled 2,546 cases.

Potato prices eased considerably, N.B. Mountains being 65 to 70 cents per 80-pound bag, off 15 cents, and Prince Edward Island Mountains sold for 85 to 90 cents per 90-pound bag, also down 15 cents. New Quebec potatoes brought $1.45 for No. 1, and $1.20 for No. 2 grade.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 13. — Backward somersaults of corn prices disorganized all grain markets yesterday, and at the last wheat alone showed an advance.

Corn tumbled as much as 4 cents a bushel, largely as a result of heavily increased rural offerings of corn to arrive in Chicago, many growers of corn being apparently eager to accept current prices. Until corn market weakness threw a wet blanket on buying enthusiasts in wheat trade was on an immense scale for all grains, but tapered off later.

Closing quotations in the corn market were weak, 1¾-2⅞c under Wednesday's finishwith wheat nervous at ⅝c-1⅜c gain. Oats 1¼c-1½c down and provisions unchanged to 10c off.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 13. — Heavy recessions in grain prices took place on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Pounded by the selling of fodmer buyers as they unloaded their holdings on a slipping market, wheat futures dropped sharply to close 2½c to 2¾c lower. July at 80¾c, October 81⅞c to 82c, and December 83¼c.

Their enthusiasm checked by the poor response displayed by Liverpool to Wednesday's 6¼c advance here "bull" operators quickly reversed their position. Profit-taking sales flooded the pit and prices at one period slipped 3c lower. A moderate recovery was made later.

Confirmation of export sales of close to 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat failed to stem the setback. Exports reported good quantities were sold for shipment next December, indicative of improving shipping prospects for next season.

Estimates of the amount of wheat sold by the Government agency on the price bulge on Wednesday varied considerably, with 2,000,000 bushels believed to be a conservative figure. No selling came from this source yesterday.

Coarse grains futures were dull, easing with wheat. Cash grains also failed to show activity, spreads ending practically unchanged.

ORANGE ORDER IS URGED TO PLACE PRINCIPLE FIRST

he declared. Too often, he added, the records of the British Empire are forgotten, and he referred to the great sacrifices men of the Empire made in the Great War.

"Soon after the start of the war our lodge halls were bereft of membership," he said. "Our men eagerly answered the call to defend everything they held dear. They did not need any conscription. They were conscripted by that great loyalty in their hearts. The loyalty that the Orange Order continues to foster.

"Some Protestants say that there is no need for an Orange Order. If they say such things they are either blind and deaf, insane or liars. It is mostly cowardice that keeps many Protestants from joining the Orange Order. It takes courage to stand boldly for the principles of Orangeism, because Orangemen must face true facts and tell the truth.

"Some say that we are trying to separate Canadians. The one thing we are fighting against is a separatist movement; the greatest thing we are combatting is the Separate Schools, which are branded as separatists by their very name."

He stated that the "power of Rome has always been built on a weak Protestantism." A politician had taunted him ,he said, by stating that the Protestant vote did not mean anything because it was not to be depended upon and was not united. "That man said that he could see one man and be sure of getting 20,000 Catholic votes, but if he wanted 20,000 Protestant votes he would have to go into 20,000 Protestant homes, and then he could not be sure of support," Mr. Palmer said.

He concluded with a challenge to Orangemen to stand by the principles of the order, "equal rights to all, special privileges to none," and he challenged any loyal Canadian to find any fault with Orange principles.

E. F. Reid Speaks.

E. F. Reid, of Peterborough, deputy grand master of Ontario East, stated that Orangemen were not so much celebrating the victory of the Battle of the Boyne, but were "commemorating the death of our forefathers who died that we might have civil and religious liberty and so that the holy Bible might lay open in our lodge halls and on the pulpits of our Protestant churches."

Ontario was listening, Mr. Reid said, to hear if anything might be said during the Orange celebration upon the election of June 19. "I am not sure that anything will be said, or that anything need be said," he continued. "We are not asking anything for ourselves that we are not willing to grant our neighbors. We believe that a man has the privilege of voting as mind and conscience dictates and we hold no club over anyone."

He appealed to Orangemen to stand steadfast for those principles that bond the Empire together, and pointed out to-day that Canada has won greater recognition in the councils of the Empire. He warned that "those who want to do away with British institutions in Ontario should go very slow."

He referred to the "bombshell" that was exploded just previous to the election when it was announced that the Catholic Ratepayers' Association is order to get greater privileges for the Separate Schools were going to swing thousands of votes against the Government. "I was asked repeatedly what is the Orange Order going to do about it," he said. "I am not sure that the Orange Order has any responsibility at all in this matter. It is the responsibility of every Public School supporter, and the sooner they realize that then the sooner the Orange Order will succeed in its fight to prevent further encroachments by the Separate Schools."

In some quarters, Mr. Reid said, the Orange Order loses popularity "because it has the courage to tell the truth, and many Catholics and some Protestants hate to hear the truth." As long as the Orange Order lasts it will defend Public Schools, he concluded.

James McCullough, of Port Hope, chairman of the speakers' committee of the celebration, presided over the program at the park. He stated that the Bewdley lodge yesterday celebrated its 100th anniversary, and that Orangeism is more than 100 years old in Port Hope.

Other speakers were: Fred. Bowen, M.P., of Bowmanville; Rev. W. B. Jennings, of Port Hope, and Mrs. C. E. Wright, of Peterborough, grand mistress of Ontario East.

HOG PRICES.

TORONTO: Only one gain, a 10-cent advance at London, was registered on bacon hog prices at market points today. All others were unchanged and firm at the week's top levels.

Seasonable scarcity of hogs has been advanced as the main reason for the gains, ranging from 10 to 25 cents, made this week. Packing houses throughout the province report small offerings and packers are paying correspondingly good prices.

Today's prices: London, $8.60; Peterborough, $8.50; Hull, Que., $9.25; Brantford, $8.65; Kitchener, $8.65.

HITLER SPEAKS BRUTALLY FRANK

every word, and to a world audience that listened with scarcely less intense interest, Hitler swung into the persuasive, powerful manner of speaking that brought him from the role of a house painter to that of Chancellor.

"I confess, however," he said, "that since the faith of the Field Marshal put me in my place, I have been borne down by a load of worries which the present future of our people places as a burden upon all of us.

"For on January 30, 1933, we did not take over a state that was politically in order and ecomonically sound, but we took over political and economic chaos."

Well Guarded

The precautions taken to guard the Chancellor were as impressive as they were effective.

Thousands of S.S. men (Special Guards) stood shoulder to shoulder on both sides of the street—about a mile long.

Behind these S.S. men were Storm Troopers and policemen all engaged in keeping back the crowd.

In front of the Opera House a detachment of Prussian Prime Minister Goering's Special Police, smartly uniformed and carrying rifles, snapped smartly to attention as Hitler arrived.

LEEMING AND LEEMING

New York, July 13th:

Yesterday's moderate weakness, accompanied as it was by relatively small volume, was no more convincing than strength in previous sessions and the market still has given little clue to its near term movements. The comparatively poor performance of the utilities during recent sessions, especially in their failure to participate in general strength is a drag on the market and does little to nourish the conservative optimism which has gained a foothold in the financial community in the last few weeks. While there need be no haste in making committments, we believe a firm base has been established.

Chicago, July13th:

Wheat prices advanced again yesterday in the face of heavy outpouring of grain from the country attracted by the higher prices. Other grain futures were unable to hold up in the face of the big country offerings and prices receded moderately.

ROYAL COMMISSION ALREADY STARTED

plied with a few days ago when at Ottawa Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced the appointment of a one-man commission. The Federal Commissioner is Sir Lyman P. Duff, Chief Justice of Canada, but no announcement has come from Ottawa as to when his inquiry would begin.

Arthur Slaght, K.C., is counsel for the Commission and J. C. McRuer, K.C., is counsel for the Hydro Board. Naming of the Commission followed close on the heels of the installation in office of a new body of Commissioners to govern Hydro, of which T. Stewart Lyon is chairman.

Terms of Reference

The terms of reference given the probe extend only to the "Abitibi deal." The two judges are authorized to inquire into the purchase of bonds of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, former owners of the Abitibi project, by the Government of Ontario and by the Hydro Commission and the payment therefor in bonds of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. They are also instructed to go back further to probe all circumstances connecting with the granting of power rights in Northern Ontario to Ontario Power Service Corporation.

Further the probe will extend to all transactions and dealings in the securities of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, and all other corporatons dealing in power in Canada which have or had dealings with Hydro or with the Ontario Government by any member of the Ontario Government or any former member of the Hydro Commission.

Dealings in such securities by officers, servants or agents of the Government or of Hydro or of individual members of the Government and the Hydro will also come under review. The Commission is also instructed to look into the dealings of any corporations of which former members of the Government or the Hydro Board may have been officers or directors in the same group of securities.

Power Demand Fell Short

Several years ago a group associated with the Abitizi Power and Paper Company secured power rights at Abitibi Canyon and began the erection of a plant with an ultimate capacity of 275,000,000 horse power. A bond issue of $20,000,000 was sold to the public to finance the project, but the depression came along and the demand for power in Northern Ontario for mines and other enterprises did not increase as had been anticipated.

The company got into financial difficulties and was faced with the certain prospect of defaulting on its bond interest. It was then that the Ontario Government stepped into the picture. Premier George S. Henry and his Ministers considered it would be a loss to Ontario if the power project was not completed. There was no hope of getting financial assistance from private sources.

Took Over Project

The Government then agreed to take over the property and to retire the outstanding bonds of Ontario Power Service Corporation and replace them with securities of the Hydro Commission guaranteed by the Government. While the Government assumed the ownership of the property the operation of it was turned over to Hydro and since then the plant has been completed and power is now being produced and delivered.

But the deal was followed by a long series of attacks on the Government. It was charged the administration came to the aid of the bond-holders at the expense of the tax-payers as the bonds were offered on the open market away below their par value. The answer given was only small lots were sold at low figures and that the government had acquired good value for its money in a power property which would pay its way and stimulate the development of the North Country.

Later it was revealed Premier George S. Henry held $25,000 worth of Ontario Power Service bonds. Again, it was revealed certain investment companies with which Mr. Meighen was associated held considerable amounts. Mr. Meighen was then a member of the Hydro Commission. He has stated and Mr. Henry has agreed the Hydro Board had nothing to do with the acquisition of Abitibi. It was a Government purchase and turned over to Hydro for operation.

Hitler "Explains" Action To Reichstag

At special meeting of Reichstag, Chancellor Hitler is expected in first speech since Germany's "bloody Saturday" to make public events that led to "purging" of Nazi ranks. CHEMIST DENIES CHARGES MADE his firm and most of the marmalade made in Canada is produced from bitter oranges imported from Spain.

"The canning industry to-day is one of the largest and a basic industry of our country," Mr. Powell said. "The art of canning allows us to carry over food from one season to another, and allows the transport of food over great distances. I believe those are the fundamental reasons behind the flourishing existence of the business."

$40,000,000 Invested.

Forty millions of dollars are invested in the industry in Canada alone, he said. Since the early days of the 19th century, when Napoleon sponsored the experiments which solved the initial problems of canning foods, the industry has advanced rapidly. To-day civilization recognizes canning as practically a necessity, he said.

The nature of foods preserved for consumption to-day ranges from the figs of the Mediterranean area to the rattle snakes and the frog legs of America, he continued. The possibilities of canning are almost unlimited.

"There are no secrets in the art of commercial canning," Mr. Powell said. "In the canning of the majority of foods, regardless of the natures, no preservatives are required. Preservation is secured simply through the sterilization of the food—the elimination of bacteria—and the sealing of that food in airtight cans.

"I would like to say that canned foods are among the safest that come to our tables. The conditions under which the foods are packed in the cans and the air-tightness of the cans constitute an assurance against food poisoning and inferior foods. The percentage of spoilage due to canning defects amounts to about one can in a thousand. That can is easily detected by retail handlers and rarely reaches the consumer."

Challenging as a fallacy the belief that ptomaine poisoning frequently results from the use of canned goods, Mr. Powell declared, "In many years of experience I have never heard of a case of ptomaine poisoning traced conclusively to the use of canned goods. Often cases are reported in the newspapers, but in each case, when investigations have been made by agents of the industry, it has been found that someone jumped too hastily at a conclusion. Food can be used from cans without fear. The idea that food must not be left in an opened can is a complete fallacy."

Mr. Powell was introduced by Ivan Lillico.

Several American Kiwanians summering in this region were in attendance at the luncheon.

WOODS COMBED FOR LOST BABY

Bloodhounds Lose Trail and Parents Fear Kidnapping.

500 ON SEARCH PARTY.

HARTSDALE, N.Y., July 13 (AP)—An army of 500 State Troopers, police and volunteers beat through dense woodlands around Hartsdale to-day for blue-eyed, 18-month-old Bobby Connor, feared kidnapped.

Authorities said they were convinced the child, missing since last night, was being held for ransom. He is the son of Charles H. Connor, mortgage broker, and the grandson of Charles P. Connor, wealthy retired New England clothier.

Bloodhounds failed to pick up the trial of the child, last reported seen while playing near the home of his parents in Hartsdale Manor.

Society folk left dinner parties to join in the hunt, which was pressed through the night with flashlights and lanterns.

Police expressed belief an itinerant peddler, who had called at the Connor home yesterday afternoon, figured in the kidnapping. They said he talked the child's mother, Mrs. Lola Connor, shortly before the child's absence was discovered.

The child's parents said the only explanation they could give for the kidnapping was the possibility of a ransom collection from the boy's paternal grandfather, now living at Arlington, Mass. No ransom demands had been received, the parents said.

Mrs. Connor became hysterical and is under the care of a physician to-day. Connor led one of the searching parties.

Bloodhounds followed the child's trail toward a nearby wood, then lost it. Authorities believe the kidnappers broke the trail by picking up the infant after letting him toddle.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP)—Fresh upturns in grain values took place in late dealings on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Prompted by a further flow of unfavorable crop reports from many countries, speculators bought heavily near the close to run prices of wheat futures up wildly, closing with advances of 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 cents.

The July delivery ended at 81 1-2 cents, October at 83 1-2 and December 84 5-8 cents. Reported poor conditions in western Canada. Large prospective decreases in the new Australian crop and further unfavorable news from Europe provided the "bull" forcers with ammunition for their late drive.

JOSEPH BARBEAU FOUND STRANDED

room and board, and 55 cents. Mr. O'Brien left on a vacation a few days ago and again Joseph was out on the streets with no place to go.

"Where were you going to get money to eat?" he was asked.

"I guess I was going to pick blueberries. I picked forty-two cents worth yesterday, but I had to spend it on food."

"Does your father know where you are?"

"No. I boarded with some people in Peterborough. We didn't pay them, so they couldn't keep me any longer. I guess my Dad knew that they couldn't keep me. My mother died when I was nine days old. My Dad had both his legs crushed with a fall of marble two years ago and hasn't been able to work since. He is on relief. There were seven in my Dad's first family, of which I am the youngest, and seven in his second family. I have a brother who is an aviator on a mail plane from Winnipeg to Vancouver. I wanted to be a telegraph operator, but my Dad couldn't afford to let me go to school after public school. I wanted to go to night school to learn telegraphy."

A pleasing lad with blonde hair, Joe wore a pair of short trousers, slightly patched, a pair of low running shoes, a short-sleeved brown sweater and a khaki shirt.

Those clothes are his worldly possessions. "This is just the way I left Peterborough," he said. "Nobody seems to care much about me, but I'll get along," said Joe seriously.

"It's a very sad thing to find a youngster at large with no one to take an interest in him," remarked Chief Louden, "it's very sad indeed. I don't know what we are going to do with him."

LATE ADVANCE AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP).—Dollar a bushel wheat came back to the Chicago Grain Market today in a sudden and spectacular flurry of last minute buying that caught many traders off guard.

Near the close of the day's trading, a broker shouted, "A dollar for December," climaxing a wave of buying apparently inspired by bullish foreign news.

FOUR CANADIANS MAKE GOOD SCORES IN BISLEY CONTEST

Donegal and Conan Doyle Matches Get Under Way To-day.

HALTED FOR STORM.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 13 (C.P. Cable).—The Canadian team today started serious competition as the Donegall and Conan Doyle statuette matches of the National Rifle Association's Empire Meet got under way.

Rain fell lightly as firing began in the Donegall, an individual competition at 200 yards with 10 shots for each contestant. The sun appeared fitfully behind the clouds but the weather looked threatening. The Canadians started out against hundreds of competitors, including several women and Sergeant Lawrence, a veteran who reached the final stages of the famous King's prize shoot in 1882.

Four Canadians had scores of 49, one below possible, in the Donegall match. They were Lieut. H. W. Steeves of the 8th Field Battery of Moncton; Capt. A. C. Lucas of the Queen's Own, Toronto; Sergt. James Borland of the Toronto 48th Highlanders and R. Q. M. S. R. G. Hamilton, of the Grenville Regiment, Ottawa. Three others had 47's and the rest came below that figure. Sergt. Lawrence showed his eye was not faltering despite his advancing age by scoring 48.

In the 300-yard practice of the Conan Doyle Match, Capt. Lucas scored a perfect 35, and two other Canadians, Lieut. R. D. McLeod, of Saint John, youngest member of the team, and C.Q.M.S. Alec Parnell, of the Montreal Black Watch, got 34's.

A violent storm broke out as shooting progressed and operations were suspended for a time. Several competitors withdrew.

The Canadians all stayed in, however. Hamilton and Capt. Lucas with a perfect 35 on the first range, but dropped to 33 for a total of 68 on the 500-yard range. Capt. Lucas and Parnell came through with the highest Canadian totals, 69, as Parnell added 35 on the second range.

DR. F. VROOMAN IS LAID TO REST

Superintendent of Ontario Hospital at London Buried in Lindsay.

LIGHTNING KILLS CATTLE

LINDSAY, July 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Dr. Fulton F. Vrooman, Superintendent of Ontario Hospital, London, took place this afternoon from the residence of his father, Dr. A. E. Vrooman, town, and was largely attended by all classes of citizens. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Black, pastor of Cambridge Street United Church. The deceased, in addition to his sorrowing parents, leaves to mourn his loss his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Four head of cattle belonging to Theodore Greer, Pleasant Point, Fenelon Township, were killed by lightning early yesterday. The animals were grouped together under two maple trees when the bolt struck them. The bark was stripped off the trees by the lightning.

Some fifteen lodges from Victoria and Haliburton celebrated the Twelfth in the little village of Cambray. This is the first celebration held at Cambray in over fifty years, and the village presented a gala appearance. The parade was held after dinner, and was followed by a softball tournament and other athletic events.

Little Lake Cemetery Company Organized 1851

CENTRAL PARK WAS FIRST USED AS BURIAL PLACE

Original Ground of Little Lake Cemetery Cost 21 Subscribers $250.

NO DIVIDENDS PAID

In 1852 Weslayan Methodists Secured Plot in North End of the City.

By "ROGER ROUNDABOUT"

Every day citizens went their way to that most beautiful of God's Acre, our own cemetery on the shores of Little Lake; beautiful for its situation and for the care taken in its maintenance.

It may be interesting at this time to delve into old history and tell of its inception and its predecessors.

Previous to 1850 the principal burying ground used to be in what is now known as Central Park. An agitation arose for the closing of this inappropriate spot for burying purposes and steps were taken to procure the present site.. Messrs. W. S. Conger, Thos. Benson, Wm. Cluxton, Jas. Hall and Robt. Dennistoun took a prominent part in obtaining it.

In 1852 the Wesley Methodists secured a plot in the north end, which now forms part of the grounds of Nicholls Hospital. This property was vested in George Street church by deed of trust dated January, 1852; interments were made there for many years, but was discontinued by a council by-law and was neglected for many years, but in 1888 it was handed over to the hospital trustees on a 15 years' lease at a nominal rent. Central Park was granted by the Crown to the county as a burying ground, one half of it for Protestants and the other for Roman Catholics.

Bill Passed Parliament.

The ground (then known as Moe's Point) for the present Little Lake cemetery was obtained by direct grant to the company by the Crown. They prepared a bill which the then M.P. introduced into parliament and the bill afterwards became law, authorizing the formation of cemetery companies throughout Ontario. The Act exempted the lands forever from assessment and all public taxes, from all liability to be seized under execution or for payment of debts or assignments under the insolvency law. After payment of purchase money, the proceeds of all future sales were to be used for the embellishment of the cemetery and incidental expenses and for no other purposes whatsoever.

The price paid was sixty pounds scrip, or forty-eight pounds cash in Halifax currency —apparently equivalent to about $250. This amount was raised by 21 subscriptions, and on April 28, 1851, at a meeting of shareholders, James Hall afterwards sheriff of the county, was elected the first president.

These original shareholders showed remarkable prudence and prevision in the purchase of this splendid site and would be amazed at the beautiful grounds that have been evolved from their foresighted purchase of eighty years ago.

In that year, the ground was surveyed and laid out by F. S. Passmore, P.L.S..

In 1854 application having been received from the Roman Catholics for a portion to be set apart exclusively; this was granted, but difficulties arose and possession was re-taken in 1863.

So things went on without any matter of striking interest arising; in 1872, the cemetery being still in a comparatively wild state, Mr. G. A. Harris, a landscape artist of Rochester, N.Y., was engaged as superintendent, and the grounds assumed roughly their present aspect. In 1878 the chapel was built at a cost of $2,100, and in 1885 an addition of 5½ acres on the west side was made, making in all a total of about 45 acres.

Became Secretary.

Coming to more recent times, in 1889 E. A. Peck was appointed secretary, and in 1890 Mr. H. Foord became superintendent. In 1900 property was obtained outside the main gates and in 1903 the present dwelling house and office was built at a cost of $4,000 and since then the range of stables, etc., for $2,000. In 1913 new entrance gates and the fences adjacent were put up. After Mr. Foord ceased to be superintendent upon his appointment to a similar post at Mount Pleasant in Toronto, he was succeeded by Frank Wise; in 1917 the present genial occupant of the position, W. James, came into office.

There is some misapprehension among the general public as to the financial position of the company. There are no shareholders receiving dividends or anything of that sort; the directors receive no fees and give their services gratuitiously. The proceeds from sales of lots, etc., are invested and form a fund to provide for the perpetual upkeep of the cemetery and for permanent improvements.

First Decoration Day.

As it was the annual recurrence of the Odd Fellows' decoration day which inspired the research for facts related above, it is as interesting to note that the first decoration day was on June 29, 1883, when the graves of 35 of the old and original members of the Otonabee Lodge were decorated. From that modest beginning fifty years ago has arisen the striking ceremonial of to-day, when the members of the order reverence the memories of their departed brethren amid the beautiful surroundings which have been built up by a succession of administrations of forethought and skill, into one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the Dominion—or indeed—anywhere.

"Censor King" To Clean Up Hollywood Films

The continent-wide protest and boycott by church organizations against "soiled celluloid" and indecent films has brought swift action by Hollywood producers in a widespread clean-up of "doubtful" movies, with the appointment of Joseph I. Breen, first assistant to Film Czar Will Hays, as virtual "censor king" to certify pictures "for purity standards." Here are typical modern "sophisticated" shots, revue numbers, and "torrid' love scene to be relegated to the background under the watchful eyes of Censor Breen (centre), to give way for clean western movies and historical subjects.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.— You'll have to guess his name, but a certain Hollywood producer pulled one of his very funniest remarks one recent weekend. He picked up a couple of friends in Beverly Hills and started for the beach. The sun was shining, the air was balmy, and there was just enough ocean breeze to take the edge off the heat.

Leaning back into the deep cushions of his $15,000 car the producer sighed with satisfaction.

"Ah!" he exclaimed, "What a lovely day of the week for Sunday to fall on!"

The laugh is on Dorothy Burgess, and I think even she will admit it. Caught up in Hollywood's new urge to get away from crowds and things, Dorothy gave up her apartment and took a house in the Hollywood hills. She got away all right. The coyotes' howl so much at night she can't sleep and the other day a shriek; ing maid brought the news that a snake was crawling across the living room. And, to cap it all, Dorothy's cat has all the fur torn off its tail and thereabouts. Coyotes? Well, I'm only telling you what they say.

Maybe you know all about the Russian midnight Easter services, but my first sight of the unusual ritual was when Samuel Goldwyn staged one for "We Live Again", the new Anna Sten film. Fifteen hundred candles illumined the movie-made replica of a Russian countryside church. The chant of the singers—only the human voice is used in the ritual—rose in impressive volume. Food for the pashka feast after the celebration (prepared, incidentally, by Miss Sten's Ukrainian chef) was authentically Russian. Befor it was eaten, priests and deacons kissed each other three times and then each member of the congregation. Later, the members of the congregation kissed each other. It was a master illusion.

KNICK-KNACKS—

The Connie Bennett Honolulu trip is off and La Bennett will go to Paris to join her Marquis just as soon as she can finish her assignment in "The Green Hat" . . . It is significant that Arthur Sheekman, (comedy writer on the Cantor picture) was the only person besides her family to attend Gloria Stuart's birthday party. . . C. B. De Mille's son, John has been assigned to the bank just one block from the Paramount studio and Papa De Mille's account becomes one of the largest in the new branch' . . . Remember little Billy Taft, who used to go with Dorothy Lee? He's doing swell in Chicago appearing at the fair and doubling at the Congress hotel with Audrene Brier for a partner and to Eddie Duchin's music. . . . The Otto Krugers are giving a linen shower to Claudia Morgan, who'll marry Robert Shipee in New York. . . . And press of work has compelled Will Rogers to abandon once more that trip to Europe.

MRS. A. L. SISCOE W.A. PRESIDENT

St. Andrew's W.M.A. of Millbrook Meets at Fallis Home.

MILLBROOK, July 13.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. George Fallis extended the hospitality of her home for the July meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Andrew's church on Wednesday afternoon, the new minister's wife, Mrs. Arthur L. Siscoe, being among those present, and heartily welcomed to the circuit.

Mrs. J. McKnight took the chair, paying warm tribute to the fine manner in which the office of president had been filled by Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, who is now at her new home, Cardinal, Ontario; later in the meeting Mrs. Siscoe was elected president, but asked a month in order to become acquainted before taking up the new position.

In order to present the Auxiliary's aims before the congregation, it was suggested that the organization might take the worship service on a Sunday evening sometime during the summer holidays if agreeable to the Board of Management, as it had successfully done two years ago when the minister was on vacation. Mrs. Irwin Hatherly's group will take charge of the August meeting which will be at the leader's home the usual picnic in that month to be dispensed with this season. The report of finances showed $120 remitted to the Presbyterian treasurer at the end of June, with word that though this is under the half of the Auxiliary's allocation, the Circle and Band are within three dollars each of reaching their half-yearly amount.

Miss Estelle Hetherington gave a short talk on Christian Stewardship, outlining the meeting of the Dominion Board, closing with the president's message: "If the world is to be filled with the Kingdom of God, He must have His ministers in all places, and not only from all places." Mrs. Fallis took the chair for the program, the theme of Temperance being covered by Mrs. John Rowland and Mrs. F. J. Smith, Miss L. Kennedy taking the devotional leaflet, "At the Cross" and Miss Martha Lunn the Bible reading.

The hostess, and the members of her committee, served homemade candy during the social hour at the close. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. H. Bigelow, and Mrs. Thos. Robinson.

The young people of Cavan United Church are preparing a tennis court on the lot between the church and parsonage.

On Wednesday afternoon Cavan W.M.S. met at the home of the president, Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

Mrs. Snider was in charge of the devotional period and read the devotional leaflet. Mrs. J. C. Swain read an article on temperance. The treasurer, Mrs. Ray Syer, reported forty-two dollars sent to the presbyterial secretary, on our allocation, which is eighty dollars.

During the afternoon a quilt was quilted for the missionary sale.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Alma Perrin, served a delicious lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Trumpour, joined the group at the tea hour, having brought his car to take the Cavanville ladies to their homes.

Those present were: Mrs. J. H. Snider, Mrs. J. C. Swain, Mrs. R. Syer, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Matchett, Mrs. Pritchard, Mrs. White, Mrs. Trumpour and Mrs. Staples.

Mrs. R. S. Staples visited friends in Toronto this week.

W. I. OBSERVES CANADA MONTH

Trent River Members Plan Card Party—Delightful Program.

2 NEW MEMBERS JOIN.

TRENT RIVER, July 13.— (Examiner Correspondence.— "In the love of home, the love of country has its rise," was the motto for the July meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. F. Ward, with over 30 in attendance.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. George Brooks, the chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. Earl Greenly. After the opening ode followed by the Lord's Prayer, the secretary, Mrs. Harry Mann, read the roll call, the answer for which was "noted Canadian woman and her work." Two minutes' silence was observed to the memory of a member, the late Mrs. James Aikens, who passed away recently.

Two new members were received. The secretary read the account of money spent since the month of May, including the amount remitted for a scholarship.

Mrs. Don Cameron, a visitor in attendance from Westwood, who is the treasurer of the Women's Institute there, spoke a few words in regard to the work in connection with their meetings; they have a membership of fifty.

Discussion was taken up regarding tables for the Athletic Park, and it was decided to purchase the lumber for the same. A committee, consisting of Mrs. H. Mann, Mrs. Geo. Brooks, Mrs. Earl Greenly, and Miss B. G. French was appointed to interview a carpenter and go ahead and get the work done as soon as possible. The sum of $2 was voted as a donation towards the annual regatta August 6th. The members decided to gather up material for "historical research" and have ready at a later meeting before preparing in form to be typewritten.

Fruit was ordered for the sick.

The members decided to donate a number of useful dishes to the members of the Ladies' Aid of the United church for the use of the church and dining hall. The motto, "In the love of home, the love of country has its rise," was read by Mrs. W. Lewis.

Ways and means of making money was discussed, and an afternoon card party will be held some time in August. Three verses of "O Canada" were sung by the assembly, led by Mrs. Glover. Mrs. George Dart gave a humorous reading, "The little boy listening in to grandpop talking to a reporter." Miss Isabell Alexander, of Toronto, who is holidaying at "Windermere" gave a delightful number "The garden elopment." Mrs. H. Mann gave an interesting reading on "Canada's Wealth." Mrs. T. F. Ward gave a demonstration, "fruit whip," a delicious summer dessert, in which each one present had a serving. A vote of thanks was given to the visitors in attendance. The national anthem brought the meeting to a close after which a dainty lunch consisting of sandwiches, tea, lemonade, cakes, salads and fruit whip was served. The collection amounted to over $3.00.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Brown, when the roll call will be 'A labour-saving device,' a contest, 'exhibit of flowers,' and prizes for the best bouquet will be given.

INSTITUTE MEETING IS HELD IN APSLEY

Boys' Choir From Toronto Takes Part in Service at St. George's, Apsley.

APSLEY, July 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular monthly meeting of the Apsley branch of the Women's Institute was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Roland Tucker, on July 5, with eleven members and three visitors present. The roll call took the form of a question box, and instead of the usual paper being read, discussions on the questions submitted were participated in, and proved very interesting and helpful. A box of fruit and delicacies was sent to a sick man in the neighborhood.

The Institute is responsible for the street lighting, and committees were appointed to take care of needed repairs.

Choir Camps at Loon Lake

Boys of the choir of St. Barnabas' Church, Toronto, who are camping at Loon Lake, in charge of Mr. Reid, rector's warden, sang at the evening service of St. George's Church on Sunday; Mrs Ballard of Toronto presiding at the organ. The choir sang the anthem "Ave Maria," and David Kingston sang a soprano solo very sweetly. Mr. Reid read the lessons.

McCRACKEN'S LANDING

Mrs. A. B. Richie, Chestnut Hill, Boston, who has just been made a member of the Board of Directors of the Christian Science Church, and was for many years a lecturer of that institution, is spending a well-earned vacation at "Rock Haven," Stoney Lake.

Mr. Michael Sheehy entertained a number of guests at his cottage at Stoney Lake last week end.

A passing visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Malcolm Stewart, "Uplands", Lakefield, en route to Stoney Lake would be a great enjoyment to all lovers of beautiful gardens. A profusion of roses, borders of delphinium, with tall hollyhocks, coryopsis, and galardia greet the eye and open up vistas of green lawns and rose arbors, set off to advantage by a lovely view of the river.

AUSTRIANS JAIL 7 FOR BOMBING

Nazi Prisoners Will Be Hanged if Convicted of Woman's Death.

SHAKE-UP AMONG POLICE.

(By Wade Werner, A.P. Foreign Staff.)

VIENNA, July 13 (A.P.) — The death of woman victim of a bombing for which seven Nazi suspects are in jail placed the seven in the shadow of the gallows to-day — if the bombing can be fastened on them.

No Nazi has yet been hung under the emergency laws for anti-government bombing offences which have plagued Austria for months.

Frau Hermine Graubna of Graz, one of four members of a travel party injured in a bomb explosion at Salzburg yesterday, died last night.

Meanwhile the strenuous campaign of Major Emil Fey against Austrian Nazis, seeking to oust them from positions in the State Police, produced a concrete result with the arrest of Edouard Fischer, Salzburg Inspector of Police.

A woman employee of the Direhtor of Public Security in Salzburg Province also was arrested in connection with the Salzburg bombing, which blew up police headquarters there.

The woman was charged with actually participating in the bombing while Fischer was accused of shielding one of the bombers. Both also were accused of espionage.

Fascist Home Bombed.

The only new terrroism reported up to early afternoon was an explosion resulting from a hand grenade being thrown into the house of a district leader of the Fascist Heimwehr in Folfsberg, Carinthia. He was critically injured and his home was wrecked, but members of his family escaped.

Take 2 Austrians

"Responsibility" for consequences of the campaign is placed by the newspaper Asendzeitung upon the shoulder of Adolph Hitler.

"Now Herr Hitler has forced us to raise our hands for a last blow against the brown criminal gangs organized in Austria from the Third Reich," the newspaper said.

"Responsibilityn rests with those in Berlin and Munich, who forced us and the world conscience to it."

Dollfuss held out five days of grace to the terrorists. During this period, which opened last midnight, opponents of the government may surrender their explosives.

If they are caught with them after the five day period only one penalty is possible under the law—death.

Barthou Begins Upon New Locarno Pact

PARIS, July 13. (A.P.)—Foreign Minister Louis Barthou began work to-day on his pet project and eastern European Locarno pact, while Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, was still speaking in the House of Commons.

He invited Polish Amassador Chlapowski to the Foreign Ministry and discussed at length Polish objections to closer relationship with Soviets and Germany, particularly in the face of Chancellor Hitler's new lineup with the formidable Reichswehr, or German Army.

He was aided by a British note to Warsaw supporting the pact idea.

French officials frankly admitted it may be a long and troublesome task to pull Germany, Poland, Russia, Czechoslovakia and the Baltic states together, but were encouraged by Sir Johns statement that Premier Mussolini of Italy was favorable to the idea.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Envoy Under Fire

ANDRE FRANCOIS-PONCET
The French ambassador to Berlin, M. Francois-Poncet, is likely to be withdrawn as persona non grata despite his denials of Nazi charges that he was a party to a plot against the Hitler regime.

Mob Violence Threatens After Convict Shoots Gun Girl.

8,000 VIEW BODY.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 13.—(A.P.)—Frank Martin, trusty-convict, who shot to death the fugitive gun girl, Helen Spence Eaton, was protected form any mob violence to-day by special guard.

An increased number of deputies was assigned to duty in the jail after Sheriff L. B. Branch heard whispers of a possible attack. He said he did not believe the threats would be fulfilled.

Martin awaited in the jail the results of an investigation to determine whether he is to stand trial for killing the girl Wednesday as she sought to make good her escape from the State Farm for Women.

Coroner L. C. Aday ordered Martin held on a technical charge of murder. The coroner said his action was taken to silence an aroused public with a grand jury investigation. He had officially exonerated the trusty, who shot the girl in the back of the head as, he said, she reached for a pistol.

An estimated 8,000 men, women and children came to view the body of the young woman who was serving time for the killing of two men when she made her fifth bid for freedom.

Find Wrecked Launch Shore St. Lawrence

WATERTOWN, N.Y., July 13 (A.P.).—A wrecked launch, believed to have been the one involved in a collision with a Buffalo freighter early Sunday, was found late Wednesday on the Canadian shore of the St. Lawrence River near Brockville, Ont., it became known yesterday.

The ownership of the craft was still in doubt to-day. George T. Fulford was first reported the owner, but he denied it, as did Richard T. Fulford.

The captain of the freighter, Pillsbury, reported to the J. J. Boland Steamship Company of Buffalo that it was believed it had sunk a motorboat early Sunday morning. The captain reported he had halted and turned about, but could find no trace of the boat or its occupants.

EX-SERVICE MEN WILL GET WORK

Successful Tenderers on Gov't Relief Contracts Must Employ Certain Quota.

LEGION TRIUMPH.

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP)—Successful tenderers for Government contracts under the $40,000,000 program now being undertaken will be required to obligate themselves to employ a quota of ex-Servicemen on their work, officials of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion announced here to-day. Following a conference with Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, it was decided that a clause would be inserted in each contract setting forth this obligation.

The clause reads:

"In the execution of the work to be performed, the contractor shall employ reasonable quotas of returned soldiers and local workmen where such are available and competent."

"This policy has been urged by the Legion since it became known that the government was embarking upon a public works program," said J. R. Bowler, general secretary, here to-day. It formed one of the matters under discussion recently between the Prime Minister and General Alex. Ross, the Dominion president, who strongly urged the desirability of fixing such quotas in order that the unemployed non-pensioner might be given a proper opportunity to re-establish himself.

CONSERVATORY MUSIC CLOSES ITS DOORS AFTER THIRTY YEARS FINER ARTS HIT BY DEPRESSION

Rupert Gliddon Striven to Maintain Musical Art at High Level.

ESTABLISHED IN 1904.

Fashion for Good Music Not Passed Declares Head of Conservatory.

A period of thirty years' service to the public of Peterborough in the field of music was terminated this week as the Conservatory of Music closed its doors.

For thirty years the institution, under the guiding hand of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Gliddon, strove to maintain the musical art at a level becoming a cultured community. During most of those years it enjoyed a flourishing existence. It won for itself a reputation as a school of music with a standard unsurpassed in any city the size of Peterborough on the continent. It became an institution, in the real sense of the word, in the Peterborough district.

Then the economic depression set in. Attention turned from the comparative luxury of music to the simple, mundane matter of everyday existence. The clientele of students in the various fields of musical endeavor which made it possible for the institution to continue its function as a "conservatory" dropped off rapidly. To-day it is no longer practical for the Conservatory to carry on.

"The fashion for good music has not passed," Mr. Gliddon states, will never be lost while our culture "Appreciation of the finer music maintains its level. It is merely the fact that music is the first thing to suffer in depressed time which faces us. The depression will pass and music will retake its place."

Ambitious Venture.

The Conservatory was established in 1904. Having studied music abroad a number of years, Mr. Gliddon came to Peterborough in 1900 and taught music privately before undertaking the ambitious venture of forming a school of music. He had made many contacts in his profession and chose carefully his faculty.

The response was immediate, and before many years had passed the necessity of expansion was at hand. The assembly hall wing on Reid street was added to the already spacious building. And the fame of the comparatively modest institution spread rapidly. It soon became widely recognized as a suitable preparatory school for the several conservatories in the larger cities of the Dominion which afford higher advancement. Students from not only this city but also many outside points in Central Ontario came for instruction, for it was the largest conservatory between Toronto and Montreal. The original faculty of nine was augmented to meet increasing demands.

During the years as it carried on with its work the Conservatory demonstrated in a concrete manner its position as a centre of musical learning. Formed from among his students, Mr. Gliddon continued each year an orchestra which rarely failed to show in a favorable light in competition with the other orchestras of Ontario. Two years in succession, in 1913 and 1914, the Conservatory orchestra won the coveted Ontario Musical Festival challenge shield sought by the assembled orchestras of the province. Shields awarded at the Peterborough Kiwanis Musical Festival in 1928 and 1929 are among other trophies which the orchestra and other groups under Mr. Gliddon's teaching and guidance won.

Auctioneer's Hammer.

Still, the sound of the auctioneer's hammer rang through the halls accustomed to the sacred strains of Bach, Wagner and Beethoven this afternoon. The effects of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music were being sold to the highest bidders, for the Conservatory is no longer to serve as a fountain of musical learning and appreciation for this region. A worthy institution has passed.

Of interest on this occasion is the account of the Conservatory's formal opening in the year 1905. Following are excerpts from the report which appeared in the issue of The Examiner for February 14, 1905:

"Last night the Peterborough Conservatory of Music was formally opened under auspices and circumstances which forecast a brilliant and successful future—if their promise is even partially fulfilled.

"The attendance corresponded in character with the splendid and high-class musical program presented, representing as it did the best elements of our citizenship. Throughout the music performed was of a uniquely high character and given with an artistic effect which was very satisfying. If the other members of the faculty are equal in their several spheres to those who delighted their cultured and critical audience last evening, the people of Peterborough have opportunities for the pursuit of musical art which leave little to be desired.

Well Adapted.

"It may be said in passing that the building itself is excellently adapted to the work of a Conservatory, though the spacious concert hall was quite inadequate to meet last night's unusual demands on its accommodation."

The late R. M. Dennistoun delivered the opening address. "It is with great pleasure that we all join to-night in marking the progress which Peterborough makes by having in our midst this handsome Conservatory of Music," he said. He characterized Rupert Gliddon as "a man who has labored unceasingly to elevate music to its proper position and to cultivate the musical taste of our citizens."

The original faculty was as follows: Harry Field, piano pedagogue; Herr August Wilhelm, voice; W. E. Fairclough, F.R.C.O., organ theory; Herr Heinrich Klingenfeld, violin; Alice Roger, piano theory; Estelle Foy, kindergarten; Helen Davies, voice; Wilhelmina Gumpricht, piano; Amy K. Bennet, art.

Mr. Gliddon intends to continue his residence in this city and maintain contact with his clientele. He is contemplating the opening of a private studio.

WOMEN TO ASSIST BRITISH CUSTOMS

Given Stiff Examinations But Not Expected to Catch Smugglers.

LONDON, July 13 (C.P.).—For the first time the British Government has taken on women as executive officers in the Department of Customs. They will be engaged in computing and charging duties—not in quay or dock work, the positions in the outdoor branch of the department being still closed to women.

"The authorities think that women are not competent to deal with the wily smuggler, but the women say they would do better than the men, especially with duties on so many articles of feminine dress," remarks the News Chronicle.

Twelve women were taken into the "inside" service, the maximum salaries to be from $3,000 to $3,500 a year.

Here are a few of the questions in general knowledge which the pioneer Customs women had to answer: "Self-government is better than good government. Discuss how far this statement applied to contemporary Europe? How do you account for the popularity of greyhound racing?

"Is there any social or scientific value, in your view, in the making of speed records? Do you consider that the development of wireless helps or hinders true musical appreciation?"

Builders in Australia have asked the Government to reduce customs tariffs on Douglas fir from America because no satisfactory substitute can be found at home.

WHAT'S THE OPENING BID?

Sometimes it puzzles a player to know whether he had better open the auction, and if so how high his first bid should be with a freak minor suit, such as South held when he dealt. Should he pass, it is improbable that some player will fail to bid. If an adversary starts the auction, South may outbid opponents for a loss. If South opens the bidding, shall he bid 4 clubs or 5 clubs? Such thoughts probably ran through South's head, as he looked long at his cards before deciding to bid 5 clubs. The game call was not so much with the idea of going game as with the fear that some player might venture to overcall 4, without daring to overcall 5. Perhaps South was right.

All passed the 5 clubs. The opening lead was the K of hearts, followed by the Q, and the declarer ruffed. He took two rounds of winning trumps, pulling all clubs outside his own hand.

To go game South could give opponents only one more trick than they already had won. Spades appeared to be the only suit in which an added trick might be won. There was no use in leading trumps, to attempt forcing favorable discards from opponents. South led the J of spades. West did not cover with the Q four times guarded. East's K won the trick. East led his K of diamonds. Dummy was in with the ace. To regain his own hand South led dummy's last heart, and ruffed. It was neck or nothing with South. He led his last spade, took the 10 finesse and won the trick. Dummy's ace of spades allowed South to discard his single losing diamond. Then he spread his cards for 5-odd.

Suppose West had violated the principles of covering with five to the Q of spades, when the J was led through his hand. Dummy's ace would have won the trick. The 9 falling from East's hand would have caused the declarer to lead back to a low spade, giving opponents their second trick. The result would have been the same. Declarer would have ruffed a heart return, or he would have won a diamond return, with dummy's ace. The good 10 of spades would have enabled South to obtain the single diamond discard necessary to go game. As the cards were held, nothing could have stopped game, after the two heart leads. Only an opening lead of a diamond would have troubled the declarer.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Vacationing is recognized as a necessity, on the grounds expressed by Dr. Depew long ago, that he could go a year's work in eleven months but not in twelve.

Vacations are useless, however, if they are not intelligently planned. A healthful vacation for one person would be simply a strain to another. The story of the physician who told one patient that what he needed was a regular daily walk, only to learn that he was giving this advice to a postman, is representative of unintelligent planning that is not always, as in this case, due to error.

The first quality of a vacation, then, must be a variation from the regular habits of the vacationer. The farmer does not go to the country, but to the Century of Progress. The piano mover does not plan violent exercise for his vacation.

For most of us, however, the best vacation is an outdoors trip close to nature. And here we come to the second important rule for the vacation: Be moderate. Don't overdo.

It is not healthful suddenly to leap from eight hours in an office chair to eight hours of strenuous exercise.

Sunlight is fine, but it can be vicious, too. Don't try to acquire a rich mahogany hue in two days.

Don't overeat on your vacation simply because you have a better appetite out of doors. If you are exercising strenuously, you will naturally want to add to your regular consumption, but if you are overweight, the exercise, with a reduction of 10 per cent. of your food intake, will give you the best sort of vacation results.

Swimming is the finest exercise for summer. But here, too, certain precautions are in order. Swimming is a deceptive form of exercise. The coolness of the water keeps down the feeling of fatigue that comes with perspiration and a heated feeling in other forms of exercise, and thus cuts you off from one of nature's warnings that you have had enough. The buoyancy of the water allows you to move many muscles without any feeling of strain, and operates in the same way. You move more muscles in swimming than in any other form of exercise, and if gradually entered into, it will result in splendid rewards, but do not go at it too strenuously at first.

Another warning about swimming concerns the ears. Never go in swimming when you have a head cold, as the infection is likely to be forced into the middle ear. Of course, never swim if you have a running ear. The idea that you are protecting your ears with a bathing cap and ear stoppers is not true, because the infection can enter by way of the nose and eustachian tube.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

BE BEAUTIFUL

A famous woman traveler who is now exploring the beauty spots of Japan, claims that it is not at all unusual to see a Japanese damsel seated in a barber chair getting a shave. Some of the women in Japan, it seems, have quite a heavy growth of hair on their upper lips. And as they feel that they cannot appear in public this way, they simply go in and have a shave, just as any man would.

In this country, of course, women don't patronize barber shops for shaves. In the first place, most of them do not have exceptionally heavy hair growths on their upper lips. And in the second place, when hair removal actually is essential, they use gentler and more scientific methods.

However, that superfluous hair problem certainly does become a complicated one during the summer months. Not facial hair, so much, but the coarser variety that appears on the arms and legs. Hairy arms and legs are most unattractive. And during the summer months, you can't very well hide them. Brief bathing suits, sleeveless frocks and shorts and the like, all render it impossible to conceal arms and legs made unattractive by superfluous hair.

The thing that must therefore be done, of course, is to effect complete removal of all such hair. If the growth is a slight, downy one, proper bleaching, as described in my "New Figure" booklet, may be sufficient. But otherwise, the hair should always be completely removed in order to give the arms and legs a smooth, clean appearance.

Of course, there are a good many different depilatories on the market that are effective for temporary removal. But just the other day I happened to learn of a new little article that can even be conveniently carried about in purses and beach bags. It is like a tiny mit that you slip on your hand. Then you merely rub the mit in circular strokes over your arms and legs, and presto! the hair is removed. This little mit is very inexpensive, and can even be procured in five-and-ten-cent stores. And it not only removes the hair from the skin, but also removes all dead cuticle, leaving the skin clear, soft and smooth.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Thighs.

Marion: Massage your thighs nightly with warmed coco butter to help fatten the tissues. Also practice leg exercises vigorously every day.

Reducing.

Caroline: It is indeed possible to eliminate that flabby fat from waist, hips, thighs and back. The method is fully described in my "New Figure" booklet, but is too long to print here.

Cosmetics.

Rosa: I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, soft orange rouge, and light lipstick would blend harmoniously with your coloring.

Hair.

Sally K.: It would be impossible for me to print my remedy for dandruff, and my method of administering hot oil treatments, in this brief space. Full information, however, is contained in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Weight.

Joan: You are about fifteen pounds overweight. According to your height and age, you should weigh only 112 pounds.

Baked custard is particularly good for the youngsters, as it helps to give them their required quota of milk. Enough potatoes may be baked at luncheon to cream for dinner.

Today's Recipes

Baked Custard—Two large eggs, one-third cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two cups evaporated milk, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon vanilla, dash nutmeg. Beat the eggs, add sugar and salt and beat well. Add the milk, boiling water, vanilla. Sprinkle a little sugar in the bottom of each cup and set them in a 350-degree oven to caramelize the sugar. Pour the custard mixture over the melted sugar, sprinkle nutmeg on top, set the cups in a pan of hot (not boiling) water and return to the oven to bake until the custard is set.

To test for doneness, a thin knife blade is inserted into the center. If it comes out clean the custard is done. All sorts of variations are possible. Put a spoonful of crushed drained pineapple in the bottom of each cup, or a pitted prune, a half apricot or peach. Use strong coffee in place of water in the above recipe. Add a half cup chopped dates or figs to the uncooked custard before baking.

Ham Loaf—to Serve 100.

Ten pounds ham, five pounds veal, five pounds fresh pork, two loaves white bread, four quarts milk, sixteen eggs, four onions, one tablespoon paprika, no salt as the ham provides plenty. Have the butcher grind all the meat. Cut crust off the bread, break in pieces and soak in the milk. Then add to the meat. Beat eggs slightly, grate onions, add paprika and mix thoroughly. Form into loaves and bake one and one-half hours. It is best to divide in four batches as it is easier to handle, each batch making two loaves, eight in all.

Two Killed, Score Hurt As Workmen Crash Into Soft Cement

At least two men were killed and a score injured when a section of wooden joists, supporting a freshly poured concrete roof of the new filtration plant at Toronto, caved in on workmen beneath. The men were mired in the soft cement and the fire department was called out to pour tons of water into it to prevent it from hardening and trapping the men. The accident happened almost without warning, although several men working near the edge of the roof jumped 24 feet. Others went down under the crashing timbers and cement blocks. Onlookers marvelled that only two were killed. The above shows the scene of the disaster, with the arrow pointing to where the two men were killed. Firemen are seen pouring water on the soft cement.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Vacations are queer sort of things, in that they are so often disappointing. The looked for combinations of circumstances do not arise, the best of what one had hoped for in the limited few days or weeks away from the routine of office, of home, never turns up, and the time of so-called "vacation" is at an end.

* * * * * * *

Vacation must first of all be in the heart to be successful. When it really exists there, a person might even pursue the same routine as formerly "if the spirit moved" and yet have had a vacation. The sense of responsibility, when removed, leaves the inclination free to dictate. Odd as it may seem, persons have been known to accomplish dreaded tasks of their own free will, and be happy in doing them, because of the absence of the sense of pressure usual to working days. When "vacationing" these hated jobs, have seemed "just no trouble at all."

* * * * * * *

The tragedy of vacations which do not "come off" as prescribed vacations in which a sense of disappointment prevails for lack of good weather, for a loss in cmpanionship, or any other of a number of reasons, is reducable by about ninety-nine percent, if the person embarking on the vacation can look upon it as an adventure in which the unknown quanttiy is not too exactly measured. Not to count the hazards too closely, beforehand, is to increase one's possibility of enjoying what comes. Let the heart be free and the mind be open. The vacation alone can be considered a failure in which the person taking it is either too ill to find pleasure in anything or too dogmatic in his demands to enjoy another kind of happiness than the exact kind he has mapped out.

* * * * * * *

Some of the best vacationers known to the writer, made a habit of enjoying whatever came, from the moment the vacation was declared, to the moment it was over. Neither fog on the water, drenching rain on land, a change in plans for the event, nor a limited amount of spending money, could dampen the unquenchable spirit of fun in which they embarked on any holiday. In this way, and only in this way, with vacation in the heart, can one be insured against disappointment, and get the fullest rations of fun from days meant to be glorious.

U.S. Expedition Off For Wilds of Tibet On Hunt For Rare And Spectacular Panda

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—That giant lizard that has been eating a dozen eggs at a meal at the Bronx Zoo may, before long, have a panda for a playmate.

In search of the giant panda, one of the most spectacular animals in existence, Lawrence K. Griswold will leave on another expedition in September.

It wast Griswold who brough three of the lizard giants this spring from the Dutch East Indies. His next expedition, the panda quest, will take him to Tibet.

Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals and reptiles at the Bronx Zoo, said to-day that if the Griswold party brings a panda back, it will be one of the Zoo's "star" animals.

No zoo has exhibited a giant panda alive, he said, and to his knowledge the only ones in the country are three mounted in Philadelphia.

In shape, the animal is like a bear, the curator said. But it has strange black and white marking and a white face, with two black rings around the eyes. These give it the appearing of wearing spectacles.

Little is known about its habit for it lives only in the high mountains of Tibet and Eastern China. One pass through which the Griswold party will go is snow-bound 10 months in the year.

JERKED FROM TRUCK.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 12 (C.P.).—Riding on top of a truck load of baled straw, John Shaw, 18, of Chatham, was jerked from his lofty perch by a low hanging telephone wire stretched across the Harwich-Howard town line near McKay's Corners. The youth is in St. Joseph's hospital here, suffering from severe head and back injuries. Doctors have not yet determined whether there is a fracture of the skull.

SUMMER STUNTS

TORONTO, July 12 (CP)—Circus stunts by six boys nearly ended in tragedy at Lambton Mills, near here, when one lad was transformed into a living torch. The boys set the surface of a pool alight with gasoline, intending to dive through the "ring of fire." The bathing suit of the injured boy caught fire from the flames. All six boys promptly dived into the darkness as firemen rushed to the pond. The name of the injured lad is not known.

Weddings

FOWLER—BLADE

Murray Street Church was the picturesque setting for an interesting wedding Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock when Marion Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Blade became the bride of John Henry (Harry) Fowler of Smith Township, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Fowler. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe officiated. Mr. Arthur Collison prayed the wedding music. The church was artistically decorated with baskets of Madonna lilies, orange blossoms, pink peonies, blue larkspur and gysophilia.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of pink mouseline de soie made on long fitted lines trimmed with circular frills. With this she wore a rose taffeta cape and sash, a white lace straw picture hat with gloves and shoes to match. Her bouquet was of Killarney roses and gypsophilia. Miss Margaret Blade, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and Miss Adrienne Mathews was the bridesmaid. Miss Blade wore a lovely dress of blue organza and pink sash, white picture hat and matching accessories and carried a colonial nosegay of butterfly roses and for-get-me-nots. Miss Mathews wore a dainty gown of flowered yellow chiffon, with large white, hat, gloves and shoes and carried a colonial nosegay of Joanna Hill roses and baby's breath. Mr. Allen Edmison, cousin of the groom was best man. The ushers were Mr. Harry Archer and Mr. Jack Miller.

A reception was held afterwards at the home of the bride's parents which was beautifully decorated with summer flowers. Mrs. Blade was becomingly gowned in biege chiffon, with leghorn hat and matching gloves and shoes and wore a corsage of pink carnations and was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Fowler, mother of the groom who wore printed black and white crepe, black and white hat and a corsage of English sweet peas.

Following the buffet luncheon the bride and groom left by motor for their honeymoon, the bride travelling in a grey and blue check swagger suit, grey halo hat and matching accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, Jr., will make their home in Smith.

THE NEW YORK state racing commission has at last thrown down the gauntlet to Tommy Gorman at Syracuse. The edict is this: To either stop the option form of betting he has been carrying on or forfeit his charter. Our guess is that Tommy will have to do what he is told. His first meeting closes to-morrow so it will not interfere much until the fall session and by that time Tommy will have probably figured out some other system to keep a couple of jumps ahead of the powers that be. He is far better than a novice at the racing game.

The Fort Erie meeting reached the half-way mark on Wednesday evening and is still going strong.

Down at Rockingham they are doing a wonderful business. In fact, it has been so good that they are talking of building a million dollar plant right in Boston. It takes three-quarters of an hour to go from the centre of the city to Rockingham, and they figure a track right up town would attract twice as many. When you see Springsteel entered in a handicap event it will be the signal to go and get on him, as he is right in the pink. He is capable of stepping in the most select company, and this includes them all. Also at the same place is a sprinter called De Valera, who can turn on the juice with any of them. He was a standout around Florida last winter, and has lost none of his speed since.

Kiwanis Cop 4th Straight Victory

CLUBMEN BEAT CAMPBELLFORD BY 19-8 COUNT

Petes Show Superiority at Combiantion and Shooting to Grab Verdict.

LEAD FROM START.

Kiwanis lacrossers took their fourth O.A.L.A. victory in as many starts this season in Campbellford last night by a 19-8 count, having a decided advantage the last half. They dished up better combination and shooting to grab the verdict, besides playing better defensively. The visiting crew led, 4-2, the first quarter, 7-4 at half-time, and 13-6 going into the last quarter. It was a fairly lively game before about a hundred fans, with both sides inclined to rough it up in the later stages.

Routley, Jones and E. Creighton—newcomers to the Petes' team this year—all played bangup lacrosse and figured in many of the goals. The rest of the squad also dished up a smart display to outclass the Maroons. Red Creighton repeatedly robbed them of goals with a brilliant performance in the net. Becky Jack was cut severely over the eye just before the whistle ended the second frame, but he scored the goal he was working in for before he dropped. C. Runions in the opposite net stopped many tough ones and had little chance on most of those that beat him. B. Runions, Hendy and Ingram all played a good game for the losers.

The teams:

Kiwanis: Goal, R. Creighton; defence, Miller and Magee; rover, Routley; wings, King and Jack; centre, Dundas; alternates, Hope, Jones, E. Creighton and Lebarr.

Campbellford: Goal, C. Runions; defence, Ingram and Copperthwaite; rover, Flint; wings, Smith and Hendy; centre, E. Bush; alternates, C. Bush, Hendricks, B. Runions and Blue.

ROYALS SHADE BEARS' LEAD IN KNAPP RACE

Newark Suffers Another Setback in Their Current Road Trip.

LEAFS WASHED OUT.

(By The Associated Press)

The pitfalls of baseball road trips are well known and Newark Bears, pace-setters in the International League, seem to have fallen into all of them in the course of their current jaunt into the north.

Starting out on their trip with a lead of five games over Toronto and six over the Rochester Redwings, the Bears have dropped six decisions in 11 starts against Syracuse, Buffalo, Toronto and Montreal and to-day found the Redwings, the current runners-up only 2½ games behind them.

Too Much for Blair

Another half game was shaved off Newark's fast-shrinking lead last nigtht when the Bears dropped a 12-11 decision to the Royals at Montreal while Rochester was held idle by rain. Fresco Thompson's fifth hit of the game, a single, drove home the winning run in the ninth. The former major league infielder hit a home run inside the park in the second and added three singles before his game-winning safety in the final frame. It was Montreal's sixth successive victory under the lights without a defeat, and put them in a virual tie with Albany Senators for fourth place.

Syracuse Ties Buffalo

Johnny Watwood's home run with two on in the ninth enabled Syracuse to tie Buffalo, 7-7, and the Chiefs went on from there to win a night game, 8-7. The winning run came on Bill Sweeney's single, a sacrifice, an infield out and Clarence Blair's scratch hit in the 10th. The Bisons collected 14 hits off Jimmy McCloskey in the eight innings he worked but Bobb Combs held them to one hit in the last two frames and received credit for the victory.

The other tyo scheduled games were rained out.

"Dad'll Be Pitching Soon," Grove Tells His Daughter

It was perhaps a bit ironic that while Carl Hubbell who was out there toiling as the National League's starting pitcher in the all-star game against the American League, Moses "Lefty" Grove was languishing in hospital after a tonsils operation. Hubbell, presented with the baseball writer's plaque as most valuable player in 1933, went out and struck out six of the American League's biggest gunners in two innings, thereby earning undying fame. Lefy Grove has also been known as one of baseball's outstanding southpaws but has this year faded badly. In form, it would have been a rare duel between Grove and Hubbell—despite the best efforts of Gomez for the American Leaguers. The photo above shows Grove telling his daughter Doris to tell the world that "Dad will be in ball games again pretty quick—and he'll be winning too. No more lame arms with my tonsils out!"

RUPPERT CLAN BEATEN 4-2 BY COCHRANE'S BORDERITES

Detroit Occupies First Place By One Percentage Point—White Sox Score in Ninth to Triumph Over Athletics—Second Place Cubs' Cut Lead of Giants to One Full Game.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. A.P. Sports Writer.)

Detroit Tigers, who seem to like nothing better than a good scrap, had regained the American League lead to-day by the simple but effective expedient of licking the one club that was head of them, New York Yankees.

It was strictly Detroit's day yesterday as the Tigers set out to do something about the Yanks' set of brilliant performances that has kept them ahead since June 25, despite Detroit's equally fine work.

And when it was all over the score read: Detroit 4; New York, 2; the figures in the percentage column were Detroit, .628; New York, .62, and both teams were looking forward to three remaining battles of the series.

Spurred on by the largest weekday crowd of the season at Navin Field, 20,000, the Tigers spotted their rivals a run in the first inning, got to Johnny Broaca for two in the same frame and then stayed ahead through Schoolboy Rowe's fine pitching and some great fielding behind him. Rowe's contribution to his 10th victory of the season and Detroit's sixth n a row was to give only six hits, all in the first six innings, and to strike out 11.

While the Yanks were going down in their important clash, New York Giants also were taking a setback in a slightly less important series. The Giants got only an even break in a double-header with Pittsburgh, and wound up just one game ahead of Chicago, which took a single decision from Boston.

Lefty Larry French was Pittsburgh's means of breaking a "jinx" which had beaten the Bucs six straight games against New York. He turned in a fine six-hit game to win, 3-1, in the opener as Gus Suhr and Earl Grace supplied homers for the deciding runs. The Giants concentrated their hitting in the second game, when they belted Ralph Birkofer out to score six runs in the first inning and won, 11-1, with 16 blows to back Carl Hubbell's six-hit flinging. Hubbell, winning his 13th game of the year, gave only one hit in the first five frames.

Chicago's advance was largely the result of the misguided efforts of a crippled Boston infield. The Cubs won, 7-4, and four of their runs came through Brave errors as Bill Urbanski was laid up with a charley horse and the revamped inner-defense failed to function.

Twin Breaks in Doubles

Two other doubleheaders on the National League program resulted in even break. The third-place Cardinals defeated the Phillies, 8-5, in a game that turned into a slugfest after Pitcher Paul Dean sprained an ankle sliding into a base in the third inning. The Phils kept right on clouting behind Curt Davis, and won the second game, 8-3. The Dodgers and Reds provided the lighter touch in a pair of games, which produced a total of 52 hits, including a pair of circuit swats by Gordon Slade. Brooklyn won the first game, 9-7, and Cincinnati the second, 13-5.

Athletics Lose Again

Down at the bottom of the American League standing, the White Sox defeated the Athletics, 3-2, when a ninth inning run decided a duel between George Earnshaw and Merrit Cain after Bob Johnson had pasted his 26th homer for the A's to tie Jommie Foxx for the major league lead. The Washington-Cleveland contest, the only other game on the schedule, was rained out.

KNOX BEATEN IN FINAL GAME

Fixture Develops Into One-sided Affair in Late Innings For East City Win.

TOTAL SCORE 22-5.

Mark Street Seniors won the championship of their section of the Church Softball League last night by beating Knox, 22 to 5, in the third playoff game. It started out as a good game but developed into a one-sided affair. M. Feruson pitched a nice game for the Easterners with only R. Charlton and Morrison able to solve him, getting six hits between them, two of the former's being doubles. His team made a bunch of errors but none of them proved very costly. Hunter fielded well himself and had good support from Parsons.

Ferguson started for Knox but allowed eleven runs in six frames and gave way to Wedlock, who was clouted hard the last two innings. The Knox infield was weak. Captain Brady led his team at bat with a double and three singles, while Townsend hit a triple and double. A lare crowd watched the game in the Oval. Following the game, the shield was presented by John Donaldson, teacher of the Knox Young Men's Bible Class to Bill Brady, captain of the winners. Mark Street now plays a series with St. James Juniors, champions also in the Church League. The teams:

Knox—Gatfield, 2b; R. Charlton, lf; Morrison, 1b; W. Masters, c; McDonald, cf; G. Masters, rf, 3b; Allen, 3b; Smythe, rf; J. Ferguson, p, ss; Wedlock, ss, p.

The National League members of the Big Six gained on their American League rivals in yesterday's array of doubleheaders. Heinie Manush and Cecil Travis were idle and Charley Gehringer dropped a couple of points from his average when he failed to connect on his two official times at bat.

Bill Terry registered a three-point gain, and his teammate, Mel Ott, smacked his way into the Big Six in Paul Waner's place. Terry hit four times in eight attempts, while Ott rapped five out of nine safely. Sam Leslie hit only twice in seven tries, losing a point.

A friend has been after me for two years to play tennis. I've put off playing with him, not because I don't like the game, but on account of the havoc it plays with my golf.

I finally went out for a couple of sets on the court. The very next day I had to appear on the stage doing some rather difficult shots. That day and the next in the theatre were nothing short of torture.

I had developed considerable right hand through playing tennis. Every golfer knows there's nothing that will wreck his swing quicker than too much right hand.

What he doesn't realize is the vast number of things he does during the day which cultivate the right and cause him to neglect his left. Exercising the right hand alone certainly can't improve your golf swing.

Next—Scoring versus Playing Well.

Schoolboy Rowe, Tigers — fanned eleven Yanks in pitching six-hit game and contributed two hits to own victory.

If the weather's right tonight, C.G.E. and Fosters will meet at six in an E.P.L. ball game down at the Exhibition Grounds. If Fosters have strengthened up since their last performance over a week ago, it should be a good battle. They intended to and have been digging around for players, but we ddn't hear how they made out. No doubt, several new faces will be seen in their lineup which will be a break all around. C.G.E. has dropped two recently to Cogs and somebody will have to pay for those two reverses, by gum! Drop down and give the boys the once-over—it may turn out to be a fine ball game.

Kiwanis lacrossers up and grabbed off another win last night, sashaying down Campbellford way and then ankling home in the wee sma' hours with the swollen side of a 19-8 count. The local have only played four so far this summer and have copped the duke in 'em all. You can't do much better than that. They play Cobourg here tomorrow at 2.30 in Riverside, and boys and gals that ought to be a swell scrap. Last time they met, Kiwanis nosed out a win by one goal—and a one-goal margin in lacrosse is closer than the landlord to the first of the month!

• • • • • • •

Box lacrosse is an exciting game, with the livelier parts of rasslin', hockey and soulpturing thrown in. The boys travel fast, neither sparing themselves nor the other guys, and some of the checking is just this side of mayhem. It has its artistic side too, in the smart pivoting and classy stickhandling, not forgetting the thrill of a perfect bit of combination that winds up with the ball back of a chagrined goalie. Played outdoors in the warm weather and in a spot like Riverside Park, it should prove a real attraction. The fact that the teams Saturday are both fast and experienced, besides being well-matched, makes it an ideal offering.

• • • • • • •

Campbellford wasn't at full strength last night, but they put up a good fight the first two frames. After that, the Kiwanians turned it on in earnest and rammed in a flock of nifty counters, besides checking the Maroons into the ground. This sort of made some of the losers peeved and they cut loose with the gad and play roughened up. But the winners had the edge as far as straight lacrosse went and worked methodically to pile up the count. We wouldn't be too surprised to see Campbellford drop out of the loop one of these days.

• • • • • • •

Picking individual stars is generally tough when a whole team is clicking well, but we particularly liked the work of Routley, Emmett Creighton and Jones for the Petes, while Red Creighton, Miller and King also went good. Becky Jack gave a grand display of courage when he was boring in for a goal late in the second period. He was cut down hard by Copperwaite, who drew a five-minute penalty—a cut being opened over his eye that required two stitches. But Jack staggered in and got his shot away to score a goal before he fell. Hendy, though a bit wild at times, went okay for the Maroons with Ingram and Runions both effective. If they'd field their strongest team, Campbellford could give Kiwanis a mighty tough evening.

• • • • • • •

The Church Softball League senior title was decided up at Nicholls Oval last p.m., Mark St. putting the skids to Knox, 22-5, in the third and deciding game. The Ashburnham boys had a large following of the fair sex on deck to cheer 'em along, and this encouraged them muchly. It's surprising what a whale of a difference a few feminine yells make, and no doubt the Knox buckaroos would have done better if they had thought to bring along a lasses' rooting chorus. The juvenile finalists, George St. and Knox, clash up at the Oval this eve.

• • • • • • •

It is often said to be poor policy to slip ball players their batting averages when they are in the thick of a race. Seems the boys immediately forget the race and begin concentrating on boosting the average, maybe trying to smack the cover off the ball in a pinch when a bunt would be the play. However, since none of the locals' batting mark is high enough to cause any swelled heads, we're running the present averages to-day. Over .300 is considered good, and ov er .250 is fair. Below that isn't so hot and less'en .200 is quite poor. Over .400 is great, but why go into that as none of the Petes have been within a half-mile of that this year—that is none of the regulars.

• • • • • • •

Tommy Foley is back in his accustomed place on the top rung with a neat .333, while Len Hollingsworth's big day against Oshawa last Wednesday has jacked him up to .316. Konopka has .295 and Murray .289, with Red Dallin right behind with .286 and Ash hitting .283. Ike Batten is next with .279, and after that the boys should be ashamed of themselves. Runs batted in are more important than hitting baverages, and here Foley and Murray are tops with ten each. Konopka banged home eight, and Hollingsworth and Whatley half a dozen apiece. Well, as long as the Petes—as a team—are winning, why worry about their averages?

TIREMEN BREAK BRINTON STREAK

Dorrington Carries Off Slugging Honors With Three Hits Out of Five Times Up.

FINAL SCORE 9-6.

Johnston Tiremen finally halted Brinton Carpet's winning streak by taking them into camp last night at Central to the tune of 9-6. Thee game, played before a small crowd of fans, while not very exciting, was productive of good softball, many fine fielding plays being made and few errors displayed. The playing field was rather muddy and this paved the way for several scratch hits, which would ordinarily have been outs.

Jimmy Price got the starting nod for Johnstons but in the second inning went decidedly haywire, three runs being scored against him and had to be replaced by Elliott, who did a swell job of relief hurling. The latter, although hit rather hard at times, kept the hits well scattered and bore down in the pinches and for his term of seven and two-third innings on the mound, allowed the heavy hitting Brinton sluggers only three runs. Ross Currie, on the rubber for the Carpetmen throughout the contest, managed to settle down after a bad start and held the opposition well in hand during the latter stages of the game but the Deckmen had already piled up too big a lead and the Brintons were forced to absorb their first loss in twelve starts.

Dorrington, slugging third baseman for the Deck gang, carried off the hitting honors, getting three hits out of five trips to the plate, a triple, double and a single, followed closely by Webb Starr with three singles and Tom Montgomery with a single and triple out of four times at bat. For the Sturgeon crew Johnny Playford, fleet-footed centre fielder, connected for three out of five, including two three baggers and a single while G. Dormer had three singles for five appearances at the plate, to lead their team at bat.

In the field, Anderson, left fielder for the Tiremen, pulled off numerous spectacular catches as did Playford for Brintons. One double play was completed by the yellow and red-shirted players, a Weir to H. Dormer twin-killing in the eighth.

Johnston Tires—Starr, c; Dorrington, 3b; Anderson, lf; Montgmoery, rf; Ellis, 1b; Crary, ss; Kitchen, cf; Stanger, 2b; Price, p; Elliott, p.

Brintons—Newson,, 3b; Smith, 1b; Weir, lf; Currie, p; Playford, cf; Bradshaw, 2b; H. Dormer, 2b; Webb, rf; Williamson, rf; W. Calladine, rf; G .Dormer, ss; Dugan, c; P. Calladine, c.

LACROSSE TANGLE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Kiwanis and Cobourg Clubs Will Meet To-morrow at Riverside Park.

To-morrow at 2.30 in Riverside Park, the first—and perhaps the only—Saturday afternoon lacrosse game will be played. Cobourg and the Peterborough Kiwanis, the top two teams in this O.A.L.A. group, meet in this fixture and it promises to be a fast, exciting and close battle, packed with action. The Kiwanis have won four out of four to date and Cobourg has lost one to them by one goal. They will be out for vengeance and bringing their strong team, composed of husky, fast and experienced players.

Since there is no baseball game in Riverside that day, there should be a big crowd. Lacrosse is a highly-exciting pastime and deserves a better local following as Peterborough always fields a fine team. They went into Campbellford last night and, in a rough battle, came out with a 19-8 victory. The Petes are hoping to cop this group title and go right through to the Ontario championship this year. So fans are advised to go now and watch a coming team in action. V. Reynols will be one referee, and there is a possibility of Dit Clapper, Boston pro hockey star, being the other since he has been invited and has promised to make it if he can.

(By The Associated Press)

Gus Suhr, Pirates, and Carl Hubbel, Giants—Suhr's homer was winning run in first game; Hubbell pitched six-hit ball in win second.

Eddie Madjeski, White Sox—Drove in ninth inning run that beat Athletics.

Johnny Frederick, Dodgers, and Gordon Slade, Reds.—Frederick made four straight hits in first game; Slade hit homer in each game of double-header.

TWO CHAMPIONS IN THE FINALS

Len Wadsworth Hamilton and Billy Marquart of Winnipeg Score Victories.

IN BOXING TRIALS.

(By Harold McNamara, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP)—The ranks of temporarily forgotten men of the Canadian amateur fistic world were considerably larger today. Fourteen more of the 57 young hopefuls who set out two night ago in search of positions on the Canadian boxing team to travel to the British Empire Games were stricken from the list last night in an evening of gory battling that saw two knockouts, the first of the tournament.

The only two Canadian champions to see action during the night, Len Wadsworth, Hamilton's 160-pound title-holder, and Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, 126-pound Dominion champion, scored victories to advance to the final rounds. Wadsworth's was one of the most impressive wins of the night.

Marquart's victory was by a narrower margin. The luck of the draw brought him up against Aldie Myberg, classy Port Arthur, Ont, 15-year-old youngster. Nyberg had been knocked out in the second round when the two met in the Dominion finals at Toronto earlier in the summer, and was out for vengeance. He opened fast, slitting Marquart's eye as the two boys indulged in some toe-to-toe slugging. One of Marquart's vicious hooks cut Nyberg's head in the second round. The boys weren't worried by a bit of blood, however. They slugged it out right up to the final bell. Nyberg appeared to hold a slight edge despite the decision of the judges. The vote was two to one.

The second knockout came in the final fight of the night, when Tommy Osborne, Montreal, Quebec provincial 176-pound title-holders, met up with Edward Keating, Winnipeg. Osborne staged a slashing display and pounded Keating for the count in the final round.

Charley Evans, Kingston, Ont., earned a decision over Bill Lassie, Fort William, Ont., in the 135-pound class.

Tommy Foley Leads Batting Averages

With eleven of their C.O.B.L. games played and the season half over, Tommy Foley is leading the Petes' bating averages with a mark of .333, while he and Bud Murray are tied for runs batted in, with ten apiece. Len Hollingsworth, in six games, has boosted his average to .316 and has driven in six markers. The top hitter on this club, in ten or more games, wins the gold watch offered by M. E. Knox. Only two of the local regulars are hitting over .300, and one has been in only the six contests. Following are the averages to date:

EXPECTED PREMIER HEPBURN WILL ERADICATE CONDITIONS NOT IN INTEREST OF RACING

Offering of Special Inducements to Attend Race Courses Frowned Upon.

REVENUE LOSS CLAIMED.

Powers of Canadian Racing Association Subject of Legal Opinion.

TORONTO, July 13.—A definite stand is expected by racing interests opposing ladies day and 25-cent admissions as harmful to the sport, from Premier Hepburn. Interests awaiting a conference with the Premier said yesterday that they hoped he would take some steps immediately to eradicate conditions which have crept into racing.

Those associations opposing the special inducements made by some associations to attract a certain type of patronage protested to the Henry Government and were led to believe that the condition complained of could be corrected only by legislation which would be provided at the last session of the Legislature.

The associations providing the ladies' days and the 25-cent admissions, which means loss of revenue to the Provincial Treasury, are, therefore free to follow the same policy this year unless the Premier intervenes at once.

Loss to Provincial Treasury

As an inducement to attract business on all days except Saturday and holidays, certain associations fixed their admission price at 25 cents, thus escaping the payment of amusement tax. While the racegoer who took advantage of the 25-cent admission, was often under the impression that the quarter went to the Government, the money instead went into the treasury of the association.

One association last year secured $12,000 in this manner, it is said. On the same day that race-goers were entering for 25 cents, the other race-goer who presented a pass paid his 25 cents for amusement tax, which went into the treasury.

The situation was that practically all who entered certain courses on certain days paid 25 cents, but a small portion of the collection reached the Provincial Treasury.

"Our hope is that the Premier will do something for the taxpayer of the Province, and at the same time something for racing," said an official of one racing association. "That one person can enter a race course with a pass and his 25 cents go to the Government, while another person entering, perhaps at the same gate, should drop 25 cents into a basket or pail which goes into the treasury of the association is absurd."

Interesting Legal Opinion

An interesting opinion was given yesterday by a well known lawyer concerning the powers of I.C.R.A., a joint stock company without share capital. He pointed out that the I.C.R.A. was powerless to control racing associations which refused to submit to its jurisdiction, and through the withdrawal of two companies composing the associations the original purpose of the incorporation was defeated. This lawyer suggested that the attempt on the part of the associations to take to itself the right to collect fees and levy fines, if racing was regarded as a business, might be construed as a combine in restraint of trade.

"I wonder what the position would be if H. C. Hatch and Lloyd Gentry, his trainer, were to take the attitude that they were engaged in the business of breeding and racing horses, which is part of the breeding business? This is a point which appears to have been overlooked entirely, but it appears to be vital," he said.

To-night we are to have as our guests eight rinks from the Port Hope Bowling Club. It is just their annual visit. Our boys always turn out to give these visitors a royal welcome.

And the other reason for expecting a big crowd is the generous offer of "Jimmy" Matthews of the Sunshine Dairy Co. Remember every bowler will be treated to a bottle of milk chocolate, and then some lucky rink will get the special prize, namely, four pounds of Sunshine Dairy butter.

All we ask is that the boys get behind the committee and do a little boosting—give the board a break. Be on time. There will be a big crowd.

Last night Reg. Dyer's rink continued their winning streak. Reg has not lost a scheduled game this season. Robt. Hendry is leading his group with only one more game to play.

Howard Clegg shook the jinx last night, when, at the expense of "Georgie" Gimblett, he won his first schedule game.

In the ladies' section, Mrs. R. Hendry's rink is ahead—not having lost a game so far.

And Carl Hubbell, ace southpaw of the National League, struck them out, one after the other.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 47

Pelham's jaw worked. It was a vile story.

"How long do you think it's been doing on, this deception?"

"That illness he had on Lady Ida's yacht looks like the time—as a guess. Say, when he fell ill, she deplored her position to some friend should Jackie die, and Westmacott marry again and have a family? Suppose this some one suggests getting hold of some one who could play the part perfectly during the very few times that Jacky is inspected? It seems to be around that very time that Mrs. de Souza took Lord Mills' villa by the sea. Just along the stretch of the coast where the yacht was lying, and where it often put in. Lady Ida would need help in getting hold of a substitute. Strange is much older than Jacky would be, I think, but no one could tell that who sees him with his face all screwed up, and twisted into ball shapes on the floor. Lady Ida could hardly have searched for him, I think, herself. It would have been too risky."

"Do you think this valet, Craven, knows the real truth?"

"I feel sure he doesn't. Which is probably why Jacky keeps up his old fondness for biting and clawing at wooden balls, and for bananas, and so on. . . . I don't think Lady Ida's son is in it either, but that notion is simply founded on the fact that no one but a fool trusts a fool with a secret."

"Lady Ida's certainly not that! By Jove!" Pelham rose and lit a cigar with kindling eye. "By Jove, that accounts for her virulent hatred of Miss Henrietta Naylor. It's positively indecent. But natural if she had prevented Etta from marrying the man who loved her. There's a title coming some day, and every inch of land Westmacott has is entailed by his father. Gad, if you're right, and I don't doubt you are, what a pity rope-ending at the tail of a cart has gone out of fashion." Then Pelham's eyes widened. He saw where Pointer was driving the ball.

"You think that this—this secret, this infamous secret, was suspected or stumbled on by Tait, and that that was why he was poisoned?"

"It looks like it, sir. He talks to his cousin about believing in a devil. To a friend of Westmacott's the trick being played on him would seem devilish indeed."

Pelham nodded fiercely.

"If I'm right, Tait must have been suspicious of the truth when he went to see this Jacky yesterday morning. And must have shown his suspicion, perhaps in a talk with Lady Ida, or the poisoned boutonniere wouldn't have been got ready for him. It's possible that the real boy had some mark on him to which Craven may have innocently referred, or of which Westmacott may have written. . . . Anyway, Tait goes to Palace Green determined to find out the truth. But in some way they hoodwink him there, or manage to postpone the real test. At any rate, —all this is still quite foggy yet, sir, I think he thought of something when, just on the point of telling his fiancee about it, he dashed off for a few minutes—possibly to go back to Palace Green—and dropped dead on the way."

"If this yarn is anywhere near the truth," Pelham said slowly, "Lady Ida would know that her explanations would only satisfy him for the time being. For, do you know, I had a talk this morning with a business friend of Tait's. And he happened to mention a peculiarity of his. Said you had to give him time to reflect on things. That any infant could hoodwink Tait while he talked to him—the man was extraordinarily susceptible to plausible suggestions for the moment, but give him time, and no fraud, however clever, could blind him. But he had to be able to look it over again, mentally, by himself. But, now to go back, the poison used, makes one of course think of Mrs. de Souza, who has spent many a winter along the Mediterranean, apart from being the widow of a Portuguese. At least I suppose he was that, if he ever existed."

Pelham paused for Pointer to continue the tale of possibilities.

"My idea is, sir, that Strange bought some of these artificial boutonnieres down at the Ricci's hair shop. I don't think the choice was accidental. Nothing in a murder is, as a rule. That would mean that he, or Lady Ida, or some one associated with him, knew all about the Ricci's and their feeling towards John Tait, and knew therefore that they would be safe suspects."

"I wonder if this whole deception is Strange's?" Pelham said. . . . Pointer thought this highly improbable. . . . "Nor do I see what Strange has to gain, except by being a paid actor doing a permanent part in which he's been engaged," he objected. "Without good pay the task would be too loathsome. It's anything but an easy job, and he threw himself into it splendidly. No, sir, I feel sure that he's a party to a regular business proposition. From which they all draw handsome profits. So much to whoever procured him. So much to Jacky——"

"And the rest to Lady Ida!" Pelham nodded. "Well, after Strange buys the boutonnieres, what next?"

"Then my guess is, sir, that he takes them to Miss Dundas' studio. And that either there, or at her own house, some one—Mrs. de Souza say—dips one in poison and dries it. I doubt if any poison entered the house in Palace Green. But there's no openly known connection between Mrs. de Souza and Tait. We shall search both places, of course, but my belief is that it will be in the flat we find it. I don't believe any of them think they're suspected, in which case, I should expect to find the poison still in existence. It must be very difficult to get in England. It doesn't alter, the doctors say, however long it's kept. Certainly I think Miss Dundas feels sure there is more where it came rom. If the poisoning was done at the studio itself, and if the poison is kept there, my men have failed to find any traces. They've been at work there, and have reported a total blank."

"And this Miss Dundas, is she in the poisoning of Tait?" Pelham ponderéd.

"I don't think so, sir." Pointer replied slowly. "I think his death was a terrible shock, a real shock to her. But she's pretty certainly mixed up in the blackmail business both of him and of Lord Mills. That being so, as I read it, she's threatened with being shown up and sent to prison by her confederates if she tries to speak to us about Tait. As I read her," Pointer went on, "she's about as much pluck as she has morals—which is to not a speck of either in her whole make-up. For such a coward, she turned down a terrible road when she let them use her as a decoy."

"We've learned," Pelham glanced at a paper, "that she and the de Souza woman stopped either at the same place or at the same hotel with both those men—Mills and Tait. By the way, as you thought, that pitiful tale of dependent parents is a myth. We've learned from the people who let the studio to her mother, or rather who sold her the lease, that that good lady is dead. She was an artist's model who married the artist. He took to pottery, and died when the one child—this Gillian—was about 15. The mother struggled along for another three years supporting them both by china painting, mending pottery, making gloves, doing small decorative repairs. She seems to've worked for some good houses. When she died, Gillian was taken as companion by Mrs. de Souza. The studio was generally let to artists, but there's been no complaint about the rent, it's been paid regularly by Miss Dundas."

"Worked for good houses. . . ." Pointer repeated thoughtfully, "the daughter would accompany her mother probably. . . . I wonder. . . . My first idea was that blackmail was at the root of Mr. Tait's murder. Blackmail that was afraid of being shown up. He was so determined to clear Brown from any question of being implicated in a murder But I couldn't see why Miss Dundas bolted, as she did, from Mrs. de Souza. Now it looks as though she had overheard something, which gave her an inkling as to what was on foot at Westmacott's house."

"And tried to warn Tait without it being known."

For Saturday, July 14.

While there may be some activity, with fresh and interesting developments in some directions, according to the planetary configurations, yet the day is likely to unfold its modicum of adverse circumstances, with stubborn obstacles, perplexities, fears and anxieties, which may be combatted by patience, perseverance and indomitable will—heightened by a fair aspect of the aggressive Mars.

Those whose birthday it is may have an active and pleasant year, with some profitable developments, but yet have depressions, fears, anxieties and obstacles to overcome by patience, perseverance and courage. Employment brings favors and the private relations bring offsetting advantages and happiness.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, courageous and persistent, yet in a measure inclined to depressions and seriousness. It may be fond of profound study and deep thought.

Germany Can Resist France And League

Says German Minister of Propaganda and Enlightenment Goebbels (1) of the Saar Valley: "Come what may, Germany can resist France and the League." Declare Baron Aloiso (2), Italian rapporteur: "The Council affirms its intention to fulfill all the duties incumbent thereon as regards preparation for and the carrying out of the plebiscite in the Saar Basin in January, 1935, in such a way as to secure the freedom, secrecy and trustworthiness of the voting."

Observers Agree Nazis Will Win Back Rich Coal Fields From France.

PRACTICALLY ALL GERMAN

(By Arno Dosch-Fleurot, Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

SAARBRUCKEN, July 13.—This little piece of rolling country, the Saar coal belt, is to-day the bone of contention in a three-cornered fight between Germany, the League of Nations and France.

It is the worst immediate menace to the peace of Europe because it is a German country which hides billions of tons of coal under its soft contours which were given to France to exploit for 15 years by the Treaty of Versailles. Now the reckoning is due in a plebiscite which the Saarlanders must wait for until January, 1935.

The Saar region is so small that I have driven over most of it in half a day. Coal-towns, clean, sootless; concentrated factory towns with workers who are also mostly farmers; an industrial region which has escaped the course of griminess. It has the thickest population to the square mile of a region on the continent, but a Germanic sense of order and proportion save it from crowding. Most of it is covered with waving grain-fields and stately forests.

For fourteen and a half years it has lived rather peacefully and profitably under the commission of the League of Nations. Some commissioners have been popular, others not. In six months will be the plebiscite at which the Saarlanders can vote for union with Germany or France, or to remain under the league commission.

Practically All German

There is not the slightest chance of more than a narrow stretch along the Lorraine frontier voting for France. The people are practically all German, the original inhabitants being Rhinelanders and the city folk, especially in Saarbrucken, Prussians.

As the Saar lies right along the frontier of Lorraine, sells most of its coal to Lorraine and feeds its miners and foundry workers from Lorraine, economic interest might seem to lean towards union with Lorraine, that is to say, France.

But the economic interest does not count alongside the sentimental. The Saarlanders are nearly 100 per cent. German patriots. If the plebiscite had been taken five years ago, the vote would have been overwhelmingly for Germany, competent observers agree.

Do Not Want Nazis

To-day a perfectly free vote, it is estimated (privately) by the Saar commissioners, would give Germany about 70 per cent. The 30 per cent. would, for lack of a better solution, vote for the continuance of the League of Nations control. Not that they care much for the league, but they care less for the Nazi dictatorship.

Thats the rub. The Nazis will not admit that there are any German people who are not eager to join the German Reich. But a free plebiscite in the Saar, according to the best opinion I have been able to gather, would prove that a fourth to a third of the Germans of the Saar would prefer not to be taken into Nazi Germany. In consequence the Nazi party in Germany has been concentrating its propaganda on the Saar.

The "Deutsches Front,' formed in the Saar two months ago, is exerting a tremendous pressure on the people of the Saar to vote German as one man. It is making an overwhelming vote a question of prestige.

Use "Terror" Campaign

Against this energetic pressure few care openly to raise objection. They do not want to land in concentration camps after the plebiscite.

So much for the "terror" which is talked about so much outside the Saar. It is a prospective terror, and does exist to a considerable extent.

The grim determination of Chancellor Hitler to get the Saar back into Germany in his own way is what makes this rich coal belt region so dangerous for the peace of Europe. His partisans in the Saar leap ahead of his plans, perhaps of his desires. They want to go back to the Reich now without further ado.

They dislike the plebiscite scheduled for early next year, which will decide whether the Saar basin is to be united with Germany or France, or remain under League control, because it was decreed by the Treaty of Versailles which Hitler has defied.

Fear Nazi "Putsch"

The country is being ruled meanwhile by the League of Nations, on which Hitler has turned his back. To many of the Nazis in the "Deutsches Front" and in Germany this situation has become intolerable. They can hardly be restrained from disarming the 90 Saar gendarmes, Saarlanders themselves, and mostly sympathetic with the "Deutsches Front" and telling the league's commission to get out and not to stand on the order of its departure.

Chief Commissioner Knox, knowing this situation, reported it in his sensational letter to the league council, warning against a Nazi "putsch."

The hot-headed Saarlanders, and the league commissioners also, know that three times in the history of the league, at Fiume, Vilna and Memel, nationalist "putsches" defied the league successfully.

Dr. Pirro "Fuhrer" of the "Deutsches Front," and many influential Saarlanders have insisted to me that there is no danger of the Saar people losing their patience, instead of waiting for a sure victory at the plebiscite.

The Rev. Dr. Schlich, prelate and leader of the Saar Catholic associations, broadcast to all Catholics (the Saar is three-fourths Catholics) to vote German regardless of the difficulties which may have arisen between the government and Church. "We Rhinelanders," he said, "remain true to our God, our Holy Church, and to our beloved German Fatherland."

Socialists Active

Only the active Socialists, under the leadership of their fighting editor, Max Braun, cry out warning to the Saarlanders not to vote for Germany. Braun is a Rhinelander, racially as aryan," a German as any Nazi. So are his followers, some 25,000, who alone have refused to join the "Deutsches Front."

Braun is ostracized. "No landlord dare rent me a house," he told me. "For a long time no barber in Saarbruck dared clip my hair. The whole country is terrorized by the thought of what may happen to those who oppose the Nazis, once the Saar becomes German again.

"What is needed," said Herr Braun, talking to me in his editorial offices, which his followers carefully guard, "is a neutral police force of 5,000 men, strong enough to close the German frontier against the Nazi terror, so that every Saarlander may feel that he is really under the protection of the League of Nations."

The French know the Saar is lost to them. The only thing French about the Saar is its money. The one French flag flies in front of the mines building. There are French schools and have been for 15 years, but no word of French is heard on the streets.

At Sealing Of Stratosphere Ball
